In an absolutely superb book about monarchs, Wings In The Meadow by Jo Brewer, the strong bond between these butterflies and the milkweed plant is thoroughly explored. Under favorable conditions, such as Mrs. H's office, the larvae usually spends this stage of their life on their "hatching plant".

They eat, oh how they eat, the green milkweed leaves. Such voracious appetites produce incredible growth, of course.

The first molt occurs about two days after hatching and, by the time the fourth or fifth final shedding of skin takes place, the tiny larvae have grown to about 3,000 times their original weight. Hard to imagine.

When finally the chrysalis stage ends and the metamorphosis has been completed, the gorgeous orange and black butterflies work free of their cocoons. The larvae are not unattractive as catapillars go, yellow and black striped wiggly things, but the cocoons are really quite lovely.

Jade green in color, they have a fine, jewel-like necklace near the end fastened to a twig. Often the orange and black of the maturing butterfly is visable.

Once the butterflies emerge, their wings fill out fast and they are ready for flight. Mrs. Hoffman has found that the males quickly move to the windows and are eager to escape, whereas the females are a bit more hesitant.

Once the lovely creatures reach her office windows, Madame Butterfly, as the author called her, simply opens the windows and lets her butterflies flutter off over Manhattan.

SERVING TECUMSEH AND AREA SINCE 1850

VOL. 128 OUR 129th YEAR—NO. 36 THURSDAY, APRIL 5, 1979 TWELVE PAGES—25c

One Killed, Two Injured in Collision

A Tecumseh couple was hospitalized until Tuesday an the mother of one of the pair died as a result of a two-car, head on collision Sunday night on U.S. 223, a quarter of a mile west of Ogden Highway.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Bowers of Tecumseh and Mrs. Bowers' mother, Rachael Goodman of Adrian, were returning from Lambertville, Mich. when the accident occurred at 9:23 p.m.

Weather was raining and pavement wet at the time.

According to the sheriff's department report, the westbound Bowers vehicle crossed the center line along a curve in the road that veers north and hit a pickup truck driven by James Raymond Toth, 29, of Toledo, Ohio.

Mrs. Bowers, 52, driver of the other vehicle, told sheriff's deputies it appeared that headlights were coming directly toward them. She said she swerved to avoid the vehicle and according to the sheriff's department report, struck the eastbound Toth vehicle head on.

Madison Township rescue squad and ambulance arrived at the scene. Jaws of life were used to free the occupants from the Bowers' car. Mrs. Bowers and her husband, Robert, 58, were taken to Bixby Hospital, Adrian where they were treated and then released Tuesday.

Mrs. Bowers was treated for shock. Her husband received broken ribs and a cut tongue.

Dr. Bowers is a Tecumseh optomerist, and Mrs. Bowers, an officer for United Savings Bank, is a member of Council here.

The other driver, Toth, was treated and released from Bixby Hospital.

No citations were issued in the accident that continues under investigation.

Services for Mrs. Goodman were April 4 at St. John's Episcopal Church, Clinton.

Mrs. Goodman, 82, of 400 College Ave., Adrian, was pronounced dead on arrival at Bixby Hospital as a result of injuries received in the accident.

She was born May 2, 1896 in Reading, Penn. She married Daniel Goodman Oct. 25, 1915 in Waldron. He died in 1968.

Mrs. Goodman was a resident of Adrian for the past five years, moving from Clinton. Prior to that, she resided for many years in Cambria. She was a former member of the Clinton Women's Club and Cambria Kings Daughters.

Survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Robert (Mary) Bowers, of Tecumseh; three sons, Jeffory of Devils Lake, Byron and Daniel, both of Tecumseh; five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by two sisters.

The Rev. Russell Cooper officiated and burial was in Brookside Cemetery. Arrangements were made by the Purse Funeral Home.

Senior Housing Corporation Organizing

The Tecumseh senior citizen corporation will meet April 10, 7 p.m. at Tecumseh City Hall, to adopt by-laws.

The corporation's board of directors will elect officers at 6:30 p.m.

The board of directors are the members of the city housing commission, Nancy Nichols, Roger Proctor, Paul Fackler, Jens Touborg and James Daly and Alan Beatty, Rotary; Rick Montcalm, Kiwanis; Merlyn Downing, Chamber of Commerce.

The 25-member, non-profit corporation was formed to satisfy a requirement of the Farmers Home Administrtation (FmHA) for a $2-3 million federal mortgage loan for Tecumseh's 122-unit senior citizen apartment complex planned for a site at Adrian and Pottawatamie Streets.

The corporation's first meeting was March 29 at city hall.

Industrial Park Has 2nd Tenant

Another tenant was welcomed to Tecumseh's industrial park Monday night at the City Council's regular meeting.

Tecumseh City Council authorized Assistant City Manager Paul Preston to proceed with sale of property in the industrial park to Weston Haeussler, 701 Brook St.

Haeussler wants the lot immediately north of B&H Manufacturing, the city's first manufacturer tenant in the 53 acre industrial park.

Haeussler plans to construct a 10,000 sq. ft. building, similar to the one B&H occupies, but smaller. About 7,500 sq. ft. will be used for manufacturing and 2,500 sq. ft. for office space.

Haeussler plans to occupy a portion of the business himself and lease the major portion to Adrian Manufacturing which will relocate from Adrian.

Adrian Manufacturing is owned by Robert and Bill Plate. It manufactures tools, dies, jigs, fixtures and does some steel stamping and fabricating. Labor force is about 16.

Construction will begin as soon as possible after approval of the sale. Council has approved grading to begin on the site before the actual closing on the property.

Purchase price of the city property is $13,500; $12,500 for 2½ acres at $5,000 per acre and $1,000 for cost to install electrical lines.

When B&H installed its electrical service, the city agreed to pay the cost for the footage the city owned in the two north lots, while B&H was responsible for the costs from its northern lot line to its building.

Design plans for the Haeussler industrial building will be presented to Tecumseh Planning Commission April 10.

City Council Selling 'Kennedy' Property

After 14 years of city ownership, Tecumseh City Council decided Monday night to take bids on the corner lot at North Ottawa and East Logan Streets, commonly called the Kennedy property.

Market value was appraised at $21,000 for the 10,500 sq. ft. lot, Assistant City Manager Paul Preston told Council.

He said that two parties have expressed interest to buy the lot for retail or commercial building. Both are allowed under the present zoning.

The city's downtown development plan, prepared by Region II Planning Commission, calls for business use of the property.

Council set ground rules for the bidding procedure. The minimum accepted bid will be $21,000 net to the city. The buyer must build a commercial or retail building on at least 20 percent of the lot. Building must be started within one year of purchase.

Councilmember Len DeMoss cast the dissenting vote in the 5-1 vote to sell the property.

"It is kind of a mini-park, close to downtown. People congregate there," DeMoss observed. He suggested it be groomed as a park site with benches.

But the city just developed the nearby city parking lot and other city officials were interested in business development for the lot.

"We better get some of this property back on the tax rolls," commented Councilmember Harold Easton. Councilmember Carlton Cook agreed, adding, "We don't want a parking lot on that corner."

City manager Cal Zorn commented, "I had always hoped it would never be used for a parking lot. I personally don't think it is a good idea to make a parking lot of corner lots."

"I'm not worried," Zorn said, about parking spaces for another business on that northeast business block, since "there are over 100 spaces immediately south of the lot," Zorn said.

The city purchased the Kennedy property with its 1851 brick home in 1965 for $10,000 from parking meter funds. The Classical Revival style house was rented until 1972. Income and expenses were accounted in the parking system.

Finally, in late summer of 1975, the debate about what to do with the property came to a climax. Hopes to restore the building, believed to be the oldest brick home in Tecumseh, were dashed when the city learned it could cost $75,000 to put the building back in shape.

Since 1975, the lot has served as a downtown mini-park and picnic spot by some downtown employees and students.

Attempt Assault of 14-year-old

Only six complaints were investigated by Tecumseh police the past week, but one involved an attempted rape of a 14-year-old girl early last Thursday evening.

According to the police report, the young girl was grabbed by a man in the west section of the city and taken into a vacant building, where he attempted to rape her.

Although no arrests have been made, the incident remains under investigation.

Other complaints were:

March 27 - Howard Greenfield, Onsted, reported a CB stolen from his vehicle.

March 28 - McDonalds reported fire crackers were exploded at the restaurant with an outside speaker damaged.

March 31 - Larry F. Wegner, 36, Clinton, was arrested for drunk driving. He was stopped on N. Evans St. after police observed him driving left of center.

March 31 - Mrs. Carl Albaugh, 219 Park St., had two hub caps stolen from her car that was parked at the residence.

Schedule Hearing

A public hearing on how the city should spend its 1979-80 budget year federal revenue sharing funds will be held April 16, 8 p.m. at Tecumseh City Hall. Amount is about $110,000.

An informal budget hearing was scheduled by city council for April 30, 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

City Rejects Free Parking

Tecumseh City Council denied the request of the Tecumseh Area Historical Society at Monday's regular council meeting for free off street parking during Promenade the Past May 19.

Council granted free parking on the 100 blocks of East and West Chicago Blvd. at the March 19 meeting to allow the Tecumseh Area Chamber "elbow room" for the old arts and crafts booths that will set up along Chicago Blvd., May 19 and 20.

The chamber is sponsoring its sidewalk market in conjunction with the historic home tour.

OK 13 Acres for Gardening

Families fighting inflation in their food budget found an ally in Tecumseh City Council Monday night.

The Council authorized 13 acres of city property north of the Friends Church on Tecumseh Rd. to be available for residents' vegetable gardens.

Plots will be available on a first come, first serve basis. Anyone interested may sign up at city hall.

Paul Preston, assistant city manager, will work out the details on its availability, to be announced at a later date.

DAWN KETOLA

Patterson Pupil Is AAA Pick

Eleven-year-old Dawn Ketola, 109 S. Maiden Lane, will represent Patterson School and Lenawee County during an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C.

Sponsor is the Automobile Club of Michigan for the annual school safety patrol trip.

Patterson School was selected by the Automobile Club's safety education consultants for its overall excellence in safety patrol operations.

Dawn and 49 other safety patrol students will fly to Washington via Northwestern Airlines May 2 and return May 5.

The itinerary will include a visit to the new Smithsonian Air and Space Museum, the Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, a drive by the Capitol and White House and a tour of Gettysburg National Park.

The sixth grader said she has never been to the nation's Capitol. "When you're in a family of eight, you don't get to travel much. The farthest I've been is Ohio."

Dawn has five sisters, Lisa, ninth grader; Jonna, 12; Kendra, 8 and twins Patti and Laura 7. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Ketola.

The announcement of Dawn's good fortune came at a school assembly last week. "Dawn had no idea she was being selected for the trip," said Cynthia Opelt, principal. "And someone else just as happy for her was her mother, seated in the auditorium."

"Everyone is saying 'I'm happy for you' and 'congratulations'," Dawn told about the reaction of her classmates. She is a student of Vicky Kirsch.

Mrs. Opelt said the school was asked to select a representative on the basis of maturity, good citizenship and responsibility on the job as safety patrol guard.

Predict Building over $3 Million

Construction in the city of Tecumseh could well top the $3 million mark by year's end, Robert Hamden, city building inspector and assessor reports.

Presently, building permits for construction in the first quarter of the year are $1.2 million, or about half of the total construction in Tecumseh last year, which was over $2.4 million.

Construction permits issued already this year are First Federal Savings and Loan, 1300 W. Chicago Blvd. and branch office at 209 E. Russell Rd.; four homes and one two-family home.

Construction of the Masonic Temple at 700 Bishop Reed Dr. actually began in 1978, but will be completed this spring.

Other projects which have not yet applied for building permits but are expected to start this year are the new civic auditorium, across from the high school on N. Maumee St.; Charles M. Cook's condominiums at Pearl Street and Evans Creek; Courtland Place subdivision on Burt Street; new industrial building in the city's industrial park planned by Wes Haeussler, and homes that may be built, such as Westhaven Subdivision and duplexes on Mill Highway by Redmond Construction.

Commercial Savings Bank of Adrian, which is building a new branch office at 3000 W. Chicago Blvd. is actually in Tecumseh Township.

Officials Question Charter Revision

Tecumseh City Council deferred action until May 7 on a resolution declaring a charter revision.

The majority of Council seemed to feel the electorate should petition the city if the voters want changes in city government.

Five of six Council members present at Monday night's regular meeting stated that they did not support the resolution that called for an advisory vote of electors whether or not the city's 25-year-old charter should be revised and whether or not the mayor of Tecumseh should be directly elected by the people.

Presently, City Council elects the mayor after each Council election.

"I feel that any necessary changes can be made by amendment without the cost or time connected with all the process needed to elect a charter commission for a few changes that need to be made," said Mayor Aden Mead.

"I feel the philosophy of the original charter commission was to create a city government with the city manager in control and the mayor as the head of council, and head as far as official functions are concerned, nothing more," he continued.

Mead added, "I feel if you have a mayor elected by the people, he will be responsible to the people." He explained that he felt this was at "cross purposes" with the charter's intentions.

Council member Harold Easton commented, "If people feel strongly about election of mayor by popular vote, they should initiate a petition."

"I don't see a big outpouring of public sentiment in favor of this," said Councilmember Len DeMoss.

While he supported the idea of charter revision by a "non-political" charter commission, Councilmember Jay Tressler said, "I don't like this resolution. It picks out the election of mayor and makes it selected for favorite treatment." He supported taking a look at the whole charter for any necessary updating.

Bids Accepted by Council for Equipment

Bids for equipment were accepted by City Council Monday night. City purchased a 2" lightweight portable trash pump from low bidder Ellis and Ford for $550. Pump will be used by the water department in the event of water breaks.

Low bid of Curtin Matheson Scientific, Inc. at $532 was accepted for a mechanical convection oven for the laboratory at the city waste treatment plant.

Council approved the purchase of a housing and cutting bars for the city's 20 year old wood chipper at a cost of $1,123.

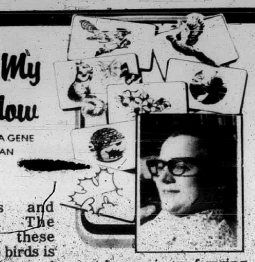
Thru My Window

BY MARDA GENE DUNCAN



Grackles and cowbirds. The return of these unwelcome birds is one of the few unpleasant happenings of spring. Usually, starting several weeks ago, there is a joyous parade the sum total of which is warm weather, blossoming flowers and exciting birds. But along with the good things come the ones we could do without.

Actually, nothing is all bad and if I try hard enough and long enough, perhaps I will find a few kind words for the black thieves. There are many who would class the starlings with this gang of ruffians. However, the grackles and the cowbirds are with us the year-round and the starlings certainly are.

Anyone who fed them suet and bread last winter must almost have nightmares about their horrendous appetites — such gluttons. There are many though who have kind thoughts for the scrappy starlings.

The noxious Japanese beetles have become a frightful plague in some areas. At the grub or larvae stage of this insect's life, the short-tailed, swaggering starlings find them irresistable. If one's yard is suffering from a Japanese beetle invasion, I can well imagine what a pleasant sight it would be to look out and see a lawn full of these birds.

As the ugly grubs work their way to the surface of the ground the patrolling starlings are ready to grab what they think is a most tasty tidbit.

Dr. Marsh called grackles "the black thieves" many years ago. Like most birds that migrate north, their flights almost come in waves. Sometimes there is a build-up, the local population arrives and establishes territory but is joined for a few days by other birds. This can result in grackles everywhere and that is what our neighbors, Dr. M. was objecting to.

Big, black birds mobbed feeders, lawns, bushes, trees, creek-banks and even the edge of the water. They squabbled, fought and argued. The noise level was unreal. These are noisy birds who have rusty, squeaky voices. They sound as though they need oiling.

If our annual spring grackle count amounted to only a few, they would be called exciting birds and be welcomed with open arms. There is an iridescent sheen to the feathers on the head and back of the males. Which, when seen in bright sunlight, shimmers a lovely purple.

Counter balancing the pretty plumage are the bright yellow rings around their eyes and their large, ugly-looking, black bills. Mean looking and mean acting, they still might be welcome for their appearance if only they did not come in such large numbers.

The cowbirds present a paradox. They are rather attractive birds but enjoy a deplorable life-style. As with the grackles, in fact even more so, there is a decided difference between the males and females.

Whereas the female grackles are merely less shimmering and sport rather washed-out, yellow eye-rings, the female cowbirds are non-exciting, non-distinctive, dullish brown.

The males wear coffee and cream colored head coverings, and their bodies are glossy black. All of the glamour certainly went to one side of this family.

It is the female cowbird who is the parasite. She sneaks through brush-tangles and shrubbery, always on the alert for some other birds' nests. Vireos, warblers — a list of birds victimized by the cowbird is rather mind boggling.

And, sad to say, few of the birds she preys upon realize they are being duped. Once the cowbird has deposited her eggs in another bird's nest she washes her hands of all further child rearing responsibilities.

Shedding responsibility for her eggs usually spells the doom for the family the cowbirds victimizes. Cowbird nestlings thrive whereas the rightful occupants loose out. And, believe me, a cowbird instead of a family of wrens is most disheartening.

But these are all black thoughts Marda. While the gang of black thieves troops the yard, bullyirig everybody out of their way, nicer things are happening. Think good times — spring and daffodils.

Defining Learning Terms

by Dianna Joachim
Learning Disability Consultant.
Lenawee Intermediate School District

The first thing that a person who is interested in finding out more about learning disabilities encounters is a vast jungle of words.

Common names used when speaking of learning disabilities are: perceptual handicap, dyslexia, strephosymbolia, hyperkinetic syndrome, minimal brain dysfunction and many more. One textbook lists over 90 words that different people use to refer to learning disabilities.

Why is there so much confusion? The main reason is that the issue of learning disabilities has been a concern of people from a variety of fields for many years. Educators, psychologists and doctors have all worked at discovering the reason for learning differences in children.

The first research on learning problems was done in the 1860's and 1870's. This was a result of doctors studying why people with damage to particular parts of their brain experienced a loss of ability in specific learning skills.

At the same time as this brain injury research was going on, eye doctors were also involved in studying families who seemed to inherit "word blindness" or reading difficulties.

Most of the pioneer work studying learning disabilities was done in the first half of the 1900's by medical and eye doctors, educators and psychologists. Three names are especially well-known in this early research.

Dr. Alfred Strauss with the help of Dr. Laura Lehtinen wrote a text on the history of educating the brain-injured. Dr. Samuel Orton, a psychologist and neurologist, studied the neurological aspects of reading disabilities. And Grace Fernald was an educator who developed special educational techniques for working with disabled children.

Each new researcher who came along coined his own set of words. These words were used to describe how the researcher viewed learning problems. This has led to the present hodge-podge of words and terms used to refer to learning disabilities.

People from a medical background tend to look for the causes of the child's problem. They feel that if a definite cause can be found for a child's learning problem, a cure might also be found.

Today, medical people use terms such as minimal cerebral dysfunction, organic brain dysfunction, alexia, neurophrenia and psychoneurological disorder to refer to learning disabilities.

(Note: The prefix "dys" or "dis" refers to a partial inability to function; while the prefix "a" refers to total inability to perform.)

Doctors may prescribe drugs, diets, or motor training programs to help the child control certain behaviors.

People from an educational background tend to look at the effect that the problem has on the child's behavior in class. They feel that certain children with learning disabilities can be helped if special teaching and behavioral techniques are used.

Educators today use terms like reading disability, perceptual problem, language disorder, special learning problem and attention disorder when talking about learning disabilities.

In the recent state and federal legislation, one term is used to include all of educational and medical descriptions of specific learning problems. This term is "learning disability."

For example, a child in the Tecumseh Schools to be certified "learning disabled," a team of professionals meet with the parents to pool their information on the child. At the meeting, they decide whether or not the child has a learning disability and if he does, they develop a plan to help him learn.

The professionals include the teacher, principal of the local school district and a learning disability consultant and the school psychologist from the Lenawee Intermediate School District. It may also include other professionals who have worked with the child. This team approach assures that a learning disabled child will receive the same opportunities for his education as other children.

Faith Backs the Married

Faith Cote of 4393 Comfort Rd. decided to put some muscle behind something she believes in and as a result, four couples from the area who have been married the longest will be eligible for a steak dinner for two.

Faith recently participated in a Gabriel Richard course at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church. She described the course as a "Dale Carnegie course with a Christopher twist".

The course challenged the participants to back something each believes in. Faith adopted the theme "Echo the Joy of Martial Bliss."

"I felt that negative aspects of marriage are brought out. Why don't we turn it all around and give some publicity to people who have been happily married."

The cashier at the local Kroger company has been married 31 years to Lawrence Cote. She enlisted the support of her local store and the Cedar Shack to come up with a contest for couples who have been married at least 25 years.

Married couples who have at least marked their silver wedding anniversary may register at the Kroger store on a scroll located next to the managers office. Deadline is April 7 at store closing time. No purchase is necessary.

The four couples registered that have been married the longest will receive a steak dinner for two compliments of the Cedar Shack.

Players Nose Around for Pinocchio

Auditions are April 19 and 20 at the First Baptist Church on Milwaukee Road for the Tecumseh Players' third annual Children's Musical Production.

It will be presented June 15, 16 and 17 at the Glass Room in the Community Center.

This year's musical production will be "Adventures of Pinocchio" in three acts, based on the Italian operetta version of Pinocchio.

Co-directors Ricki Speller and Carol McLeod, both of Tecumseh, hope to cast approximately 35 children from the Tecumseh area in the production. There are singing, non-singing and some dance parts for all ages.

Auditions are split each day into two time periods. From noon until 2 p.m. children 7 through 11 years of age are to attend the auditions accompanied by an adult. From 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. children 12 years and up are to attend the auditions. Rehearsals for the show will be scheduled for after school and on some weekends.

As with the two previous shows any profits from this production will be deposited in the Tecumseh Theatre Fund at the United Savings Bank.

One of the purposes of the Tecumseh Players, as stated in their by-laws, is to provide opportunity for participation and education in theater. With this in mind they have created a new position for this show, that of student director.

Carol Clark of Clinton, who had the lead role of "Snow White" last year, has agreed to be the student director for this year's production. She will help teach the other children how to perform and in turn have the opportunity to learn from the co-directors how to direct in a theater. The experience of children's theater enables the children to learn teamwork and basic skills, such as listening, memorizing, body coordination, and co-operation, in an atmosphere of fun.

When it comes to IRA accounts...

1978 ISN'T OVER YET!

Changes in the federal law have stretched the calendar. If you are a farmer, businessman, contractor, professional or anyone else whose income and earnings are not covered by a company pension plan, you can establish and contribute to a tax deferred Individual Retirement Account (IRA) until April 16th. That gives you over three extra months to determine just what your income was in 1978 and calculate exactly what 15% of it would be. Fifteen percent up to $1,500 is the maximum contribution to an IRA allowed under the law.

Right now, United Savings Bank of Tecumseh is paying 8% annual interest on all IRA accounts. That's the highest interest you can earn from any financial institution.

An Individual Retirement Account can save you tax dollars and provide a more secure future. There's nothing tricky, complicated or difficult about them. Ask about an IRA account at any of the five convenient offices of United Savings Bank . . . . . you have until April 16th this year.

This is the 10th article in the continuing series on international cuisine. These oriental recipes are from Mrs. Villasenor.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogelio Villasenor are from Manilla, Philippines. They traveled to the United States eight years ago, settling first in Chicago, later moving to Tecumseh. They have three children in elementary school.

In preparing these recipes, some of the ingredients cannot be found in local markets. However, they can be purchased in oriental stores in larger cities, such as Ann Arbor and Toledo. These ingredients are marked with a ().

PANSIT GUISADO (RICE NOODLES)

1 medium onion sliced
1 cup boiled chicken, flaked or diced
1 cup boiled shrimps
1 cup boiled pork
1 cup cooked ham
1 cup carrots
1 cup cabbage, shredded
2 packages rice noodles
4 tablespoons Soy Sauce
1/2 teaspoon Accent
salt and pepper to taste
5 cups of shrimp juice (Reserved from boiling shrimp)

Slice shrimp, pork, ham and carrots in long narrow strips. Saute onion and next six ingredients until vegetables are crisp, add 1 tablespoon Soy Sauce.

Set aside a portion for garnishing. To the rest add remaining Soy Sauce, Accent, shrimp juice, salt and pepper. Bring to a boil. Wash rice noodles in cold water then add to boiling mixture. Turn to medium heat, mix well, cook about five minutes or until noodles are soft and mixture is almost dry. Arrange on a platter and garnish with the previously set aside vegetables.

STUFFED SHRIMP

12 big shrimps
12 tablespoons ground pork
1 tablespoon chopped green onion
salt and pepper to taste
12 lumpia wrappers

Mix ground pork and chopped green onion. Remove the shells of the shrimps, leaving the tail intact. Open the back of each and fill opening with 1 tablespoon of finely chopped pork and onion, seasoned with salt and pepper. Wrap in lumpia wrappers and fry in hot fat. Serve hot.

BIBINGKA (RICE CAKE)

4 eggs
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
3 cups sugar

A recent increase in the federal financial guidelines has made it possible to expand a county senior citizen employment program to include a wider range of people.

The Foster Grandparent Program, under the auspices of the Lenawee County Department on Aging, began just over a year ago. It employs low-income seniors, 60 years of age or older, to work in area schools and institutions with children of special needs.

Under the new guidelines a single person may qualify if they make less than $4,310 a year. If there are two people in the household the limit is $5,780.

After 40 hours of training, the grandparents are placed in one of 11 various sites throughout the county. Each grandparent receives a tax-free stipend of $1.60 an hour and works four hours a day, five days a week. They are also provided a hot lunch and are reimbursed for travel expenses.

Anyone interested can call Cindy Stock or Linda Hicks at 263-8831, ext. 364. Several positions are available at the present time.

Three Injured Monday in Clinton Collision

Three persons received minor injuries in a collision at 6:30 a.m. Monday on Tecumseh-Clinton Rd., just south of Clinton-Macon Rd.

James Kirk, 32, of 3387 Gove St., Tecumseh, was the driver of a vehicle which struck another northbound vehicle in the rear as Howard Warren Jr., 29, of Adrian, was about to make a left turn into Budd Co. property.

Kirk told officers he didn't see Warren's brake lights when he stopped in front of him.

Clinton State Police issued Kirk a summons for driving too fast.

Kirk and a passenger Joey Oliver, 24, of 808 Union St., Tecumseh, were treated at Herrick Hospital. Warren sought his own treatment.

Team Opens Against Blissfield

Without a doubt, baseball is the toughest sport in the Huron League. That's why coach Bob Ondrovick's baseball players play one game at a time.

Tecumseh is not favored to win the league. They never really are, but the team works hard. They have excellent senior leadership with a good mixture of juniors and they are the kind of team that is going to finish with better than a 500 season.

Perhaps 500 doesn't sound all that good to the average person following baseball. But if the league schedule includes three of the last five state champions, records tend to shrink.

Individual players also stand out in the league, not just teams. Two recent members of the Flat Rock squad are now playing pro ball and many, many league players are involved in college baseball.

Add to that non-league games that include Blissfield and very tough tournaments hosted by Blissfield and Carlson. That's when a total season record of any number of wins over half the played games is a good one.

And coach Ondrovick expects that 500 season or better. He has no stars. He does have a very well balanced team with good depth at each position.

He is pleased with the team's progress too. The weather has kept his team inside for practice and that can be trying on all teams when inside practice area is limited as it is in the high school. None of the positions of the players can even be definitely set yet.

Ondrovick presently has a 17 man roster with five seniors heading the team as returning players. They are Dorman Frederick, returning first baseman and pitcher; Kevin Bater at second base; Randy Halvin at catch and third; John Lacny in the outfield; and Brian Banda at first and in the outfield.

Ron Calzada, Craig Esterline, and Bob McFadden are three other players that help to make up the excellent senior leadership THS can boast of.

Scott Schafer, pitcher and outfielder, is the only returning junior on the squad. He is joined by juniors John Southard, Scott Klein, Scott Gilpin, Andy Geshwiler, Steve Palmer, Brian Long, Doug Langmeyer and Steve Pope.

And on top of these players, Ondrovick has four men that are helping him in other ways. Ron Frenzen is the JV coach and Jim Kingon is the freshmen coach. Jim Palmer and Ron Rentschler are also with Ondrovick. They offered their services to help.

The team's opening game is Saturday, a scheduled double-header with Blissfield. Game time is 1:30 p.m. Tecumseh also plays Tuesday at Jackson Northwest.

INDIAN BASEBALLER USES NEW BATTING CAGE DONATED BY INDIAN FAN CLUB

THS Softballers Experienced

Rainy conditions have hampered outdoor practice for the girls' softball team at Tecumseh, but coach Nancy Fisher reports that her girls have been strong in training, they're hustling and she is optimistic.

Last year the team finished with a little better than a 500 mark. This year they're more experienced with seven returning starters and coach Fisher is looking for THS to be among the top four teams in the league.

Three other strong teams in the league ae Monroe St. Mary's, Monroe Jefferson and Grosse Ile.

Along with the large number of returning starters comes a second large advantage for the girls this year. It benefits the boys' baseball team as well.

The Indians fan club donated a batting cage for the ball teams and that is one sore spot coach Fisher would love to improve. She has to get her girls hitting the ball better this year than last. Then they can win.

Looking at the other side of the game, the girls have defensively a strong infield while they're putting together an outfield. They have one very tough pitcher returning in Sandy Humphries and a junior, Dar Williams shows promise to the team.

All three seniors on the team are returning lettering ball players. They are Kim Adams, Karen Bunch and Debbie Hamilton.

Six lettering juniors join new varsity members Williams, Tammy Overton and Karen Keller. Returning players include Humphries, Beckie Hamilton, Kathy Kruger, Kathy Perry, Therese Rapin and Chris Spagnoli.

Sophomores joining the team include Wendy Mauer and Betsy Neilson.

Coaching the JV squad this year is Julie Anderson, a well known athlete from Tecumseh. Anderson's presently a junior at Eastern and she's working with one of the best JV squads Tecumseh has seen in the past few years.

Varsity squad begins their season Monday, against Adrian, here. Game time is 4 p.m.

Organize Slo-Pitch

Womens' Slo-Pitch meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. on April 16 and the Mens' Slo-Pitch meeting will be held at 8:30 p.m. on April 16.

Only those coaches and/or managers for the above teams are required to attend these meetings. Meetings will be held at the Community Center.

To Redeem 1-5 Record

Coach Alan Lenz is looking to a fast sprint squad, and strong performances in the discus and shot-put to redeem the Tories 1-5 record of last year.

Heading the sprinters will be two senior lettermen, Jeff Osterhout and Duane Perry. Returning junior sprinters are Mark Crittenden, Brad Rowe and Jim Slatic. Junior Tom Wielfaert, a transfer student, will round out the sprinting roster.

Strong support in the field events is expected by coach Lend in the person of Chris Bart who last year hurled the discus 123'6" at the Adrian Invitational. Tossing the shot for the Tories will be David Bruce.

Jim Heiden, returning junior letterman, will be keeping his feet off the ground for most of the season in the high and low hurdles, pole vault and high jump.

The season will open for the Tories today against Waldron at Adrian College.

New Coach in Britton

The Tory varsity baseball players will start the new season with a new coach. A coaching change is sometimes a hard transition but with four of six infield positions being filled by returning lettermen, the transition should be smoother for new coach Doug Witt.

Returning for the Tories are first baseman and leading hitter Dennis Kimerer, shortstop Terry Benedict, catcher Ken Stotler and Greg Sears who will see action from both the pitcher's mound and the outfield.

Other positions are still to be filled at this early date but coach Witt is keeping a close eye on prospective pitchers.

The league was dominated last year by Summerfield who tied with Addison for the league championship. Summerfield is again expected to be strong with the Santiago brothers returning to pitch.

Coach Witt is confident that his boys will be strong contenders for the title this year.

The season will begin with the opener against Waldron at Adrian College this Saturday at 1 p.m.

JULIE BURKHARD, THS TRACKSTER, PRACTICES DISCUS

Open Meet Tuesday

The Clinton boy's varsity track team has been riding high for the last two years finishing second in the league with a 21-3 record both times.

Many key performers have graduated from the ranks, however, a lot of work will be needed to fill the gaps. Fortunately there is some fine material with which to rebuild.

Lance Traves, who was league champ in high hurdles last year, will be returning with hopes of a similiar performance.

Casey Thilo, Mike Karapas, Matt Peters and Tom Nigswander, who together comprise a formidable cross country quartet will also be returning. Further help in the longer distances will be coming from Mark Pritchard and Devin Schindler.

In the field events we can expect to be hearing from Brad Williams in the shot-put and discuss competiton aldong with Mike Krauss a freshman shot-putter. In the high jump Kevin Cymes will be lofting himself to new heights.

Overall the league appears to be fairly well balanced with all teams strongly competitive.

Nine Softball Players Return

The Britton girl's softball team will have a hard act to follow after winning the league and district titles last year and finishing the season 10-2 in the league. But with nine players from last year's team returning, six of whom are letterholders, the outlook for a repeat performance is promising.

Coach Diane Matuszak prudently refrains from speculating on her team's standing at the end of the season, although with most ot the year's infield intact and two of three pitchers returning, this year's Tory team will be more than a strong contender.

The girls will see their first action at home this Friday against Whiteford.

The Redskins will play host to Dundee and Britton for the first confrontation Tuesday, April 10.

Expect Good Softball Season

The Clinton girls' softball team will be returning after a triumphant tour last year in which they won the district championship and notched a tie for second place in the LCAA with a record of 12-8.

Although five seniors graduated from that team, a strong contingent remains with four returning starters; Sue Richter, Dawn Stinedurf, Renee Peterson, Eunice Ball and Kris Pratt.

From this nucleus including Barb Winder, coach Mike Howell now in his second year, expects to put together an equally competitive team, this year.

The team will see its first action against Tecumseh in a scrimmage game today at 4 p.m.

Youth Registration Now in Progress

The recreation department wishes to remind all Tecumseh residents that youth registration for boys' and girls' youth baseball and softball, is now in progress for ages 5-18.

Registration may be made at the recreation department office. Please consult your flyer for items.

Shoot for League Title

The Tecumseh boys' track team is entering their '79 season with quite a large reputation. They have been undefeated in the league for the last four years.

That's 29 straight league wins for the THS thinclads and they finished last year with the regional championship, along with the top Huron League seat.

The league is well balanced this year with New Boston, Huron, Monroe CC, Flat Rock, Airport and Grosse Ile all looking tough. Still Tecumseh runs among the best and coach Croft believes his squad has an excellent chance of winning the league again.

And the track team is behind their coach 100 percent. They have a large string of wins on their side and they don't want that spoiled.

They are working exceptionally hard and they are working as a team. That's the key to winning in track and it's not as easy as it sounds when the overall team wins depends on individual events.

The team lost 11 or 12 outstanding outstanding seniors to graduation, but they have a solid core of 17 lettermen returning to the team.

Four tracksters stand out. They are D.J. Biscupski, Greg Borton, Jesse Castorena and Tom Kansas. They will prove to be the core of coach Bill Croft's squad.

Biscupski broke the school record last year in the pole vault with a 13'9½" mark. Kansas also broke the school record. He threw the discus 127'.

Borton and Castorena did not break records last year, but both were close to school marks. Borton competes in both the low and high hurdles, Castorena in the one and two mile events.

The 13 other lettermen rounding out a strong THS team include: Scott Betzoldt, Tom Chatters, Jim Garvin, Fred German, Scott Hans, Kirk Oliver, John Parros, Dave Rudd, Kevin Salters, Chris Sullivan, Tim Todd, Randy Wisner and Tom Wright.

The squad promises to be ready for their opening meet Tuesday, April 10 against Lumen Christi. Tecumseh hosts at 4 p.m.

Wheeler Aces with 3 Iron

Jay Wheeler hit a perfect three iron Saturday at the Tecumseh Country Club on the 15th hole to make the first hole-in-one of the season at the club.

Wheeler's shot on the 165 yard hole bounced twice and dropped in the cup. He hit 82 for the round, a 37 on the back nine where he got the hole-in-one.

Wheeler was playing with Bob Luper, Gary Jahner, John Williams, Buck Miller, Jerry Roslin, Mike McKie and assistant pro Ed Wheeler.

Uniform Deposit Necessary for Majors, Ponys

The Tecumseh Recreation Department announces that effective with this year's youth baseball registration, in addition to regular registration, there will be a $5 uniform deposit for all boys in the Major League and $10 uniform deposit for boys in the Pony League.

Due to the problem on non-return and high cost of replacements, this step is necessary. Money will be returned at conclusion of season when uniform is turned in cleaned and mended.

Pastor's Study

by the Rev. R. Richard Case

WILL THE STIGMATA LAST?

This coming Easter Sunday, April 15, I along with many pastors across this great nation will gaze out from out pulpits to see a packed house, everyone in their finery.

We often jest about those who come to church on Easter and Christmas, but I thank the Lord they come at all. Just possibly a moment will pass that will leave a lasting impression on them and I am sure this is the case.

But what about the "Every Sunday" Christian? What of his plite?

I sometimes think that we take our church attendance and activities matter-of-factly. It not only becomes a habit, which incidently all pastors are pleased about, but also becomes a routine, something that is done unconsciously.

We become so engrossed in the mechanics of coming and going to church, that it means little to many.

We celebrate Christ's resurrection, we hear the pastor speak of a Christ dying for us, we hear the scripture concerning the crucifixion, we even momentarily visualize the suffering and the agony. But do the stigmata last?

It would appear to me that we as Christians should always remember what Christ did for us and what the church through the ages has done for mankind.

However, man plods along in his egotistical, self-centered manner saying to himself he worked hard all his life. He raised a nice family. He provided a good home. He did this and he did that.

We sometimes want to leave out the middle man — Jesus of Nazareth, God and man. Of course Jesus Christ in this sequence is the middle man.

I would pray along with you and for you, as I do every day, that the light of Jesus Christ and God, His father, will really get through to you and that you will realize that you cannot, will not and did not ever do anything for yourself.

Christ and God made it all happen.

So this is what I mean when I say I hope that the stigmata will leave a mark on you this holiday. The only way you can prove this is in your action, words and deeds.

If you're liable in a business suit, you're liable to get caught with your pants down.

J.S. STRONG HOUSE 109 S. UNION ST.

Coincidence Marks History

"Life is one big circle," so the armchair philosopher is wont to remark. The saying applies to the coincidences in the history of several of the buildings to be open during the fourth annual Promenade the Past historic tour in Tecumseh May 19 and 20.

Three of the structures that are tied together in past and recent history are the J.S. Strong house, the First United Presbyterian Church and the first Catholic Church built in Tecumseh.

J.S. Strong, entrepreneur, was choirister at the Presbyterian Church for 50 years. His love for his church and music led him to donate a pipe organ to the congregation in 1889. It may be seen at the church, 211 W. Chicago Blvd., which has been tour headquarters for the past four years.

The J.S. Strong house, 109 S. Union, was built in 1878 in the Italianate style about 30 years after the Ohio born entrepreneur and land owner moved to Tecumseh.

He had a financial interest in several businesses in Tecumseh, including two factories, at least three hardware stores, a nursery and a clothing store.

He organized a farmers' insurance company in Coldwater and established a bank in Bay City with a partner from Adrian. Strong was also a director of the Lilley State Bank of Tecumseh, formerly located in the Union Hall building, 110 W. Chicago Blvd.

His successful business reputation, both in Tecumseh and in other parts of the state, is reflected in the proud home he had built by one of the Crane family of builders. Five other buildings on tour, including the Presbyterian Church, were built by the Cranes.

The newel posts in the stairway of the Strong house are nearly identical to those found in the William Hayden House, an earlier Italiante home, built circa 1862 at 108 W. Pottawatamie and the S.W. Anderson house built circa 1880 at 511 W. Chicago Blvd. Both of these are also on tour.

Impressive features of the Strong home include the unpainted original woodwork and beveled glass french doors.

Mrs. E.J. (Margaret) Aebersold has owned the home since the 1940's and recently sold it to Mr. and Mrs. Les Dallas.

The Presbyterian church built in 1869, has been a landmark on West Chicago Blvd. for more than a century. The growth of the church is indicated by this third home for the 151-year-old congregation. First was the Old Session House build in 1836. The second was dedicated in 1840.

The Rev. Noah Wells, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Detroit, delivered the first public worship service in Tecumseh in the fall of 1825, a year after Tecumseh's founding.

The congregation decided in 1976 to begin an extensive restoration of the church that included releading the stained glass windows, including the inspiring Gothic Rose window in the church narthex.

Richard Marks, noted stained glass artist, executed the restoration of these windows. Marks' studio occupies the first Catholic Church built in Tecumseh in 1913. A cobblestone structure, it has a "twin" in Brooklyn, Mich. which is now that city's library.

Fr. Edwin Fisher was the first pastor of the Tecumseh church. Prior to its building, the Catholics held monthly services in the Union Hall atop 110-116 W. Chicago Blvd.

Managers Honored

CLINTON — Maxine and Harold Calhoun and son, Terry, were honored during Michigan State University Farmers' Week as one of the 12 Farm Managers of the Year.

Harold's grandfather started farming in Clinton Township in 1901 on 120 acres with a general agriculture operation.

Harold and Maxine inherited the farm from Harold's father in 1952. Since that time, Harold, Maxine and their son, Terry, have increased the home farm operation to 150 acres and cash rent an additional 300 acres.

The Calhouns have 60 registered Landrace sows and specialize in producing top quality Landrace breeding stock. They also feed out 150 cattle a year.

The award is based on the efficient management through MSU Telfarm records during the past three years along with the family's involvement in community affairs.

FARM MANAGERS OF THE YEAR — Clinton residents (l-r) Harold and Maxine Calhoun and son, Terry were honored as one of 12 Farm Managers of the Year at the Farm Management banquet at Kellogg Center, MSU. Plaque was presented by Richard J. Allen, of Tecumseh, MSU Extension agricultural agent in Lenawee County.

10 Percent Raise Voted

CLINTON — At the Clinton Township annual meeting, March 31, attended by seven electors, the salaries of supervisor, clerk and treasurer were increased 10 percent. Elector Dick Gutow made the motion.

Gutow also recommended that the one percent collection fee for property taxes be done away with. No action was taken.

Gutow recommended that all minutes of the meeting be printed in the Clinton Local. No action was taken.

Budget for 1979-80 of $106,498.36 was proposed. This compares with the 78-79 budget of $120,651.70. Revenue sharing funds not included in the budget are projected at $12,500.

Major expenditure in the budget is for road improvements, an estimated $62,156.24, including federal revenue sharing funds.

Martin Vegter was named auditor for the year.

Charles Wilson was named building inspector.

Tom York will be the township attorney as needed.

Clinton State Savings Bank will be the depository for all township funds.

Eugene F. Harbaugh was named township assessor.

The second hearing on the use of revenue sharing funds resulted in approval for their use on any road or roads under jurisdiction of the township.

Approve Three Road Projects

CLINTON — Roadwork was planned for the year by Clinton Township board at the regular meeting, April 2.

Bid was accepted from the Lenawee County Road Commission to blacktop Pennington Rd., east from Billmyer to Clinton-Macon township line at a cost of $31,800.

Bid was also accepted for blacktop of Billmyer Hwy. north from Pennington to Clinton-Macon Rd. at a cost of $30,200.

There will be one application of chloride on gravel roads, at a cost of $4,000.

Jim Signorin and Dick Gutow were guests at the meeting.

Further discussion was held on the matter of publishing the township legal notices in the Clinton Local versus the Tecumseh Herald. There was no second to a motion.

Gutow recommended that the one percent collection fee for property taxes be removed, or at least for senior citizens.

It was explained that in the past, the collection fee used to go to the treasurer in lieu of salary. Now most townships pay the treasurer a salary and the fee goes to the general fund.

Board tabled a decision on this until next meeting because a full board was not present.

Board voted to adopt the proposed 79-80 budget and the budget for the Riverside Cemetery.

All regular meetings will be held the first Monday of the month, unless it is a legal holiday. Then the meeting will be the next day (Tuesday) at 7 p.m. at the Clinton Township hall.

Harry Comstock and Supervisor Frank Gignac were named to the Riverside Cemetery Board.

James Meeks and Frank Gignac were named to the Clinton Fire Board.

The EMT ambulance service and the township signed a contract for service to include the village of Clinton.

A Riverside Cemetery board meeting will be held April 26 at 7 p.m. in the township hall.

Ball Players Are Needed

WE GOT A DEAL, SO WE CAN . . .
. . . PASS IT ON TO YOU!

We have negotiated with a major manufacturer of tennis shoes to purchase 15,000 pairs of production overruns and irregulars of sneakers they make under government contract for the U.S. Armed Services. These shoes are all white, low cut, 6 & 7 eyelet tennis shoes of high quality. The manufacturers' name is on the inside, but we cannot mention it in this ad. The imperfections are insignificant except that they make this whole deal possible. Regular price of the standard shoe is $15.00. Our regular price for this shoe will be $10.97.

However, for our Grand Opening week celebrating our expanding and our new location, the Extra Special Price is $6.99.

Homeowners insurance is homeowners insurance, right?
Wrong.
Auto-Owners homeowners insurance is different.
Not only in the way we handle claims (Auto-Owners built its reputation on fast, fair claims service). Not only in the personal attention we give (another Auto-Owners trademark). Or in the way we could save you money (our low rates are famous). But, in our whole outlook on homeowners insurance, with innovative, imaginative policies that make sure you get just what you need, for just what you want to pay.
So, if you're thinking you'd be wrong if you didn't call Auto-Owners . . . you're right.

Round Up Kindergarten

BRITTON — Kindergarten pre-registration for the 1979-1980 school year will take place April 10.

Parents may register their childen in the hallway of the elementary school from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Kindergarten children entering school in the fall must have reached five years of age before Dec. 1, 1979.

Parents of children whose birthdays are later than Sept. 1 should give serious consideration as to whether their child is ready for school, said school officials. It takes more time for some of the younger children to adjust to school.

School officials ask parents to please register the child at this time as it will enable the school to organize the Kindergarten program for the coming year.

The health forms are available and parents can get started on the necessary immunizations that a child must have before he or she can enter school.

It is important to bring the child's birth certificate along.

The annual Kindergarten round-up will be held later in the spring.

Larry Jacobsen, faculty director, said the comedy promises to be entertaining.

The cast includes Mark Lewis as Mel Edison and Sandy Shannon as his wife, Edna.

The plot revolves around a man who loses his job and takes a beating from the pressures of city life. He has a nervous breakdown, a well-meaning but selfish bunch of brothers and sisters and a wife, who with a sense of humor, helps their marriage survive the crisis of city life.

Other teachers in the play are Al Lenz as Mel's brother Harry, Rosemary Niblack, Elizabeth Cheever and Cheryl Cochran as Mel's sister.

ICY MONDAY — Area residents awakened Monday morning to find trees and shrubs glistening in ice. Some also discovered some trees and limbs had snapped during the night. A freezing rain started Sunday afternoon and didn't stop until a light snow fell early Monday. This view of N. Union St. reflected the icy Tecumseh area.

Another 'Spring' To Remember

Michigan is having another spring to remember, if not to enjoy.

Wednesday afternoon of last week, snow started falling and before it stopped, some two inches covered the ground by Thursday morning.

Last Thursday, particularly in the evening, strong winds with gusts up to 60 mph ripped through the area. Branches and limbs littered the ground, and in some places trees were toppled. Fortunately, trees were without foliage or more would have fallen.

Residents awakened Sunday morning to find the ground again covered with snow. By afternoon the snow was gone and freezing rain started, felling power lines in some areas and snapping branches from trees.

North section of Tecumseh was without power from approximately 12:30 a.m. to 7:30 a.m. Monday.

Initiating Mental Health Program for Empty Wing

Herrick Memorial Hospital told the Michigan Department of Public Health April 9 it wants to voluntarily reduce the medical-surgical bed count by 19 units to comply with that department's general recommendations to reduce overbed count in this area.

But the hospital does not plan for the 19 beds on the second floor, south wing to remain empty.

The hospital has signed a five-year contract to establish a mental health program for in-patient, short term, acute psychiatric service.

Herrick Hospital was one of three in the county to ask for a reduced bed count.

Emma L. Bixby Hospital, Adrian, requested a reduction of 18 beds and Morenci Area Hospital asked for a reduction of two beds.

The volunteer action was made to decrease the number of overbedding in Lenawee County which the Michigan Department of Public Health has determined to be about 50 beds county-wide, although it did not specify which hospitals had the excess.

"I felt comfortable" said Herrick administrator William Groover about the local decision. He said the beds were not used for approximately a year, except for 10 days in October 1978 when patient population warranted reopening the wing.

Because it is a separate unit, Groover said it is easy to close. "We've been operating well," Groover said.

Groover explained that the hospital did not add any beds since 1960. Construction over the past five years has been renovation. The number of beds before and after the updating remained at 95. When he came to Tecumseh in 1966, there were 102 beds.

"When we began renovation, we couldn't see the need to expand," Groover told.

But trends toward shorter hospital stays have created overbedding in service areas throughout the nation.

3 Buy Spencer Funeral Homes

Two Tecumseh funeral directors and the relative of one are new owners since March 23 of the three Spencer Funeral Homes.

Roger Proctor of Tecumseh, Gary Couture of Clinton and Roger's first cousin, Leonard K. Stark, co-owner of the Stevens Funeral Home, Milan, have purchased the business from Norman Spencer.

The business will be known as Spencer Funeral Home, Inc.

The three facilities are located at 3816 Saline Rd., Petersburg in Monroe County; 126 Railroad St., Deerfield; and 310 E. Chicago Blvd., Britton in Lenawee County.

Spencer owned the first two facilities since 1967 and purchased the Britton facility from Stewart Niblack of that village in 1975.

Spencer will continue as manager of the three sites at the present time, said the new owners.

Proctor outlined the plans of the new owners.

"Gary, Len and myself will continue our obligations and professional services in the communities in which we live. We have no plans for a change of residence," he said.

"Although we will not live in those communities, we will insist that our manager carry out high standards of professional service and be involved in community service activities as Norm, the previous owner, has done," Proctor elaborated.

"We, the new owners, will be involved with the professional services at each location as well as

If you asked Nancy why she likes her job, she'd tell you that it's because of the people . . . customers and co-workers. Banking is a service industry. If you don't like people, you're in the wrong field. We think Nancy Fraley has found her niche at United Savings Bank.

Nancy is Branch Manager at the Herrick Park office. She's been in banking a long time. She came to USB after 14 years at National Bank and Trust in Ann Arbor. Why did she re-locate after all that time? Because the Tecumseh area is where Nancy, husband Ralph and their family live. It's home.

At United Savings Bank, we think we can serve you a little better when you know us a little better. So get to know Nancy Fraley a little better. She's just one of the hard-working people at USB who cares about you.

WILLIAM HAYDEN HOME, 108 W. POTTAWATAMIE

Homes Reflected 2 Owners

The Italianate homes of a lawyer and a miller will be among the 11 historic buildings featured in the May 19 and 20 Promenade the Past.

Both of the men were originally from New York, both were distinguished in their professions, both made an impact on Tecumseh. To a certain extent, their homes reflect their positions and personalities.

C.A. Stacy, a self-taught lawyer, came to Michigan in 1836. His 43-year-old law career in Lenawee Conty included private practice, and service as probate court judge and prosecuting attorney.

With his leadership in education included service on the local school board for a quarter century, and service as a founding member of both the state board of education and Eastern Michigan University.

His entreprenurial ventures included a role in building the Union Hall, 110-116 W. Chicago Blvd., now occupied by The Cake Shoppe and Whatley Realty. It is the oldest business block in Tecumseh, built in 1850. In it, Stacy served as postmaster for four years.

For about half a century, the Stacy family owned the Tecumseh Herald, Lenawee County's oldest newspaper.

His home at 710 W. Chicago Blvd. was built from 1848-1856 in an Italian villa style. Among its features are a cherry cantilevered staircase to the fourth floor cupola. The 27-room mansion is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Worley and family.

They have decorated it with some of the original furnishings of the Stacy family, and have cared for some of the Stacy family's personal effects.

William Hayden came to Tecumseh by a more circuitous route and at a later date than Stacy did. His home is at 108 W. Pottawatamie St.

Lured by gold dust and wanderlust, at age 30, Hayden set out for California. He contracted cholera and was left to die by his companions. He recovered only to have his $4,000 fortune go down with a ship on his return trip from the gold fields.

Hayden borrowed money to return home. He began his milling business in Jackson, where he purchased the Vandercook Mills and ran them successfully for three years.

In 1858, he purchased the Globe Milling Company in Tecumseh, nucleus of the William Hayden Milling Company, recognized historically as one of the most successful enterprises of its kind in southern Michigan and active in international trade as well.

It operated in the same family until 1977 when a fire forced Mrs. Perry Hayden, wife of William Hayden's grandson, to sell the South Pearl Street business, now Atlas II.

Hayden's Italianate home reflects the prosperity he enjoyed during the years he operated the mill. It also reflects Hayden, the family man, whose brood of seven filled an entire pew in the original St. Peter's Episcopal Church. The Haydens enjoyed their home with many parties, including a home wedding.

Built in 1862, one of its features is a walnut stairway, an unmistakable trademark of the Crane family of builders. A cupola once topped the roof.

Mrs. Carlton Cook now owns the building, which she purchased a year ago as four apartment units. While the use has changed, the character of the home has been retained.

Tecumseh Baseballers Split Opening Doubleheader

The Tecumseh boys' baseball squad opened their season Saturday against a very strong Blissfield team and accomplished what they set out to do.

They split the doubleheader, winning the first game 4-0 and losing the second 3-1. But the important thing is that the team went to Blissfield ready to play baseball and they took a giant step toward building their confidence.

The whole team did their part. They had a balanced attack and that team effort is what the THS squad needs to continue throughout the season.

Pitchers Scott Schafer and Steve Pope both pitched very good games, each going all the way.

Shafer got the opening win with allowing just three hits and three walks. He struck out nine. Pope took the loss, but he also allowed just three hits, walked two and struck out four.

And more than the pitching went right for coach Bob Ondrovick. His seniors were very stable on the field and the juniors did an exceptionally good job. The whole team played and committed only three errors all day.

Offensively, Brian Banda and Randy Halvin led the attack the first game with Banda getting one hit and one RBI. Halvin got two hits, one a home run and he was responsible for two RBI's.

Andy Geshwiler and Bob McFadden also got hits that game.

In the second match, the Indian bats were much more silent with Halvin, Schafer and Derek Nahabedian each getting one hit.

The team now travels to Adrian for a doubleheader on Saturday. Game time is noon and coach Ondrovick only hopes he gets as much support as he got at Blissfield from the following fans.

Then Tuesday, the Tecumseh team got the men on base, but could not bring them in as they dropped a game to Jackson Northwest 2-1.

The team stranded four men on third base in the game. They hit the ball well, bunted well to move their base runners around, but Jackson kept coming up with the out to end the Indians' rally.

Scott Schafer started pitching for the local squad and Steve Pope relieved him the last two innings. Schafer struck out three, walked one and allowed one run on five hits. Pope had one strike out, one hit and one run.

Tecumseh's lone run came on a hit from Banda. He moved to second on a walk and was sacrificed to third base. He then scored on a passed ball.

Halvin also got a hit for Tecumseh, a double. Banda had two singles.

In all, Jackson got two runs on six hits and committed no errors. Tecumseh had three errors with one run on three hits.

Open Monday

The THS girls' track squad opens Monday with a meet against Adrian, here at 4 p.m.

Coach Ed Oxley reports that his girls will be very strong in the hurdles, sprints and relays. The key to the Indian's success, however, will be their ability to fill the gaps in the field events.

Oxley has a very solid core returning with three senior, three junior and five sophomore letter earners.

He also expects a great deal of future help from his freshmen. Martha Hans, Cindy Anschcutz and Nancy Preble are among the most promising.

Lana Stein, Joanie Tomecek, and Angie Spagnoll are among the seniors returning and they are also the captains of the team.

Stein is a hurdler and qualified for the state meet last year. Tomecek ran in the state mile relay team and will also run in the 440 relay. Spagnoli runs the mile.

The three juniors returning include Kris MacDonald, Theresa Duhan and Karen Egli. MacDonald was a sprinter that has moved to the hurdles and she will also long jump.

Duhan was a state qualifier last year in the mile relay. She will also probably run the 100 and quarter mile. Egli is a two miler primarily, but will also fit in the one mile.

The five sophomores returning include Janice Bishop, Bonnie Birchfield, Anne Smoke, Leslie Oliver and Beth Comfort.

Bishop is a sprinter and long jumper. Birchfield will run the 440 and mile relay. Smoke is returning to the team after breaking the half mile record last year as a freshman. She is also on the mile relay team that qualified in the state last year.

Leslie Oliver joins Egli as a two miler. Comfort will be running the hurdles and throwing the discus.

Like all the spring sports this year, the Indian girls have been hurt by the weather. They have not had much practice outside and Adrian's opening meet undoubtedly feels like its coming too soon for the team.

Still, if the Indian squad stays healthy, they have a shot at the championship and coach Oxley is optimistic with his girls. Airport is definitely favored to win the league, but the local girls may surprise quite a few fans.

CHS Squad Has Potential

Coach Dave Arnold is now entering his second year with the girls' track team at Clinton and he is looking at a potentially very powerful team.

He has th[illegible] returning. All are strong competitors and all hold school records.

Lisa Cark is very strong in the discus and shot put. She placed third in the discus last year at the state meet and holds school records in both categories.

Judy Zimmerman, another senior, went to the state last year to run in the mile and holds the school record in the 880 and mile.

Holly Stanish, the third senior, is a utility girl for coach Arnold, running the 220 and 440 especially well. She is on the record holding 880 and mile relay teams.

Three juniors top the list of 13. The team also will get some help from seven sophomores and two freshmen.

One top junior is Tracy Fuller. She holds the school record in the 220 and runs on the record mile relay team. She also had the second fastest quarter mile last year.

Cindy Wolf is the Redskin's top hurdler. She just started last year, but came on strong. She also runs sprints and is a long jumper.

The last junior, Kelley MacRae, holds the two mile record and was second in the league last year in the event. She, like Wolf, is a flexible competitor in many events.

These top girls on the Clinton squad broke seven records last year and that gives coach Arnold optimism.

The team does, however, lack numbers. On top of this, they had a rough spring. Many were sick early and practice was delayed. The weather has not been overly cooperative this spring for outdoor [illegible] practices either.

But Arnold believes that if his juniors and seniors especially keep improving as they did last year, his squad will be among the top three teams in the league.

And the Redskins will need to be tough to place this year. Addison and Blissfield are both strong with a lot of returning girls. Onsted will also hang in among the best after having a strong freshmen group last year.

Only time will tell for the girls and their time begins tonight. After canceling their opening meet last week, the girls begin with a meet at Manchester Thursday.

Neighbors Deliver Cancer Facts

A neighborhood drive against cancer starts in Tecumseh April 19-29, said Martha Poppink, local chairwoman.

In addition to fund raising, the door-to-door drive also has an educational purpose as workers will distribute literature on the disease and its warning signs.

Neighborhood captains are Sue Neilson, Mary Ann Hendricks, Linda Martin, Joanne Davis, Dorothy Mills, Pat Schmidt, Margaret Stites, Sandy Titus and Barb Palmer.

Cancer's seven warning signals are:

1. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
2. A sore that does not heal.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Thickening or lump in breast or elsewhere.
5. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Obvious change in wart or mole.
7. Nagging cough or hoarseness.

If you have a warning signal, it is advisable to see your doctor.

Cancer spreads; time counts. Cancer is uncontrolled growth of abnormal cells. It begins small and if unchecked, spreads. If detected in an early, local stage, the chances for cure are best.

Risk increases with age. This is not a reason to worry, but a signal to have more regular, thorough physical check-ups. Your doctor or clinic can advise you on what tests to get and how often they should be performed.

You will sharply reduce your chances of getting lung cancer if you stop smoking. Avoid too much sun, a major cause of skin cancer. Learn cancer's Seven Warning Signals, and see your doctor promptly. Pain usually is a late symptom of cancer; don't wait for it.

The American Cancer Society office in Lenawee County is located at 204 E. Church Street, Adrian.

Both days from noon until 2 p.m., children seven through 11 years of age will be auditioned. They must be accompanied by an adult.

From 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., children aged 12 years and older will be auditioned. Rehearsals will be scheduled for after school and some on weekends.

Co-directors are Ricki Speller and Carol McLeod, both of Tecumseh. About 35 children will be cast in singing and non-singing roles with some dance parts.

CLINTON — The Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Camp and family, who conduct a mission for Overseas Servicemen's Christian Service in Japan, told of their work at a joint meeting of the Women's Fellowship and the Men's Fellowship in the United Church of Christ, Thursday evening.

The Camps were introduced by Steve Hansen, who had participated in the Camps' home-based program, while in the Navy stationed in Japan.

The OSCS is conducted in the missionary's home, and offers the service person a home-cooked meal and a social base for Christian fellowship with a family, while he is in a foreign land.

Twenty OSCS non-denominational missions are located in several countries throughout the world.

A potluck dinner preceded the program.

Explains Traits

Third in A Series
by Dianna Joachim

Learning Disabilities Consultant
Lenawee Intermediate School District

State and federal laws explain that for a child to be recognized as learning disabled, he must be achieving below his expected level in one of the basic learning processes.

A pattern of symptoms must exist that suggest a difficulty related to the functioning of the central nervous system. These two factors must be so severe that the child cannot handle his regular classes without special help.

Difficulty in learning is not considered the result of a learning disability if it is related to a hearing, visual or physical impairments; or to an emotional problem, a low ability level, or any factor in his home environment.

The pattern is not the same for every learning disabled child. However, there are some noticeable behaviors that are commonly accepted as reasons to refer a child for further diagnosis.

The most talked about of these symptoms is hyperactivity (or over-activity.) Hyperactivity will be the topic of a separate article.

Hypoactivity (or under-activity) is a symptom that is not as commonly discussed. This is the opposite of hyperactivity.

Only extreme examples of hyper or hypo-activity are considered symptoms of learning disabilities.

The most obvious symptom is extreme difficulty with one of the basic subjects: reading and language, writing or arithmetic. A learning disabled youngster often does well in two out of three of these.

Attention problems are another symptom that may appear in the pattern of a learning disabled student. Extremes of paying either too much or too little attention without self control can signal a learning disability.

Children with learning disabilities often lack social awareness. They don't seem to learn how to behave in a group situation as easily as other children. Appropriate behaviors have to be taught to learning disabled youngsters. They need to have someone else point out cause and effect situations that are obvious to other children.

For example, when Dick, a learning disabled youngster, made a face at Billy, he didn't understand why Billy became angry. And when Dick walked right through the middle of a marble game at recess, he didn't understand why the three boys playing the game started shouting at him.

Some other behaviors that may be learning disability symptoms are coordination problems, constant misunderstanding of directions, confusion about whether to use the right or left hand or extreme difficulty with organization of time and/or space.

When several of these symptoms are serious enough to request professional evaluation by staff of the Lenawee Intermediate School District.

Thru My Window

BY MARDA GENE DUNCAN

Suddenly Gertie T looked up from her typewriter and started to exclaim. There was something large on the dead tree trunk which slants over the creek. She rushed from window to window hoping for a better view, but at the same time, was careful not to frighten the visitor. In the meantime she grabbed binoculars and books. Thank goodness our conversation was not taped — it must have been a mixed-up blend of stutters, stammers, questions and exclamations.

By the time Gertie T had satisfied herself that what she was seeing was indeed a duck, she was unplugging my bed and turning me around. There it was!

A more perfect example of protective coloration would be hard to find. Until movement gave her away, she was just another part of the tree.

Fortunately she seemed a bit nervous or anxious and could not sit still for long. A tail twitch or a neck stretch and there she was.

She was, of course, a female wood duck. With her back to us we could readily see the grayish brown back, but even more exciting we could also see the subtle green cast to the top and back of her head.

As she turned her head we were amazed at the large, white area around her eyes and the smallish white patch on her chin.

Somewhere in the back of my mind is a look through the binoculars which showed dark brown streaking on her throat and upper body. With so much excitement though, such fleeting glances register best in hindsight.

While I watched the nervous gal twitch and stretch, Gerti T was searching for the handsome male. Finally he showed himself. As he waddled out of the water and up a few feet on the opposite creek bank, his lady flew from her perch and landed near him.

Handsome is just too tame a word for him — he was glorious. The white markings on his irisdescent green head were perfectly set off by the dull rainy day.

His bill was light and, through the binoculars, it was easy to see the red at its base. For such a colorful bird it was amazing how, when he turned his back to us and stood still, he became a part of the landscape too.

His white head stripes and the white band just above his wings were the only tell-tale marks.

Finally the drake, followed closely by the hen, stretched and went toward the water. What a view they gave us! As she paraded by the bluish color patch on her wing was unmistakable.

He, of course, was the picture of perfection. The rich, dark chestnut of his chest was breathtaking. Both birds looked soft, almost like velvet.

After a short swim, they took off and flew up the creek, veered slightly to the right and landed on a high horizonatal branch of one of the trees by the creek's bend.

I shan't begin to say how long they were in that area. He nervously paced the limb while she flew from one tree to another.

The distance was too great and the number of intervening tree tops far too many for us to keep a close check on her activities. However, it is not too much to hope that she was looking for nest sites.

Fifty To Review Special Education

Several Tecumseh area people are members of a comprehensive review of special education in Lenawee County that began this week at Adrian College's Cargo Hall.

More than 50 people, representing parents, teachers, administrators, the state department of education and the Lenawee community at large, began a review process which will take eight full working days to complete.

Among the local participants are:

Jim Daly, Barbara Schafer, Wayne Kaiser, Janet Robinson, Theresa Torres, Donna Rohweder of Tecumseh; Ed Overstreet and Margaret Bless of Clinton and Joan Witt of Britton.

They will examine current special education mandates, view the present special education program as it currently operates, identify differences and make recommendations.

In his welcoming remarks, Lenawee Intermediate School District Superintendent Bill Ross indicated that a look at special education needs to be taken at this time because of the complexities of the law, the increasing costs of special education services, and the new disciplines which are emerging.

He charged the group to develop a master plan to indicate what special education services should be delivered and to suggest a management system for the delivery of those services while "keeping in mind the realities of costs and benefits involved."

The group, under the leadership of Dr. Richard Galloway, National Association of State Directors of Special Education Executive Director, will spend four days this week and four days in May in the learning, discussing, considering and recommending process which the comprehensive study involves.

Vials Help in Emergency

The "Vial of Life" program is being conducted in Tecumseh through the help of the Tecumseh Fire Department, Tecumseh Kiwanis Club and Lenawee County Department on Aging.

The vial, the size of a medicine prescription bottle, contains a scroll which the individual fills out with pertinent medical information about himself or family.

This information can save valuable time for the fire department, police and rescue units in case of an accident or emergency in which someone cannot speak for himself.

These are especially handy for senior citizens, the disabled or anyone under medication.

The vials are fastened in a special location inside the refrigerator.

The program starts April 16. The free vials may be picked up from Tecumseh city hall, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday; The Tecumseh Community Center Sr. Citizens, 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Monday through Friday; and from the Tecumseh Fire Department Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Any other service club interested in participating in this project may contact the Tecumseh Fire Department or Tecumseh Kiwanis.

Await Approval On Mental Health Program

Groover said that the hospital has been studying alternative uses for the wing for about a year. About eight months ago, it learned of a successful program at Kent Community Hospital, near Grand Rapids, for an in-patient, short term, acute psychiatric service.

Called a Hope Unit, it is geared for patients who recognize signs of mental health problem and voluntarily seek professional care. Group therapy is a part of the treatment.

Groover said that this type of service is not currently offered in either Lenawee or Hillsdale counties.

The hospital board approved Jan. 30 the hospital's contract with Compcare Corp., a Missouri based firm, pending necessary approvals from the Michigan Mid-South Health Agency and the Michigan Department of Public Health.

"I think it is important for the public to know that these mental health beds are for voluntary admissions," Groover elaborated.

"We are not talking about people directed by the court to enter a mental health program. These would continue to be served in Ypsilanti or Ann Arbor. There won't be bars on windows here." He added the average patient stay would be one week.

Besides its unit in Kent County, Compcare has a similar program at St. Francis Hospital in Cincinnati, Ohio. Groover said he has spoken with officials at both locations.

According to the Herrick Hospital contract with Compcare, the hospital will provide the physical site, the nursing personnel, aides and orderlies and the Missouri corportion will provide the specialized professional personnel.

Little physical changes will be necessary for the wing, said Groover, adding that it meets state health department requirements for a facility of this type.

The hospital has agreed to spend up to $1,000 for furnishings to convert a "classroom" to a common dining area for patients.

Proposed overall room rate is $130 per day, including room and professional services.

Clauses in the contract enable either party to cancel.

Under the best conditions, Groover said that the unit could open in September, pending necessary state approvals, he emphasized.

Up From The Grave He Arose

Kevin's in the Junior Choir. You better believe Kevin is in the Junior Choir. ... you'll sometimes hear him above the rest ... occasionally a shade off pitch.

But the joyous message of Easter is never sung with any more enthusiasm than when Kevin and his friends sing "Up From The Grave He Arose." The effect on the congregation is electrifying.

Think, too, of the effect on Kevin. His youthful heart is warming to the central truth of his religion. He is feeling, not just telling, the Story of Easter.

What we give of our time and talents means a great deal to our church. ... but even more to us! Discover the joy of this Easter.

City Property Assessments Increased 10%

All taxable real and personal property in Tecumseh has been assessed nearly 10% higher than in 1978, according to a report submitted to Council Monday night by Robert E. Hamden, city assessor.

Total assessment is $46,667,600 compared to $42,555,100 a year ago.

Increase almost entirely resulted from real estate, when the assessment jumped from $36,204,600 to $40,072,200. Personal was raised from $6,350,500 to $6,595,400.

Seventeen residents protested their assessments at the recent Board of Review hearings.

Hopefully, the present assessments will not be affected by any factor, which the county could apply and has applied in the past.

Four Running for School Board

A race for the School Board has been assured with the filing of four petitions, according to Supt. Robert Duhan.

Those running on the June ballot are incumbents, Richard T. Heglin and Patricia Tressler.

They will be opposed by Alan E. Beatty, Jeanette Dotson and J.C. Myers.

Annual school election is scheduled for June 11th with the candidates vying for two 4-year terms on the board.

City Pickups Start April 30th

Annual spring clean-up for Tecumseh residents will start Monday, April 30th, according to Cal Zorn, city manager.

Citizens are asked to have their trash or refuse — not cans and other items that normally go into Lenawee Disposal paper bags — next to the curb.

City crews also will pickup large items, such as appliances.

Pickups are scheduled for two weeks, ending on Friday, May 11th.

OK Bid for $6,700

Tecumseh City Council accepted the low bid of Selders Excavating for $6,700 to move a stock pile of soil on the southwest corner of Mill and Russell Roads to fill behind curb and in low areas of the industrial park.

Council rejected the bids of Brady Sand and Gravel, Inc. for $17,519; Bales Trucking, Inc. for $11,440 and Haeussler Construction for $8,500.

CASTLEWOOD BOOK STORE — David and Terri Casteel and sons, Daniel, 2, Jacob, 5 and Aaron, 8 are opening their bookstore at 120 W. Chicago Blvd. Wednesday. (PHOTO BY JIM LINCOLN)

New Book Store Opens

Castlewood Book Store will open April 18 at 120 W. Chicago Blvd.

Owners of the business and building are Mr. and Mrs. David Casteel, Tecumseh residents for about two years. They have three children, Aaron, 8, Jacob, 5 and Daniel 2. Mr. Casteel also works at Chrysler in Ann Arbor.

The opening had been planned for December 1977, however because the couple chose to do extensive remodeling on their own, the opening was delayed until the building suited them.

The store will offer paperback, hardbound books and personalized service. The owners boast of offering one of the largest selections of periodicals in Lenawee County. Children's books and magazines and a small collection of unique gifts will also be offered.

"We are proud to be members of the Tecumseh business community and are especially happy to be opening at long last," commented Mrs. Casteel. She has managed other stores, but this if the first business venture for the family.

A grand opening is planned during Promenade the Past May 19 and 20.

Plan Expenditures for Federal Funds

The lion's share of Tecumseh's federal revenue sharing funds will be spent on solid waste disposal, as in previous years, according to a preliminary spending plan drawn up by City Manager Cal Zorn and surveyed by Council Monday night during a public hearing.

No citizen debated the proposed expenditures.

City expects to received $110,000 in federal revenue sharing funds during the 1979-1980 budget year, or about $10,000 more than the previous year.

About $99,500 were earmarked for solid waste disposal, including $72,000 for refuse collection, $11,000 for landfill and $16,500 for clean up.

Last year, the city allocated $78,200 for solid waste disposal. The increase was noticeable in refuse collection due to increased cost of contract with Lenawee Disposal, which the city contracted for resident garbage collection.

A new item earmarked from the anticipated federal revenue sharing funds was $2,500 for Christmas decorations and Fourth of July fireworks in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce.

Other items and amounts tentatively budgeted were senior citizens, $2,500, $300 more than last year; Community Action agency, $3,000, $1,950 less than last year; and new equipment and contingency, $2,480; $11,000 less than last year.

The major point of discussion was how much, if anything should be allocated to the Region II Community Action Agency. No decision was made pending more information about direct benefits to the city of Tecumseh.

Council's concensus at the Jan. 15 regular meeting and again Monday night seemed to be that it could not see the program's direct benefit to Tecumseh city residents.

The Council is also concerned that other local Lenawee governments have not contributed their fair share.

The Community Action Agency is a multi-service agency that offers legal, medical, job replacement and job training services, outreach and referral to low income individuals and families in Lenawee County.

The city has contributed five percent of its revenue sharing funds, or about $4,400 annually since 1974.

For about one year, the agency operated a Tecumseh office at St. Peter's Church, until September 1978.

Councilmember Harold Easton commented Monday night that the proposed $3,000 expenditure for CAA "could be reduced to zero, as far as I'm concerned."

"I don't think that they have proven a darn thing," said Easton. "Now they've closed their office in Tecumseh. It's obvious that the people of Tecumseh haven't gotten a darn thing out of it. They're using our funds to go out in the townships and do their work."

Arnold Golembieski, director for two months of the Lenawee County office of Region II Community Action Agency, said that the local

OK 12-Year Tax Exemption

B&H Manufacturing was granted a 50 percent tax exemption for 12 years by Tecumseh City Council Monday night.

Michigan Public Act 198 allows a local government to do this to attract industry and give incentives to expand.

B&H, owned by James Curley, moved from Ann Arbor this spring as the city's first manufacturing tenant in the industrial park on Russell Rd.

Jebco Manufacturing, which moved from Ann Arbor to 610 S. Maumee St., was the first industry to receive a similar tax exemption from City Council.

Curley, owner of B&H, told Council Monday that 19 people from the community were hired by his company. He said he plans an open house in May.

The Tecumseh Area Industrial Development Corporation, in cooperation with the city and United Savings Bank, built and sold the industrial shell to B&H.

Arrest Youth for Jan. 2 B&E

James S. Ivan, 18, formerly of Tecumseh but now of 1763 Sand Creek Hwy., was arrested last week in Ann Arbor for B&E's there.

He is also charged in the B&E that occurred here on Jan. 2 at the Tecumseh Camera Shop. Authorities have recovered two cameras in Ann Arbor and two more in Adrian.

Ivan had been under surveillance in Ann Arbor and by other police departments. He is currently in the Washtenaw County jail.

Lions Solicit for Eye Bank This Weekend

The Tecumseh Lions Club will participate in its first White Cane Week beginning April 23, a worldwide drive to solicit funds for eye bank programs.

Friday and Saturday the club will receive donations at prime business locations.

From 3-4 p.m. Friday, Lions' members will be stationed at the Tecumseh Products.

Later that day from 4-7 they will be at the A&P, Kroger store, and business intersection at Evans and Chicago Blvd. downtown.

Saturday they will again be stationed at the grocery stores and downtown intersection.

Mayor Aden Mead of Tecumseh recognized the efforts of the new service club chartered in February by signing a proclamation.

More than 250 persons in Michigan have their eyesight restored by corneal transplants annually.

The need for corneal transplants is met by voluntary donations.

The Ann Arbor Lions Club organized the state's first eye bank in 1957. Since then 96 eye bank substations have been established in the state.

In 1971, the State Lions Club made the eye bank project a statewide fund raising project.

Nancy Pape sold 92; Lois Furry, 64; Julie Dehring, 60; John Holly 38. They each won a cash prize from the Band Boosters.

Other band students selling 15 or more subscriptions and winners of a cash prize from the Band Boosters were:

Easter Egg Hunt Was Great

Lawn area of the Tecumseh Acres School was the site Saturday of the Jaycee Easter egg hunt for over 200 local youngsters — and parents as evident in one picture here. Ages varied with the wee ones getting some help, others boasted baskets as big as themselves, and others scrambled as quickly as their legs would let them. All of the fun started when the signal was given to start, and it didn't take the youngsters long to find the eggs. Ladies Auxiliary of the Eagles discovered that it was illegal to give a puppy away, therefore the ladies provided $100 in gift certificates to Tara Lampham, who found the golden egg, and to other winners. Story and list of winners is inside this issue of The Herald.

agency closed its Tecumseh office because, "We had nobody to be there on a full-time basis," due to the loss of CETA funds used to fund that position. "That does not mean Tecumseh area residents are not receiving services," he added.

Golembieski said he did not have statistics on CAA clients for the city of Tecumseh, but rather the Tecumseh area, although statistics for the city limits could be determined given time.

"If they (the city council) can tell me what they want, I will do my best to try to provide it," the director commented.

Have other townships been asked to contribute their revenue sharing funds?

Golembieski said he frankly hasn't had the time. "I need to be three persons," he said about his new position.

Adrian and Deerfield haven't said "no" for the upcoming 1979-80 fiscal year, he added. Adrian contributed $10,000 in its current fiscal year and Deerfield, $300.

Together with Tecumseh's annual federal revenue sharing contribution, the $15,000 represents about two precent of the approximate $864,000 budget of the Lenawee Office of the Region II Community Action Agency.

"While the local contributions may seem small, Golembieski says it represets "an exhibition of local support" for the "grass roots program."

Remainder of the CAA Lenawee budget comes in part from such agencies as the United Way, including the Tecumseh Community Fund, individual foundations, federal and state monies, the latter of which is entangled in a hodge-podge of fiscal year dates.

Will I always remember him?

Remembering the deceased is a way of keeping a loved one always alive in your mind.

The full-service funeral is the traditional and time-proven way of making sure your memories are psychologically sound. A full service with your mutual friends and relatives present gives you a final memory of lasting value.

While the immediate memory may be a painful one after the death of a loved one, this poem may give you a new view.

A LOOK INSIDE Herrick Hospital

BY KATHY BAILEY, R.N.
RICHARD SJES, BUSINESS MANAGER

Herrick Hospital employees are learning to deal with stress in their lives through a program prepared by the American Hospital Association. The program, which includes a film, role-playing materials, worksheets and a booklet for each participant, was purchased by the Hospital's Woman's Auxiliary.

The program was first presented to interested employees in January and second class was held in March, in response to employee requests for more information on the subject.

Stress is the body's reaction to a change. Although people oft times think of stress as some negative event, such as an auto accident, a divorce or being fired from one's job, it is important to realize that positive life events also cause stress.

The birth of a baby, a promotion, the purchase of a new home, even Christmas and family get-togethers are sources of stress in our lives.

Under the guidance of Kathy Bailey, RN, Coordinator of Inservice Education, participants first identify their stress signals, as different people have different warning signs that they are under stress.

It is again important that people learn to recognize their warning signs of stress, as this is the first step in dealing with stress. Second, participants learn to categorize the type of stress, as each individual encounters three basic types of stress-producing incidents: (1) those over which you have no control, i.e. the death of a spouse; (2) those over which you have some control, i.e. a change in financial status; and (3) those over which you have complete control, i.e. revision of personal habits."

The emphasis is to reduce stress by acting on those incidents which you have some or complete control over.

Finally, the program outlines important things you can do to counteract and relieve stress. Briefly, they are: learn to relax, get adequate exercise and rest, eat properly, avoid a "should-filled" life and learn to express your emotions.

It is known that stress makes you age faster, is related to many diseases and generally is not the best ingredient for a healthy, contented life.

In addition to hospital employees, the program has been presented to the Hospital's Women Auxiliary.

If any community group or business is interested in a presentation on STRESS, contact Kathy Bailey at the hospital, 423-2141, for further information.

Emotions: Part of Our Nature

Emotions are an integral part of human nature and people need not be ashamed to show compassion at a crucial time, the Rev. Kenneth Boyd told his audience at the Tecumseh Monday Club meeting March 19.

The pastor of the First Baptist Church of Tecumseh used John 11:35 as the basis of his talk. It tells that Jesus wept when told the news of Lazarus' death. Jesus was human and experienced emotions much as we do in our lives, he explained.

The Lenten program concluded with a tape recording of "God Gave A Song," by Deborah Hamdon, a Mennonite Church soloist from Beaumont, Texas, and granddaughter of Elizabeth Hayden.

Frances Hewlett and Peg McCoy are confined to the Huron Valley Nursing Home, 355 Huron Valley Blvd., Ann Arbor, 48103. Hilda Hunter is a patient in intensive care at Herrick Memorial Hospital.

Naomi Sallows, president, conducted the business and devotions were given by Mrs. Hayden, who read from "Ideals" on the beauty of spring.

Louise Calkins, formerly of Hastings, and Sadie Chanady, both of Tecumseh and Helen Stright of Athens, Ohio were guests.

Both Christine and Sheryl are past General Telephone scholars. According to Adrian officials, receipt of this scholarship is based on academic excellence.

The awards were presented by General Telephone Adrian Division Manager Lester Moench Jr. and Customer Service Manager Bill Gossett during a luncheon on campus.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY LENDER

Thru My Window

BY MARDA GENE DUNCAN

The little house is all ready. It is hung in the nearby maple tree, in perfect view. The entrance hole is the prescribed 1 to 1¼ inches in diameter. All we need now are some wrens. How quickly they could change the "Apartment for Rent" sign to "No Vacancy."

After a carefree winter in the warm sunshine of the Gulf States or Mexico, the male wrens begin their annual trek north before the females do.

According to Robert M. McClung writing for the "National Geographic's Song and Garden Birds of North America," the migating urge in both sexes is triggered by light.

Reproductive organs are stimulated by an increase of certain hormones which are given off by the pituitary glands. It is the ever increasing hours of daylight in the spring which stimulates the pituitary glands.

Once the reproductive organs begin secreting their hormones, birds begin experiencing "a series of urges". One of them prompts the migratory flight north.

Interestingly enough, most scientists believe they know why birds fly north in the spring but they agree that the how of these flights is still a mystery.

By arriving at their northern breeding area before their mates, the male wrens have several days to select their territories. Once he has settled upon what to him looks like a perfect area in which to raise his family, the feisty little bird defends its territory against all 'dangerous' trespassers.

Dangerous meaning all other male wrens or any birds who would compete with him for food or nest sites. He will be tolerant or even friendly to birds who are not a threat but his reaction to those who fit in the same niche of Mother Nature's order of things as he does are treated in just the opposite manner.

For such a tiny bundle of energy, about 4½ or 5¼ inches long, he can be a belligerent and fearless fighter when the safety of his home is involved.

In fact, once a pair has mated, the female joins her mate in these fierce battles. Fortunately there is little actual combat.

Threats and bluffs will usually secure an area. The people who must have a technical or scientific answer for things try to shatter one of my nice springtime fantasies.

They claim that the loud and bubbling wren song is not a joyous celebration of spring but is instead of clear announcement, to all concerned, of territorial rights.

It still seems to me he might be just a little bit happy with his world and his song is a good way to express it.

These are busy birds. While the male is claiming his own little piece of this planet earth, he is also rushing to all nesting sites in the area. Not only rushing but starting to build nests as well.

He tirelessly works at lugging twigs, grasses, weed-stems and whatever else strikes him as being good building material. He builds or at least partially builds in every conceivable nest site — some inconceivable ones, too. These tiny characters are notorious for building nests in odd places.

Another reason for the male's day long serenading is to attract a mate. Once the females arrive on the scene the males sing their glorious songs and try to impress their lady loves.

Once a gal begins to show interest, the fellow gallantly escorts her through his home area and proudly shows off all of his building efforts. If she is duly impressed, the pair mate and immediately set up housekeeping.

Usually this means that the female decides where she wants to raise the family and sets about cleaning house. She tosses out all of the building material her mate worked so hard to assemble. Once this task is completed, she starts her own bit of construction. Sometimes he helps with the actual work, sometimes he merely sings while she builds her own nest.

And this is only the beginning of the fun in having wrens take up residence. As mentioned before, our little wren house is ready and waiting. All we need are the wrens.

"CHILDREN OF GOD"

"Who do they think they are?"

"Well, I'll show them a thing or two!"

Are these familiar words? Haven't we, at one time or another either spoken them or heard them?

Perhaps it was when we were small children and our friend was appointed captain of the baseball team. We were sure we could do the job better and after all, we were the ones that decided to form the team.

However, our chum had "apparently" reaped the glory and honor. Our pride was hurt and, as children, we did not have the maturity to stop and realize what we were doing and all the work this person would have to do as leader.

Well, this time although years have been added, wisdom has not yet taken the place of childish temper.

As adults, we often feel that we have outgrown all of those immature acts, but...have we?

Perhaps where we work, there is another employee who gets the promotion we had expected. Have you not heard or perhaps even thought, "I'll show them. All the years I've given this company, and that fellow gets the glory and takes my place?"

Well, what will "they" be shown? The energy and time used to degrade or lessen the ability of another could be used to constructively help the whole group or company.

By becoming so engulfed in spreading seeds which may discredit another, we lose ourselves in anger and misery.

Often in the attempt to prove the answer to "Who does he think he is?", we only succeed in proving who we are.

Would it not then, seem wise to find a way to rid ourselves of this burden of misery and "getting even"?

How can this be done?

Why not start by realizing the problems, work and responsibilities the other person will bear in taking on a promotion at work, an office in a club, a committee chairman or any active position of work.

Then "mentally" place ourselves in this position and ask ourselves if we would want the added burden of someone trying to make our burden more difficult.

In most cases, when we stop and think, we can find the answer in our own hearts.

Surely, God will bless our lives if, we can bless the lives of others and give an answer to the question, "Who does he think he is?"

The answer? "He is a child of God."

Then prove your actions to the statement "I'll show them," by showing "love."

Spring is a season of warm sunshine, fields of flowers, lingering twilight and gentle breezes. Spring is tender and romantic. It is a wonderful time to be alive.

This delightful season draws us like a magnet to the magic world of the great outdoors. Flowers begin to bloom in all their radiance, and birds sing once more. There's an assurance in the air itself of fresh, new hope.

Spring is also a time when we're more receptive to thoughts of the eternal mystery of life. It's a special time to marvel at God's supreme plan for each of us and for all of His creation.

This week discover a new sense of wonder of the divine power that sends us a bright, new spring year after year . . . in church.

THS Opens Season With 6-4 Victory

After having their first two games rained out this season, the Indian softball squad opened Monday here against Ann Arbor Pioneer.

The girls hit the ball good, getting six base hits and six runs to Pioneer's one hit and four runs.

Tecumseh scored three times the second inning and Pioneer came up with one run then. Each team added one run in the third and the Indians added their last two in the sixth. Jackson finished their scoring in the seventh inning.

Sandy Humpries was the starting pitcher for the Indians and Dar Williams finished the last one and 1/3 innings. Humpries struck out six, walked three and allowed no hits. Williams walked two, allowed one hit and struck out none.

Karen Bunch had the largest bat for the Indians with a triple and then scored on a suicide squeeze bunt from Kathy Perry. Perry got one single as did Kim Adams, Humphries, Wendy Mauer and Beckey Hamilton.

Offer Arts, Crafts Class

Seek Help

The Tecumseh Recreation Department is looking for summer part-time help in four different work categories.

Tecumseh Park supervisor, playground supervisors, youth umpires and a female summer youth supervisor is needed. For more information contact the department at the Community Center.

Indians Lose to Adrian

The Indian girls' track team started off on anything but the right foot as they traveled to Adrian Monday and lost the meet 81-42.

The girls had some tough breaks and were not at their peak, but now they have a meet under their belts and can work forward from there.

First places went to the 440 relay team of Kris MacDonald, Linda Sprague, Martha Hans and Cindy Anscheutz and to Theresa Duhan in two events.

Duhan won both the 100 yard dash and the 220. Her time in the 100 was 13 seconds and she ran a very good 28.9.220.

The track squad travels to the Hastings Relays Saturday and host Gibraltar Carlson, 4 p.m.

THS JV's Win Slugfest, 27-19

The Tecumseh JV softball squad won a real slugfest this week against Ann Arbor Pioneer, 27-19.

Sherry Lane had three singles and Lisa Lapham had a double and a single to lead the team. The young Indians had 13 hits in all.

Penny Gordon was the winning pitcher. It was the freshman's debut game.

Plan Art Class for Children

A seven week art class is being offered by the Tecumseh Recreation Department for children ages eight and 12.

Classes will be held on Wednesday nights from 7-9 p.m. at the Community Center starting June 29th.

Registration is $7 per student. Registrations are now being taken at the Recreation Department, located in the Community Center.

6th Canoe Race Set

The Tecumseh Recreation Department Memorial Day Canoe Race rules and registration may be picked up at the Recreation Department.

Canoe Race will be held rain or shine, May 28. Starting time is noon.

THS Drops Doubleheader

The Tecumseh baseball team lost both ends of a doubleheader to Adrian Saturday. They hit the ball well, but had trouble with errors and base running.

In the first game, the Indians out hit Adrian six to four but made six errors to allow Adrian seven runs to their two.

Andy Geshwiler led the offensive attack with two hits and a walk. Scott Gilpin and Steve Palmer each collected one hit and one RBI. Craig Esterline and Kevin Bater got the other two hits for the Indians.

Steve Pope was the losing pitcher for the Indians. He allowed three walks and four hits. He struck out three. Dorman Frederick relieved Pope the last inning and set down three batters in a row.

In the second game the Tecumseh squad corrected their defense but made a couple mistakes in base running that cost them runs. Final tally left the Indians just one run short, 2-1.

Again the team hit the ball well. In fact the entire squad struck out only 10 times in the 14 innings they played.

Gilpin had one hit and the lone Indian RBI. The second game Esterline and Brian Banda also each got one hit.

Sophomore Marty Wallich pitched a good game, walking only one, giving up seven hits and striking out six. He received the loss behind the Indian's three hits, one run and one error.

While the poor base running the second game and errors the first cost the Indians runs, coach Bob Ondrovick reports that the problems they have are correctible.

The Indians play at the Blissfield tournament Saturday. They also travel to Gibraltar Carlson Monday.

Team Wins

The Britton varsity baseball team downed Sand Creek Wednesday 11-8. Pitcher Greg Fanslau was credited with the win for the Tories. Fanslau struck out five batters.

The top hitters for the Tories were Gregg Sears 2-4, Dennis Kimerer 2-3, Ken Stottler 2-4, and Jim Bluntchly 2-4.

The Tories did not fare quite as well against Dundee in Monday's game however, dropping it 9-1.

Britton was up against some blistering pitching from Tom Bonk who threw six hitless innings before he was relieved. The Tories lone hit came from the bat of Bluntchly.

The loss falls to Gregg Sears who was relieved by John Montalvo and Brad Smith. Britton was hampered by eight errors. Of Dundee's nine runs only two were earned.

New Benefit for Employees

Tecumseh city employees will be able to make volunteer tax deferred contributions from their salary for their retirement in addition to the retirement benefits the city currently provides.

The plan won't cost the city more than routine bookkeeping.

Monday night City Council adopted a resolution enabling the city employees to participate in the Deferred Compensation Plan with the International City Management Association Retirement Corporation.

The funds remain an asset of the city, subject to its control, until the funds are disbursed to employees in accordance with the plan.

According to ICMA, the city would not be responsible for any loss due to investment of funds and assets in the retirement account.

City attorney Greg Forsthoefel explained to Council that the city would be secondarily responsible to the extent that ICMA is not collectible. This is the case with the present city employee retirement fund.

ICMA is a relatiely new, but growing concern. The plan has been adopted by over 700 local governments and agencies.

While the plan is geared to provide portable retirement benefits for administrative personnel, who face reduced retirement benefits due to career mobility, it is a supplemental benefit to all city employees because of the tax deferral on the portion of the income they contribute.

Basic English, designed for students who have completed English Fundamentals and Exploratory English but continue to demonstrate below average skills.

Russ Pichlik presented the basis for the proposed two year mathematics requirement upon graduation. Required selection of courses are: general math (successful completion of eighth grade math) algebra I; algebra II, geometry and trigcalculus.

Board Seeks Six Mills

CLINTON — School board discussed the millage needed for school operations and the possibility of asking for additional millage.

Board voted to set one millage request for the June election at six mills for one year, five mills for operating millage that will expire this year plus one additional mill.

Effects upon the budget and deviations and alternatives the board would have to make were discussed.

Since no new federal programs are anticipated at present to bring in additional revenue, all present programs would be parred down a little from last year.

Supt. Wegner presented a list of curricular and extra curricular activity cuts that could be made in the event the district has trouble balancing the 1979-80 budget.

Recover Stolen Truck

CLINTON — Friday the 13th was bad news for Calhoun Farms.

A 3/4 ton 1977 Ford pickup, owned by Harold Calhoun, was stolen from beside the farm residence on Clinton-Macon Rd., sometime after midnight Friday morning. The owner was at home at the time.

The vehicle was found abandoned later Friday in Westland.

The pickup was extensively damaged. It had apparently been driven over a large rock and the right side door was smashed.

Clinton State Police said a suspected juvenile has not been apprehended.

Plan Ball Diamond

CLINTON — School board members heard an oral presentation by Supt. Richard Wegner on the progress to complete the baseball diamond at the high school.

A recent meeting was held with Wegner, Fred McCrate, athletic director Randy VanGasse, baseball coach Walt Selders and Selders Excavating, to discuss plans for beginning the work on the field.

Randy VanGasse has already had the property surveyed. More information will be available at the next board meeting. The diamond will be completed for use in 1980.

Voorhees Wins Spelling Bee

CLINTON — Andrea Voorhees, a sixth grader at Clinton Middle School, won the Lenawee County spelling bee held April 4 at the Intermediate School District office, Adrian. She competed with students from Madison and Onsted schools.

She won by correctly spelling "flamboyantly" and was awarded a dictionary, plaque and trophy, by The Detroit News, sponsor of the event.

Andrea will now represent Lenawee County, in competition with students from 36 counties at the Metropolitan Spelling Bee May 2 in the Detroit Plaza Hotel.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Voorhees, 9233 Pennington Rd., Clinton.

Kids Scramble for Eggs

The Tecumseh Jaycees had an eggceptional turnout—over 500 children—for the Easter egg hunt April 14, but last minute events led to some eggasperating moments.

The children were eggxtra eager and showed up early at the Tecumseh Acres School grounds looking for the coveted golden egg. As a result, the eggs were hid prior to the start of the hunt.

At the last minute, the sponsors found out that they could not legally give a puppy away to a child as a prize.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Eagles came through, however, with $100 that was used to buy gift certificates from Tickey's, Green's, Penney's and Sears.

Tara Lampham received $20 for finding the golden egg. Runners-up received McDonald's certificates.

Jody Swain and Paul Cubberly were co-chairmen for the project.

Winners in the preschool and Kindergarten group were: Tara Lampham, 26 eggs; Debbie Rose, 24 eggs; Jim Moore, 19 eggs and Justin Raymond, 19 eggs.

First and second graders: Dale Wonderly, 17 eggs and Jaime Hierholzer, 17 eggs; Diana Covell, 13 eggs; Charles Covell, 10 eggs; Kathy Wilson, nine eggs; Keith Huz, seven eggs and Shawn Hawley, seven eggs.

Third and fourth graders: Pam Eagan, 24 eggs; Robin Silver, 24 eggs; Sally Every and Karl Every, a combined 28 eggs.

Fifth and sixth graders: Marimil Sion, 16 eggs; Sylvia Drews, 10 eggs; Ann Jepson, six eggs; Susan VanOrdol, five eggs; Beth Covell, four eggs.

Begin Parade Plans

Tecumseh's Memorial Day Parade is set for May 28.

At Monday's meeting, Tecumseh City Council adopted a resolution authorizing application to the Michigan State Highway Commission for a parade permit.

Traditional parade route is from city hall on North Maumee down West Chicago Blvd. to the city's Brookside Cemetery on North Union St.

Croswell Season Opens June 27

The playbill for the eleventh season of Croswell Summer Musical Theatre will highlight "Brigadoon", "Godspell" and "Funny Girl" when the season opens June 27.

"Brigadoon" will open the season running from June 27 through July 1, and July 4-8. Alice Mott will direct.

"Godspell" will take over the boards July 18-22 and July 25-29. Lennie DelDuca will direct.

Eve Weiher will direct the third production "Funny Girl", Aug. 8-12, and Aug. 15-19.

An early bird special allows a season ticket holder to take a guest to the Croswell this summer.

Family season tickets accepted for any performance this year, and are a real bargain for the family with two or more children.

Group rates for theatre parties are also available.

The committee includes Gerry Johnstone of Tecumseh.

Divide 3 Lots

The request of Charles H. and Hope H. Mensing to divide three lots into two parcels, with the exception of the south 135 feet, was approved by City Council Monday night.

To get everyone in the mood for "Promenade the Past", May 19-20, the Tecumseh Area Historical Society has planned a sampler of home-related topics for its April 24 meeting.

The group will gather in the community room at the Tecumseh Public Library at 7:30 p.m.

Plans are to make them available to the general public via check out from the library.

The older home, inside and out, will then be investigated in four brief vignettes. Two slide/tape programs bought by the TAHS from the American Association of State and Local History will be prerenered. They discuss wallpaper and the historic house and Victorian house exterior colors.

AMONG THE BEST — Coach Bill Croft should be all smiles this spring - his Tecumseh track team is loaded. Two standouts are Tom Kansas, above, who breaks the school's discus record nearly every toss, and Kevin Salters, high jumping six feet now and certain to go higher and break the school record here. Croft, shooting for another league championship, has other state potentials - D.J. Biscupski in the pole vault, Gregg Borton in the 220 and Jesse Castorena in the two-mile. Before the spring track season is over, others could well develop in their specialities and be competing at the state level.

2nd Bike-a-thon Scheduled May 5th

Tecumsehites will have an opportunity to campaign for Cystic Fibrosis in the second annual Cystic Fibrosis Bike-a-thon May 5, sponsored by the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club.

Events begins at 9:30 a.m. Sign up is at the Methodist Church parking lot on Bishop Reed Dr. off West Brown Street.

Participants will be assigned a number and then proceed on the 1½ mile circular course along North Union to Nokomis, Conklin and Spring Streets and return to Union.

Pledge forms were distributed to schools. Students are now canvassing the neighborhoods. They are asking residents to sponsor them a certain monetary amount per mile.

Kiwanis members will certify a participant's mileage.

Contributions are tax deductible. Checks may be made payable to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

Cyclists under 18 must have parent's written permission.

Anyone who earns $25 or more for the CF drive will be eligible to receive a Bike-a-thon T-shirt.

Last year 45 participants traveled 876 miles and raised $2,700 for CF.

The disease is the leading genetic cause of death among children and young adults.

Paul Preston, a coordinator for the Kiwanis sponsored fund raiser, told that the disease affects the lungs and digestive system and is always terminal.

There is no known cure, he explained, but because of research only since the 1960's, medication has been used to raise the average life expectancy from age four to age 18.

Proceeds are used 90 percent for research and educational programs.

New Conduct Code Reviewed by Board

A newly proposed high school code of conduct was reviewed by the Tecumseh Board Monday night.

The code was developed in cooperation with the high school administration, legal council and the school board policy committee.

The Monday review was a first reading for the project, and it allowed audience feedback. Several suggestions for changes in the code were offered by the audience. Suggestions will be reviewed and the code will be presented again at the board meeting in May.

Intent of the proposed document Monday was "to set forth a code that would "establish standards for student rights and responsibilities for Tecumseh High School that will inform students, parents, teachers, and administrators of what is accepted behavior and how deviations from these standards will be handled."

The code spelled out due process for students and included many small changes, but larger changes, in two areas.

First, the attendance policy was revised to give students credit for work completed up to the time of suspension from class. Until now, the student just received an "E". The policy here was also tightened to drop students from class at 13 unexcused absences instead of 16.

The more serious offenses will also be handled differently if the proposed code becomes a reality. In the past, many offenses demanded long suspensions. Now the code allows for "fair, but firm" punishment, depending on the severity of the offenses according to high school principal Clarence Lacny.

Council Says 'Let Us Grow'

Tecumseh City Council has not promised a chicken in every pot nor potatoes for the stew, but it has made 13 acres of vacant city property available to the city residents who yearn to garden and try to fill the family vegetable bin.

Eight people have signed up so far for the 50' by 50' lots, said Assistant City Manager Paul Preston, caretaker for the project. Theoretically, 218 lots could be assigned.

Lots are available on a first come, first serve basis. Those who call city hall now, will get a lot a lot closer for easier access by foot only.

City has plowed and staked the land. As for the rest—seed, water and labor—residents are on their own and at the mercy of Mother Nature.

Preston added that the ground is available for people to grow vegetables for own use, not for retail.

2 Resign, One Granted Leave

Tecumseh School Board accepted two resignations, one sabbatical leave and extended a maternity leave Monday night.

Cheryl VanValkenburg and Kathy Tarkiewicz resigned after being on maternity leaves during the 78-79 school year.

VanValkenburg was a second grade teacher at Sutton, and Tarkiewicz was in first grade at Patterson Elementary.

The Board also extended the maternity leave for Emily Myers for one year. Myers is not guaranteed her first grade job back at Tipton but will receive the first job available in 1980 that she is qualified for.

The request of James Kingon for a sabbatical leave to work on his master's degree was approved. Kingon is guaranteed his job back in 1980.

Linda Sanders was also laid off at Monday's meeting. She was filling a maternity leave for English-art at the high school.

THS Band Competing at Okemos Saturday

Tecumseh High School Symponic Band will compete in the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association State Band and Orchestra Festival at Okemos High School April 28.

Approve $19,819 for New System

The near constant problem of inadequate heat and continued maintenance of the junior high's heating system should be over by fall when school begins again.

Tecumseh School Board accepted a bid of $19,819 from Indoor Comfort Company of Ypsilanti to replace the return pipe system at the school. Bid also included replacement of old radiator valves.

Student comfort and health were the primary reasons for replacement, but there should also be a savings on utility costs with the new system.

Money for the project will be applied against the 1979-80 budget with money already made available from the special repair and maintenance account.

Thefts Dominate Police Complaints

Complaints handled by the Tecumseh police the past week included the arrest of two youths for stealing and investigation of a stolen vehicle.

Charged with theft and lodged in the Washtenaw County jail are John B. Maurer, 17, of 919 Pontiac Trail, and Michael DuBay, 18, rural Tipton. They were to be arraigned Wednesday morning in Ann Arbor.

They reportedly took hand tools, radio and a CB radio from a Meijers Thrifty Acres van that was parked behind a store on Carpenter Rd. Value of the stolen goods was listed at over $300.

Late Monday afternoon, Sherry Ann Henning, 216 E. Kilbuck, discovered her Corvette stolen while parked behind Ken-Ray's. Shortly afterwards, the vehicle was found just off Sutfin Rd., north of Clinton-Macon Rd. It had been rolled over and wrecked.

A resident of the area told officers that he had talked with the driver, who was last observed walking away from the scene. Henning had left keys in the car's ignition.

Other complaints were routine. They are:

April 18 — James P. Madden, 48, Toledo, was arrested on a warrant from Monroe County. He posted $25 bond and is to appear in Monroe on a charge of no registration on person.

April 19 — Ilene Iott, 38, Adrian, suffered a dog bite at the Karen Furstenberg residence, 707 Brook St. She was treated at Bixby Hospital.

April 19 — Rodney Swift, 21, Brooklyn was charged with drunk driving after Police stopped him for speeding on S. Evans St.

April 20 — Debra R. McClain, 22, Adrian was cited for open intoxicants in a car. She was a passenger in a vehicle stopped on Rogers Hwy.

April 20 — Ottawa Machine Co. officials reported a window broken. A marble in a sling shot was used in the vandalism.

April 21 — Randy R., Arnett, 21, of 708 S. Occidental, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol after police stopped him for weaving on N. Evans St.

April 21 — Thomas B. Ahleman, 20, Adrian, was observed driving on the W. Chicago Blvd. median. He was stopped and arrested for drunk driving.

April 21 — J.L. Callihan, 205 W. Shawnee, reported firecrackers were set off in his mail box. No damages were reported.

Jens Touborg Is New President for Corporation

The Tecumseh senior citizen housing corporation elected officers at its April 10 meeting.

Jens Touborg is president; Nancy Nichols, vice-president; Roger Proctor, treasurer; Richard Montcalm, secretary; Paul Preston, registered agent.

The non-profit corporation of 25 members from the business community was created to manage the proposed 122-unit housing project and to satisfy a federal requirement for future consideration of a $2.3 million mortgage loan.

The loan pre-application is now being considered by Farmers Home Administration at the state level.

Library Millage before Voters

Tecumseh School Board approved a renewal of .7 mill for the Tecumseh Library Monday night and renewed the millage for a three-year time period. Renewal will be before the voters in June.

The millage had been set up on a five-year basis at 7 mill for a number of years. The board chose to return to the older, three-year renewal because of the unpredictability of non-local revenue funds. Primary concern was a possible cut back of funds due to the Headley Amendment.

No special election is needed for the three-year renewal as there is a school election every year.

Put High School on Accreditation

Tecumseh School Board learned Monday night that the high school has been placed on the accredited list by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools.

It received no violations from North Central for the 1979-80 school year. The high school will begin it's visitation of educators for the North Central study this fall.

Need Disability Room for Elementary Pupils

Monday night the Tecumseh School Board discussed the need for an elementary learning disability room. Supt. Robert Duhan explained to the board that he would report back at the next meeting with information involving the facility.

Tecumseh now has eight students who are in need of the room in grades two through five. Under the new Mandatory Special Education Act, the school district must provide a room for the children in a learning disability category.

Presently the school has a consultant from the intermediate district who works with the children in different classrooms. Under the newly considered plan, a Tecumseh school would have a classroom, and the school would hire a new teacher to staff the room.

The maximum classroom size for the learning disabled is 10, and Supt. Duhan reported that the Tecumseh area schools will probably have to add another room the following year to meet demands.

Duhan's May report will consider three possibilities for the room: first, reopening Macon school; second, renting a room in the community for housing; and third, using a relocatable classroom.

Costs of the project would be partially covered by state aid and the intermediate special education leave. Additional costs to the Tecumseh school district are impossible to calculate at this time.

Have funerals changed?

The name of the local newspaper in Tombstone, Arizona, is "The Tombstone Epitaph." The town's famous graveyard, Boot Hill is a widely known tourist attraction and an American history lesson all in itself. Tombstone has purposely secured its niche in western America by clinging to elements of its historic past.

While times and cultures do change, some traditional observances have never altered significantly. Such is the case in the observation of the traditional full-service funeral.

Progress of civilization has brought about improved techniques and products, but the basic reasons for conducting traditional funeral services have remained the same. Dignity, respect and love for the individual; loyalty to high ideals; and expressions of tender sympathy are timeless, universal qualities among advanced societies.

We are experienced and professional funeral directors. As such, you may confidently put into our care all the responsibilities of preparation and conducting of a traditionaly full-service funeral.

Pass $100,000 Goal

The Lenawee County Historical Museum Heritage Fund Drive successfully ended earlier this month by surpassing the $100,000 goal to benefit the new museum location at 110 E. Church St., Adrian, the former Carnegie Library.

One anonymous donor contributed $50,000.

Dr. Charles Lindquist, museum curator, said the exact amount raised is expected to be announced Thursday at the annual meeting of the County Historical Society.

The announcement is sure to hold museum supporters in suspense. Meeting will be 7:30 p.m. at the West Adrian United Church of Christ.

Also on the program, Dr. Lewis Kellum will talk about Lenawee's history before man.

Dr. John Dawson served as campaign coordinator.

Betty Kline and Pat Lamb were drive coordinators laboring in Tecumseh. Mrs. Kline said Tecumseh surpassed its $5,000 goal by raising $8,000 and from 60 separate donors.

This does not include donations from individuals, businesses and groups in the Clinton and Britton areas.

The move to the new location has been completed, but now the slower process of restoration begins.

Preservation Urban Design of Ann Arbor and local architect David Siler are working on the plans.

Application to the Michigan History Division for the federal grant of $104,000 is being readied for the May 1 deadline.

Fifty Join Baby Shower

A baby shower honored Mrs. Dennis Goble April 12. Teresa Watters, her sister, was hostess.

Fifty friends and relatives attended. Games were played and prizes won by Mrs. Donald Butler, Mrs. Steven Watters, Mrs. Wesley Powers Sr. and Linda Powers.

Mrs. Donald Butler baked a cake in the shape of a baby bassinet where the gifts were placed. This was guarded by the traditional storks. A mum flower and candle arrangement was the centerpiece of the table.

Those who helped in serving the refreshments were Loretta Baughey and Mrs. William Goble.

Cake was cut and served by Mrs. Donald Butler and Linda Powers.

Out-of-town guests were from Kansas City, Kansas, Belleville, Hudson, Blissfield, Britton and Tipton.

Dennis and Pamela Goble await the arrival of their first child.

The former Tecumseh residents now live at 320 W. South St., Adrian.

Seed Planting Highlights Club

A perennial seed planting workshop highlighted the April meeting of the Town & Country Garden Club.

Under the direction of program coordinator, Toni Schneider, each member planted 12 different flowering perennials including such favorites as campanula, rosemary and baby's breath. Mrs. Schneider also talked briefly about pruning.

Carol Nelson, Hidden Lake Gardens' project coordinator, reported that spring clean-up has been started in the rock garden.

She also announced the selection and purchase of $150 worth of dwarf shrubs which will be planted in the garden in April.

The purchase of these rare shrubs was made possible through sales of the Hidden Lake Gardens' stationery.

Stationery is still available at the Vine Street Flower Shop in Adrian, and, in Tecumseh, at the August Company, the House of Hallmark and the Tecumseh Camera Shop.

Dinah Wakeford, Paula Bowman and Toni Schneider reported on the District II-A meeting held in Ann Arbor last month.

Barb Feldman, fundraising coordinator, reported geranium sales keeping pace with last year's record sales. Deadline for orders is May 2.

Co-hostess for the meeting were Linda Herman and Carol Reynard. Barbara Schrader designed the monthly arrangement using daisies and purple statice.

Next month's meeting will be held at the home of Barbara Feldman at 8 p.m. May 2. Program, "Our Rock Garden" will be given by club member, Carol Nelson.

Bungalow - International Home

A home of "international timber" will be included in the 1979 Promenade the Past historical tour in Tecumseh May 19 and 20.

Before you say, "Bunk, not this Yankee town," read on. It's a bungalow.

The term comes from the Hindustani word "Bangala", literally from Bengal and signifies a low house surrounded by verandahs, another Indian word meaning a porch.

The English government built these houses in India for use by foreign travelers. Built to withstand the heat of the climate, it featured wide overhanging eaves, stone floors, long breeze-filled corridors, and deep verandahs to provide additional shade.

The word bungalow has come to typify a home that is low, simple with wide projecting roofs, no second story and large porches. Their heyday in the United States was prior to World War I.

The bungalow style home has a combined heritage of Japanese, Spanish, Bengali and Swiss architecture plus a little log cabin for American accent.

Frank Lloyd Wright and his Prairie style are a variation of the bungalow.

Several of the homes in Tecumseh along the historic district classify as a bungalow. The B.J. Pulver house at 215 N. Union will be on tour next month.

It was the home of druggist Benjamin and school teacher Ethel Pulver, the aunt and uncle of the present owner, Elizabeth Wilson. It is the only house on the tour that has remained in the same family.

The Pulvers were active in Tecumseh civic affairs. Mr. Pulver owned his own drug store for 42 years, since 1900 in the building west of Schmidt's Pharmacy on West Chicago Blvd. He was a council member and charter member and first president of the Tecumseh Rotary.

Ethel was community coordinator for the Lenawee County Red Cross during World War I.

Elizabeth Wilson, their niece, returned from New Jersey to make this her permanent home in 1968. She is an accomplished violinist and pianist.

Another neighborhood home on the tour is the Neo-Classical home of Doug and Judy McDowell, 317 N. Union. The couple purchased it from her parents in 1964.

Jule Hicks Anderson was original owner of the home that was a present to her from her husband Raynor K. Anderson, according to Elizabeth Wilson. She remembers watching the home being built.

The classical lines of the home were hidden behind a thicket that Mrs. McDowell's parents removed. The inside features original woodwork. Estate property that once extended back to Evans Creek was deeded to Patterson School.

Meyers Industries Acquires Company

Meyers Industries, local manufacturer of lightweight aluminum boats, has acquired the manufacturing and marketing rights to the line of inflatable boats produced by the Explorer Boat Company of Ithaca.

Actual production will remain in Ithaca, directed by Jim Henry, Explorer president, said Al Beatty, president of Meyers' Industries.

Explorer Inflatable Boat Company represents the second major acquisition in little over a year for Meyers Industries. Sportspal canoes was acquired by the Tecumseh aluminum boat maker in early 1978.

"We are in the midst of steady growth and diversification," said Meyers President Beatty, "and the Explorer inflatables add a new dimension to our complete line of aluminum fishing boats and Sportspal canoes.

"The five Explorer models are quality inflatable boats that offer people a thoroughly safe, economical and convenient way to get into boating," Beatty said.

Meyers Industries, a pioneer in the use of aluminum in the aircraft industry, was among the first manufacturers in the country to begin producing all aluminum fishing boats and canoes.

Clinton Beats Britton, 13-6

The Clinton Redskins got off to a strong start Friday in baseball action against Britton, scoring five runs in the first inning. The Redskins strided through the rest of the game at the same pace beating the Tories 13-6.

It was a fairly even game through the sixth inning with the score standing at 9 and 6 in Clinton's favor. In the top of the seventh however, the Redskins kicked out the stops and scored four more runs to clinch the game.

Lee Russ was the winning pitcher. Russ went four innings and struck out six batters. He was relieved in the fifth inning by Dave Porter who in turn struck out four batters.

In addition to Clinton's strong pitching efforts the Redskins made a good showing in the batter's box with 13 hits. Barry Yokum got three hits in four trips to the plate one of which was a two bagger. Other leading hitters for the Redskins were Carlton who went three for five and Hoag who went two for three.

The victory gives the Redskins a 1-2 record.

Redskins Second

The Clinton varsity track team capltured the runner-up trophy at the Springport Invitational Saturday. Clinton scored 34½ points. Stockbridge scored 48 points to win the meet in which 17 teams participated.

The Redskins were led by seniors Lance Traves and Matt Peters who accounted for 27½ of Clinton's 34½ points.

Traves won the 330 yard low hurdles in 40.4 seconds which ties the school record held by Eric Pratt. Traves tied Pratt's high hurdle record earlier in the season.

Traves also finished second in the high hurdles in 15.55 seconds and was runner-up in the 440 yard dash in 53.4 seconds. He also anchored the mile relay team which finished first in 3:37.9.

Other relay members were Bad Marsh, Mike Karapas and Casey Thilo.

Matt Peters was outstanding in winning both the two and one mile races. Peters won the mile in 4:34.8 and came back to win the two mile in 10:13.

Clinton was fourth in the 880 relay in 1:38.8. The relay team consisted of Thilo, Karapas, Chris Douglas and Kevin Cymes. Tom Nighswander finished fifth in the 880 yard run in 2:08.8.

Thinclads Whiz by Gibraltar with 91-41 Win

Tecumseh's tracksters had three meets this week; against Adrian Thursday, at the Hastings Relays Saturday and then they hosted Gibaltar Carlson Tuesday.

Tuesday the Maples beat the Indians 73-54 despite first place performances from D.J. Biscupski, Fred German, Greg Borton and the 440 relay team.

Biscupski took first in the pole vault with a 12'6" jump. Borton was first in the high hurdles with a :16.4 time. German was tops in the high jump at 5'8".

The 440 relay team of Borton, Dave Rudd, Mike Heaton and Tom Wright nipped Adrian at the wire for a first at :47.5.

Biscupski, German and Kevin Salters took honors for the Indians Saturday as they traveled to the Hastings Relays.

Biscupski won the vault at 12'6". Salters tied for fifth with a 12' vault and German was fifth in the high jump at 5'10". The Indian schuttle relay team was fourth.

Tuesday against Gibraltar Carlson, the Indians literally ran away with the show when they posted a 91-41 victory.

Tom Kansas broke his own record in the discus after setting it just last Tuesday. The new record by one foot, three inches is 131'9".

Kevin Salters was the only double winner for the Indians. He won both the long and high jumps. A list of other firsts for the Indians includes:

Tecumseh 91 — Carson 41
Shot — John Parros, 43'2"; Long Jump — Salters 18'10"; High Jump — Salters, 6'; Nick Osborn, 4:47.5; 440 Relay — 48.220; Greg Borton, 25.2; 2 Mile — Jesse Casterena, 10:41.6; Mile Relay — 3:42.6; Pole Vault — D.J. Biscupski and Grant Gorton, 12'.

Blissfield Beats Clinton Teams

Wednesday was a bad day for Redskin ball players. Both the girls team and the boys team suffered defeats at the hands of the Blissfield Royals. The boys dropped their league opener 6-2.

Dale Porterfield was the starting pitcher for Clinton. He walked the first three batters and was relieved by Dave Porter but not before the Royals had scored three runs making the score 3-1 in the bottom of the first. Porter gave up nine hits walked four and struck out six.

The Redskin's two points were the result of an RBI by Lee Russ in the first inning and a Blissfield error in the seventh.

The Redskins can take some consolation from the fact that they played an error-free game while the Royals commiteed three errors.

Blissfield girl's softball team left the Redskins redfaced as they came away with a 12-0 shut out.

Sue Richter went the distance for the Redskins but her efforts were hampered by nine team errors. Richter walked two and struck out four and gave up 10 hits.

Win 3 Games

The Tecumseh JV baseball squad posted three wins against no losses this week behind very strong pitching from Derek Nahabedian.

Nahabedian was credited with a win last Wednesday in the first of two games against Adrian and got his second win for the Indians at Gibraltar Carlson Monday.

Wednesday, Nahabedian allowed just four hits and struck out 11 as the Indians went on to win 4-2.

In the second game of the Adrian doubleheader, Mike Watters pitched the Indian to a 5-1 victory behind two hits from Greg Judkins. Greg Guilford and Marty Wallich each doubled.

Monday the Indians went two extra innings to beat Carlson 3-2. Again Nahabedian struck out 11. He pitched a complete game, a no-hitter with both of Carlson's runs unearned.

The Indians had nine hits in the game and two errors. Judkins was credited with the winning run when he knocked Jim Bartenslager in from second on a fielder's choice.

JV's Win 13-3

Tecumseh's JV softballers saw action against Gibraltar Carlson Monday and came away with a 13-3 victory.

Lori Burack made her first appearance on the mound and struck out 16 while allowing just one hit. She finished the game.

Leading hitters for the Indians were Lisa Lapham with two triples and four RBI's and Burack with two hits.

Girls Win 2, 8th in Relays

The THS girl thinclads competed in three meets this week. They hosted Parma Western Thursday, traveled to the Hasting Relays Saturday and hosted Gibraltar Carlson Tuesday.

Thursday, the girls easily handled Western with a 77-46 mark. Theresa Duhan and Kris McDonald were double individual winners. First places for the Indians included:

Tecumseh 77-Parma 46
Long Jump — McDonald, 15'11 3/4"; 110 Hurdles — Martha Hans, :16.3; 100 Dash — Duhan, :11.8; 880 Relay — Indians, 1:54.5; 440 Dash — Joni Tomecek, 1:05.2; 440 Relay — Indians :54.1; 220 Hurdles — McDonald, :34.8; 220 Dash — Duhan :27.1; Mile Relay — Indians, 4:29.3.

The girls finished eight at the Hasting Relays Saturday with their sprint medley team taking second. Duhan, Janice Bishop, Hans and Tomecek combined for a 2:01 effort.

McDonald took third in the long jump at 15'9" and McDonald, Hans, Duhan and Cindy Anschuetz combined for a fourth place finished in the 880 relay.

Tory Boosters Plan Meeting

All interested parents and fans of Britton sports are asked to attend a Tory Athletic Booster meeting May 1.

The Tuesday meeting is set for anyone who is interested in helping to raise funds for Britton athletics. Meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the high school study hall.

Girls Lose 8-2

Tecumseh's softball squad lost to Gibraltar Carlson Monday 8-2.

Sandy Humphries was the losing pitcher with nine strike outs, 13 walks and she allowed just five hits. Carlson had three earned runs.

Carlson allowed six hits, six walks and struck out one Indian batter. Both Indian runs were earned.

The score was 2-1 in the fifth but then Carlson opened the game up with six runs to put the game away.

Tecumseh scored one run in the third inning when Beckie Hamilton tripled and Karen Bunch sacrificed her home.

The Indians scored their other run in the fifth when Kim Adams received a base on balls. Kathy Perry singled her to second and two fielder choices brought her home.

The girls travel to New Boston Friday and to Flat Rock Monday.

Carlson Wins, 1-0

Tecumseh's tournament action at Blissfield Saturday was postponed and rescheduled to May 5, but the real news for the Indian baseballers came Monday when they lost a very tough game to Gibraltar Carlson 1-0.

Both teams played an "excellent game" according to coach Bob Ondrovick and he credited his boys with rising to the occasion when they needed the out.

The Indians lost that game by one run while batting against Dave Albright, certainly one of the leading pitchers in the league and an all-state candidate.

The Indians got very good pitching from a young sophomore, Marty Wallich. He allowed just five hits, walked none and struck out four.

Brian Banda had the big bat for the local squad with a double. Andy Geshwiler also singled for the Indians.

Carlson's run came in the first inning when their lead off man reached first on an error, second on a sacrifice, third on a base hit and scored on another error.

The Indians's first home game is this Friday, 4 p.m. with New Boston Huron.

Decorator Tours South Africa

CLINTON — Shirley Jackson of Williamston, international cake decorator, spoke about her 3½ week tour of South Africa to the members of the South Saline Friendly Neighbor Club April 19.

Her mother, Mrs. Ernest Machino of 2615 Service Rd., Clinton, was hostess to the 16 guests at the Shamrock Junction on US-12.

Thirty-three other American cake decorators made the South African trip to exchange ideas with cake decorators of that country. Five of Mrs. Jackson's traveling companions were her students.

Mrs. Jackson received the honor of International Cake Decorator at the Culinary Art Show in New York, September 1974.

Her detailed, completely edible gum paste creation of a general store won her the first and grand prize as well as a standing ovation from chefs around the world that gather for competition in New York.

Her book, entitled "Small World of Gum Paste" is available at The Cake Shoppe in Tecumseh. The cover features her prize-winning cake that also received five trophies in Fostoria, Ohio.

For the past five years, Mrs. Jackson's hobby has taken her to several states to teach one week classes including Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota, Georgia, New Jersey, Missouri, Conneciticut, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Iowa, Florida, New York, Pennsylvania, Texas, Alaska and Canada.

Mrs. Jackson attended Tecumseh schools and is a Saline graduate. She worked at the Tecumseh Products during World War II.

Ole-Carnival Time Arrives in Clinton

CLINTON — Tenth annual Spanish Carnival will be held Wednesday, through Saturday in Clinton Middle School.

First Spanish Carnival, in April 1969 sponsored by the Spanish language clubs of the Clinton Schools, raised over $3,000. Last year's event raised $7,500, and was attended by 2,000 people. It's popularity is exceeded only by the community's Fall Festival.

Hours are Wednesday through Friday, from 6 to 10 p.m. and Saturday, from 1 to 10 p.m.

There are 150 Spanish Club students from middle and high school grades participating in the carnival, directed by Mrs. Thomas York, high school Spanish teacher, and originator of the carnival idea, and Jan Porter, Middle School spanish teacher.

Student co-chairmen are Chris Douglas, Jon Ryalls, Della Ford, and Judy Zimmerman, president of the senior Spanish Club.

This year's event is especially dedicated to the late Karen Stiman, a former member of the Spanish Club.

A memorial scholarship will be made available to a top Spanish Club student, from proceeds of the carnival.

A Spook House will be sponsored by the Middle School Spanish Clubs.

A Spanish Club Queen will be chosen from six candidates, and announced Saturday. They are: Robin Smith, Spanish I; Patti Signorin, Spanish II; Cindy Wolf, Spanish III; Eunice Ball, Spanish IV; Melanie Cowhy, band and Elaine Beadmore, choir.

Senior Spanish Club will sponsor a drawing for $100 cash, a TV, stereo and other prizes donated by local merchants.

There will be all kinds of action games, and games of chance.

Homemade fudge and homemade Mexican tacos will be available. Carole Varner is in charge of the kitchen.

Special assistants are Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dannells of Largo, Fla., who came north to lend a hand to his sister, Mrs. York, during the busy week.

Blanche Myers of the high school business department handles all the accounting for the carnival event.

Proceeds of the carnival will send 17 senior Spanish Club members to Mexico for a 12-day visit to Mexico City, Acapulco, and Taxco in early June.

Accompanying the students on the trip will be Jan Porter, Mary Jo Truesdale, a Spanish teacher in Flint, and a former Clinton student. Their tour guide in Mexico will be Debbie Wilson of the University of Michigan, also a former Clinton student.

Sells Visit South Africa

CLINTON — Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sell and daughter, Rhonda, of Kehoe Rd., have returned from a month's vacation in South Africa.

They visited friends Dr. and Mrs. Otto Seele on their 10,000 acre tree plantation.

Mrs. Sell, a registered nurse, was in nurses' training several years ago at Ann Arbor, when she became acquainted with the Seeles. Mrs. Seele was in nurses' training and her husband was an intern then.

The plantation is operated by a lumber company, which produces tannic acid, and wood chips from the trees. The trees are replanted for a complete new growth every seven years.

Dr. Seele is a practicing physician, caring for the many natives on the plantation.

While there, the Sells spent a week traveling in the Kruger National Wild Life Park, where they camped.

With two other couples, the Sells also enjoyed a five-day fishing safari on the Indian Ocean.

They visited the cities of Capetown and Johannesburg.

The tree plantation was located near Rhodesia and on the border of Mazambique. The countryside was "peaceful and beautiful" with temperatures in the 80's.

The trip was the realization of a lifelong dream, Kathleen Sell said. Daughter Rhoda is a sophomore at Clinton High School, and Mr. Sell is an airline employee at Metro.

Counting Days

CLINTON — Fall Festival '79 chairman George Lancaster requests that all participating organizations be represented at a meeting Tuesday, May 1 at 7 p.m. at the Community Center.

Finalized plans of each organization must be reported to Amy Haft by June 1, 456-7542.

Fall Festival advertising will only mention those events the committee is advised of by June 1. The committee will not second guess the undecided plans of other organizations.

Thru My Window

BY MARDA GENE DUNCAN

Mom and I were working desperately hard to meet a deadline. We had not even taken time out for tea. Suddenly the room was full of a loud drumming noise. It was a rapid pneumatic drill or jackhammer type of sound. We knew immediately what it was, but decided there was no time to look for the drummer.

Obviously a flicker was using some part of our house as a sounding board. Nothing else would make that kind of a noise. For the next half hour or so, I dictated against stiff competition. Not only was the flicker loud but we were ever so curious as to where he was.

Finally our project was finished and Mom started out first to make tea and second to track down our hammering flicker. In the middle of the living room she stopped dead still and exclaimed.

A casual glance through the picture window and the mystery was solved. We had had visions of her having to go outside and carefully walk around the house, sneak up on the bird as it were, and probably she would find him banging away at the metal cap on the ridge of the roof.

Nothing of the sort was needed and had we known how easy it was I am sure she would have been flicker watching long before she was.

The flicker was hanging onto the corner of the eaves of the porch. A more perfect spot to be seen through the living room picture window would be next to impossible to find.

Amazingly enough as Mom stood there watching the bird performed again. Rearing back and bracing himself with short stiff tail, he took aim, rammed forward and began the lightning fast beating of his long, heavy bill against the metal of the eave trough.

Mom said his head was moving so fast that it was only a blur. The sound he was making was no blur, it came through loud and clear.

Just as the wren's serenading has a two-fold purpose, the flicker's hammering serves as both a mating call and an announcement of territory.

However, it is generally felt that whereas the wren primarily sings to proclaim his nesting area, the flicker's main objective in beating a tatoo on a resonator is to impress the female.

Whatever, he was certainly doing a beautiful job of it the other day. He has not been back since and, for the sake of our poor eavestrough, I suppose it is a good thing.

This is not to say we are "flickerless." Far from it. Although we have not seen two at once, I am sure there must be a pair around. All the flicker noise these days could simply not be coming from just one bird. As it was last year, the action is now centered across the creek.

The many unslightly skeletons of dead or dying trees must make this a flicker's paradise. The nest-sites are endless. And from all the commotion over there, all of the drumming and the maniacal laughing, it is not hard to imagine that a pair of flickers is having a difficult time selecting and agreeing upon exactly where their home-sweet-home should be.

Once an agreement has been reached both birds will work at excavating a hole in a dead tree trunk or large limb.

An interesting article found its way to my reading table not long ago. It agreed with several of my books about bird houses.

The dimensions of the house must be quite accurate and its placement is equally demanding. However think of the thrill a nesting pair of flickers would be. (Something to remember next year.)

But getting back to Mom's flicker. Perched as he was, she had a perfect look. Truly he was a handsome character from what she said.

Across the back of his bluish gray head was a brilliant red V, his tan face was highlighted by two black mustache stripes, his back was a rich tan, marked with dark brown horizontal stipes. At the base of his tail was rather large white area. A black crescent separated his tan throat from his creamish tan front.

The large black freckles on his breast were most noticeable but it was not until he flew away that she saw the golden color under his wings and along his sides.

The color from which his old name is taken, the yellow-shafted flicker.

Hyperactivity, Learning Disabilities

by Dianna Joachim
Learning Disabilities Consultant
Lenawee Intermediate School District

Several different behavioral traits indicate a learning disability. One behavior in particular that attacts the concern of both parent and educator is hyperactivity, or excessive (over) activity.

Hyperactivity is not considered a learning disability. However it can occur in a learning disabled child.

Four different theories about hyperactivity are currently accepted. The most widely known theory is that hyperactivity may be caused by minimal brain dysfunction—damage to the brain that is so slight that there is not any physical evidence.

Hyperactivity may be a result of allergies. Dr. Ben Feingold has presented highly publicized research on the effect of sugar and food additives, preservatives and colorings on the behavior of children. It is not yet completely understood why some children react to these substances by becoming hyperactive, but a food allergy is suspected.

In some cases, anxiety causes hyperactivity. Most people have experienced this in various situations. Do you remember how you felt at your first job interview? Or, in the dentist's waiting room? Have you imagined how it would feel to be called for an income tax audit? Do you remember waiting for final exams to be handed out? For some children, everyday experiences cause this panicky reaction that appears as hyperactivity.

A fourth theory is that hyperactive children appear to be experiencing a developmental lag. Perseveration (repetitous behavior) and distractibility (inability to focus on one stimulus and to screen out others) are thought to be normal stages of development at preschool ages. Children who are slow to pass through these stages appear hyperactive in a school environment.

A child may exhibit hyperactive behavior as a result of any one of combination of the previously mentioned reasons.

It is important for the child's future success and happiness to have the family doctor or an educational diagnostician evaluate the child's over-activity as soon as possible.

The major question with hyperactivity is deciding what distinguishes a normal level of activity in a child.

Small children explore their strange new world with great exuberance and enthusiasm. This is a normal and exciting stage in a child's development.

Hyperactivity is difficult to diagnose during the early years when a high level of activity is acceptable.

Some indications that a preschool child may be hyperactive are: language development delay (first meaningful words should occur by 18 months); unusual passiveness or restlessness; difficulty getting to sleep; inattentiveness (lack of interest in people, objects or surroundings); inability to self-direct behavior (they have difficulty entertaining themselves for a sustained length of time.)

Once a child starts school, hyperactivity becomes more noticeable. The child seems incapable of being quiet or still. He, or she, cannot concentrate on work or play for more than a few seconds.

Recklessness and impulsiveness are also characteristic of his or her behavior. The hyperactive child can't accept consequences, so bribes or threats don't seem to have any effect on correcting misbehavior.

Four characteristics are commonly accepted as traits exhibited by hyperactive children. These are: inattentiveness, behavior problems, delays in academic development and immaturity.

Until recently a stimulant drug—Ritalin—was perhaps too often prescribed to calm hyperactive children. It became apparent that using this drug improved only a small percentage.

Dr. Feingold, an allergist, observed that certain foods and food additives cause hyperactivity in some children. By removing foods and beverages that contain those substances from the allergic child's diet, hyperactivity can be reduced.

Since a hyperactive child is often a problem for the entire family, help is often needed for them to learn how to cope with the situation. Following are some suggestions for parents of a hyperactive child.

1. Use simple statements and commands. Tell him to do only one thing at a time.

2. Show him exactly what you mean.

3. Plan ahead for any new experience. Make rules before he goes into a situation. For example, let him select from two items on the restaurant menu.

4. List simple rules with words and/or pictures. Stick to these rules.

5. A behavior chart is helpful. Use rewards rather than punishment. Reward often in a manner the child will enjoy and with a method you approve.

6. Try hard not go give in to a temper display.

7. Provide opportunities for daily physical activity in which he can succeed.

8. Child-proof the house so that he can move without breaking things.

9. Be firm. Once you've said something, stick with it until the end of the discussion. Refuse to argue.

10. Be sure that the child is paying attention before you give directions. Be patient. You may have to repeat directions more than once.

Ed.'s note: This concludes Ms. Joachim's series of articles of learning disabilities. The information provided in these articles was intended to make parents aware of current theories on learning disabilities and not meant to answer all questions.

Ms. Joachim suggests that parents consult with a family physician and the child's teacher if there are any questions regarding the child's health and ability to learn.)

Effort Fails

The Britton varsity baseball team made a strong start in the first inning against Madison Tuesday but could not sustain the effort and fell 11-8.

The game started with a bang for the Tories when Dennis Kimerer blasted a long one over the right field fence with three of his teammates on base.

Britton scored again in the second inning on a single by Troy Bailey. Bailey singled again in the sixth to drive in another run but it was not enough to counteract the damage done in the tough fourth inning in which Madison scored nine runners.

Inside Herrick Hospital: Smiles Help in Therapy

Patients at Herrick Hospital consider physical therapy, the "happiest" department in the hospital.

The department is under the auspices of a contract group, Paramedical Associates from Toledo, Ohio.

By contract, this Paramedical Associates provides the equipment and personnel to run the service and the hospital provides the physical setting.

Anne Mason, chief physical therapist, supervises the department with staff member Bonnie Green, P.T., and aides Shirley Bacus, Beverly White, Diane Schuler, and Phyllis Smith.

The main goal of the physical therapy department, Ann said, is "to achieve maximum functional independence for the individual, or to provide for maximum pain relief. The department is geared more for acute, short-term care than chronic, long-term rehabilitative care, although we do both."

To accomplish these goals, there are two whirlpool baths, one for full body, and a smaller one for extremities, hands and feet.

These whirlpools are utilized especially for arthritic patients. The warm, swirling water provides relief for painful crippled joints and individuals are encouraged to move their fingers, wrists, toes and ankles while in the whirlpool.

This movement is called "range of motion", and while pain is minimized, maximum function of a hand, for example, is preserved.

A second room is utilized for hot pack treatments, traction and ultrasound treatments. The hot packs relieve the pain of arthritis in the back or hips, and neck or back bones, incurred for instance in a whiplash injury or a fall.

The ultrasound treatment is a special application of heat to relax large muscles and decrease pain. It is also used for conditions such as tennis elbow and plantar warts.

The third room is nicknamed the "gym", and it usually has a flurry of activity. The gym's primary purpose is to assist an individual, through various exercises, to perform activities involved in day-to-day life.

If you have a broken leg, you will learn to walk with crutches in the gym. Industrial hand injuries, "frozen" shoulders from bursitis, and athletic knee injuries will receive a program of exercises and therapy designed to assist the individual to lead a full and functional life. Ann has even designed a program of exercises to help stabilize the insulin needs of hospitalized diabetics.

Perhaps the greatest challenge is that of rehabilitation following a stroke. Stroke patients must learn to walk again, whether it be with a walker, quad (four-legged) cane or brace.

Exercises are designed for the affected arm and leg to preserve and support muscle integrity, as muscles that are not used will lose their strength and thus functional capacity.

The department is a busy one, as well as a growing one. Currently the women are doing between 500-600 treatments a week on in-patients, out-patients, and nursing home patients.

But anyone in the community who has been a patient in the Physical Therapy Department will tell you that there is more to the department than qualified workers who are well organized. A beautiful smile, genuine concern and a warm, caring attitude radiate from all the women who work in the Physical Therapy Department.

When you take that first painful step after a stroke or back injury, a smile of encouragement seems to make the path easier.

Britton Congregational Church

THE SOLILOQUY OF THE EMPTY PEW

I could have been many things — a gun stock, an end table, even a bar.

But I was fortunate, I was shaped in the form of a bench which is called a pew. I have a place of honor. Where I am, people worship and the Creator is praised.

Because I knew what I was to become, the cutting and the sawing which shaped me from a tree did not hurt — the sacrifice was worth it.

The pounding, sanding and chiseling in the craftsman's shop was easy to endure.

Today I live among the symmetrical rows of other pews. It is good to be in a place of beauty. The stained glass windows, the vaulted ceiling, the mellow red carpet create an atmosphere of splendor.

Yet, I have a practical purpose. I am to give comfort and be a place of rest for a worshiping congregation.

This is why I was designed and built.

Often I go unused and this is a tragedy. The day of worship comes, the minister preaches, the organ plays, the choir sings, but I am often empty.

The lure of the lake, the desire for more sleep, the exhaustion from the night before, the apathy of conviction—these and other distractions have kept those who should use me away.

When I am unused, I feel like a Stradivarius without strings. Thus I stand barren, unfulfilled and frustrated.

Though my cost was little, I am the most expensive item in the church when I am unused. There is nothing more costly in the sanctuary than an empty pew.

I dream of the days when I am crowded. I was made to have little children kick their heels and dangle their feet from my strong body.

I was built to support a young couple as they clasp hands during an anthem.

I was created to be a place of rest for the elderly person who listens with an aging body — and eternal hope. My purpose is to be a resting place.

I long for the time when those who use me respond with changed lives to the truth of God. When this happens, my destiny is being completed.

True, I am just a piece of wood, but I was created and shaped to be a tool of the glory of God.

Am I to be found in your church?

County Adds 5.72 Factor, Council Hints of Millage Decrease

Lenawee County Equalization Department has added a 5.72 (1.0572) factor to be applied to real property for assessment purposes, Tecumseh Council learned Monday night at an informal budget work session.

This factor brings the city's assessed value to $48,985,712, or $2.3 million more than the $46,667,000 city assessor Robert Hamden reported to Council two weeks ago. That earlier figure reflected an almost 10 percent increase over last year's assessed value.

The factor means that assessed values have gone up over 15 percent in a year.

If the city decides to levy the 13 mills used to prepare the 1979-80 budget, it will collect nearly $30,000 more in revenue with the factor.

One mill is equivalent to $1 per $1,000 State Equalized Valuation (SEV).

Councilmembers hinted at a decrease in city millage. Yet, if the city decreases its local tax collections, it will also lose some money from state and federal revenue, which is computed on basis of local tax effort.

Cal Zorn, city manager said he will have these figures for Council at its next regular meeting May 7, 7:30 p.m., at city hall.

The 1979-80 budget of $2,029,390, mulled over by Council Monday night, represents a four percent increase over the 1978-79 budget of $1,951,315.

Majority of the increase is generated by local property taxes with an increase of 7.3 percent assessed value on existing property and 2.4 percent assessed value on new property.

The Headlee Amendment, passed by the voters in November, limits governments to make a 7.7 percent increase on assessed value of existing property, a requirement the city met.

It also prevents assessed value from rising faster than the Consumer Price Index. In an earlier report to Council, Zorn showed that the city property values rose 54 percent over 10 years time, well below the 86 percent increase in the Consumer Price Index over the same period.

Local taxes represent a 30 percent chunk of the city's income in the proposed 1980 budget, or $606,679.

The proposed budget also reflects a $36,000 increase in weight and gas taxes and a decrease in excess of $49,000 with the elimination of CETA program and public works funds.

OWNERS OF OAK LEAF — Open a business in three weeks? Can do. Owners Dee and Gary Burke did at the Bidwell Exchange. (PHOTO BY KATHY BROWN)

Oak Leaf To Sell . . . Cans of Air?

by Kathy Brown

When patrons belly up to the counter at the Oak Leaf and ask for their favorite brew by name, they'll pay for a can of air.

Don't pop your top. You don't have to buy your daily supply of oxygen, yet. Believe it or not, collectors will pay from .50 cents to $100 or more for an empty beer can.

Ask Dee and Gary Burke. They are among the 18,000 registered members of the Beer Can Collectors of America (BCCA) who are finding beer can collecting an inexpensive, colorful, fun hobby — and one of the fastest growing.

The Burkes collection of 12,000 cans had the couple literally stacked against the wall of their Cement City home.

So they opened Oak Leaf Antiques and Collectibles, 102 W. Chicago Blvd., the latest specialty shop to call the Bidwell Exchange building its home.

Question is: Can this business be lucrative?

Yes it can, say the Burkes. The burgeoning numbers of collectors, including students, make it possible. Swap and shop sessions like one in Detroit and a swap session in Jackson, both this weekend, really bring out the collectors.

Most young collectors stick with cans that sell for under five dollars. Hobby is so intense, however, it has its own beer can "bible" that details the varieties available and current market value. The first cans made circa 1933 include cone tops as well as flat tops.

Will the deposit law crimp the can business? No, say the Burkes. The law is only in effect in a

Kiwanis Used Merchandise Sale Scheduled May 10-12

The 11th annual Kiwanis Used Merchandise Sale will be May 10, 11 and 12 on Mohawk Street, across from Tecumseh Products, 9-8 Thursday and Friday and 9-noon Saturday.

Ned Swift was appointed sales coordinator by Kiwanis President Pete Clark. The sale is a major fund raising project for the local club.

Items are now being collected for the sale. Donors may call 423-3413 or 423-3313 after 6 p.m. for free pick up.

Tecumseh area residents are asked to donate serviceable household and houseware items, appliances, furniture, tools, clothing and similar items that are saleable.

Unsold items will be donated to Goodwill-LARC as part of its service program.

Net proceeds are returned to the community through service projects such as sponsoring a Little League team, Boy Scout Troop and all-student Christmas party for Milton C. Porter Education Center, youth programs Tecumseh recreation department, vocational-technical and other types of scholarships, development of Memorial Park and the "Vial of Life" program as part of its major emphasis for the 1978-79 year.

Lions Raise $701

Tecumseh Lions Club raised $701 April 20 and 21 for White Cane Week. This was the new club's fund raiser.

15% Increase 'Shocks' Local School Board

The 15 percent increase in assessed valuation in one year has surprised officials of the Tecumseh School District as well as the city of Tecumseh.

"We're shocked at the increase. We've had an increase of seven to 10 percent for a number of years, but a 15 percent increase in one year, especially with inflationary problems, is big," commented Assistant Superintendent Gene Cooley.

State Equalized Valuation (SEV) in the Tecumseh School District jumped to $117,916,000 this year from $102,597,000 last year.

"We don't know what the net effect of the Headlee Amendment will be because we don't know as yet what part of this increase is new construction. We may not know until as late as June," Cooley said. There is a possibility of a tax rollback, he added.

City of Tecumseh represents 41 percent of the Tecumseh School District's SEV, Cooley stated.

The Headlee Amendment adopted by voters last November limits the increase on assessed value of existing property to 7.7 percent.

Millage for Tecumseh School District is set in August.

Last year the district was authorized to levy 29 mills, but decided to levy only 28.5 mills for school operation, told Cooley.

He added that in the past five years the Tecumseh School Board has not levied all authorized millage within a half to a full mill. "We feel this reflects good planning and fiscal responsibility," Cooley commented.

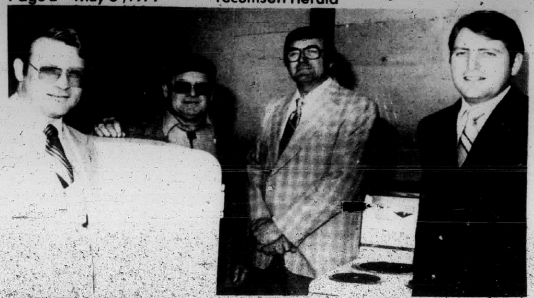
Hall-Slater Post VFW and Underwood-Orr Post American Legion will have charge of the Memorial Day parade to be held May 28 in Tecumseh.

All service veterans, organizations such as scout troops, school groups and antique cars, which expect to participate in the parade are asked to contact Charles Studnicka, 714 S. Occidental, 423-4846, or Harlon Boyes, 409 W. Logan, 423-2759, or Robert Sterling, 5000 Burt, 423-2598.

Parade will form at 9:30 a.m. and will leave City Hall at 10 a.m.



USED MERCHANDISE SALE — Kiwanians Pete Clark, Les Calhoun, Ned Swift and Doug Bird surround a small part of the merchandise for Kiwanis annual sale. Sale date is May 10-12.

County Raises Factor

The city's proposed capital improvement program for 1980 is $224,900, $50,000 less than last year's program of $279,000.

With the new budget, the city will see completion of the industrial park except for bituminous paving, Zorn pointed out in his report.

Major streets will receive $36,300 for repair of North Union, South Maumee and to complete Russell Road Bridge.

Local streets share in the capital improvement program will be $69,700, with $28,300 for Mill Street and $41,400 for the Industrial Park Drive.

Only two new employees will be on the 1980 payroll.

+A police department dispatcher, salary about $10,000, which the city will retain despite the loss of the CETA funds which helped fund the position two years ago.

+An appraiser, at a salary of $15,000, to assume the role of building inspector/assessor when Robert Hamden retires in about 1¼ years after about 12 years service to Tecumseh city government.

The only suggestions Council had for Zorn's proposed budget were:

- Plan to purchase a new fire truck, estimated cost of $75,000, over three year period.
- Eliminate Community Action Agency allotment of $3,000 from federal revenue sharing funds and transfer it to senior citizens.

City is expected to be asked by the Lenawee County Department on Aging to pay for two hours a week of the present senior citizen director's time, about $2,500 annually.

In discussing CAA, Council was disappointed CAA director Arnold Golembieski did not appear at the April 16 Council meeting with statistics on the services his agency provides directly to city residents.

He pledged in January that he would come up with statistics. Instead, he sent a vague letter to Council saying that the Lenawee County Commissioners have supported the Human Services program, but did not state a dollar amount.

Council will meet especially May 14, 7:30 p.m., to formally determine the spending of $110,000 in federal revenue sharing funds, adopt the budget and set the millage.

City has set millage at 13 mills since 1967. By charter, it is limited to 15 mills. Zorn told Council Monday that the average city millage in the state is 14.7 mills.

Why have a wake?

The word, wake, literally means to "watch a corpse," according to Elaine Landau in her book, "Death: Everyone's Heritage."

The actual watching occurred in olden times, from the moment of death until burial. It was traditional and probably practical. In those early times without benefit of our modern medicine, could it not also have been to reassure the family that their loved one was, in fact, dead and not merely in a comatose state?

The practice of conducting a wake is not uncommon and takes many forms. The Irish wake is famous in that it is an occasion for family and friends of the deceased to gather together, eat, drink, and have a "joyful" time. In this way, the deceased is honored and viewed in a peaceful atmosphere of friendship, love and camaraderie -- as "he would have wanted." The practice is also an acknowledged form of grief therapy for survivors.

Members of the Kawaiko Church of Hawaii put on a lavish luau following the burial of a church member. Festivities are designed to ease the grief of the bereaved and to say "goodbye" to their member in a happy setting.

We respect the customs of whatever religion or ethnic group is being served for wake or visitation. If you have any questions on these customs, please phone or stop by.

Junior High Delivers 'Joy'

Youth at Tecumseh Junior High School are more thoughtful than the wild bunch of Indians that some people stereotype them to be.

Monday morning a band of 32 members of the journalism class delivered three grocery sacks of toys, games and amusements for the hospital's adolescent population.

The Indian Express, as the student paper is called, earned every penny for the gifts through a bake sale.

Staff purchased $9 worth of mixes, donated its time to bake them at home and at the school home economics room after class, then sold the goods at lunch hour two weeks ago to make a $105 profit.

"It really surprised us," said Boniface Duritsky, instructor. "I didn't think we'd get the $93 bucks back. They gave their time and really put out a great effort. I was really proud of them."

The students got the idea in a rap session. They counted 20 students from the junior high school alone who had been hospitalized in the last school year and wanted something to entertain them.

When local merchants learned about the project from the teen shoppers, they gave the youth a 10 percent discount. So the class also purchased three magazine subscriptions for the hospital, aimed at young people.

Thru My Window

BY MARDA GENE DUNCAN

This is the week for leftovers. Just as it is with cooking so it is with writing a column. Once in a while one is left with a fistful of information which did not work itself into articles. Thus today I will clean up a few of the odds and ends.

A man-made nesting box for flickers still intrigues me. John K. Terres writing in his book, "Songbirds in Your Garden", maintains that attracting flickers is not unduly difficult. It is no sure thing either.

A well designed, well placed house may be up for a year or two and attract no tenants but suddenly one spring a pair of flickers will move in and from then on it might be occupied for several seasons.

According to this book the interior of a flicker box should be 7"x 7" square and from top to bottom, it should be about 17 inches from the floor.

Flickers seem to prefer their boxes six to 20 feet above the ground and mounted either on a tall pole or tree trunk. The author stresses the need for putting a two inch layer of sawdust or wood shavings and moist earth in the bottom of the box.

When the birds excavate their own nest holes they apparently use some of the wood chips to cover the floor of the nest and make a cushion for the eggs.

And going from giants to midgets, wrens are indefatigable nest builders. Almost everything and anything they find that is within their carrying capacity is lugged to the nest site.

To use a wren's nest looks bulky and poorly constructed, things just seem to be worked together in a haphazard manner.

Often the doorway is partially obstructed with nesting material and sometimes there are even a few long twigs or weed stems sticking out of the front door.

Many believe these are not signs of careless building but are indeed just the opposite — they are purposely placed obstructions intended to discourage birds who might harass the wrens.

Getting away from nesting for a paragraph or so—the two food trays of the near-my-window feeder seem extra busy this morning. The sun is shining brightly, there is a promise of warmth in the air and the birds are enjoying themselves.

Late yesterday afternoon a fresh supply of thistle seed was put on these trays and the beautiful little goldfinches are gorging themselves. The males are now well advanced in their color change. Some, in fact, are almost perfect but others still show spots of winter drab.

The females are still the dull, greenish tan but a few are tanner than others and most are showing the jet black wings with those snowy white markings which are so characteristic of all goldfinches.

An interesting situation has just developed. Discrimination has reached the bird world — one tray has three females and the other is hosting three males.

A fourth male just lit on the edge of the gal's dining area, took a quick look and immediately hopped over to the other tray.

One last word on nesting boxes. Most of those who should know stress the importance of tailoring the box to the bird and especially the front door entrance way. It should only be large enough to admit the bird for whom it was built.

Some advocate an oblong entrance, much like the letter drop in the mailbox, for a wren house. It should be about three inches long and 1¼ inches high.

In theory this makes it easier for the birds to get long weed stems and twigs inside — in practice not all wrens appreciate such work savers. The General and his Lady attracted birds to their wren house only after they changed and went back to the 'old fashioned' round entrance hole.

Sunshine Concert at First Baptist

Sunshine will present a concert at First Baptist, Tecumseh, May 6 at 11 a.m.

The monthly potluck will follow at 12:15 p.m. Sunshine girls will be guests of honor and their parents will be recognized.

Scouts Show Colors

"Colorwheel", a demonstration-celebration of the Girl Scout skills of about 3,000 girls between the ages of six and 16 in the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council, will be open to the public May 5 in Jackson.

At Parkside High School from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. about 150 troops from Jackson, Lenawee, Hillsdale Counties and the city of Albion will demonstrate such skills and hobbies as buttermaking, quilting, weaving, pottery-making and the art of making wood musical instruments.

Local troops taking part are Brownies led by Debbie Opel and Juniors led by Nancy Hopkins.

Some of the Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior scouts from the Irish Hills Council, which is a United Way agency, will model clothing and join in square and folk dancing, while still others will put on a puppet show.

Flag ceremonies will both open and close the day's activities and the Traveling Smiles Children's Theatre of Manchester will perform the Margery Williams play, "The Velveteen Rabbit", several times throughout the afternoon.

Lunch and snacks will be available in the school cafetria between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Supervised nursery facilities will be available all day for children through the age of five. Admission to Colorwheel is free for children under five and adults over 65. There is a small charge for all others.

THS Splits Pair

The Indians baseballers split a pair of games this week, beating New Boston Friday 3-2 and losing to Flat Rock Monday 7-3.

Friday, Scott Schafer recorded his second victory of the season when he allowed just two runs on seven hits and the Indians committed three errors. Indians had three runs on three hits and were aided by three Huron errors.

The Indians scored two runs in the first inning, one in the third and then held off a late New Boston rally to take the 3-2 win. Coach Bob Ondrovick commented that he was "very pleased with the way the team held off New Boston in their sixth inning surge."

The Indians scored in the first inning when Brian Banda walked. A hit error moved men to second and third. A RBI single from Andy Geshwiler scored one and then a fielder's choice scored a second run.

Their last run came when Randy Halvin got a base hit. An error and walked loaded the bases and a second walk scored the winning run.

John Lacny was the only other Indian to get a base hit, a single, to join Halvin and Geshwiler on the hit list.

Monday, the Indians literally pounded the ball, recording eight base hits. Still the team did not get the hits at the critical times and came up short 7-3 after stranding 13 men on base.

John Southard and Banda led the team with two hits each. Southard had a single and double, Banda two singles.

Other base hits came from Steve Palmer, Lacny, Steve Pope and Dorman Frederick.

The Indians scored one run in the third and their other two runs in the sixth inning of the Flat Rock game.

The Indian's record in the league now stands at 1-2. They play at Airport Friday, at the rescheduled Bllssfield tourney Saturday, 10 a.m., and travel again Monday to Grosse Ile. Next home game is May 9.

Register for Race

Those interested in participating in the 6th Annual Memorial Canoe Race are urged to register at the Community Center.

The May 28th event is sponsored by the Tecumseh Recreation Department (place of registration) and the Tecumseh Canoe Race Committee.

Last day for registration is May 24th while the race itself will begin at 12 noon, Memorial Day.

The Recreation Department also reports that registration for boys' baseball during the summer is closed.

Pound Hudson

Clinton bats pounded Hudson Wednesday as the Redskin boys posted eight runs to Hudson's one.

Dale Porterfield pitched a one hit game, allowing only an infield single in the seventh inning. He struck out five Hudson batters.

Barry Yocum, Steve Porterfield and Lee Russ each had two RBI's.

Relays Set Saturday

The 21st Annual Tecumseh Relays will be held this Saturday, May 5 with 31 teams entered in the field. Both girls and boys track teams will participate in the event.

All field events begin at 10 a.m. with prelims to start at 10:30. Finals are set for 1:15 p.m. except for the distance medley relay at 11:10 a.m.

The Tecumseh Indians fan club is sponsoring the meet with Don Brazee acting as meet manager. Bill Hammerstein is referee and starter while Vic Lawson is serving as clerk.

Boys' and girls' teams from the following schools are signed up for the relays:

Carlton - Airport, Dexter, Gibralter Carlson, Grosse Ile, Hillsdale, Milan, Riverview, Saline, Southgate - Schafer, South Lyon, Tecumseh, Willow Run, Southgate and New Boston Huron.

Boy's teams from Monroe CC, and girls' from Monroe St. Mary and Ypsi Lincoln will also participate in the event at the Tecumseh athletic field.

BHS Baseballers Split 2 Games

Britton pitcher Greg Fanslau limited Whiteford to just six hits while walking two and fanning five Wednesday as the Tory baseballers beat the Bobcats 5-1.

The Britton squad broke a 1-1 tie with a three run, fifth inning and went on to score a fifth run for the victory.

The Tories were led by the bats of Greg Sears and Terry Benedict with two hits each. In all, Tory bats claimed eight hits from Bobcat pitchers.

The Britton varsity baseball team fell to Summerfield Monday 13-3 in weather better suited to ice hockey than baseball. The game ended after the fifth inning due to the ten-run rule.

The Tories just could not warm up to their bats earning only five hits from Summerfield hurler Carlos Santiago. Terry Benedict was the only Tory batter to do better than a single.

The Greg Duo (Greg Fanslau and Greg Sears) pitched for Britton allowing eight hits, striking out three, and walking four.

Lisa Cark Breaks Shot Record...Again

The Clinton girls track team ran away with a 75-47 victory Thursday when they played host to Morenci.

The Redskins captured 11 of 15 first places with Lisa Cark and Cindy Wolf each taking fourth firsts.

First places for Clinton include:

Saturday, the Clinton squad joined two Lenawee schools, Blissfield and Onsted, in the Grass Lake Relays.

Clinton finished ninth overall with 13 points.

Lisa Cark was the only double winner for the Redskins when she won the shot at 38' 1/2" and the discus with a 123'3 1/2" toss.

In spite of three record breaking events to their credit, the Clinton girl's track team went down in defeat Monday to Addison 70-53.

Lisa Cark, who seems to break a record at every meet, stepped into the shot put circle and heaved the shot 41'3½". The toss breaks Cark's record of last week by two feet.

Cindy Wolf swept four events. In two events she established new school records; 110 hurdles in 16.5 and 220 hurdles in 33.8.

SHOT PUT - Cark 41'3½"; DISCUS - Cark 119'1"; LONG JUMP - Wolf 15'9"; 880 RELAY - 1:59; 440 DASH - Zimmerman 1:06; 220 DASH - Fuller 29.8.

Wednesday, Karen Bunch led the Indians with three hits while Kathy Kruger had two. In all, the Indians had nine hits, seven walks.

Sandy Humpries took the win on the mound while striking out four, walking five and allowing just two hits.

The Indian squad opened that game up in the fifth inning when they crossed the plate four times. Kathy Kruger singled in that inning with the bases loaded. The ball got by the leftfielder and all four runners scored.

Monday at home, Sandy Humphries took the loss as when she allowed 13 earned runs. She stuck out three, walked nine and allowed five hits in her 4 2/3 innings. She was relieved by Darlene Williams.

The Indians were allowed six walks, they got five hits

Kris McDonald finished sixth in the same hurdles at :16.9. She took a fourth place in the long jump at 16' 2 1/2. Beth Comfort finished fifth for the Indians in the 220 hurdles at :34.0.

All three relay teams scored with the 880 team taking fourth. The 440 taking fifth, and the mile relay foursome placing sixth.

Finish 4th, Beat Morenci and Addison

The Clinton boys' track team finished 4th in the 3rd Annual Clinton Relays held over the weekend.

A strong Ann Arbor Grabiel Richard team walked away with the meet with 79 points. Clinton's thinclads tallied 48 points in the 18 team field.

Clinton picked up two first places. The middle distance medley team of Tom Nighswander, Mike Karapas, Lance Traves and Matt Peters took first in 6:04.7.

Clinton also won the mile relay with a team of Casey Thilo, Brad Marsh, Karapas and Traves in their season's best time, 3:36.9.

Karapas long jumped a personal best of 19' 11 3/4" to place CHS second in the two-man long jump relay. Kevin Cymes went 18'11" for the second man.

Traves finished third in the 120 yard high hurdles. The two mile relay team also finished third for the Redskins with a 8:46.3 time.

The freshmen sprint medley team finished fourth and fifth places went to the two man discus team and four mile relay team.

The Clinton team pounded Morenci earlier in the week with a 100-32 Thursday victory.

The Redskins won 13 of 16 events with Traves leading the Clinton squad with three wins. First places for Clinton include:

Clinton 100 - Morenci 32
BOTH HURDLES — Traves at 16.0 and 44.2; 440 — Traves, 54.1; MILE — Matt Peters, 4:58; TWO MILE — Peters, Mark Prichard and Devin Schindler, 11:16.7; 880 Nighswander, 2:14; 100 DASH — Thilo, 10.7; 220 — Karapas, 24.4; SHOT PUT — Mike Krauss, 41'8"; DISCUS — Brad Williams, 109'5"; 880 RELAYS — 1:41.2; 440 RELAYS — 47.7; and MILE RELAY, 4:01.6.

The Clinton boy's track team maintained their unbeaten record Monday by sliding past Addison 67-65. Needless to say, it was the final event, the mile relay, that clinched it for Clinton. With a perfect record in both league and non-league hanging in the balance the Redskin relay team came through with a winning time of 3:41.6.

Clinton now stands at 3-0 in league competition and 6-0 overall.

LONG JUMP - Kevin Cymes 18'6"; HIGH HURDLES - Lance Traves 15.9; MILE — Matt Peters 4:47.2; 880 RELAY - 1:37.4; LOW HURDLES — Lance Traves 42.6; 880 RUN - Tom Nighwander 2:09.2; TWO MILE - Matt Peters 10:17.3.

FRIENDS IN LIFE — L-r, Betty Vierlinger, 74 and Louise L. Bauman, 95 of Tecumseh. Mrs. Bauman will be 96 years old Friday.

50 Years of Friendship

by Kathy Brown

"Let me live in the house by the road and be a friend to man."

This motto on a sampler hangs on the wall of the home of Louise Leutheuser Bauman, 95 and Betty Vierlinger, 74, friends for 50 years. It aptly describes what those 50 years have been.

Mrs. Bauman, born in the village of Schneckenlohg, Germany May 4, 1883, was the fourth child of 10. She came to the U.S. with her sister.

When her brother needed a manager for his Sommerset Hotel, once a stagecoach stop, Mrs. Bauman volunteered and convinced her husband, a motorman for the Detroit streetcars. She operated the hotel almost 40 years in Hillsdale.

Their son died in infantcy, but the couple raised his children, Grant of Detroit and Kenneth of Colorado.

In 1929, Mrs. B sponsored Betty to come to America. "This girl, my Betty," as Mrs. B affectionately calls her, was raised in a Munich orphanage.

"There I learned who was the boss and to me, Mrs. Bauman is the boss," said Betty. She has no family. She never married. "I couldn't run fast enough." She laughed so hard tears wet her eyes. Her only regret–not learning to drive.

Betty lived in the Lansing YWCA for three months. Mrs. B urged her to find some young friends. Betty wrote back, "Don't you need me, Lady?" The two haven't been apart since.

It was at the Sommerset Hotel where the city girl learned country ways, including dressing chickens.

One of Mrs. Bauman's nephews recalled the "descent" of the clan on the hotel in a tribute to Tante Louise on her 90th birthday:

"In spite of the fact that she and Betty V. and a waitress were serving 50 to 100 chicken dinners that day, never once did Tante Louise complain. She just made sure there was enough of everything young people needed such as puzzles, games and last but not least–food."

"When I left the hotel (retired at age 75) I said Betty goes with me. She's stayed with me through thick and thin," said Mrs. B.

She knew several Tecumsehites and moved to 212 N. Wyandotte in 1959. (Her grandson is Larry Bauman and her sister, Ernestine Schumm, both of Tecumseh.)

About her 96th birthday Friday, Mrs. B said, "I never expected to live this long. It's been a great life." Her brown eyes danced with a zest for life, though she suffers from crippling arthritis.

"I've seen the family growing up, using the same methods on their children their parents before used on them. I like it.

"My family tells me, 'Tante, you're the inspiration to all of us.' That's what makes life so wonderful, when people have that opinion of you. I owe a lot to my God. I have deep faith.

"There are so many traps for young people to fall into when they are growing up. If they have someone to talk to them in the right way, they always respond. I've tried that and the children love me for it," said Mrs. B.

It is easy to understand why Taunte Louise is the heart of her family.

The two women have been Tante or aunt to children and adults in the neighborhood as well.

Betty told how one youngster enjoys sampling from the cookie jar. "I wait for the time her brother comes, too. He's five months old."

A Look Inside Herrick Hospital...Rising Costs

Rising costs of living getting you down? Cheer up — there is something you can do.

That's the word from William Groover, administrator of Herrick Memorial Hospital, who has suggestions for what consumers can do to fight rising health care costs.

"What is done today to control health care costs will have a crucial impact on the quality of health care available tomorrow," he said.

"It makes a lot more sense to take steps now to reduce costs than to be forced someday to ration health services or to have to ask whose life can we afford to save rather than whose life can be saved."

May 6-12 in National Hospital Week and hospitals across the country are encouraging participation in the Voluntary Effort to contain health care costs.

"At Herrick Memorial Hospital, we're committed to a program of costs containment while maintaining our high standards of quality care," Groover continued. "If we are to succeed in holding down the cost of care, everyone must participate."

Groover outlined steps consumers can take to cut their personal health care costs, and not incidentally, to improve their own health and well-being.

"First and most important," he said, "become a better custodian of your own health. Preventive care is still the best bargain for you in health care."

Follow this basic prescription to stay healthy:

1. Three meals a day and no snacking.
2. Moderate exercise two or three times a week.
3. Adequate sleep (seven or eight hours a night)
4. No smoking
5. Moderate weight
6. No alcohol or only in moderation

Other steps you can take focus on wise use of the hospital. "Because a hospital is geared to providing the highest level of care around the clock, 365 days a year, its overhead and personnel costs are high," Groover explained.

"If you need that level of care, there's no substitute. But it's a waste of resources to use it when you don't."

Some tips on wise use are:

1. Avoid use of the emergency room for routine medical problems. Emergency departments are designed for life-threatening situations and staffed by highly skilled personnel with sophisticated equipment. It's expensive care.

2. When you have to be admitted to the hospital for a surgical procedure, ask about preadmission testing programs that can eliminate a day or two from your stay.

3. Seek out alternatives to a stay in the hospital. For example, nursing facilities offer less expensive care more appropriate to certain illnesses.

"Consumers must realize," Groover continued, "that there is is no such thing as 'free' health care. Even if you don't have to reach into your pockets right away to pay for the health care, you're going to pay for it somewhere along the line, perhaps through higher insurance premiums or bigger tax bills. That's why the conservative and wise use of health care resources is always in your best interest," he concluded.

EQUAL HOUSING OPPORTUNITY

200 Mothers Devoted to Child Development

Over 200 mothers from across Michigan will converge at Clinton High School May 5 for the 1979 state planning session of the Michigan Child Study Association.

The local chapter, the Tecumseh Child Study Club, active since 1934, will host the planning meeting.

The Michigan Child Study Association is a pioneer organization, founded almost 60 years ago by family oriented women and devoted to parent education and child development.

There are almost 150 associate groups with 2,500 members in the state.

Goldie Bristol, author of the book "These Tears Are for Diane", the story of the rape and murder of her daughter, will speak during the general assembly.

Nine individual buzz sessions will be held with a speaker in each. At this one day gathering, program plans for the 1979-80 year will be presented through workshops and speakers.

Focus for the Child Study Clubs in 1979 is the family "Through the Eyes of a Child."

Annual program plans are set up by the state organization in the form of a syllabus. These units are prepared by clubs around the state. They are writing units about children's books, the gifted child, teenage alcohol and drug abuse, suicide among teenagers, early marriage and family environment for the preschooler.

Mayor Clayton Strolle of Clinton and Mayor Aden Mead of Tecumseh will give the welcome.

The Rev. Thomas Trapp of Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Britton, will give the invocation.

Flag ceremony will be presented by Cub Scout Pack #605 of Clinton and Blue Birds from the Ridgeway Sunshine Girls.

Jo Cooley, director of the Tecumseh Dance Workshop, will provide entertainment.

Mrs. Joseph Laslo will prepare the lunch.

Local merchants from Tecumseh and Clinton have contributed complimentary favors that will be distributed to members at registration.

State board of officers will attend.

Sherry Couture is the 1978-79 president of the Tecumseh Child Study Club. Her officers are Janice Osburn, vice-president; Ann Osburn, secretary and Eileen Alexander, treasurer.

The local group meets the second Monday of each month at members' homes.

Receives Highest Rating

BRITTON — Earlier this year the Britton-Macon High School band received the highest rating of "I" at District Band Festival. It decided to go to the State Band Festival, held at Eastern High School, Lansing, where they received a "II" rating.

They were judged by three judges on their performance and by another judge on music they had never seen before.

These four ratings were averaged together for their final rating.

The band members stopped at Bill Knapp's restaurant to celebrate.

On the long bus ride there and back, they broke the monotony by a stop for lunch at a road side park.

Loaning $1,085,000 for Sewer System

by Donald E. Mitchell

Lenawee Co. Drain Commissioner

BRITTON — The Farmers Home Administration will provide a loan of $1,085,000 for the construction of the Britton-Ridgeway Sewerage System.

The funds will be loaned on a series of revenue bonds to be issued on a repayment schedule extending over a term of 40 years at 5 percent interest rate plus administrative expenses.

This will be the means by which the local share of the project cost is being financed. The loan agreement resolution is on the agenda of the County Board of Commissioners May 9.

There is an EPA and DNR grant holding until July 15 for about 80 percent of the eligible cost of construction.

Bids are scheduled to be received June 12 at 2 p.m. in Ridgeway Township Hall in Britton. Construction is expected to start by late summer or early fall if bids are accepted.

Work has begun on acquisition of several remaining right of way easements and railroad permits. Some temporary work area construction easements taken several years ago are being renewed.

The special assessments already levied and being collected by the village and the township are necessary to provide a starting fund.

Since the project is expected to cost more than the estimates of two years ago, the financing program is being revised to a longer financing period with FmHA but results in slightly reducing the payment amount.

After firm construction costs are known, there will be a revised special assessment schedule increasing the term of payments from 30 to 40 years and reducing the payments as much as possible.

Then there will be an adjustment in the next customer special assessment billing allowing for correction of payments customers have already made.

There will also be a monthly operations and maintenance charge per customer commencing when service becomes available and a balancing debt service charge with it.

It is expected that the actual customer cost figures can be confirmed about July 1. A public information meeting is planned when that information is known.

City Officials Will Reduce Millage Monday

Decreasing city millage by 1/2 mill from 13 mills to 12.5 mills will mean a loss of $31,790 in city tax revenue, including local, state and federal tax funds, Tecumseh City Council learned Monday night.

City manager Cal Zorn also calculated that reducing millage from 13 to 12 mills would mean a loss of $63,592.

Council was all set to act on a motion to reduce city millage by 1/2 mill. But it was reminded that formal adoption of the budget and setting of millage is to be held at a special meeting which it then set for May 14, 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

The budget will be introduced at 12.5 mills instead of 13 mills.

Council will also set, at this time, the spending pattern for federal revenue sharing funds for next year.

Greatest loss of revenue by reducing millage 1/2 mill will come from local property tax collection, $24,493 and $48,986 loss if millage is lowered a full mill.

Reducing local property taxes will also mean a loss of city revenue from single business, income and inventory taxes by a combined $7,297 if millage is reduced by 1/2 mill, by a combined $14,596 if millage is reduced a full mill.

Council requested the figures from City Manager Zorn last Monday at a budget work session when it learned that a factor from the Lenawee County Equalization Office would raise Tecumseh's assessed valuation $2. million.

Future Authors at Conference

by Kathy Brown

You may never see the "The Hippopotamus with the Rash" on your local library shelf but then again in 20 years who knows. You may see the name of one of Tecumseh's young authors pop up on the best sellers list.

Two busloads of Tecumseh students, grades one through six, will participate May 12 in the first Young Authors' Conference, sponsored by the Lenawee Reading Council (LRC) and Adrian College on that school's campus.

BUSY AUTHORS — Dan Castorena, Jessica Grimes, Kim McCann and Elizabeth Schultz, Annabelle Bock's fifth graders at Sutton Elementary assembling their books. (PHOTO BY KATHY BROWN)

"The young authors conference in a relatively new concept that started in the 1960's," explained Alice Staples, LRC president and fourth grade teacher at Herrick Park School.

"We honor kids in sports and band and I think it's neat to honor kids if they have writing skills at this age. Its stimulating for them. Hopefully they'll be stimulated enough to come back and write more," she stated.

"Oakland University has a successful one for 1,200 kids. We decided to plunge in and see if it would work in Lenawee County. It's an adventure."

The 12-year-old Lenawee Reading Council was formed to promote better reading for students throughout the county. Its purpose is to present new and better ways to teach reading, Mrs. Staples told.

About 450 elementary students and 50 teachers representing the 12 county school districts have volunteered their time—the Saturday before Mother's Day—to work together on creative writing.

Preceding the conference, the LRC sponsored a teachers' workshop on how to teach students to write books. On Saturday, the children will share in groups of 20, the books they wrote in their own classrooms.

Six Schools Send Authors

The teachers will guide them in an on-the-spot creative writing experience. Arnold Adoff, the children's author and poet from Yellow Springs, Ohio, will be guest speaker. Weather permitting, everyone will eat lunch under a striped tent.

Registration fee for the children was in most cases paid for by the local parent-teacher organizations or the school districts.

Children were selected based on teachers recommendation.

Mrs. Staples said her personal goal is to help students learn to love reading.

"You can teach them to read, you can teach them reading skills, but I want to teach them to love to read....that a good book is the next best thing to an ice cream cone," she elaborated.

"I don't know what makes kids learn to love reading," she said candidly. "As a parent, I have done hand wringing over my third grader. Suddenly one day I looked around the house for her and there she was, sitting by herself enjoying a book. For her it is happening."

Mrs. Staples found in her own classroom that an enthusiastic example has worked. Her class practices USSR—Uninterrupted Sustained Silent Reading.

Fifteen minutes a day the entire class, including the teacher, turns to a book for pleasure reading. "There's disappointment when we don't have it," Mrs. Staples remarked.

Creative writing has been a part of the Tecumseh school curriculum "for as long as I can remember" she said. Some districts are just starting.

Eleanor Shroup, a first grade teacher at Herick Park told that creative writing begins in the second semester of first grade.

"It's not always the smartest kid in the classroom that writes the best stories," Mrs. Shroup commented. "I went over the list of those planning to attend Saturday, I was happy to see the names of some of my former first grade students. When they're in first grade, they are just learning to spell. It's nice to see them accomplishing later."

The LRC is affiliated with the International Reading Association and is a sister group of the Michigan Reading Association. LRC has 250 teacher and administrators as members. Services to educators include teacher workshops and book exhibits.

Tecumseh students from Ridgeway, Tipton, Patterson, Tecumseh Acres, Herrick Park and Sutton Elementary Schools will attend.

You Told Us

by Kathy Brown

About five or six years ago, a black and white toy collie puppy was kicked out of the back of a car on Mill Hwy.

Everyone in the neighborhood tried to befriend him. Several wanted to make him a pet, but he eluded everyone. The dog kept vigil, watching down the road and waiting for his master to return.

Once in a while, he would show up in someone's yard or at the Tecumseh Products around the shipping and receiving docks—wherever some concerned folks were touched enough to leave the dog a few scraps or an open can of dog food.

Just last week, a neighbor told another, "You know the old dog still lives." He still won't let anyone get within five feet of him. After all these years, he's managed to elude the dog catcher and survive five years of the elements including below zero temperatures.

"It makes you sick to think that people would dump unwanted pets like that. Yet they still do it out here," remarked a concerned neighbor.

May 6-12 is Be Kind to Animals Week.

The slogan is no longer a reminder, it is a plea, says the Lenawee Humane Society. The tragedy of unwanted animals is compounded by the costs to destroy them.

The Humane Society Shelter, 4111 Academy Road and Humane Society office, 139½ N. Main, both in Adrian are having an open house during BKA week. Activities are planned for May 12 at the Adrian Mall.

Call Lynne Arnold, executive director, 263-9111, for more information.

McNeil Property To Be Developed

CLINTON — William Powell of Tecumseh attended a meeting of the Clinton Township Board, Monday night, to advise the board of his plans to develop the former Earl McNeil property of 81.6 acres.

Powell's plan will include four five-acre parcels, and six 10-acre parcels, for building sites.

Since the development conforms to township ordinance, no approval was necessary from the board.

Building inspector Charles Wilson reported one house permit at $72,000 which was approved.

Board voted that all requests by individuals for notices and agendas of meetings to be mailed, must be paid for in advance quarterly at a cost of $1 per mailing.

Richard Gutow was present to request such notices to be sent to him.

Supervisor Frank Gignac appointed Harry Comstock to the Zoning Board of Appeals. Other members of the board are Robert Voorhees and George Heimerdinger.

Board voted to loan the Clinton Fire Department $3,500 for a new van for a period of 30-45 days, interest free, until the department's used van can be sold.

Board voted to retain the one percent tax collection fee, by unanimous vote.

Board voted to approve the PA 116 designation for the Joe and Laura Caterina property on Matthews Hwy., to preserve the land in agricultural use.

Upon the request of the Clinton Historical Society, the board voted to assist with the cost of having an Ann Arbor band play at the July 4th 150th anniversary celebration.

No Verdict in Child Abuse Case

CLINTON — A Circuit Court jury deliberated five hours and was unable to reach a verdict May 3 in a child abuse case involving James A. Draper, 26, of Clinton.

The case was tried before Judge Rex B. Martin and involves a series of alleged incidents in January until mid-March, when Draper was arrested.

The child was called to the stand to testify as to when the defendent reportedly abused him.

A family physician testified that he suspected the child had suffered internal bruises, but no external bruises were present at the Feb. 20 examination.

Defense attorney James Daly asked that the child's testimony be stricken from the record, citing the child's age. However Judge Martin allowed the testimony to stand.

The charge against Draper was brought by the boy's grandmother, Mary Lawson, who has temporary custody of the child now, according to prosecuting attorney Harvey Koselka.

Linda Lawson, the child's mother said during questioning that she was unaware of the abuse to the boy.

Koselka said he plans to bring the case to trial again before a new jury during the next court term that begins in July.

Students Present 'Last Tick-Tock'

CLINTON — In observance of the Clinton 150th anniversary, a sketch entitled "The Last Tick-Tock" was presented by Elementary School students for the meeting of the Elementary PTO, April 30.

The sketch, written by Virginia Proctor, an elementary teacher, dealt with the last day of school in the old Lancaster school, once located on US-12 east of Clinton and closed in 1956.

Mrs. Proctor was the school's last teacher.

Mary Houghton portrayed the teacher, and students sang songs and gave recitations, as was the custom on the last day of school.

History of the school house, built in the 1800's, included mention that at one time the teacher was Clarence Darrow, who later became a nationally known attorney.

At the business meeting, which followed, James Roland was elected president of the PTO.

Other officers elected are Virginia Meikle, secretary; June Bean, treasurer; fund raising chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stevens; refreshments, Joan Goodman; teacher representatives, Virginia Clark and Arlene Schroeder.

Elementary students presented a check for $120 to Sharon Scott for the Clinton Historical Society, to help pay for the materials for the building of a miniature reproduction of the Union School House.

The PTO also presented a check for $25 toward the same purpose.

Desmet Named Superintendent

CLINTON — Clinton Village Council named Thomas Desmet of Grand Junction, formerly of Tecumseh, to the position of superintendent of the new sewer treatment plant, beginning in June.

State requires a Class B superintendent be in charge of the plant as soon as the project is 50 percent complete.

Council voted to have the property committee make an overall plan for landscaping in the Monument Park on W. Michigan Ave., before any plantings are permitted to be donated.

Council approved the use of plastic water lines for new construction in the village. Ten foot of copper line is still required into the house.

Michigan Week mayors exchange will be with the city of Newaygo. Bob Camburn will be in charge of arrangements for the tour in Clinton by visiting officials from that city. Announcement of plans will be made next week.

Thru My Window

BY MARDA GENE DUNCAN

April 26 was a red letter day which will long be remembered. It would have been dark and gloomy except for the frequent showers which made it a silver day. Somehow the rain seemed to have an internal light of its own. Above all it was easy to believe that April showers do indeed bring May flowers.

The previous few days of warm rains had coaxed the grass into that incredible bright green which only happens in spring. One looks at the grass, marvels at its vividness and knows that it has reached its peak of brightness. Thirty minutes later it is even brighter.

Several large clumps of forsythia which I watch were on the verge of being great mounds of gold. One of our forsythias was bravely showing 12 to 15 bright yellow flowers. When part of the goldfinch flock paused to rest in the bush, the number of flowers increased dramatically — when the little birds left, the flowers count went down.

The largest nearby creek-bank maple tree was in full bloom. Its delicate and lacy blossoms hung in sprays which gave the tree an almost gauze-like appearance.

In color they were a soft light green. However, when the goldfinches, who were bright yellow as they snacked on thistle seeds at the nearby-window feeders, flew to the tree and landed close to the clump of flowers, the birds and the blossoms looked the same. It was actually hard to separate birds from flowers.

All morning I had heard the unmistakable song of the white-throated sparrows. It is a clear, pure whistle. I am not good in recognizing birds by their voices but the white-throat is one of the few I am usually able to pick out.

While watching the goldfinches in the forsythia bush and the mulbery tree by the white-end-of-the-street barrier, I noticed three dark brown birds.

They looked sparrowish but were definitely not English sparrows. Mom grabbed the binoculars and immediately recognized them as white-throats.

The gray breast, the snowy white bib, the white head stripes were unmistakable. They stayed too far away for her to see the bright yellow between the base of their bills and their eyes. Some things need close-up viewing.

Mom was hardly to the living room before my shout brought her rushing back. There, in the middle of Diepenhorst's front yard was a big handsome cock pheasant.

He was in prime condition — bright reds and greens on his head, round plump body, long arrogant tail. As we watched he strutted around their yard and just seemed to know how well he showed off in the middle of that bright spring-green grass.

Things had hardly settled down when I spotted white outer tail feathers and a black head flying into the small trees at the edge of our neighbor's yard.

My first thought was that all the juncos had not gone. Immediately though I realized that this was a much larger bird — a male towhee.

As he moved from branch to branch I not only saw his black head and black, white bordered tail, but his robin red breast with the wide, white stripe running down the center. If only he would stay around for a while, so pretty.

Mom and I were beginning to wonder what could possibly happen next when suddenly an arrangement of goldfinches attracted our attention. They were on the lower branches of the mulberry tree, spaced in almost a mirror-like image of the forsythia blossoms. It was a striking sight.

Then one of the upper 'blossoms' moved. A brilliant yellow bird with no black wings or tail. A yellow warbler. He flitted from branch to branch. A lovely sight. What a way to end an exciting bird day.

2 Businesses Join Tour

Promenades were not unusual in the past of one of the historical structures on tour during Tecumseh's fourth annual historic tour, Promenade the Past May 19 and 20.

In fact, in 1861, a "social promenade" for the benefit of the Union Civil War troops was hosted at the Bidwell Social Hall, a center for dances, lectures and public meetings after it was built in 1852.

Anchored at the corner of South Evans and 102 W. Chicago Blvd., the Bidwell Exchange, as it is known today, was built by one of Tecumseh's earliest merchants, Birdsley J. Bidwell, a New York native.

He wholesaled hides and leather, retailed boots and shoes, sold real estate and was the director of two banks and a silent partner in other enterprises.

As one biographer noted, "the wellspring of his substantial fortune was his commission business, the buying of farm produce and forwarding it to markets in the East."

Perhaps attesting to this venture is the original wheel used to lift celery seed between the second and third floors.

As a social center, the Bidwell Hall served as the first Masonic Lodge for 40 years from 1854. In 1865, area residents mourned Lincoln's death there with a civic assembly.

Originally constructed in the simplier Federal style, the window bracketing was added in later years.

Recently, the building has had a turnaround. Owner Don E. Limpert of Manchester recycled it, revealing the mysterious "Iron Lady" corner post sculpture beneath the former glass tile facade.

The brick was cleaned by high pressure water method, trim was painted and a mini-mall of nostalgic aura constructed inside to create the Bidwell Exchange — home for six small, but interesting businesses.

The importance of this business block was commented on in 1975 by Richard Frank, architect with Preservation Urban Design of Ann Arbor:

"Without a doubt, this building is the single, most important commercial building on Tecumseh's main street. If it were to be removed, the quality and character of downtown Tecumseh would be greatly diminished. You could expect the remainder of the street to deteriorate in due course."

Another business slated for the tour is Sutton Place, a Georgian house built in 1853 by Asa and Sarah Satterthwaite Sutton of New York, the only historic structure on the tour that is not located in the city of Tecumseh.

From the Bidwell Exchange, visitors will follow South Evans until it becomes Raisin Center Highway and eventually runs into Sutton Road, where the classical brick home with white pillared porch stands, now as a landmark for the Stauffer Chemical company.

Fifteen years ago, at the touting of then Raisin Township resident Edith Haviland, Stauffer Chemical decided to save the structure as its business offices.

Miss Haviland is a relative of "Aunt Laura" Haviland of Civil War fame. Now 85 years old, the retired school teacher is a resident of Provincial House nursing home in Adrian.

The home, built by Quakers who attended the Raisin Valley Friends Meeting, has the intriguing tradition of the Underground Railroad behind it. A windowless basement room, entered only by a trap door, seemed the most likely spot for a runaway slave hiding place.

Historically, the home was known as Suton's crossing, a flag stop on the railroad which was called "The Palmyra Jacksonburg," "The Michigan Southern," the "Michigan Central" and then the "New York Central" railroad.

It served as a postoffice for the neighborhood and the Suttons often welcomed "Knights of the Road" for a night's rest and rehabilitation.

CHS Girls Win Two, Lose Three

Clinton's softball squad saw action against three different opponents this week. They battled Manchester Wednesday, Addison Friday and Morenci Monday.

Wednesday, the girls split a double header. They won the first game 5-4, but dropped the second 11-4.

In the first game, Clinton was down 4-1 until they rallied for four runs and the win in the fourth inning. Sue Richter got the win with the help of nine hits. Rene Peterson had two of the hits.

In the second game, Clinton got just four hits, two each from Chris Pratt and Dawn Steindurf. Richter started for the CHS squad and was relieved by Barb Winder in the fourth.

At Addison Friday, the girls again split a doubleheader. They won the first with a 5-2 mark and lost the second game 9-8 in extra innings.

Richter again got the win for Clinton in the first game. She got offensive help with five Clinton hits. Dawn Steindurf accounted for two of the hits.

Richter got the loss the second game, but also started a near winning rally for the squad. With Clinton down 7-3 after five innings, Richter had a bases loaded double and that began a five run inning.

Addison tied the score with one run in the seventh and finished the win with a final tally in the ninth inning.

Monday the girls hosted Morenci and suffered a 10-4 defeat.

Richter suffered the loss after Morenci gained a 10-0 edge and Clinton could counter with only four runs later in the game.

Clinton's record is now 3-5 in the league and 3-6 overall.

JV Baseball Record Is 6-1

The Indian JV baseball squad raised their record to 6-1 this last two weeks.

Last Friday, the team lost their first game of the season 2-0 in cold, windy weather. Indians got two hits in that game.

Wednesday was a different story for the team, but the weather was the same. The team won 4-1 behind the pitching of Derek Nahabedian.

Don Ringman got two hits that game, as did Jim Barteslager. Nahabedian helped his own pitching cause with three singles.

Friday the team was rained out, but Monday the team traveled to Grosse Ile and left with a 5-2 victory.

Mike Watters was the winning pitcher while getting nine hits from his teammates to back him up. Ringman proved to be the big bat for the local squad when he went three for four.

Peters Is Double Winner

The Redskins boys' track team kept their perfect LCAA record intact this week when they beat Blissfield 75-57 Thursday. They also participated in the Stockbridge Relays Saturday and placed second in the field of 12 teams.

THS Wins One, Girls Lose Two

The Tecumseh softball squad dropped two games this week while blasting Airport Friday 13-3.

In their first game this last week, the Indians lost to Monroe St. Mary 9-7.

Friday was a completely different story for THS as Kathy Kruger lead the team with a three-run homer in the very first inning.

Other key hitters in the game were Kathy Perry and Wendy Mauer. Darlene Williams received the win for Tecumseh.

Then Monday Tecumseh dropped its record to 4-4 overall and 3-4 in the league when Grosse Ile handed the girls a close 6-5 loss.

The score in that game was tied at 2-2 when losing pitcher Sandy Humphries sacrifaced Mauer home from second. The Indians picked up two runs in the seventh but Grosse Ile rallied back in their half on the seventh to score four for the win.

Mauer was the lone double hitter as she also sparked the Indians in the seventh with a single to score Debbie Hamilton from third.

First places for the CHS squad Thursday include:

Clinton 75- Blissfield 57

SHOT PUT — Mike Krauss, 43'2½"; DISCUS — Casey Thilo, 125'4"; LONG JUMP — Mike Karapas, 18'5"; HIGH HURDLES — Lance Traves, :18.4; 180 DASH — Casey Thilo, :11.1; MILE — Matt Peters, 4:59.4; 440 DASH — West Fuller, :54.9; 440 RELAY — Clinton.

Saturday, Matt Peters was a double winner for the Redskins in the 1600 meter run and the 3200 meter run. His times were 4:40.2 and 10:04.8.

Lance Traves took a first in the 300 meter low hurdles with a time of :41.1. Traves also teamed up with Mike Karapas, Wes Fuller and Casey Thilo to take the 1600 meter relay. Their winning time was 3:36.8.

The Redskins' 880 meter relay team of Chris Douglas, Fuller, Karapas and Thilo also finished in first with a 1:36 clocking.

Clinton picked up two seconds in the 110 meter high hurdles and 440 meter dash from Traves. They got one third from Thilo in the 200 meter dash.

Lose 1, Win 3

The Clinton baseball squad lost one game this week, to Manchester Wednesday 6-5. They won three other games, one against Addison 9-2 Friday and they took both ends of a double header Saturday at Adrian Madison.

Wednesday, the Redskins rallied in the seventh inning, but came up one run short. Starting pitcher Dave Porter was relieved by Dale Porterfield in the second and Porterfield kept the Dutchmen from scoring the rest of the game.

Clinton could manage just four hits off Madison's ace, Steve Melcher.

Friday was a much better day for the Clinton team when they pounded Addison 9-2.

The contest was tied at 2-2 at the top of the third, but Clinton rallied for three runs in the third and four in the sixth frame.

Big hits came from Roger Myers' double in the third and sixth innings. Porter's sixth inning triple added to RBI's as did Myers's double in the sixth.

Less Russ limited Addison to just three singles and five walks. He struck out 11.

Saturday Clinton topped Madison twice with 5-3 and 13-3 wins.

Dave Porter got the second win with 12 strike outs and six walks.

The first game saw the score tied 3-3 in the fourth but Clinton went ahead to win in the fifth on a two run triple from Jeff Porterfield.

The second game was wide open with Madison scoring three times in the first inning. Clinton took over from there. Terry Carlson and Bernie Huff each had two hits.

Place Second

The Indian baseball team played "some gutsy" ball Saturday at the Blissfield tournament and left with a second place finish in a eight team field.

The first of the team's three games was against Adrian and the Indians finished on top, 3-2.

Steve Palmer homered in the seventh inning to give the THS team that victory while Brian Banda, Scott Schafer and Kevin Bater each got singles.

The team scored once each in the second, third and seventh innings for the win. Marty Wallich started for the team and Dorman Frederick relieved him in the sixth.

Tecumseh met Milan in the second game and beat the SEC league leading team 4-1.

The Indians scored twice in the first inning with a home run from Randy Halvin after Banda walked to first. They scored twice again in the seventh when Palmer walked. John Lacny sacrificed, Schafer doubled and Frederick singled.

Other hits came from Andy Geshwiler and Steve Palmer. Derek Nahabedian started for the team pitching and he was relieved by Frederick.

In the third and championship game against Monroe High, the Indians ended up on the short end of a 9-7 score after the game went into extra innings.

Schafer was the starting pitcher for the Indians and Frederick relieved in his third straight game.

The Tecumseh squad scored three times in the first inning on a wild pitch and bases loaded hit from Lacny. They scored twice in the second with a base hit from Southard and home run from Halvin.

Indians tied the championship game up at 7-7 in the seventh with a walk, hit by Doug Langmeyer, sacrafice from Southard and hit from Banda. Then Monroe added two more runs in the top of the eighth and Tecumseh just couldn't score again.

Monday the team traveled to Grosse Ile and fell short by just one run, 4-3. That game went two extra innings.

The Indians scored once in the third inning, twice in the sixth. Schafer went the distance for the local favorites, allowing just six hits and striking out nine.

Tecumseh is now 1-3 in the league, 4-8 overall.

Jim Slatick won two events for the Tories this week when they traveled to the Stockbridge Relays. Britton placed fourth in the Saturday event.

Slatick won the long jump at 20' 11 3/4", which is a Britton record. He also won the 200 meters in :24.0.

Jeff Osterhout brought home the only second place for the Tories with a 100 meter time of :11.5. He also placed fourth in the 200 meter at :24.3. Other place holdings for the Tories included:

Tories Win Two

The Tory baseball squad raised their overall record to 6-4 and league record to 6-2 this week with wins over Whiteford Friday and Sand Creek Monday.

Friday Greg Fanslau scattered five hits and received the 7-1 win for Britton. He struck out five and walked only one batter.

Britton scattered their runs throughout the game while picking up 10 hits. Jim Bluntschly, Dennis Kimerer and Ken Stottler got two hits each. One of Stottler's hits was a solo home run.

Monday Kimerer had the big bat as he doubled with the bases loaded and the score was tied at 2-2. That gave Britton a three run lead.

Troy Bailey added a two-run single in the fifth to pad the lead and that finished the scoring at 7-2 for the Britton win.

Fanslau again got the win for the Tories. He allowed just six hits, fanned five and he walked none.

Co-op Workers Step in Limelight May 9-10

The 12th annual Lenawee County Employer-Employee Co-Op Banquets will be held May 9-10 at the Lenawee Intermediate School District Vocational Technical Center. Banquets are held to give recognition to the employers who have trained and worked with the more than 250 students involved in this year's co-op program.

Keynote speakers will be former vocational program students. Wednesday's speaker will be Mike Raymond, a Vo-Tec data processing program student and 1972 graduate of Hudson High School. He is currently Data Processing Director of Faraday, Inc.

Thursday's speaker will be Sandy Palmer, a Vo-Tec health occupations student and 1972 graduate of Adrian High School. She currently is a registered nurse at Bixby Hospital.

To prepare for the banquets, which are held at 6:30 p.m. each of the two evenings, 23 Vo-Tec coordinators work with students in making necessary arrangements.

On May 9, students from Addison, Clinton, Hudson, Morenci, Onsted, and Tecumseh will be attending. On May 10, those attending will be from Adrian, Blissfield, Britton, Deerfield, Madison and Sand Creek.

The banquet is prepared and served as a final examination for the students in the Food Preparation program under the direction of Mrs. Jane Elam and Mrs. Lois Marvin. Other Vo-Tec programs are also involved, including Horticulture, Business Office, Commercial Services, Distributive Education, Printing and Data Processing.

Although the event was originally held on one night, the size of the gathering during the past several years has required two separate banquets.

In addition to speakers at the banquets, outstanding students nominated by their employers, will be given special certificates of recognition.

According to Mrs. Paula Shirk, Director of Placement Activities, "The co-op experiences these students get in the world of work are invaluable in their education. We are pleased to be able to at least partially recognize through these banquets the contribution Lenawee employers make to the co-op program."

Township Wants Oak Tree Spared

"Spare that ax" was the cry at the Tecumseh Township Board meeting.

The board unanimously opposed chopping down a large oak tree at the intersection of Milwaukee and Grange Hall Rd. for road improvements by the Lenawee County Road Commission.

Estimate for upgrading Bilmyer Rd. is $10,550 and for Grange Rd., $14,946, for a total of 1.5 miles of work.

Cost to remove 11 trees, several younger ones and the great oak, was included in the estimated costs.

The tree will be designated with a yellow ribbon.

Jim Tonneberger, supervisor, reported that the County Equalization Office did not add a factor to be applied to the Tecumseh Township assessed valuation.

Assessed valuation for 1979 is $13,836,469, a $3 million increase over the 1978 figure, $10,744,000.

Sixteen building permits were approved for $745,000.

Final approval was given to have Mildred Eaton's land preserved for agricultural use under P.A. 116.

Township is investigating what can be done to qualify for the county subsidy.

Bob Sieghart of Consumrs Power answered questions on availability of natural gas supply. Residents with questions may contact the company.

You Are What You Eat

By Shirley Weekley

This is the 12th article in the continuing series of International Cuisine. These recipes are from Suzanne Kotlarczyk Brablic.

Suzanne was raised in a strong Polish environment. Her father came directly from Poland, arriving in the States as a toddler. Her mother's parents are originally from Poland. Mr. and Mrs. Kotlarczyk and their children all live in the Tecumseh area.

Suzanne is raising her own two sons aware of their Polish heritage.

Here are two favorite desserts.

POLISH WEDDING CAKES

1/2 cup butter
1 cup flour
2 tablespoons confectioner sugar
1 cup chopped nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream butter and sugar together until light; add flour, nuts and vanilla. Mix well. Roll dough into 1 inch balls. Place on greased baking sheet and flatten slightly. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes. Roll into powdered sugar while still warm.

CHRUSTCHKI

12 egg yolks
2 tablespoons melted butter
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoon whiskey
2 tablespoon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
12 ounce sour cream *optional

Beat egg yolks. Add butter, sugar, whiskey, vinegar, salt, vanilla and sour cream. Knead until dough blisters. Roll on floured board until paper thin.

Cut into diamond shapes. Slit in center and put one corner of dough through the slit making a bow tie. Deep fry in shortening one at a time, turning once until near crisp. When cool roll in powdered sugar.

Recognize Employees

Chevrolet-Adrian, and David A. Bailey, James T. Burrow, Linda L. Emerson, Russel W. Roback and Linda L. Seegert of Fisher Body-Tecumseh.

The awards were presented by Don L. Fruitt, plant manager of Chevrolet Motor Division in Adrian, and Kenneth H. Siegmund, plant manager of Fisher Body operations in Tecumseh.

The initial phase of the General Motors Adrian/Tecumseh Award for Excellence in Community Activities program began in March with a nomination period. The program was designed to honor and recognize employes of Adrian and Tecumseh GM facilities for their community activities work. Employes and the general public were invited to submit nominations.

"It was really heart-warming to learn of all the good work being done by GM employes from the Adrian and Tecumseh facilities in their various communities, and the countless hours they have spent trying to enrich and improve the lives of their fellow citizens," Mr. Siegmund said.

The General Motors executives extended their appreciation to the judging committee for their assistance in the Award for Excellence program. Judges included Norman Haft, mayor of Adrian; Aden Mead, mayor of Tecumseh; Hoyt Emerson, UAW International Representative; Burke Gillespie, associate editor of the Adrian Daily Telegram; and Nancy Nichols, chairperson, Lenawee County Board of Commissioners.

Mr. Walters will be further honored at a luncheon hosted by GM Chairman Thomas A. Murphy in Detroit, June 6, 1979.

2 Accidents

Only two traffic accidents were investigated the past week by Tecumseh police.

Last Thursday, Roy A. Hupper, 41, of 9455 Britton Hwy., was attempting to turn on N. Evans St. and was struck by Randy L. Kane, 17, Tipton.

Saturday, Robert L. McGrath, 30, Onsted, was cited for failure to control his vehicle on Rogers Hwy. Police measured 178 feet of skid marks before his vehicle left the road at the S curve just south of M-50.

A look at life

"Look at the red kite up there! See how high it's flying!"

The little boy follows her finger, and she is warmed and gratified by his smile of appreciation.

It seems as if mothers are eternally anxious to make sure that their children get all there is to get out of life—that they miss nothing.

Mothers would, if they could, show their children all that there is to see and give them everything—time for fun; time for play—new clothes, new toys, a television to watch cartoons, endless red kites and bright yellow balloons and, later, skis and sports cars.

Yet, in this eagerness to show and to give, aren't they in danger of overlooking some of the most important things of all? What of beauty, of serenity, of joy—the knowledge of God's goodness, His love, and familiarity with His house on earth . . . the Church?

Request Curb

Three of five property owners on N. Maiden Lane between Bidwell and Chippewa Sts. have requested curb and gutter. The three own 49 percent of the total frontage.

Council referred the petition to the city manager for scheduling. Bids will be taken so that property owners will know costs and a public hearing will be held for the special assessment district.

Big Agenda Faces Raisin

Raisin Township Board will consider adoption of a $203,590 budget for 1980 at its May 13 meeting, 7:30 p.m. at the township hall on Gady and Occidental Rds.

Also on the agenda, the board will consider a nuisance ordinance, published in the April 19 issue of the Herald; will discuss zoning ordinance changes; charges for four township cemetery lots and damage to private property adjacent to the Holloway fire station.

David Jaeger, County Equalization director, will talk about equalization and Lynn Hedges, who served as township assessor this term, will be on hand to discuss maintenance assessments.

The Lenawee County Road Commission plans to build the townships three bridges. These plans will also be discussed as well as the request of the Lenawee County Humane Society to build a shelter on M-52 in Raisin Township.

LPN Week Up and Away

In a world filled with ups and downs, the 25 Licensed Practical Nurses at Herrick Memorial Hospital and Nursing Home are planning a definite "up" for hospital patients and the community during LPN week May 13-19.

The LPNs which include three men are distributing to patients and school children and releasing 500 helium filled balloons imprinted with "LPN Week".

Certain local businesses have elected to support the LPNs by offering discounts, providing corsages and publicity.

Napkins with a contemporary nursing logo and the theme "Nursing Is Caring" will be distributed that week on patient food trays.

What's the strategy? The LPNs want the community to be aware of what an LPN does.

LPNs provide 80 percent of the bedside patient care in the nation, says the Michigan LPN Association.

The LPN works in hospitals, nursing homes, doctors' offices, public health, industry, the armed forces and other jobs where nursing care is necessary.

The focus of the LPNs job is bedside care, says the MLPNA. They take blood pressures, give medications, work in coronary and intensive care and care for mothers and babies.

LPNs are educated in a structured program, about 12 months long. They must pass a state licensing examination.

Michigan has 34,000 LPNs, one-third of the licensed nurses in Michigan, says the MLPNA to which all Herrick Hospital and Nursing Home LPNs are members.

MLPNA was established in 1944 and serves as the official voice of the practical nursing profession in Michigan.

As an organization, it cooperates with all groups interested in nursing to promote health care service in the community as well as education, legislation, public health and welfare.

The local LPNs have their own staff council and a bargaining committee in charge of economic security.

In addition LPNs are active in the local hospital staff RN/LPN council.) Dennis Thomas is president, Patricia Hugler, secretary and Sandy Lucas, treasurer.

At the county level Mrs. Lawson is past president and serves as chairman of the board of directors. Karen Strony is district treasurer.

At the state level, Mrs. Lawson serves the MLPNA executive board of directors as secretary-treasurer and is a member of the State Health Care Commission and legislative task force.

Readers can meet an LPN at coffee hour provided at Don's Contented Sole, courtesy of Don and Edna Smith May 18 from 7:30-9:30 a.m.

Mayor Aden Mead and Gov. William G. Milliken signed proclamations for LPN week.

Is the family an endangered species?

Some people think it is.

Some people think it's failing in its vital role . . . instilling attitudes of honesty, industry, cooperation, responsibility, and respect into the leaders of tomorrow.

Perhaps.

But YOU can help to keep the family flourishing!

Take part in those civic activities that create the climate where the family can thrive . . . good schools, good neighborhoods, mutual respect among all citizens.

You can help the family do its job, too. Participate personally in those child-serving activities that help the family build the basics in boys and girls.

First United Presbyterian Church - Reception Center

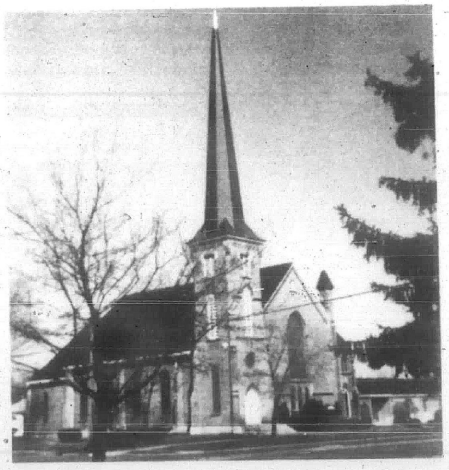
The starting point of our promenade has a long history in the community, commencing almost with the birth of the town itself.

The initial service for "The First Presbyterian Society" was held in the fall of 1825, with the first Sabbath School coming four years later.

Three buildings have been its home. The first was the Old Session House built in 1836 and occupied for the first time with the annual meeting in January, 1837. In 1840 a new building was dedicated, serving its members until March of 1869 when the present building was dedicated. The cost of the entire structure constructed by Salmon Crane & Sons was $35,000. The magnificent pipe organ was a gift of John S. Strong (original owner of another tour structure now occupied by Margaret Aebersold) who served as chorister for fifty years.

When the one-hundred fiftieth anniversary of the Presbyterian congregation was approaching several years ago, they were faced with a dilemma—to build a new facility or to have extensive work done on the present building. With overwhelming approval the members chose restoration for the century old edifice.

Not only was there a tremendous amount of maintenance work to be done, but plans to incorporate some modern additions such as a carved wooden sculpture for the altar backdrop that were compatible with a restoration needed to be worked out. Basic renovation included reroofing, reworking brass light fixtures, and recovering original horsehair pew cushions. Perhaps the largest undertaking was the repair of all the original leaded glass windows and the design and execution of new windows for the entry before the narthex and for a dividing wall between the nave and narthex of the church. The glasswork was all done by Richard Marks at his studio located in Tecumseh's first Catholic church, also on tour. As you will see, the whole project was extremely successful.



B.J. Pulver House

The B.J. Pulver house is the only one on our tour that has always been in the same family.

Benjamin and Ethel Pulver, uncle and aunt of the present owner Elizabeth Wilson, had the house begun in 1911. Ironically, they stayed at the S.W. Anderson house during the year it took for the construction.

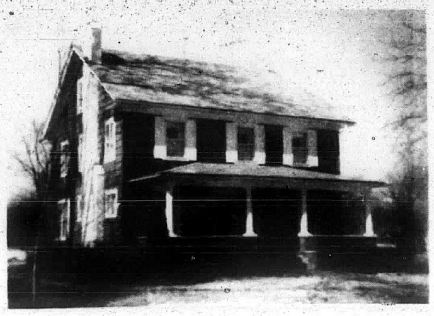
Mr. Pulver owned a drug store in town and both he and his wife were active in civic affairs. Mrs. Pulver was chairman of the local branch of the Red Cross set up at the outset of World War I. B.J. served on the city council during the 1920's along with his near neighbor, R.K. Anderson and was responsible for establishing the Tecumseh chapter of Rotary.

After the deaths of the Pulvers in the mid 40's, Mrs. Wilson's mother and another aunt moved from their Shawnee Street residence to the spacious bungalow. Elizabeth joined them in the move and remained there until 1960 when she moved to New Jersey. The deaths of her mother and aunt left the ownership of the family home to Elizabeth and her sister Dorothy. Ownership by them was retained even during a period it was rented out from 1960 until Elizabeth returned from New Jersey in 1968 and they again took up residence.

A different lifestyle and preference in atmosphere dictated interior changes by Mrs. Wilson and her sister. Bookcases that once covered nearly every wall in the front rooms were removed to allow placement of furniture and wall decorations. Woodwork was painted to lighten the appearance.

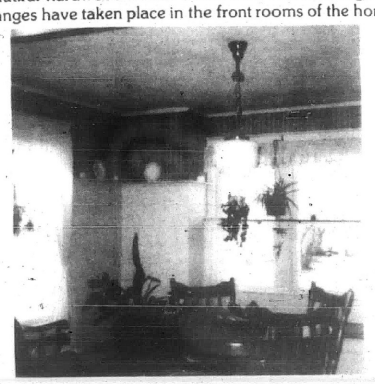
A love of music and art is at once evident upon entering Mrs. Wilson's home. Along with her talents at the piano dominating one corner of her music area, she is an accomplished violinist heading a trio of local musicians. Pastels done by her mother's sister and oils that belonged to the Pulvers touch the past as well as add beauty to this comfortable home.

Jule Anderson House



"No way will I live in one of those old high-ceilinged houses!" That was Doug McDowell's reaction before he acquiesced to look at the house at wife Judy's urging. Once inside the door, it was love at first sight, leading the McDowells to purchase the home from Judy's parents in 1964.

The house was barely visible behind dense shrubs and trees when Judy's parents bought the house from Jule Hicks Anderson in 1963. After ruthless pruning of greenery, the solid classical lines were exposed. The lightening process continued on the inside as dark green painted walls were transformed to a creamy yellow and gold area rugs give brightness while still exposing the beautiful hardwood floors. Other than redecorating, few changes have taken place in the front rooms of the home.



All woodwork is original, this too reflecting the clean, unpretentious exterior design. The home never did have the high ceilings so common to most older homes (perhaps the selling point to Mr. McDowell). The kitchen area underwent rather drastic changes under the direction of Norma Seidel Preston, Mrs. McDowell's mother. Formerly a space punctuated by numerous unnecessary doors, she guided a transformation that resulted in an efficient, pleasant work area.

The actual date the house was built is a bit hazy. Old tax records show a house on this property before the turn of the century, but the recollections of Elizabeth Wilson (owner of the nearby B.J. Pulver house) of watching a house being built here and references that it was built as a present for Jule (whose parents lived next door) when she married Raynor K. Anderson (related to S.W. Anderson) in 1913 seem to indicate this to be a later structure perhaps replacing a moved or destroyed home. Until 1953 the estate extended back to Evans Creek. At that time the majority of the land beyond the house lot was deeded to Patterson School.

S.W. Anderson House

A social note in the July 29, 1880 issue of the Tecumseh Herald related not only that Seaton W. Anderson and his wife Ella had moved into their newly completed home on Chicago Street, but that the event was closely followed with the birth of their son, Faron. Also noted in the article was that the woodwork "was superintended by Mr. Crane."

S.W. Anderson was a member of the large family that dominated the downtown drygoods and grocery business for decades under differing partnership arrangements and titles. Prior to his apprenticeship in the dry goods business, Seaton worked in Moses Wright's drug store. An interesting note is that the Wright homestead on the corner of Evans and Pottawatamie is obviously based on the same design—or vise versa— as the Anderson house. He was an Elder in the Presbyterian Church for a number of years and a teacher in the Sabbath School. In the first city high school class (of 8 graduates) to receive diplomas, he was to go on to serve on the school board for 18 years.

The S.W. Anderson house must have been right at home with Albert Anderson, Seaton's father, residing on the corner to the west of him and brother Berford's residence to the east. Though all were in the same family, the house styles certainly weren't the same. Perhaps because Seaton was the youngest, he chose the most flamboyant style of the three. Elaborate cut-out gingerbread accents the porch and eave lines. Applique work tops the window frames. The present color scheme not only emphasizes the detail but is more compatible with the Victorian color preferences than the white on white it wore when Bob and Betty Kline bought the house in the fall of 1977.

While the Klines have done extensive work, (all themselves) in the kitchen, bath, and bedroom areas, they sought to maintain the Victorian atmosphere with details such as the pressed tin ceiling they installed in bath and kitchen and incorporating beautifully carved old oak-framed glass doors in kitchen cabinetry. Furniture from the past and samples of a large collection of original art dot the interior.

C.A. Stacy House

Visitors to the C.A. Stacy house will be impressed by many of the same features that led Lee and Michele Worley to purchase the house five years ago. The magnificent cherry wood cantilevered staircase extending from first floor to the fourth level in the cupola would be enough for many to want to claim the place. Its size, 27 rooms over nearly 8,500 square feet, certainly acts as a drawing force and, as Mrs. Worley notes, "the sense of history about the home because of the many personal belongings — even clothes — that came with the house made a lasting impression on us." Aside from furniture used by the Stacys, artifacts such as a personal diary of Mrs. Stacy have allowed the Worleys to share the first-hand impressions of life in the past century.

Consider Alphonso Stacy, the 20-year old self-taught lawyer, arrived in Tecumseh from New York state in 1836. He was to have a considerable impact on the community. During the forty-three years he practiced law, Stacy spent time as judge of probate court and prosecuting attorney for the county. He served on the local school board for 26 years, was a member of the state board of education, and was instrumental in the founding of what is now Eastern Michigan University. Stacy was involved in the construction of the first brick block on Chicago Street (now housing the Cake Shoppe and Whatley Real Estate near the Bidwell Building). He was the town's postmaster from 1886-1890 and owned a foundry, the Tecumseh Furnace, for a time. In 1856 when it burned, he had it replaced, over a period of 30 days, by a larger brick building using the same brick stocked for the building of his home.

Somewhat analagous to Stacy's position as a judge, his homestead, begun in 1848 and completed in 1856, was situated (due to a convenient bend in the road) so that it presided over Chicago Street.

The Worleys have retained the historic atmosphere of the interior with the blending of furniture from the Stacy family and other antiques allow the visitor to share their feeling of stepping back into history while in the house.

J.S. Strong House

The original owner of this home, John Stoughton Strong was born in Strongville, Ohio in 1820. He came to Tecumseh in 1848 with his bride of two years, the former Delia Alden Baldwin.

Upon his arrival in town, he joined forces with Elijah Anderson to found a factory producing clay-working machinery (Strong sold his interest to Albert Anderson, father of S.W. Anderson.) later known as H. Brewer & Co. For a number of years he had interest in a starch factory. He was a partner with Lebbeus Drew in a hardware business and financed the building of the Satterthwaite Hardware Store. Strong was partner in a large nursery business with Charles Fitch Strong and in a hardware business with him. He and David McNair were proprietors of a clothing establishment and during a two year stay in Coldwater, Strong organized a farmers insurance company. With John Nash of Adrian, Mr. Strong established a bank at Bay City and was a director of the Lilley State Bank of Tecumseh. He was an extensive land owner. A musician of unusual ability, for several years Strong acted as instructor to a large class of pupils in vocal music. Over a span of 50 years he was a member of the choir or chorister for the Presbyterian Church. His devotion to the church and musical interest led him to donate the pipe organ to that congregation.

Strong's Italianate home, ca. 1878, shows all the earmarks of having been constructed by the Cranes, as were a majority of the other tour structures. The graceful stairway features almost identical newel posts found in the Hayden and S.W. Anderson homes. The home has recently been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Les Dallas with a lifelong lease extended to Mrs. Margaret Aebersold, owner since the 40's.

Perhaps the strongest feature of Mrs. Aebersold's residence is the rich, unpainted original woodwork framing windows and the beveled glass french doors. She points with pride to the fact she and her husband even refused to sell the home to a party intending to paint the lovely wood.

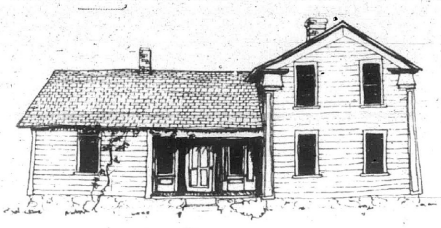
A Guide.... to Historic Structural Styles

In Tecumseh the historical structures primarily fall into three categories: Italianate, by far the most prevalent; Classical Revival, encompassing Greek Revival, Federal and Georgian Revival; and Queen Anne. Present, but not to be discussed in detail here are: Gothic Revival, with typical steeply pitched roof and tall, often pointed windows; Farmhouse style, the rather plain rectangular two-story home, usually with a one- or two-story perpendicular addition; and the newest (post-1900) style, the Bungalow, most recognizable by its sweeping one-piece roof over a large square house as well as over its ever present full width front porch.

Often it is difficult to identify a structure as a pure example of a certain style because of the mixing of different architectural elements at the time of construction, especially around the turn of the century, or the additions made in the name of "modernization" over the years when newer styles were popular. In looking, you will often see things like a typically clean-lined Greek Revival, complete with pediments, fronted by an ornately bracketed porch, most probably pointing to a remodeling job.

Although one may not be able to state unequivocally a structure is "this or that era or style" after reading this guide, it is fun to be able to recognize details that are typical of styles most commonly found in this area.



CLASSICAL — This encompasses three basic styles: Georgian, Federal and Greek Revival. Because the first two styles were introduced and popularized quite a bit before any of the existing structures in this area, characteristics from these styles are often found mixed with those of later ones, making the identification of examples of a pure style difficult, if not impossible. The "classical" label based on the origin of the styles is then most practical and one can seek out features that stem from the different period styles.

Georgian, the oldest of the three is very symmetrical in design with the entrance and middle of the house emphasized. The door, wide and paneled, often had a transom or fan light window above it. Columns or pilasters often framed the door with a pediment above. Cornice with dentils were featured below the pitched, or sometimes hipped roof. Later examples made even greater use of classical details with more lavish columns or pilasters and often would have projecting, pediment topped, entrance pavilions. Twelve-over-twelve windows were usual and shutters prevalent.

Federal had the same Roman symmetry but without as much of the classical decoration. Elliptical fanlights over doors were popular and columns or pilasters remained but with flat entablature. Simple frames surrounded the six-over-six, often shuttered windows.

Greek Revival still emphasized columns or pilasters, this time topped with pediment (sometimes broken, i.e., without the continuous bottom line) and entablature. Emphasis was switched to the gabled end. Windows are usually six-over-six and quite simple in keeping with a cleaner, overall line.

Examples in Tecumseh include: on W. Chicago Blvd. 218, 308, 401, 409 on E. Logan 409; on E. Pottawatamie 104-6.

QUEEN ANNE — This style, prevalent after 1875, is characterized by its asymmetrical but nicely balanced masses created by round turrets, bay and oriel windows, gables and dormers, with large wrap-around porches featuring delicate spindlework. Surfaces usually were wooden with a variety of textures & patterns. Applied ornamentation and leaded glass windows were very much in evidence. Eastlake style is similar to Queen Anne in its asymmetry but without the quantity of ornamentation and detail that Queen Anne bore.

Examples to look for in town include: on W. Chicago Blvd., 206, 208 and 502; on N. Union, 115, 213.

ITALIANATE — Popular from the mid 1800's onward, this style is epitomized by a structure with squarish design or an asymmetrical joining of several boxlike modules often punctuated with a cupola or a tall square tower topped by a pagado-shaped roof. Tall, slender, often arched, windows are usually emphasized with decorative "eyebrows." The roof is typically flat or low pitched with ornate brackets on heavy cornices under extended eaves.

Examples to look for in town include: 303 W. Chicago Blvd. 303 and 107 S. Union, 203 and 307 N. Union, and 202 W. Pottawatamie.

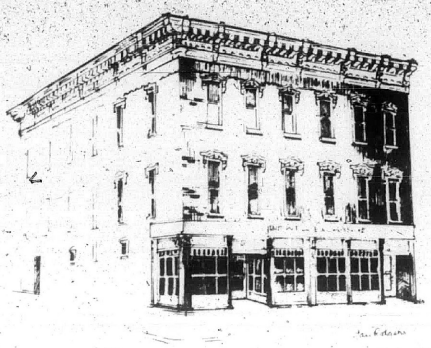
Within the shaded area, the Tecumseh Area Chamber of Commerce sponsored Antiques and Old Crafts Sale will be held Saturday and Sunday 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Note while in the downtown commercial district, the many very fine Victorian era facades, most of which reflect Italianate styling.

Added attactions include: Demonstrations by the Shawnee Rounds Saturday and by the Shawnee Squares Sunday from 1-3 p.m. outside the Presbyterian Church, vocal entertainment by the Promenade Quartet along the tour route, International Lunch with instrumental and vocal entertainment offered by the Tecumseh High School Band Boosters at the high school cafeteria Sunday noon-4 p.m., and demonstrations by her dancers in Jo Cooley's Dance Studio on the second floor of the Bidwell Building.



Bidwell Building

The man behind the financing of this downtown "Block" and its namesake, Birdsley J. Bidwell, was involved in a wide variety of ventures. He was a general store keeper and operator of a tannery doing wholesale business in hides and leather and retailing finished leather products. B.J. was director of at least two banks, was a realtor, and acted as silent partner in many other endeavors. It was his farm product brokerage business, however, that was to be the primary source of his substantial wealth that allowed for the construction of the Bidwell Block in 1852.

Over the years the edifice has served many purposes besides the site of business. The first Masonic Lodge of Tecumseh was organized there in 1854 and met in its third floor until 1894. The social hall housed public meetings, benefit dances for the Civil War effort, and was the site of deliverance of town mourning resolutions and addresses following the announcement of Abraham Lincoln's assassination.

To look at the Bidwell Building today, one would not dream that the ornate window "eyebrows" and evenly spaced roofline bracketing making it so typically Italianate are all "make-up" added decades after it was built. Bidwell's Block began as a very solid yet plain structure with upper floors exhibiting features more along Federal styling than Victorian—six-over-six windows capped by plain rectangular eyebrows and roofline similarly devoid ornamentation save the two narrow bands of brick dentils.

It has only been within the last year that it has again blossomed due to the restoration/renovation by Don Limpert, the owner and contractor. Removal of the plastic tile facade of someone's earlier "modernization" exposed the "iron lady" corner post and other street level architectural sculpture. The brick was chemically cleaned, trim was painted, and storefronts restored as nearly as feasible to the original state. Kathy Aiuto manages the building with mini-mall on the first floor, dance studio on the second and space for further development.

Promenade The Past

"Promenade the Past" began under quite a different format in 1976 with a decorator house in the former residence of Allan Seager. The ca. 1880 mansard style brick house was completely redone under the sponsorship of the Tecumseh Area Historical Society and the Little Garden Club for a tour extending over three weekends.

It has evolved into an annual two-day tour of a cross-section of privately owned residences — all at least 50 years old — sometimes accented with commercial operations housed in historic structures.

The purpose from "Promenade's" inception has been to encourage preservation by demonstrating the many ways interiors could be used and treated — from authentic restoration to total renovation — while still maintaining the external reminders of our area's heritage of many fine, primarily Victorian, architectural specimens. Their original owners often played a significant part in the social, commercial, and cultural development of the Tecumseh area.

The annual tour serves as a binding force for many members of the community to work together to reaffirm the preservation concept, to familiarize others with the Tecumseh area and what it has to offer, and to generate funds for projects by the sponsoring groups. The Tecumseh Area Historical Society has undertaken the restoration of the antique iron fences surrounding Brookside Cemetery on N. Union and at Memorial Park on Evans on the north edge of town, providing markers for historic structures throughout town identifying their vintage and original owners, with more projects awaiting approval. The Presbyterian Women's Association is working toward providing barrier-free access to the Fellowship Hall at their church.

The Chamber of Commerce has generously paid for our advertising flyers this year without monetary reward, only the request that we help promote them and their sidewalk antique fair. We encourage you to extend your "promenade" of Tecumseh through the commercial areas observing the fine turn-of-the-century facades of the downtown area as well as patronizing the many fine commercial enterprises throughout the town. The Chamber's Antique and Old Crafts Sidewalk Sale will be held both Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Special events include the Promenade Quartet singing along the tour route, the Shawnee Rounds performing Saturday and the Shawnee Squares performing Sunday from 1-3 p.m. at the Presbyterian Church. Sunday the Tecumseh High School Band Boosters will be serving an International Lunch, complimented with instrumental and vocal entertainment in the high school cafeteria (location indicated on the map on page 5). The talents of Jo Cooley's dancers may be enjoyed at her studio in the Bidwell Building.

Thanks to a great deal of cooperation between sponsoring groups, people who have graciously opened their homes and businesses, the many volunteer guides, the media for its exposure, and of course the many people who make the trip to Tecumseh — and return the next year — we feel that "Promenade the Past" gets better every year and we certainly hope you share our enthusiasm!

Wm. Hayden House

Over the years since the William Hayden house was built in 1862, the exterior, boasting dramatic Italianate detailing, has remained virtually unchanged aside from the removal of a cupola that once topped its roof.

Except for the graceful walnut stairway, (a trademark of the Crane family of builders responsible for a number of structures on tour), light fixtures of both the upper and lower landings, and the window and door moldings, little remains of the original layout or fittings to bespeak its life as the residence of the propserous mill owner.

It is now divided into four apartments owned by Mrs. Lynn Cook. What is significant, is that while the interior function has changed, the unaltered external appearance is compatible with the historic streetscape, reminding us of the period in which it was built and of the original owner and his significance to Tecumseh.

William Hayden's life before coming to Tecumseh reads like a novel, adding excitement to the envisioning of this home's owner. As a young adventurer, Hayden sought to share in the fortunes the 1849 Gold Rush promised. En route to California he contracted cholera and was left by his panic-stricken companions to die. Fortunately, one took pity on him, returning to save his life and help assure the completion of his journey. Hayden did indeed strike it rich. With a gold-filled money belt strapped to his waist, he arranged passage around the Horn to return East. The ship wrecked almost immediately. Fighting to stay afloat while awaiting rescue, he had to abandon the heavy belt, saving his life while losing his fortune. Penniless, he borrowed fare home. Once there, the lure of opportunities in Michigan drew him first to Jackson then to Tecumseh. In 1858, he bought The Globe Flouring Mills, foundation of the Wm. Hayden Milling Company which served as a vital industry and remained in the same family until Mrs. Perry Hayden sold it in 1977.

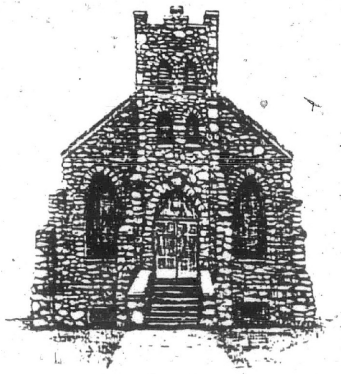
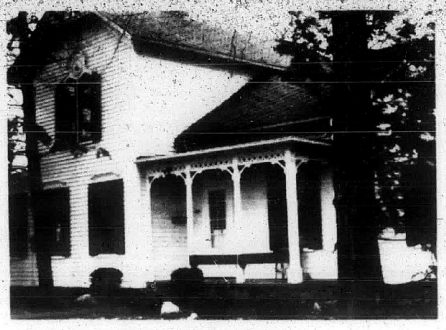
First Catholic Church

"Old house people" are noted for being able to see potential in nearly any building "with character" no matter how sad a state it is in; but few diehards would have been willing to face the mess Richard and Sandy Marks inherited when they purchased the perfect site for a stained glass studio, an old cobblestone church. Suffering from a roof that "leaked like a seive", the basement gradually filled with water over the years the building stood vacant. The result was that the Markses did not just have to contend with eliminating the water, but the eels that lived in it and the mushrooms that were growing out of the moisture saturated plaster walls!



Undaunted, they saved the structure from the destruction that might have resulted at the hands of somone less optimistic. It was reborn as the perfect area for studio work with all its uninterrupted space and a totally appropriate setting for the display of leaded glass gallery pieces. The new windows that are gradually replacing ones original to the church were created by Richard Marks, hailed as one of the top stained glass designers in the United States.

The little Catholic church (which is exactly like one in Brooklyn, Michigan now being used as their Public Library) was erected in 1913 and engendered a fair amount of attention by its place in a very Protestant town. Since the village would not sell the property to the Detroit Diocese for the building of a church, parishoners "got around" the stumbling block through the purchase of the land by a cooperative private party. This only served to stir up anti-Catholic sentiment which culminated in a cross burning, the first in Michigan, by the Ku Klux Klan in front of the church. Fortunately, these sentiments no longer persist. St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church now occupies large, modern facilities on N. Union and we have a marvelous vestige of our town's history preserved as well as an accomplished artist in our midst.



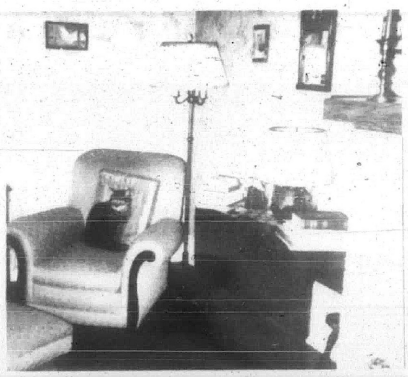
Carson Small Farms

As one approaches the trim white house with its shutter accented windows and gingerbread trimmed porch, all perfectly framed by tall old trees and a tidy picket fence; it's hard not to think of a Grandma Moses painting model.

The setting was not always so idyllic. When Anne Carson and her father John bought the house and surrounding ten acres in 1919, it was totally overgrown. No plumbing or heat graced the premises which had stood empty for years. Absence of exterior paint and a broken, rusty wire fence completed the bleak picture. Fortunately this did not deter the Carsons. Anne recognized the possibilities because "it was a good strong house built by Theodore Crane" (of the same Crane family of builders connected with the S.W. Anderson, Hayden, Strong houses and Bidwell Building.

Miss Carson's grandparents came from Ireland by sailing ship during the potato famine, settling with what was then a rather sizeable Irish population here. Anne's parents (the former Ellen Logan and John Carson), quite coincidentally to this year's tour, were married in the S.W. Anderson house March 9, 1892 and took up residence on a farm on Occidental. In later years, when her father's health began to fail, the "Small Farms" was purchased so Anne and her father could be close to town and yet John would have someplace to "putter".

Inside the house many fond mementos dot the rooms. Bellek china collected over the years serves as a reminder of the family's Irish heritage. The rocker in the dining room is covered with velvet that once graced the interior of the Presbyterian Church, first stop on the tour. The drop-leaf cherry wood table and the reverse painted mirror in the living room were housewarming presents to Miss Carson's grandparents. Each item has a story painting a vivid picture of the past for us to enjoy.

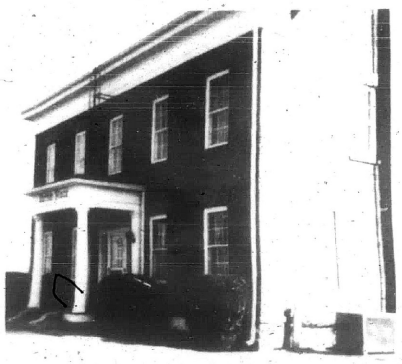


Sutton Place

From the gracious classical exterior incorporating featurings of Greek Revival, Georgian, and Federal styling, one would never guess that Sutton Place now houses the business offices of an efficient, modern company.

Built for Asa and Sara Sutton in 1853, the home served as a center of the valley community because of its role as post office site and its location as the flag stop, complete with waiting room, for various railroad lines earning it the label Sutton's Crossing.

The Suttons belonged to the Raisin Valley Friends Meeting along with the Haydens, Satterthwaites, Comforts and other oft-mentioned families in the area. True to that religion's tradition, their doors were open to all comers, black or white. During the Civil War the home served as a station of the Underground Railroad, with runaway slaves sequestered in the basement. The "open to all comers" motto was further carried out with the existence of the "tramp room". One of the many bedrooms was reserved for any "Knight of the Road" who asked for lodging.



In many ways Sutton Place was very unique for its time. There were no fireplaces. Franklin stoves, quite the new invention of the era, were used for heating. These were vented through chimneys concealed in the three-brick thick exterior walls. Running water for the kitchen, milk house, and bathroom (which sported a tub made from a hollowed and polished log) was made possible by the proximity of a powerfully-flowing spring. The water was forced by a ram to a tank in the attic then flowed by gravity to its destination.

The adaptive use of this building demonstrates there are modern concerns such as SWS Silicones that realize progressive thought and operation can coexist with the preservation of buildings that serve as examples and reminders of our heritage.

Council Cuts Millage to 12.5

City Council gave tax payers a break Monday night when officials reduced millage from 13 mills to 12.5 for the 1979-80 budget. Officials originally planned on 13 mills until a factor on assessments from the county was made.

The 5.72 percent factor from the county plus an increase by the city assessor have raised assessment valuations here by 15 percent.

Reduction of millage was the only change in the previously announced budget of $2,038,801 for anticipated income and $2,035,032 for anticipated expenditures.

In other action, Council approved Federal Revenue Sharing allocations, but cut $3,000 for the Community Action Agency. This money was placed in a contingency fund instead.

INTERNATIONAL MENU — Band Boosters are planning an International Dinner Sunday only at the high school cafeteria. Coordinators include Sharon Svestka, tickets, seated; Jo Ann Barritt, publicity; Britt Wann, desserts; Wilma Silberhorn, cooks; Luisa Calkins, dinner. Story and ticket information on page five.

3-2 Vote OKs Budget

Raisin Township Board adopted by a split vote a $203,590 budget at its regular meeting Monday night. A record 119 people attended.

Treasurer Lynette Sayler and trustee Eugene Vaughn voted "no". Supervisor Robert D. Moore, clerk Marjorie Comfort and trustee Robert Murray voted "yes".

In other business, the board adopted a nuisance ordinance with revisions on definitions of garbage, rubbish and junk cars. Treasurer Sayler abstained on that vote.

A first reading was given on zoning ordinance changes recommended by the planning commission.

David Jager, director of the Lenawee County Equalization Department and Lynn Hedges who did "catch-up" assessing for the township this year answered audience questions.

Supervisor Moore said he is looking for someone to serve as full-time building inspector/assessor/township marshall. He will study alternative proposals.

Township will take bids to put in a second door as an exit for the meeting room, which is getting more populated at each board meeting.

Bid of $23,050 before Council Next Monday

Sunderland Insurance Agency submitted the lone bid for what is commonly known as the Kennedy property at the corner of E. Logan and N. Ottawa Sts.

Bid amounted to $23,050 and is approximately $2,000 more than the figure Council said would even be considered for the 10,000-square-foot site.

Sunderland's bid will be presented to Council Monday night for action.

Hit-Skip Accident Injures Student

A hit-skip accident that injured a 14-year-old boy occurred here about 7 a.m. Wednesday on N. Evans St., just south of the River Raisin bridge.

Injured is Kirk Carswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Carswell, 9800 Murphy Hwy., who was enroute to the junior high on his bicycle. He was hit by a brown van, about 30 feet south of the bridge on the west side of the street.

Since his bike sustained only minor damages, a mirror on the southbound van may have struck the young boy. According to his mother and school officials, he suffered bumps to the head, cut lip and scraped back.

Driver of the van was seen walking back to the scene and reportedly asked young Carswell if he was alright. When he was told yes, the driver returned to his van and left the scene.

Probable witnesses to the scene were two persons in a dark maroon Lincoln or Mercury, which was headed north and stopped along the street by the Herrick Park branch of United Savings Bank.

Driver of the van and the two witnesses are asked to contact the Tecumseh Police Department.

After the accident, the boy was seen staggering across the street, step over the guard rail and into the bank's parking lot. He later rode his bike to the junior high school, where he fell down in a hallway.

He was given an ice pack for his

ARCHITECT'S DRAWING OF AUDITORIUM THAT WILL FACE N. MAUMEE ST. SEE DRAWING OF FLOOR PLAN ON PAGE 10

City's Auditorium Plans Are Released

With construction tentatively scheduled to start in late June or early July, initial plans for Tecumseh's new civic auditorium have been released.

The building will be approximately 170 feet long, facing N. Maumee St. and Tecumseh high school, and about 70 feet wide. A circle drive off N. Maumee will permit vehicles to drop off passengers at the main entrance to the auditorium.

Plans include a canopy over the drive in front of the auditorium along with landscaping between the drive and street.

Patrons will enter through a vestibule and into a large 55x26-food lobby, off of which will be rest rooms, restrooms and box office.

From the lobby, patrons will enter the auditorium, which will seat 500. A sizeable orchestra pit will be directly in front of a 23x40-foot stage.

Behind the stage are women's and men's dressing rooms and a workshop area.

Large parking areas will be constructed north and south, or on both sides, of the building.

Estimated cost for the auditorium is $600,000, a gift to the city from a Michigan foundation. Krieghoff-Lenawee is the general contractor and Marr & Marr, architects. Property was purchased from Dr. Ralph Helzerman.

WHAT IS A FUNERAL TRUST FUND?

It is an interest-bearing fund set aside at a bank or S&L for use specifically to pay for funeral and burial expenses for one or more members of your family. It is an investment, too, since it earns interest and acts as a hedge against continued inflation.

As the fund grows, with its interest accumulating it may even provide MORE than the amount you have pre-arranged to pay for funeral expenses. This depends on factors such as the rate of interest paid, items and services to be covered, and how great was the inflationary effect during the duration of the funding.

Most states have laws governing the pre-financing of funerals and burial expenses. We are experienced in handling these matters, having conducted many such arrangements. We can advise and assist you in setting up a Funeral Trust Fund for you and your family. You might want to stop by and discuss this in full detail.

Horse barn, dairy barn, warehouse, machinery storage, commercial buildings. Farm Bureau's strong treated timber structures give you more building for your money.

Tests performed at Michigan State University prove that the Farm Bureau diaphragm panel system with 4-foot truss spacing is 60% stronger against wind than buildings with 8 and 9 foot truss spacing.

We've been building farm and commercial buildings for over 20 years. See the Farm Bureau people for your next building job.

We all know how difficult a decision can be when it has to be made suddenly.

It's always better to be able to consider carefully . . . and this is why we recommend choosing a funeral directing firm before the need occurs.

Familiar Faces in 'January Thaw'

Some familiar faces will be seen this weekend in the Croswell Players production of "January Thaw", directed by Robert A. Soller.

The play, by William Roos, deals with the Gage family who escaped city life in New York to settle down in an old Connecticut farmhouse only to have the original owners, the Rockwoods, return after a long absence and resume occupancy in the same house.

In the role of Herbert Gage, aspiring author and father of the family, is Lance Tucker who directed the Croswell Players recent production "The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail."

The Gage's housekeeper, Frieda, is played by JoAnn Dalgard, best remembered as April Green in Croswell's "Hot L Baltimore."

Jackie Johnstone will make her Croswell debut as Paula, one of the Gage daughters. She has appeared in Tecumseh Players productions of "Tom Sawyer" and "Snow White."

The eldest daughter, Barbara, and her fiance, George Husted, are played by Rosanne Frolich and Greg Jacqua. Both were seen in Croswell's "Matchmaker" and "Thoreau."

Mathilda Rockwood and her son, Matt, are portrayed by Kathi Johnstone, last seen as the mother in "Thoreau," and Lance Sheldon, the male lead in THS play "Barefoot in the Park" and is forfeiting senior class night and the prom to appear in this show. Lance graduates with the Class of '79 on June 3.

Bob Soller has many years of directing experience, including a previous production of this same play many years ago. He also appeared in the cast of this show when it was performed by his high school class. Soller is manager of the Croswell Opera House and was previously drama instructor at Siena Heights.

Marti Frolich, last seen on stage in Tecumseh's "Love is Contagious," will be stage manager for this production. Show will run May 18,19, and 20, 8 p.m. curtain each night. For information and reservations: 263-5674.

Reader Writes

To the Editor:

Thank you for running the insert for "Promenade the Past" in your last issue. It aids publicity for the town tremendously.

I think it was especially generous of the United Savings Bank to donate a whole page for the "guide to historic structures."

That guide will help visitors to Tecumseh enjoy all the structures they see, not just those on tour.

I hope your readers will support the tour and all of the advertizers who made the supplement possible.

Sincerely,

Tecumseh Band Boosters Host International Dinner Sunday

by Kathy Brown

Do you love to eat? Do you like to try international food?

Sunday is your chance to take several courses (literally) in international cuisine at the complete International Dinner served noon to 4 p.m. at the Tecumseh High School cafeteria.

Your taste buds can travel the continents with an "itinerary" planned by the Tecumseh Band Boosters, your hosts.

The Sunday afternoon dinner—a European custom to serve the main meal after church services—will feature music and decor with an international beat.

Waiters and waitresses dressed in native costumes will serve a sampling of each of the entrees and will offer diners a choice of a salad and a dessert.

Imagine a fraeulein in a pert dirndl and crisp white peasant blouse tempting you with Hungarian Goulash made with beef stew meat, Polish Sausage or German Bockwurst with sauerkraut while an appetite rousing polka throbs in the background.

Next you may tango to the salad course where you will be teased by, among other ethnic delights, a hearty Taco meat salad, inspired by sunny Mexico. You'll cheer, Ole.

Then waltz over to the dessert section which features a complete dessert menu from which to choose—if you have the room.

Featured will be Norwegian Krumkake and Vannbakkels, German Chocolate Cakes, Czechoslovakian pastries, Hungarian Angel Wings and a delectable assortment of pastries and desserts from England, France, Hawaii and the continental United States.

Where did these Tecumseh Yankees get the recipes and the wits for this sumptuous international menu? German-born Luisa Calkins is dinner coordinator and Norwegian-born Britt Wann is dessert coordinator.

Both women have lived in the United States about 15 years. They met in the local Welcome Wagon Club and both have band students in Tecumseh Schools. Both can cook up a storm and are a delight to meet.

Luisa brought the idea to the Band Boosters who were enthusiastic about the novel fund raising activity.

She acted as coordinator and adviser to six such international dinners in Muskegon and Hastings before the family moved here about a year ago. At one of the dinners, 2,000 guests were served by 48 "German girls." "One woman got a catering business out of it," said Luisa.

Coincidentally, it was the friendliness the Calkins family encountered during Tecumseh's Promenade the Past that convinced them to move here when her husband, David, received a transfer.

Looking every bit the part of the European restaurant hostesses in dirndls, Luisa and Britt have the poise and the easy smiles required.

Luisa dreamed of opening a restaurant. You could be sure it would be the type with linen and fresh flowers. Her maternal grandparents were from Toulon, France and operated a French restaurant, "the best in the whole town," in her hometown of Mainz, Germany.

Known as a tourist attraction in the Rhine valley, the town of half a million was built by the Romans over 2,000 years ago. This summer she and daughter Corinna, 16, will return for four weeks to the land of their birth. The Calkins also have a son, Carim, 14.

Britt is from the second largest city in Norway, Bergen—gateway to the fjords. She and her husband, Dean, have two daughters, Ann, 12, and Karen, 7. Britt visited her homeland last year with her daughter.

Of course the excitement of the event stirs the ethnic blood in even the most independent Yankee. So the Band Booster students and parents are giving their all to make the meal memorable and successful.

The Junior High School Band will be directed by Richard Reamsnyder as part of the live entertainment.

Advance tickets are being sold at Whatley Realty, Schmidt's Pharmacy, Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce and band students and boosters.

The remainder of the tickets will be sold at the Presbyterian Church for hungry promenaders of the home tour and also at the high school cafeteria door.

Farm Heritage a Big Part

One house on the Promenade the Past tour May 19 and 20 does not readily fit into the detailed style categories. Yet, Carson Small Farms is one of the most typical styles of the 19th Century since most Tecumseh families were still farm families. Farmhouses constitute a good portion of Tecumseh's old-house heritage.

The charming picket fence that defines the Carson Small Farms at 509 E. Logan replaced a rusty wire one that Anne Carson and her father found when they bought the home in 1919. Built by Theodore Crane, circa 1883, the home has a substantial quality.

Ann was born and raised in Tecumseh, taught school here and retired after 25 years with the city of Detroit. Her grandparents came from Ireland during the potato famine.

Anyone who has ever had a farmhouse in his/her past associates it with fond family memories.

Historically, the farmhouse was the center for a great deal of hard work. The interior and exterior reflected that.

Food was not merely prepared—it was manufactured. The kitchen served as the "living room" for the family. The parlor was for special occasions and musical evenings.

Today, designs are similar with family rooms extending from kitchens creating a "living area" for the modern family.

The most dramatic change was in the kitchen during the 1860's. Flat-topped cast-iron kitchen ranges were introduced. The hearth disappeared. Heavy iron kitchen tools were replaced with lighter, steel-coated pans. Piped water was brought into the house. Gas cookers came into general use in the 1880's. The country kitchen look disappeared.

Because she spent time in her kitchen, the farm woman wanted it as pretty and practical as possible. Kitchens often had a high wainscotting of stained boards.

Floors were hardwood, stained and oiled and cleaned with wood ashes instead of soap because of its bleaching power.

Linoleum was invented in England in 1860 and became practical because it could be washed easier, was warmer and more dust free than wood floors.

Wallpaper was used as an inexpensive, quick way to decorate a room. Fabrics in the house were of the "garden variety", not high Victorian. White muslin was common for curtains, lace curtains were admired.

By the turn of the century, all major manufacturers of household furnishings offered a mail order catalog creating the "catalog style."

In architectural contrasts to the simplicity of the Victorian farmhouse is the S.W. Anderson House, a Victorian Gothic home at 511 W. Chicago Blvd., owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kline.

Its boulevard view and styling reflect the status of the original owner. The Anderson family operated a successful drygoods and grocery business for decades.

The Klines and the community are fortunate that the Victorian birc-a-brac was not stripped away as has been the fate with many such ornate Victorian homes.

In most cases, the wood trim was turned on specialized wood moulding machinery long since obsolete. Some owners of Victorian homes that have been stripped of their character will spend an average $10,000 to $14,000 to put back exterior embellishments that strict moderns once considered gawdy and would pay $2,000 for a paint job.

The Klines however, are dedicated do-it-yourselfers. they used contrasting paint colors to accent their home's sculptural richness. They have also done extensive restoration and decorating on two previous homes, not only outside but inside as well, even the furniture.

In the 1880's similar Victorian houses would have cost about $3,500 to build. Today the same house would command considerably more.

For example in California, an unrestored Victorian home sells for $80,000 to $100,000, according to the Christian Science Monitor Service.

BARBARA YORK

MICHAEL STEINKRAUS

Students Pick Teachers of Year

CLINTON — Barbara York and Michael Steinkraus were chosen by their Clinton High School students as Teacher of the Year, and were recognized at the recent honors assembly.

Barbara York has taught Spanish language and history for 21 years in the Clinton school system, full-time for 18 years.

Besides her classroom in-depth study of many countries, she has supervised the activities of four Spanish Clubs, which includes magazine and candy sales and taco dinners.

Ten years ago, she initiated the Spanish Carnival at Clinton Schools, and it has grown into a major money-maker for the Spanish Clubs. Each year proceeds are divided and the senior Spanish Club members have their expenses paid for a trip to Spain or Mexico.

She is a graduate of Albion College, and attended Adrian College and Siena Heights College, with majors in political science and Spanish.

She is married to Thomas York, and her family is grown.

Michael Steinkraus is a second year teacher of math and English at Clinton High School, and previously taught a year at Napoleon Schools.

He is a 1976 Spring Arbor College graduate.

He officiates at basketball, umpires softball, and is active with summer softball in Gladwin, his hometown. Mike is not married.

Steinkraus says he really likes people, and probably earned his recognition, because he can relate to his students at their level.

His students remarked on their ballots that he is "strict but fair," and is "always there when we need him to help us."

School Board Discusses Millage

BRITTON — Donald Bush, Dale Monagin and Karl Kimerer, were selected to serve on the Britton-Macon School board's negotiating team. Bill Bailey will serve as an alternate.

The teachers and the board's negotiating teams, will hold their initial meeting May 23.

The annual election of the Britton-Macon Area School, will be held on June 11. Voters will be asked to approve an increase of one mill for additional operating expenses, plus the renewal of 17.5 mills that expires this year.

This brings to 18.5 the total number of mills to be voted upon for operating expenses.

The state equalized valuation of the school district has increased approximately 14% over last year. The 1979 state equalized valuation is $29,135,730 compared to $25,552,721 for 1978.

As a result of the Headlee Amendment, the board is anticipating having to roll back its millage by a mill to a mill and one half. This roll back will be on the 1979 authorized millage.

Thru My Window

BY MARDA GENE DUNCAN

It promised to be a busy day and that promise was more than fullfilled. We anticipated all sorts of business. As it turned out though the two birds who gave us a hectic hour were not the ones we were looking for. These unexpected surprises are what keep bird watchers watching birds.

It all started shortly after the reading table was put over my bed. Gertie T was getting the typewriter ready, pulling a few bird books from the shelf, and untucking the binoculars.

At this time of year getting the binoculars ready to grab in a split second is one of the routine early morning jobs.

Suddenly Gertie T was pointing the binoculars across the creek. A grayish bird with a darker head. Quite large. Large at least when compared to the tiny warblers who had been flitting around.

The bird moved several times, in the shade at one perch but in sunshine at another. Finally he worked himself into my view. Not only was he in bright light but he gave us a front view.

A great-crested flycatcher. The warm sunlight fell on an unmarked gray breast which shaded to yellow on the tummy. His posture on the small limb was upright, quite decidedly flycatcherish.

When he took off and flew back across the creek Gertie T and I were both almost awestruck with the rich cinnamon cast on his tail and wings.

These are interesting birds and our fingers are crossed that a pair will take up residence across the creek. As cavity nesters they will readily take over an old woodpecker's hole. One book commented about how adaptable the great-cresteds are.

They are noted for incorporating a newly shed snake skin in their nests but, since men have become such notorious litterers, these flycatchers are now using foil or cellophane.

The name is indicative of their eating habits. They catch flies. They also catch other flying insects. Perching upright on a tall 'lookout' branch, they launch attacks and grab lunch on the wing as it were. They are noisy and quiet unfriendly if other birds venture too close to their nest holes.

And just about now a robin landed on a nearby limb. A lovely female with a paler red breast than her handsome mate sports. but what a good chance to compare sizes — the robin is about 10 inches long, and according to one of the books, our flycatcher should be about eight inches long. There looked to be about that much difference in size.

In a few minutes I was looking at something else across the creek. It had a shorter tail than a flycatcher, was sitting less straight on the branch and seemed a tad shorter.

By the time Gertie T focused the binoculars the bird had turned and was looking at us. He also hopped to another branch and partially hid behind a clump of little new leaves.

It turned into quite a game of hide and seek. Finally though the reddish back, the light front with a few spots on the upper chest and the slightly smaller size all came together and said veery.

Except that the veeries are insect eaters too, they have little else in common with the great-crested flycatchers. Veeries scratch up their buggy meals by working through the leaf debris and other material on the ground. (Much like towhees. They also eat fruit and seeds.

They are ground nesters, or if no suitable spot is available, they will build their bulky nest in a thick shrub. Veeries could nest across the creek and we would be as thrilled to have them as we would be to have the flycatchers.

Auditorium Will Be Community Asset

Few communities the size of Tecumseh will have a civic auditorium as large and nice as the one planned here.

The floor plan below exemplifies the size and versatility of the building to be constructed on N. Maumee St. Not shown in the plan is a projection room for movies, and two parking lots which will adjoin the auditorium on the north and south sides.

Although a number of organizations are expected to use the auditorium, major user will probably be the high school, which will be directly across the street.

The 14-acre site was purchased by the city for $65,000. Two older houses on the property will be torn down, officials reported.

Sure, one of these days I'll be marching out in cap and gown with a diploma in my hand to take my place in that world of ours. Lots of things I'll be needing then besides a degree.

I'll need what they call character! And a sense of values! I'll need ethical principles, moral standards. A deep awareness of the meaning of duty, of honesty, of integrity. And on the way to all of these I'll need to discover a Faith by which to live.

There are strong churches in our community, with fine programs of religious education. I think my parents expect to start me in Sunday School.

But I have't yet commenced. My most important beginning hasn't begun.

Please Dad! Please Mom! Think about my commencement.

Tories Win, 12-2

The Clinton girl's softball team played host to Britton Friday in lopsided league action. The Tories walked away with the game 12-2.

Britton hurler Lisa Campbell pitched an outstanding game striking out six Redskin batters and walking one. Of the seven hits she allowed, the Redskins were able to only two into scoreboard points in the fifth inning.

Tory bats were also very active racking up ten hits.

Barb Winder went the distance for the Redskins. Winder had no strike outs and gave up four walks.

Both teams played relatively error free ball. Britton had only three errors to Clinton's five.

Kris Pratt accounted for the only two hits for the Redskins. She also drove in one run.

Skins Thump Hudson, Place 3rd in Relays

Clinton boys track team thumped Hudson, 84-48 Thursday at Clinton. Clinton is 5-0 in the LCAA.

Matt Peters was in the limelight once again as he shattered Mike Risner's two mile record by winning in 9:55.2. Risner ran 9:58.7 last year. Lance Traves and Casey Thilo each had excellent days taking three first places each.

Traves won the high hurdles with a 15.9, 440 dash with a 53.4 and low hurdles with a 43.7. Thilo won the discus with a 122'2", 100 dash with a 10.6 and the 220 dash with a 23.9.

Clinton 84, Hudson 48

SHOT PUT — Mike Krauss, 44'; LONG JUMP — Mike Karapas, 19'3½"; 880 RELAY — Chris Douglas, Karapas, Fuller and Thilo, 1:36.8; 440 RELAY — Douglas, Karapas, Fuller and Kevin Cymes, 47.3; MILE RELAY — Brad Marsh, Mark Arquette, Fuller and Tom Nighswander, 3:52.9.

Clinton's boys track team finished third in the nine team Addison Relays Saturday. Clinton scored 82 points.

LCAA rivals Onsted and Addison finished first and second in the meet with 100 and 98 points respectively. Clinton scored in all but two of the running events but could only score 12 points in the field events which hurt the Redskins cause.

Clinton captured three first places. The 880 Relay team of Wes Fuller, Mike Karapas, Lance Traves and Casey Thilo won in good time of 1:36.4 for a cold, rainy day.

Traves, Thilo, Fuller and Brad Marsh combined to win the Mile Relay in 3:44. The other first came in the Addison Relay where each man runs a 330 yard dash; Thilo, Traves, Karapas and Chris Douglas formed this team and won in 2:41.4.

Clinton captured seconds in the Distance Medley Relay and Shuttle Hurdle Realy. The Distance Medley had Marsh, Scott Thilo, Tom Nighswander and Matt Peters. The Hurdle team had Traves, Marsh, Kevin Cymes and Ken Witherow.

Thirds were taken by the High Jump Relay team of Cymes, Karapas and Witherow; Shot Put Relay team, Cymes, Mike Krauss and Brad Williams; Middle Distance Medley Team of Douglas, Mark Arquette, Steve Wahl and Devin [illegible] and Two Mile Relay team of Fuller, Scott Thilo, Nighswander and Peters. The lone fourth was in the Four Mile Relay by the team of Mark Prichard, Schindler, Nighswander and Peters.

Excitement and tension ran high Tuesday as the Redskins pitted their unblemished record against league rival Onsted. Both teams went into the meet unbeaten in league competition and both teams were itching for the showdown. For the losing team the disappointment would be bitter but consolation could be taken from the fact that they had been beaten only once.

As it happened the Redskins were the ones consoling themselves as Onsted handed them a 75½ - 56½ defeat. When they needed it most it seemed like the old magic was the most elusive.

However, do not despair, the Redskins will have a chance to avenge themselves in the upcoming district competition. And, after all, no one can knock an 8-1 record.

Onsted 75½ Clinton 56½

Hurls Second No-Hitter

The Tecumseh JV baseball team shut out Gibraltar Carlson 10-0 Wednesday. Derek Nahabedian pitched his second no hitter of the season going the distance for the Indians. Nahabedian faced 22 batters striking out 15 of them.

Hitters for the Indians were Mike Watters with two and Nahabedian with two.

Friday the JV's split a double header with Monroe Jefferson. The Indians took the first game 2-1 behind the pitching of Greg Langmeyer.

The winning point came in the sixth inning from an RBI by Jim Bartenslager. Don Ringman and Dar Burnside each had two hits apiece.

Monroe Jefferson took the second game 12-6.

In Monday's game against New Boston Huron, the Indians pulled ahead early in the game but could not maintain the momentum and fell 8-6.

The JV's now stand at 8-3 for the season.

Pitcher Lisa Campbell keeps Kris Praft close to first base with throw to Janene Schultz.

Sue Richter stretches for throw from right field as Mary Wilfaert settles for single. Pitcher Barb Winder watches from mound.

Indians Still Undefeated

The Tecumseh varsity track team maintained their league dominance by shellacking Airport 93-38. D.J. Biscupski, who routinely breaks his own pole vaulting records, did it again with a vault of 14'3" breaking his previous record by better than an inch.

Tribe Wins Doubleheader, Drops Three Single Games

Coach Bob Ondrovick's varsity baseball team swept a doubleheader here Friday, but dropped three other games in action the past week. Bad spring weather has forced the Indians to play six games in eight days and is out a strain on the pitching staff.

Although Tecumseh has slipped under the .500 mark, Ondrovick says the Indians are "playing good baseball except for some key mistakes." He added that "our kids don't give up," reflecting on one rally that netted Tecumseh a win and another rally that just fell short against New Boston.

Resumes of games played are:

Carlson 6, Tecumseh 1

Visiting Gibralter-Carlson capitalized on a five-run third inning to whip the Indians here last Wednesday. Line score of the game is:

Carlson	6	9	1
Tecumseh	1	5	1

Tecumseh 15, M-Jefferson 6

Indians unloaded on Monroe-Jefferson pitchers here in the first game of a twin bill. Four Tecumseh hitters collected two or more hits with Randy Halvin adding a home run along with a single.

Bob McFadden had three singles, and Kevin Bater and John Southard two singles each.

Scott Schafer, although relieved by Brian Banda in the fourth, was the winning pitcher. Line score is:

M-Jefferson	6	8	5
Tecumseh	15	20	3

Tecumseh 8, M-Jefferson 7

Behind 7-5 in the fifth inning of the second game, Tecumseh rallied with three runs in the bottom of the inning.

McFadden and Andy Geshwiler each had big hits, driving in two runs each.

Southard led the attack with two singles.

Dorman Frederick relieved Derek Nahabedin in the third inning and picked up the win.

M-Jefferson	7	10	7
Tecumseh	8	7	3

Grosse Ile 5, Tecumseh 4

In Saturday's Gibralter-Carlson tournament, the Indians allowed the Red Devils to score five runs in the final two innings and win a non-league game.

Grosse Ile	5	8	2
Tecumseh	4	4	2

New Boston 5, Tecumseh 3

Sloppy play in the field cost Tecumseh a victory here Monday when Huron scored four runs in the first inning on three errors, a walk and hit batsman.

The Indians nearly pulled it out in the seventh when they scored three times.

New Boston	5	3	2
Tecumseh	3	3	4

Ondrovick's team is at Flat Rock Wednesday before hosting Monroe CC here Friday. Tecumseh is 3-6 in the Huron League and 6-10 overall.

Junior High Girls Are Perfect, Boys Are 4-1

The Tecumseh junior high girl's and boy's track teams have just wrapped up a triumphant season.

The girls finished with a perfect 4-0 record and the boys finished with a near perfect 4-1 record. The boys only loss was a heartbreaker in which they were defeated by two points.

The last meet of the season was the Tecumseh Junior High Invitational Relays which provided both teams the opportunity to end the season on a glorious note.

The successful season was highlighted at the Tecumseh Relays by a roster of unbeaten performers including for the boys Charlie Rebottaro who set a new record for the 880 run of 2:15.9. Two new records were set by Jim Erb in the 100 and 220 yard dashes at 10.6 and 24.8 respectively.

The mile relay team consisting of Rebottaro, Paul Vredeveld, Wally Harvey, and Scott Winkler; and Vredeveld again in his capacity of high jumper remained unbeaten.

Championship performers for the girls included the 440 relay team of Gayle Smith, Cheryl Salters, Pam Blazer and Sue Williams who turned in their best performance of 56.1 for the invitational.

Tracy Watters and Cheryl Salters won the long jumps consistantly and took firsts in both the Tecumseh and Hillsdale meets.

The mile relay team of Lisa Lavay, Tammy McMahon, Kris Long and Tracy Watters were beaten only once during the season.

Judging from these results it would seem that Tecumseh has another crop of potential champions and the assurance of some fine track teams in the near future.

Girls Whip Jefferson Club, 16-3

Tecumseh girls JV's continued unbeaten in softball last Friday by walloping Monroe-Jefferson, 16-3. Victory boosted their season's mark to 9-0.

Lori Burack was the winning pitcher, allowing the losers just two hits.

Lisa Lapham paced the attack with a home run, triple and single.

Debbie Bater collected a double and single, and Debbie Spagnoli and Kathy Randall had two singles each.

Jets Edge Girls

The Tecumseh girl's track team lost a narrow one to Airport Tuesday, 64-59. Martha Hans had a good day though, as she set a new record for the 220 low hurdles at 32.1 breaking the old mark set by Kris McDonald of 32.6.

Other firsts for Tecumseh include:

LONG JUMP — Janice Bishop 15' 8 1/2; 110 LOW HURDLES — Martha Hans 16.5; 100 DASH — Martha Hans 12.0; 880 RELAY — Bishop, Sprague, Comfort and Anchuetz 1:54.4; 440 RELAY — Hans, McDonald, Sprague and Anchuetz 53.2; 220 DASH — Cindy Anchuetz 27.7.

NOTHING BUT DETERMINATION — With teeth gritted and nothing but determination on his face, THS thinclad D.J. Biscupski again breaks his own record above with this vault against Airport last Tuesday. Tecumseh is graced with its best pole vaulter ever in this junior. Saturday, D.J. just missed clearing 14'5" twice at the regional meet. He finished first and heads for the state meet June 2 with the third best vault overall in the state of Michigan. And according to coach Bill Croft, D.J. has an excellent chance of finishing first in the state, class B event. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Biscupski of 512 Seneca. Senior Housing Delayed

The Orchard Terrace Housing Corporation has decided to wait a few months before it decides whether or not to build a two or three story senior citizen apartment complex.

Original plans called for a three story building with 122 units.

City's marketing survey shows that 70 percent of all renters would require some sort of financial assistance.

However, the Tecumseh project has been allocated only 23 subsidized units, short of what is needed.

Ernie Schuttee of the Farmers Home Administration, indicated he is unwilling to loan mortgage money on a project so short of the number of subsidies needed.

The alternative is to wait and see if subsidies from other projects could be switched to Tecumseh or accept the 23 subsidies and 30 unsubsidized units for a total construction of 50 to 55 units.

The later option will still be available to the Orchard Housing Corporation after two or three months.

State Award to Mary Bowers

Mary Bowers of Tecumseh received one of 10 volunteer leadership awards from the Greater Michigan Foundation, a statewide sponsor of Michigan Week, in recognition for her "initiative and leadership."

Roger Proctor, Tecumseh's Michigan Week coordinator, received the award on Mrs. Bowers' behalf at the state Michigan week banquet May 21 in Marshall. He will present it to her formally at Tecumseh's Michigan Week Banquet May 24 at the Tecumseh Country Club.

Mrs. Bowers, a vice-president at United Savings Bank, is well known in the city as a member of Tecumseh City Council, now serving a third term.

As a worker for 10 years with the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation, Mrs. Bowers has twice served as co-chairman and chairman.

She was vice-president of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce three years and a board member for five years. A member of the Herrick Hospital Auxiliary, she has worked on correspondence.

She has spent her time and energy working to help senior citizens and invalids without families on their errands and banking.

She has acted as treasurer of Promenade the Past for the Tecumseh Area Historical Society since 1976 and treasurer of St. Elizabeth Altar Society for seven years.

She is vice-president and board member of the Allen H. Meyers Foundation and also serves on the interview committee for grants and scholarships. She has been a Red Cross blood donor since 1966.

As runner-up in the race for state representative, 40th district, Mrs. Bowers visited over 20 communities discussing their needs and concerns. She has also served on the Tecumseh Town Meeting committee.

Board, Contractor, Architect Rework Metric Track Bid

The architects, general contractor and the Tecumseh School Board have reworked the original low bid for the high school's new 400-meter, all-weather track.

The original bid was $195,900 from Capital Excavating and Paving of Mason. Capital has worked with architects Gabriel, Mills and Young of Lansing to reduce that bid by $32,000.

The approximate bid the school board is now looking at, after changes in specifications, is $163,884. That bid could still be reduced.

The new all-weather track will be metric and will include a new drainage system and complete renovation and sodding of the football field.

Bids were taken in March for the project and then turned over to the building and grounds and finance committees to be reworked. Track work is now scheduled to begin immediately following the end of this school year and is to be completed by Sept. 1.

Funding for the track will come from a $75,000 gift. Difference in the cost will be made up from the building and site, and general and maintenance repair funds.

Declare Dividend

A cash dividend of 45 cents per share has been declared by the directors of the United Savings Bank, Kenneth C. McElroy, board chairman, announces.

The dividend, payable June 15 to shareholders of record as of June 1, will amount to $90,000, based on 200,000 shares outstanding. It was declared at the board's regular monthly May meeting.

Bank chairman also reports that net income for the first quarter of 1979 was $232,675, a 14 percent increase over the first quarter of 1978.

'Hit, Run' Victim Returns to School

Kirk Carswell, 14-year-old junior high student who was injured last week, returned to classes Tuesday.

He was on a bike enroute to classes last Thursday morning when he was struck by a brown van, a late model, perhaps 1978 or 1979, on N. Evans at the River Raisin bridge.

Driver of the van did not report the accident and left the scene.

The youth suffered a concussion.

Receive Bid for Ottawa-Logan Lot

Contingent to buildings plans that conform to bid requirements, Tecumseh Council received the bid of Sunderland Insurance Agency for the lot at Ottawa and E. Logan Streets, commonly known as the Kennedy property.

Sunderland's agency was the only bid received by the city at public bid opening last week. Amount of bid was $23,050.

However Council required that building on property be 20 percent of total area. Donald Sunderland indicated to Council Monday night that his proposed building could be less than 2,000 sq. ft. Council is awaiting more information.

Brion Is Top State Qualifier

Stan Brion, Tecumseh Country Club pro, will lead a contingent of Michigan golfers attempting to qualify for the U.S. Open, scheduled next month at the Inverness Club in Toledo.

Brion was top qualifier Monday at Meadowbrook Country Club, Farmington, when he shot a two under round of 70-72 for 142, only sub-par round recorded. It took a round of 152 to advance to Cleveland where the regional and final qualifying rounds will be played.

If he qualifies at Cleveland's Sharon Golf Club, Brion - and many Tecumseh fans - will be in Toledo on June 14th for the first round of the Open.

Honor Mrs. Hayden with Governor Award

MRS. PERRY HAYDEN

Mrs. Perry Hayden, 512 W. Logan St., was honored with one of 25 Governor Awards for Michigan Minuteman from Gov. William G. Milliken. These awards are personally presented by the governor to state residents who take a minute to talk up Michigan.

Past recipients were Duncan Oliphant, 1977 and Perry Saterthwaite, 1975.

Mrs. Hayden, 78, is a lifetime resident of Tecumseh. She was president of Hayden Flour Mills from 1954-1977. The company was named after her husband's grandfather and led by the Hayden family for 119 of its 141 years in business.

Mrs. Hayden was a grandniece of Wollston Comfort, owner of the old Quaker Mill in Raisin. She is a birthright member, 1901, of the Friends Church.

A mother of six children, her honors and titles include Mother of the Year of the State of Michigan.

She has traveled extensively and has shown great interest in the Tecumseh Area Historical Society, having served as a consultant. She is active in the Tecumseh Monday Club, Wit and Wisdom Club and Tecumseh Music Club.

Four other recipients of the Minuteman Award at the local level are James R. Barton, Lynn Cook, James Robideau and Marten Vegter.

Mr. Barton is a lifelong Michigan resident, recently retired from an oil business he ran for 30 years. He has been a part of the Tecumseh community for almost 40 years. At 61, he is an active outdoorsman, fond of Michigan, "the ideal state."

Mrs. Cook has served the city as planning commissioner in recent years, in historic preservation, beautification of the historic district and maintenance of the Adams Park, next to city hall. She has provided information and personal support to worthwhile projects and has served as a catalyst for community projects that have benefited Tecumseh and susequently the State of Michigan.

Mr. Robideau is president of Tecumseh Corrugated Box Company. He and his associates have enjoyed unusual success. He came to Tecumseh in 1963. The company now has five divisions and empoys 300.

He is a director of the United Savings Bank and has been a strong supporter of community projects with his wife, Gladys.

Mr. Vegter, accountant, is active in Kiwanis in Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation, board member of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce and Camp Fire Girls Tuckabatchee Council.

Church Asks City Officials To Restrict Sunday Work

The Tecumeh Friends Church Board has asked Tecumseh City Council for stricter rules—in particular no Sunday work—at garden plots on city owned property near the church.

City will consult with the church further.

Last month, the city agreed to offer 13 acres of vacant city land for gardens for own use of Tecumseh city families.

After Council made the offer at a public meeting, the church pastor was contacted as to the hours of Sunday and Wednesday services. The city set guidelines for gardeners to refrain from work during regular chuch services and respect church and city property, said Assistant City Manage: Paul Preston. There was only one reported violation, Preston said.

The church board, in a letter to council last week, responded "it (is) hard to understand why the church was not consulted before the offer was made public."

Specifically it asked for "no Sunday work" and more broadly, "that the city notify gardeners of special activities at the church of such nature and size that it would preclude their working in their gardens during those times."

Gardeners use an easement property for access to the gardens. City was granted the easement solely to work on a city well. In exchange the church was granted "sewer and water at no expense to the church and they pay city resident rates despite they are not in the city," said City Manger Cal Zorn.

"I would agree with the rest of their rules," commented Council member Jay Tressler, "but if it rains on Saturday, I would like to see people be able to get in on Sunday to work on their gardens if they desired."

Twenty families have signed on for a city garden plot.

Early News, Ads

Due to Memorial Day May 28, a legal holiday, the Herald office will be closed. Early news items and advertising copy will be necessary.

1,800 Attend 4th Promenade

Promenade the Past drew 1,800 visitors to the fourth annual home tour this past weekend.

While attendance was down from 2,500 the last two years, coordinators were nevertheless pleased with attendance in view of spot gas shortages, higher gasoline prices and the fact that at least three other Michigan cities had a home tour scheduled the same weekend.

In Tecumseh itself there was more than just the home tour going on.

The Antique and Old Crafts Show was a success for the dealers. About 30 craftsmen and antique dealers participated in this new addition to the two-day Promenade.

The International Dinner sponsored by the Band Boosters hosted 500 Sunday. The committee has plans to make this an annual fund raising event.

Charter Action Postponed Again

Tecumseh City Council postponed for yet another time the resolution declaring a charter revision.

Mary Bowers, strong proponent for election of mayor by popular vote, was absent from the meeting.

Lawrence Wollenhaupt present in the audience questioned whether a strong mayor-city manager government would be compatible. He asked why is it necessary to change from the present system whereby the mayor is elected by council members each year after an election.

Council said the public is invited to the next meeting to discuss the charter revision.

Tecumseh Invited

Tecumseh, Ontario has invited the city of Tecumseh, Mich. to its annual Corn Festival Aug. 24, 25 and 26.

Festival includes a large parade and carnival for the entire family. Last year Tecumsehites visited their Canadian namesake city for the festival, marking the first time in five years for the exchange of visits that started back in 1949.

Family out of town?

A good reason to pre-plan

We have, on occasion, suggested some of the most important reasons for pre-planning a funeral:

1. To alleviate the burden Which falls on your family.
2. To insure that your wishes will be followed exactly.
3. To avoid the risk of wasteful, unnecessary over-spending.

But there is another, very important reason for pre-planning a funeral -- one which affects a great many persons.

Not everyone has "family" in town. We are a nation of travellers. And, although long-distance, out-of-town funeral arrangements are not uncommon, they tend to be more costly.

If you do not have "kin" close by, it may be a good idea to consider a pre-planned or pre-paid funeral now.

Many states have strict laws concerning pre-paid funeral services and burial expenses. We know what all is involved and can handle the details for you. We'd be glad to discuss them with you.

Local School Board News

The Tecumseh School Board took action on a number of action proposals before it at Monday night's meeting.

After Al Beatty of Milwaukee Rd., a candidate for the local school board election, and Jack Beach, a candidate for the Lenawee Intermediate School Board introduced themselves, the board approved the high school code of conduct.

Jim Records was chosen by the board to represent the local schools to attend the Intermediate School Board Election Monday, June 4.

The Board also took into consideration the use of relocatable classrooms so a learning disabilities room can be started. At least one new classroom will be needed and needs based on enrollment indicate the need for probably two rooms.

Superintendent Robert Duhan is investigating the possibility of renting space from a local church and comparing costs to those of a relocatable classroom.

The Board also received the University of Michigan Study of the local schools Monday night. The study was taken last fall and will receive further study from the local board.

Membership dues for the Michigan Association of School Boards was also approved Monday for the 1979-80 school year. The approval is a continuation of past membership.

JOHN MOODY

Peddle Pushers Keep John Busy

By Kathy Brown

RIDGEWAY — John's Bicycle Repair Shop, 7302 N. Ridge Rd. is a business whose time has come in the midst of raging gasolien prices and the physical fitness phenomena.

Two years ago, John Moody was idled by a Ford Motor Company lay off in Saline. While scanning the classifieds, he hit upon the idea of repairing used bicycles.

He scraped up $100, purchased 11 bikes, recycled the parts into 10 usable bikes and doubled his investment by selling them repaired.

Today, John's business has expanded with the assistance of his wife, Linda and daughter, Jessica, who are becoming a sales and service team par excellence. "Jessie's the reception committee," her mother said about the bubbly blonde seven-year-old.

Located on heavily traveled Ridge Rd. at the Ridgeway village limits north of M-50, John's business has become known as the bicycle hospital of the area, having attracted business by word of mouth from satisfied customers in the Tecumseh, Clinton, Milan and Deerfield areas.

"It's a messy job. You need the right tools and not everyone is acquainted with fixing 10-speed bicycles. Our generation never had them. Things like derailleurs and sprockets are new to people," explained Linda.

She does minor replairs and gives estimates for her husband's customers.

Even as a boy, John acquired a reputation as "the fastest bike assembler in town." He explained: "One day I took my bike apart. My father looked at me and said, 'I'm gonna tell you boy. You take it apart, you put it back together.'"

John did and today his mechancial curiosity has paid with a lucrative small business for his spare time. Sometimes it is quite challenging. Every once in a while he receives what the family jokingly refers to as a "basket case", delivered in pieces in a car trunk.

His shop is located in a small barn behind the house. Attired in a grease-stained denim apron, John works hours at a time on a spring night when business booms.

His success and the picture of the shop beside the spreading lawn trees and babbling brook are reminiscent of the village blacksmith who once had only to hang out his shingle to establish his business in town.

One of John's specialities is repairing rubber tires on tricycles which most people discard, tricycle and all.

In 1975, John said, more bicycles were sold than cars. With the energy crisis, bicycles are becoming a more popular mode of transportation, not only with students but also with laborers and professionals as evidenced by the jammed bike rack at Tecumseh Products Company.

Dr. Carlton Cook and Herrick Hospital Administrator William Groover are "peddle pushers"getting around town on bicycles.

Families also find bicycle riding good exercise. Mothers strap their youngsters to kiddie seats to share the fun.

When the Tecumseh area switches from motor power to muscle, power, John Moody will be ready for 'em.

Some 3,200 Vietnamese have settled in Michigan under the auspices of several voluntary agencies, he stated.

Milliken said sponsorship is not a legal commitment but a moral commitment. Essentially the sponsor arranges initial food, pocket money, housing, assists with medical care, employment, schooling for children and necessary clothing, he explained.

Milliken urged service organizations, labor unions, etc., any group or individual interested to contact him at the State Capitol in Lansing.

"The issue here is a question of saving lives. As long as we keep the pipeline open, lives will continue to be saved in this human tragedy which this country did a great deal to cause," Milliken said.

"By accepting them into our country," he continued, "we can help ourselves to rediscover the underlying principles on which this nation was founded.

GEORGE UNDERWOOD

Ford-Lincoln-Mercury

John Mamayek - Vice-President

In this day and age when every car maker offers such a wide selection of models to choose from, it is really difficult for you to decide where to go for a new car. All the companies advertise that their cars are the best, but who is to say which car really is. Obviously all the cars on the market today must have their good points or they wouldn't have survived the ups and downs of the business.

We, therefore, can conclude that the real difference in buying a car is the dealer from which you make your purchase.

The ideal dealer to buy a car from offers a fair price on the new unit as well as an honest dollar for the car you trade in. However, the most important factor is the service that you receive on your new car year after year.

We would like to point out a dealer that considers the most important part of selling a car the quality service he can offer you after the sale. We are talking about George Underwood at the corner of Tecumseh and Macon Rd. in Clinton, phone 456-7414 dealers for the famous Ford-Lincoln and Mercury automobiles. See them today for a new or quality used car, and you'll see why we say "Customer Consideration" is their byword.

Thru My Window

BY MARDA GENE DUNCAN

"Butterflies of the bird world" is what Roger Tory Peterson calls warblers. They are small, brilliantly colored sometimes and certainly they do flit from here to there. When the annual springtime trek north reaches its peak, or creek bank trees are alive with these little birds. There were not as many as there were a few years ago but there were enough to drive Mom, Gertie T, and me out of our minds.

The trouble with warblers is that they are small, hyperkinetic and at times I would say they were dedicated to keeping bird watchers in a high state of confusion.

They love to hide behind leaves and just as one watcher points out a bird to another watcher, the little tyke moves.

This year we were luckier than usual—because the warblers arrived while the maple leaves were small and some of the other trees were not even in leaf. Still and all our warbler days were mass confusion.

To begin with, springtime warblers are usually bright yellow, brilliant orange, jet black, snowy white, and all shades in between. These are the males; often the females are dull little ladies who hardly receive a second look. That, of course, is the object.

A flash of firey orange on the throat and upper breast, a white tummy, black and white wings, yellow and white head. These were easy, they were Blackburnian warblers.

Some black-tummied warblers but with black throats and yellow cheeks could well have been black-throated blue warblers.

A black and white warbler was just that, a black-and-white. So too was the yellow colored warbler of a yellow warbler. At noon Mom and I watched as a small warbler worked his way towards us. Finally he was just outside the window and we thought we had a super view — white under-parts, black and white top and yellow crown.

Well, either we missed something or he did because none of the pictures in our books looked like what we thought we saw. A typical warbler frustration.

The redstarts left no doubt at all about who they were. Brilliant red tail patches and wing bars make them easy to identify.

The trees were also full of myrtle warblers and their bright yellow rump patch, white throat, black chest, and white tail corners make them a far cry from the dull winter myrtle.

However, the day was not exclusively warblers. While Gertie T and I were identifying a female rose-breasted grosbeak by her brown and white striped body and her large gross beak, Mom was in the back yard watching two males.

Their rosey red cravats perfectly compliment their formal black and white and make them stunningly handsome birds.

In the meantime our regular birds were performing too. Papa Cardinal was taking fat sunflower seeds and feeding them to his mate. The bluejays had called a mini-convention and four of them spent most of the afternoon taking quick dips in the shallow pools at the edge of the creek.

Robins were busily carrying mud to several nest sites. Of the grackles, starlings and cowbirds I would rather not think.

The climax of the super exciting bird day came when fortunately all three of the window watchers were in front of the west window. While I watched another bather perched on a limb across the creek, my two companion were enjoying their own bit of excitement on this side.

My bird was shaking his black and white wings, fanning his orange and black tail, and going through all sorts of contortions to groom his black head and orange body.

Of the other three birds one was like mine but the other two were much, much duller. We were watching orioles — two pairs. What a way to end the day!

Possemen Ride for Jim Miles

Six Tecumseh area members of the Lenawee County Sheriff's Posse will participate Saturday, June 9, in the Michigan Sheriff Posse Pony Express Ride to benefit a crippled man from Evart, Mich.

Each year members of that group select a worthy cause or individual, collect donations and ride in a pony express relay.

This year, the statewide group has elected to ride for a young family man, Jim Miles, a victim of Guillian Barre Syndrome. He has an excellent chance of regaining use of his muscles if he can get treatment in the next two years.

For a donation of any amount, a sheriff's posse member will give you a piece of Pony Express stationery and an envelope. Letters may be addressed to anyone and should be stamped. The possemen will carry them in leather bags. The Lenawee County Sheriff's Posse will ride from Tompkins through Eaton Rapids, about 17 miles.

At Hastings, the destination, the letters will be postmarked with a Pony Express emblem and delivered through regular mail service as a souvenir of the annual ride.

Pony Express stationery is available at Easton's Friendly Service and Keyboard World in the Bidwell Exchange. Deadline is June 7.

For more information, readers may call Tom Brown, 423-6040 or Harold Easton, 423-4000.

Twenty-eight counties will be represented in the ride. Some 800 state possemen are expected to ride, held annually since 1962.

Auxiliary Honored

The Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary received a special project award and three of its members were honored at the state Jaycee and Auxiliary convention May 11 and 12 in Lansing.

Barb Myers was voted outstanding president in district II.

Laurie Foust won outstanding state chairman. She will be a presidential assistant next year.

Marge Ball will be next year's state chaplain.

Barb Myers, retiring Tecumseh Jaycee Auxiliary president presented each member a miniature scrapbook for the year at the May Dinner Meeting.

Thank yous were given. The president received a special present. New president Marge Ball conducted the second half of the meeting.

Students: Write On

Department heads at Tecumseh High School are considering an interdisciplinary approach to teaching writing.

Briefly, the interdisciplinary approach means that English language skills and composition can be reinforced and exercised through writing assignments in any subject in addition to the usual English class assignments.

"The whole idea is to get the students to write more," said Principal Clarence Lacny.

The interdisciplinary approach was presented to 15 department leaders in a two-hour session May 16, Lacny told.

Frances Zorn from the University of Michigan Department of English explained the University's concern that the writing ability of college students has declined.

The local teachers examined samples of college writing.

During the past year, the University has presented workshops to 80 high school staffs about the interdisciplinary approach.

Ms. Zorn emphasized that writing is a process, not a product. The more students become involved in writing exercises, the better they become.

Every student should be encouraged to write something, Ms. Zorn told the educators. Futhermore, it is not necessary for every assignment to be red-penciled. This can be demoralizing to the student, she explained.

A good writing assignment tells the student exactly what the teacher expects and is written with a particular audience in mind, Zorn said.

"These ideas have a place in our program," Lacny said. In some classes, writing assignments are made every six weeks, he added. Zorn indicated this was progressive.

Tecumseh High School department heads will confer with subject teachers and decide to what extent the interdepartment approach to writing may be further implemented.

Britton Softballers Post 10-2 Record

The Tory softball squad held an 8-5 edge after four frames Saturday but dropped their game in the end to Deerfield, 15-11.

Deerfield rallied for six runs in the fifth to take the lead and Britton could just never quite catch up.

Janene Schultz collected all three Tory hits, including a two-run home run in the second inning. Jodi Smith got the pitching loss with seven walks and four strikeouts.

Earlier in the week, the Tories cruised by Madison with a 10-5 victory Thursday.

The Tories scored nine times in the sixth inning for the victory. Patty Armstrong, Dawn Haas and Lee Price each had two hits for the Tories.

A nine run rally in the eighth inning put the Tories over the top in their second encounter of the week with the Deerfield Minutemen.

Janene Schultz led the Tory hitting attack with four base hits and Dawn Haas contributed three more to the 17-8 victory.

Lisa Campbell was credited with the win as she went the distance hurling three strikeouts and walking three.

The win leaves the Tories 10-2 in the league and 12-3 overall.

Dirk Carswell Finishes First

Dirk Carswell of 9800 Murphy Hwy., finished first May 19 in the Michigan Teenage Power Lift.

Dirk competed in the 14-15-year-old, 132 pound class in the competition for youth from 14 to 19 years of age. US Marine Corps sponsored the lift in Mt. Clemens.

The son of Louis and Evelyn Carswell lifted a total of 725 pounds with three lifts and is unofficially first in the nation. Dirk is a sophomore at THS.

Ternak Earns Letter Jacket from Adrian

Melinda Ternak, daughter of Mrs. Julia Ternak of 112 E. Logan, was awarded a letter jacket recently from Adrian College.

The junior business major received the honor by accumulating three letters in one sport or by having five letters in a combination of sports.

Ternak lettered this spring in tennis and Lori Monagin of Britton joined in the honors after lettering in softball.

SAFELY BACK — Terry Carlton nose dives back to first base against Britton in their non-league match a week ago. Britton clubbed the Redskins in that Friday game 12-2.

Saline Downs Clinton Twice

Saline downed Clinton twice Saturday in baseball action. Final scores left the Redskins short, 7-4 and 7-6.

In the first game, Saline scored five times in the second inning. Clinton came back when Dale Porterfield doubled home two runs in the seventh but the Redskins never caught up.

Porterfield pitched, allowing six hits and four walks. He fanned one batter. Clinton had five hits that first game.

In the second contest, Clinton held a 5-2 advantage after four innings, but Saline tied the score up at 5-5 in the sixth. Then Saline added a two-run homer and CHS ended up one run short for the loss.

Each team had two hits with Terry Carlton and Tom Marcum proving to be the big bats for the Redskins with three hits each.

Dave Porter was the losing pitcher with one strike out and one walk.

Earlier in the week, Onsted outlasted Clinton in a 13-12 loss for the Redskins on Wednesday.

Before that scheduled game, the remainder of a suspended game was made up and Onsted again came out on top with a lopsided 10-1 victory.

In the second game, coach VanGasse's Redskins were anything but happy as the group allowed nine unearned runs out of Onsted's first 10 runs.

Clinton did have a number of bright spots with Andy Hoag's centerfield play and two hits. Dave Porter slammed a three-run homerun and finished overall with two hits for four RBI's. Barry Yocum added three hits and Lee Russ two.

Porter suffered the loss after relieving Russ in the sixth inning.

THS Drops 3 Games

Tecumseh's baseball squad dropped three games this week. That lowers their record to 4-8 in the league and 7-13 overall.

Wednesday Flat Rock literally blasted the Indians out of existence with a 17-3 win. Flat Rock had 12 hits and three errors.

The THS squad could manage just three hits and had five errors. Brian Banda still proved there was a bright spot in the day when he got two hits, two RBI's and scored once.

Marty Wallich was the losing pitcher.

Friday the team hosted Monroe CC and lost 8-3. The Indians out hit CC 8-5 but just couldn't get the runs to score.

The Indians scored once in the third on a base hit, passed ball and RBI hit from Scott Klein. They scored twice in the seventh on a walk, base hit, walk and RBI hit from Banda.

Scott Schafer was the losing pitcher.

Tuesday the Indians played their best game of the year, and as is customary with this team, they played their best against the toughest pitcher.

Tecumseh scored one run on two hits and had three errors. CC had three runs on five hits and committed one error.

The THS squad got both hits and their run in the fifth inning after Schafer led off with a single. He moved to second on a sacrafice and Banda doubled him in for the score.

Derek Nahabedian was the losing pitcher for the Indians.

D.J. Is Regional Pole Vault Champ

The Tecumseh boys' track team finished sixth Saturday at Milan at the Regionals and the girls finished ninth.

Four individuals will travel to the state meet June 2 for the boys and one individual and one relay will make the same trip for the girls.

D.J. Biscupski was the only regional champion for the Indians when he went 13'9" in the pole vault.

Jesse Castorena finished second in the two mile with a 10:02.7 time. Castorena and Biscupski will be joined in the state meet by Skip Johnston and Tim Todd.

Johnston finished third in the high hurdles at :15.3 and Todd will compete in the 880 after a third place, 2:05.2 clocking in the regionals.

Martha Hans was the lone individual qualifier for the girls' squad. She finished third in the 110 low hurdles with a time of :15.6. She also qualified in the 100 dash with a fourth place effort at :11.6.

The Indian girls' 440 relay team will also make the trip June 2 after they were timed at :52.2 for a third place finish. Members of that relay include Kris McDonald, Linda Sprague, Hans and Cindy Anscheutz.

Not qualifying, but getting points for both teams were Nick Osborne in the mile, Tom Kansas in the discus, Grant Gorton in the pole vault, girls 880 relay team, McDonald in the 220 hurdles and Janice Bishop in the long jump.

Knocked Out in Semifinals

Clinton's softball squad was eliminated from the Blissfield tournament Saturday when Dundee outscored the Redskins in semifinal action 22-15.

In the championship match, Ida got the best of Dundee, 15-1. In the consolation match, Onsted overtook Clinton with a 7-2 win.

In that consolation final game, the Wildcats outhit the Skins 12-3. Sue Richter suffered the loss for Clinton.

Last Wednesday Clinton again saw two high scoring games when they split a LCAA doubleheader with Onsted. They won the first 23-20 but lost the second 16-4 by the 10-run rule.

Richter was the winning pitcher for the first game. She added a double to her cause as did Dawn Stiendorf. Stiendorf also had a home run.

Barb Winder took the loss for the Clinton squad the second game while Richter led the team offensively with a single and triple.

The sixth inning proved to be the undoing of the Redskins in their game against Ypsi Lincoln Monday.

The Clinton girls were leading 9-1 as the inning approached and found themselves trailing by two when it was over.

The runs were made easier for Ypsi by the six errors committed by the Redskins for the inning and the other eight sprinkled throughout the game.

Sue Richter was the leading slugger for the Redskin cause hammering out three hits and a homerun and Barb Winder added four more hits.

Dawn Tinedurf was the pitcher for Clinton.

The loss puts the Redskins at 5-12 overall.

Class sizes are limited to between 10 and 16 students and each lasts for six weeks. All classes will be held at the tennis courts at the Community Center.

Registration must be made at the Community Center prior to the start of the class. Classes begin June 25.

The art class is a seven week session for children ages eight to 12. The classes are Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Community Center. Registration is at the Community Center for classes beginning June 20.

Beginning and beginning intermediate classes for summer gymnastics will include two, 45 minute sessions each week for ages six and up. Classes begin June 18. Pre-registration is required and class size will be limited.

A small charge is levied for all classes. For more information, contact the Recreation Department at 423-5602. No registrations by phone.

Youngsters Learn Wrestling Basics

Nearly 200 kids competed in Pat Connor's spring wrestling program for elementary students these past few weeks and they ended their season with a tournament last Monday.

The young wrestlers were divided up into age and weight groups, the youngest group being four years old.

Each participant received an award and champions were crowned in each group. Those winners included:

Bob Bagby, Charles Dyke, Jon Kuhman, Mark Mastie, Marc Jones, Hal Broderick, Brian Haggard, Rob Pinter, Kirk Carter, Brian Rhee, Tom Thee, Tom Clark, Carl Every, Jeff Curth and Roy Brosamer.

Pat Connor, Tecumseh's wrestling coach, was assisted by the high school wrestlers and thanks those involved for their generous help.

Mike McAran and Dave Haines, along with the ladies and high school girls who helped run the tournament, were also appreciated.

Girls Beat Flat Rock, St. Mary

The Tecumseh girls downed Flat Rock 3-0 in softball action Thursday.

Sandy Humphries went the entire seven innings for the Indians holding the Rams to two hits and three walks and striking out four batters.

Karen Bunch drove in the first run in the first inning, Betsy Neilson homered in the third for the second run, and Kathy Perry sacrificed Neilson home in the fifth for the final run.

The Indians pulled out a close one against Monroe St. Mary 3-2 again behind the pitching of Sandy Humphries Friday.

A triple in the first inning off of the bat of Becky Hamilton drove in the Indian's first two points and Humphries scored on a passed ball for the winning run.

Humphries allowed eight hits, walked three and fanned six.

The Indians now post a record of 8-4 in the league and 9-4 overall.

350 Join in Elementary Basketball Fun

With the help of Jim Curth and 31 volunteer coaches, 350 elementary students from the Tecumseh area enjoyed learning the fundamentals and playing basketball this past few weeks.

The kids split up into 32 teams and finished their season a week ago with four winning teams emerging from a tournament.

For the black girls group, the Tecumseh Acres team coached by Rose Lytle and Sue Ely won. In the orange league, the Herrick Park players of Sandy MacGeorge and Gloria Fosbender won.

For the boys, the black league winners were coached by Pat Lytle, Ron Smith and Gary Greene. They came from Herrick Park. The Tecumseh Acres squad won the orange league and they were coached by Carl Novak and Dave Duhan.

Other coaches of the elementary teams included: Larry Crittenden, Karda Sutherland, Mickey Hyatt, Sue Allan, Donna Sass, Sherry MacGeorge, Kathy Tuberville, Pat Mannino, Bob Pardee, Barb Poley, Annabell Bock, Paul Lynch, Jeff Ely, Mrs. Gordon, Jon Andre, Jon Ely, Tom Maves, Doug Owens, Wally Foster, Kerry Hamilton, Carol Cangley and Donna Bohannon also coached.

Traves, Cark Are Regional Champions

The Redskins finished up with 54 points and third place overall at their class C regional Saturday at Blissfield. The girls finished with 22 points.

For the boys, Bath finished on top with 71 points and Blissfield captured the girls regional title with 57 points.

BOYS — The boys set four new school records Saturday and tied a fourth one on their way to third place.

Matt Peters set a school record in the two mile at 9:54.9. He finished second as did the 880 relay team of Wes Fuller, Mike Karapas, Lance Traves and Casey Thilo in 1:33.7.

Traves captured the only regional championship for the Redskins with a school record tieing :40.4 effort in the 330 low hurdles. Traves also took a third in the 120 high hurdles with a :15.2 time.

A second new school record came from the mile relay team of Fuller, Karapas, Traves and Thilo for a second place finish at 3:32.1. The record setting 440 relay team of Fuller, Karapas, Chris Douglas and Thilo was third with a :46 time.

Others getting points for the Redskin regional effort, but not advancing to the state finals at Michigan Center are: Karapas in the long jump, Peters in the mile, and Thilo in the 220.

GIRLS — Lisa Cark won the regional discus championship with a 122'5" throw. She was runner-up in the shot put with a toss of 37'10½".

Judy Zimmerman finished in fourth place in the mile with a 5:45.4 clocking.

Earlier in the week Clinton lost a non-league meet to Grass Lake, 75-48. Lisa Cark again broke her discus record in that Thursday meet, this time by more than nine feet with a 135'10" mark.

Firsts for the Redskins include:

Grass Lake 75, Clinton 48

SHOT PUT - Lisa Cark 28'8"; DISCUS - Lisa Cark 135'10½"; 110 HURDLES - Cindy Wall, 15"1"; :16.5; 100 DASH - Tracy Fuller, :12.4; 220 DASH — Tracy Fuller :28.5; TWO MILE - Judy Zimmerman, 13:46.0.

CHS Is 2nd Behind Onsted at LCAA Meet

Clinton thinclads lost a real heartbreaker to Onsted in the LCAA meet Tuesday. CHS finished second with 104 points, just seven points away from that magical first place finish of Onsted's. Seven LCAA teams competed.

The Redskins took six first places. Traves finished in first in both hurdles. His 15.3 time in the 100 meter highs and 40.3 in the 300 meter lows was tops for those league events.

Matt Peters set a new league meet record in the 3200 meter run with a 9:41 time. That's about a 9:44, two mile.

All three of the relays also went to Clinton. The mile relay team won with a 3:32.6 time, the 440 meter relay team was clocked at :45.4 and the 880 meter team turned in a time of 1:34.3.

Mile relay consists of Traves, Mike Karapas, Wes Fuller and Brad Mars. Karapas, Fuller, Casey Thilo and Chris Douglas are in the 400 meter team and Traves, Thilo, Karapas and Fuller combined for the winning 800 team.

Peters also took a second for the team in the mile with a 4:35 time. Third places came from Mike Krause in the discus, Nighswander in the 800 meter and Thilo, in the 200 meter.

Plan Fun Run for Elementary

A special fun run for elementary school children is planned for this Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at the Tecumseh High School.

Adults are welcome to watch the three-and-a-half mile run. Other activities include punt, pass and kick as well as tennis.

Organize Youth Basketball Camp

Jim Curth and Tom Rudolph are organizing a summer basketball camp for Tecumseh area youth.

Anyone interested in joining in the fun should contact Curth at 423-7351 or Rudolph at 423-2532.

Shutout Monroe

The JV baseball squad raised their record to 9-4, 7-4 in the league Friday with a 9-0 shutout over Monroe CC.

Marty Wallich did a superb pitching job, allowing no runs, just two hits and two walks. He faced 25 batters.

The young Indians, on the other hand, smashed out six hits for nine runs. Don Ringmaa and Derek Nahabedian each doubled.

Memoriam

In loving memory of Robert F. Stoulter who passed away May 20, 1976. Remembrance is a golden chain, Death tries to break but all in vain. To have, to love, and then to part, Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart. The years may wipe out many things, But this they wipe out never — The memory of those happy days, When we were all together, Loved always and missed by his wife, daughters, sons-in-law, and grandchildren.

READY, SET, GO — Michigan State University student Steve Graf of Tecumseh poses with one of the all-terrain vehicles he and several other mechanical engineering majors have designed.

Designs All-Terrain Vehicles

Nuts and bolts don't mean much to most people, but for Steven O. Graf of Tecumseh and 20 other mechanical engineering majors at Michigan State University, one loose screw could forfeit first prize.

The students, all members of the MSU chapter of the Society of Automotive Engineers, are constructing two all-terrain vehicles for a Midwestern SAE car contest.

Cars from 19 regional SAE student chapters will be tested extensively at the Milwaukee Mini Baja over the Memorial Day weekend.

"A" and "B" cars were completely designed from differential to kill switch by the students in an advanced mechanical engineering class this winter.

Although each student has successfully completed the mechanical engineering class, they still spend many hours a week in the engineering shop on campus building the cars they designed.

All entries in the competition are provided with a common Briggs and Stratton motor but must meet detailed SAE specifications to qualify for prizes.

The vehicles must be capable of operation over rough terrain, rocks, sand, mud and up to eight inches of water; climbing a 30-degree incline; traveling a maximum of 30 mph and accomodating an adult six feet two inches tall.

Cars must also be equipped with many safety features including roll cage, kill switch, fire extinguishers, driver restraints and helmet.

SAE also requires that participating chapters spend no more than $750 for each contest entry.

Top prize for overall mechanical design is determined on tests judging serviceability, reliability, structural integrity, driver comfort and imaginative design.

Graf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Graf, 2254 Coachlite, helped design the body frames of the MSU Mini Baja cars.

The 1974 Tecumseh graduate will receive his bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from MSU in June.

He plans to work as a design-development engineer for Ford Motor Co.

MSU's entry to last year's contest finished high in the final standing but SAE club members expect a top ranking this year.

Checker Station Loss Reported over $7,100

A break-in Friday at the Checker gas station on W. Chicago Blvd. resulted in a loss of over $7,100 from a floor safe.

Local police discovered the B&E about 5 a.m. Friday while on patrol.

Entrance was gained by cutting a hole through a rear wall. A cutting or chisel-type piece of equipment was then used to chip away cement around the station's rear floor safe. It was removed.

An attempt to remove another floor safe failed. An air hammer may have been used in the larceny.

Also Friday, an attempted B&E of nearby Fox Photo failed. A metal panel was pried off the building but entry was foiled.

Other complaints handled by Tecumseh police the past week were:

May 25 - Susan Hope, 303 E. Logan, reported an attempt to break into her locked automobile.

May 25 - David Von Ekman, 25, Adrian, was cited for drunk driving. He was observed crossing W. Chicago Blvd. at Pearl St. without headlights on.

'Keyboard World' Opens in Bidwell

by Kathy Brown

Pat Feight of Tecumseh would tell the truth if she were summoned to testify for a congressional committee: Organ playing can be habit forming.

About 1965, Pat was visiting friends and became fascinated with how easy it was to play their home organ. Before she knew it, her husband, Bill whisked her off to a local mall near their Lansing home and that night they owned an organ.

Within a year, Pat had graduated to a second and then a third organ. Before she knew it, she was sharing a music store with a friend in Adrian and today, after 15 years she has established her clientele in the piano and organ business throughout southeastern Michigan.

She is owner of Pat Feight's Keyboard World that just recently opened in the Bidwell Exchange and has owned Pat Feight's Yamaha Keyboard World in Wayne for two years.

Finally after three children, six grandchildren and several thousand miles of criss-crossing the state between Lansing, Adrian and Detroit, Pat has opened her first Tecumseh store.

Her husband Bill, previous owner of Baldwin Hardware between 1973-77, has played no small role in coaxing his wife to open a store in his hometown.

Pat is the first one to credit him with encouraging in her demanding fast-paced career. "He's wonderful. Whenever I had doubts he'd always tell me, 'Who's more qualified than you.' And you know, if you've got talent, it always comes to the top," she stated confidently with a wide smile.

"People never believed we were married," Mrs. Feight said jokingly, because her hectic career has kept her on the road. It's obvious a sense of humor and determination have helped make the Feights successful.

"We do whatever it takes to get the job done," said Mrs. Feight. That has become a motto for her business and personal life.

Marjorie Foote, Pat's associate for six years, will be Tecumseh store manager.

Marjorie is originally from Canton Township in western Wayne County, four miles south of Plymouth. Now a charter township of 40,000 people with rows of barracks-like tract homes, Canton is fighting to keep some semblance of controlled growth. But Marjorie remembers it the way it used to be, a pleasant farm community similar to the Tecumseh area. She is pleased and excited to be living in Tecumseh.

The store will feature piano and organ sales and rentals. A family instruction plan is available and music lessons for other instruments will be offered if need grows, said Mrs. Feight.

The Wayne store carries the Yamaha line and is a showcase for several grand pianos.

A historical footnote: The Bill Feights live on Russell Rd. on his grandfather's farm nearby Bill's two brothers. Russell Rd. received its name from their mother's side of the family, which operated a celery farm there years ago.

Chamber Brochure Available Soon

Sponsors of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce civic brochure will be mailed two copies beginning later this week.

Additional copies will be available at the Chamber of Commerce office for $2 each. Proceeds will go for updating and printing the next brochure when it becomes necessary.

It Was a 6½-Hour Nightmare for the Harvey Carpenters

by Kathy Brown

Thursday night was the last time Harvey and Doris Carpenter of Tecumseh talked with their daughter, Vicki, 25, about her Memorial Day holiday trip to Los Angeles, Calif.

A special education teacher in Coldwater, Vicki was scheduled to fly from Battle Creek to Chicago O'Hare International Airport Friday night where she would continue on American Airlines to Los Angeles.

Her mother, Doris, and sister, Sandra, were scheduled to meet Vicki in Palm Springs, Calif., before the pair continued on a two-week vacation in Tahiti.

Then the news broke that American Airlines DC-10 Flight 191 bound for Los Angeles had crashed in Chicago. It was the worst crash in American aviation history.

The Carpenters first heard the news of the crash from Vicki's friends who telephoned from Coldwater.

Was Vicki on that flight?

"I was sure that she was," said her father, Harvey. "We called her friends in Los Angeles and asked them to call us if they learned anything more. We didn't call American Airlines, because we figured there was too much turmoil."

The Carpenters waited out the nightmare for 6½ hours. Finally at 11:50 p.m. Friday, Vicki herself called her parents from Los Angeles. She had arrived safely on Flight 181. Her flight was just taking off from O'Hare after the crash. She saw the smoke in the air. The crew aboard her 747 American Airlines flight told her about the tragedy. In Los Angeles, media cameras and news people waited for her flight. She was one of the passengers interviewed.

"I can hardly talk about it yet without crying," said Harvey Carpenter. "She's still my little girl. I sure know the sadness those people must be feeling. It was a rough night. We were so lucky, and it is so sad for the others."

Vicki returned home Monday. Doris and Sandra continued on their vacation. "I'm a very happy father," said Mr. Carpenter.

Four Injured in Accidents

Although Tecumseh police investigated only five traffic accidents here the past week, two drivers and two passengers suffered injuries.

Tuesday in a three-vehicle mishap at E. Chicago Blvd. and Maumee, two children of a Mason driver were taken to Herrick Hospital for treatment.

Samantha Coe, 10, and her sister, Patricia, 8, were riding with their father, Robert L. Coe, 39, Mason, when their car struck a vehicle driven by John S. Paxton, 19, of 4931 Comfort Rd., who was attempting a left turn on W. Chicago Blvd.

Samantha suffered an injured back and Patricia, a lacerated tongue and possible broken arm.

In the collision, Paxton's vehicle was knocked into another operated by Pennie Mayes, 24, Clinton.

Paxton was cited for failure to yield the right of way.

Other personal injury accidents here involved drivers who lost control of their cars.

Sunday, Lonnie G. Garrison, 21, Adrian, was northbound on Occidental Rd., crossed Russell Rd., and then lost control before ramming a pole. He was taken to Herrick Hospital for treatment and was charged with violation of the basic speed law.

On May 24, David E. Couture, 28, Sturgis, was northbound on N. Ottawa and slid into a guard rail. Slightly injured and treated at the hospital, he was cited for failure to exercise due care.

Other accidents were:

May 26 - Kevin D. Morgan, 16, of 807 Adrian St., was charged with failure to control his vehicle after running into a parked car, owned by Dennis Brown, Adrian, on N. Van Buren St.

May 26 - Robin A. Coker, 19, 5160 Milwaukee Rd., was changing lanes on N. Evans St. when he struck Conrad A. Bartram, 48, Clinton. Coker was charged with failure to yield.

May 26 - Rodney A. Vansickle, 23, of 904 Murray Dr., was cited for failure to report an accident after he struck a parked car owned by Mary Klanke, 210 W. Shawnee St.

Millage Renewal, Not Increase

In addition to electing two board members in the June 11 election, voters of the Tecumseh School District will be asked to renew millage to operate Tecumseh Public Library for the next three years.

Deborah Harris, library director for the past six years, emphasized that this is a renewal, not an increase in the operating millage for the library, although the proposal itself in typical legal talk, states the question as an increase because the millage expires.

Rate is 0.7 mill on property taxes in the school district which operates the library located in the heart of Tecumseh on N. Ottawa at W. Shawnee St.

Here is the wording of the millage proposal as it will appear on the ballot June 11.

"Shall the limitation on the amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Tecumseh Public Schools, Lenawee County, Michigan, be increased by 0.7 mill (.70 cents on each $1,000) on state equalized valuation for a period of 3 years, 1979, 1980 and 1981, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operation of the public library (this being a renewal of 0.7 mill for operation of the public library which expired with the 1978 tax levy)?"

Resumes for School Board

CLINTON — Resumes have been submitted by the four candidates for one position, four year term, on the Clinton Board of Education.

Information about their background, education and reasons for seeking the position are given by the candidates in alphabetical order.

GLENN R. CLARK

Glenn R. Clark resides at 109 Gibson St. with his wife, Martha and four children, Joy, Barry, Carol and Blake.

Glenn has a BBA degree from Cleary College and is presently employed at the Ford Motor Sheldon Road Plant in Plymouth as a Senior Scheduler in the manufacturing planning and control dept.

The Clarks have lived in the Clinton community for 15 years and formerly owned Meadowlane Golf Course.

Glenn has always been involved in community affairs. He was elected to the board of education for a four-year term from July 1973 to June 1977 and served as its president during the 1975-76 year. He is a member and former officer of the Clinton Rotary Club.

He is a charter member of the Redskin Fan Club and of the CCADP and was president of the organization when bingo games were initiated as a fund raiser to complete the high school athletic complex.

The Clark family are members of the First Baptist Church, Tecumseh.

Glenn feels that he would be the best candidate for the opening on the school board because of the four years experience that he already has in that area.

He said he enjoyed the first four-year term that he served but did not feel that he could do justice to a second term at that time because he was in the midst of selling the golf course and beginning a new position at Ford Motor.

That is all behind him and he is again ready to serve the community.

When asked about the issues facing the Clinton District, Glenn stated that keeping up with the inflationary trends is about the biggest issue facing the board. He knows from past experience that the members of the school board are taxpayers just like the rest of us and will not ask the electorate for any more monies than is basically needed to efficiently run our school system.

He has no particular ax to grind, he says.

SHIRLEY S. FRALEY

Shirley S. Fraley, 36, resides at 13051 Bartlett Rd., with husband, Bernam G. Fraley, and sons, Glenn, 8 and Gregory, 11.

Glenn attends Clinton Elementary School; Gregory attends Clinton Middle School, and the family has a Youth For Understanding Exchange Student, from the Netherlands, Annemiehe Hofstede, who attends Clinton High School.

Shirley was born in Detroit and has a bachelor of science degree in chemistry from University of Michigan and has taken additional work at Eastern Michigan University and has earned a teaching certificate.

She is a member of the Clinton PTO, Historical Society of Clinton, Clinton United Church of Christ, where she is a church school teacher; and Clinton Cub Scout Pack 606.

Mrs. Fraley said, "I am seeking a position on the Clinton School Board because I care about Clinton Schools.

"I want the best education available for my children and all the children of this district. One hard fact must be faced. It takes money to provide that education.

"Clinton has a fine staff of dedicated teachers. We have adequate facilities. We are developing a strong program. The current school board has worked hard to use all its resources wisely.

"As a member of the school board, I would seek to provide the best education for our education dollars."

DONALD A. FORD

Donald A. Ford resides at 4501 Allen Rd., south of Clinton, with his wife, Pamela, and three children, Brian 12, Brenda 10, and Betsy 7.

Brian attends Clinton Middle School and Brenda and Betsy are in Clinton Elementary School.

Donald was born in Brown City, Mich., and is the owner of Tecumseh Equipment Co.

He received a bachelor of science degree from Michigan State Univeristy in agricultural mechanization.

He is a member of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church.

WARREN STARKS

Warren Starks, 39, resides at 704 Joseph Kies St., with wife, Linda, and children Robbie, 9 and Kellie, 5.

He was born in Pittsburg, Kans., and moved to Clinton in 1953.

He is employed at Ford Motor Co.

He has held offices in the Clinton Area Jaycees, and is now serving his second term as trustee for the Clinton Little League.

Starks said, "I'm running for the Clinton Board of Education because I feel it is vitally important to become involved in the most formative facet of our children's lives.

"I would like to see more parental involvement with the educational system, not just in the classroom setting, but with the entire functioning of the system. School board meetings are open to the public but usually poorly attended.

"The main issue facing voters June 11, is the request for an additional 1.6 mills along with the renewal of five mills. Whether or not the millage is approved, I will do my utmost to insure that the students of the Clinton School system receive the highest quality education possible.

"The board of education is required by law to operate the school system with a balanced budget June 30 and dedicated to provide the opportunity for a quality education for all students in the community. I will strive to help insure these are always fulfilled to the utmost."

Explain Hospital Alcohol Program

CLINTON — Peggy McCaffrey of Bixby Hospital explained the alcohol program of the hospital for members of St. Dominic's Alter Society at a recent meeting.

Janice Cowhy was named to have charge of Fall Festival car tickets. For tickets call 456-4645.

"Bridal Gowns Down through the Centuries" will be the theme of a program to be held on the lawn at the Smith-Kimball Community Center, Sunday, June 10 at 2 p.m. More than 20 gowns of local brides will be modeled. Vickie Poland is in charge of the program.

To the Editor

To the Editor:
TO THE 1979 GRADUATES OF TECUMSEH HIGH SCHOOL:

Graduation should be a happy occasion with a sense of accomplishment and success in fulfillment of work completed over the past four years.

Many will want to give advice to the graduates concerning the future.

However, may I ask you to give some concern to the past, since it might be forgotten in the great anticipation of commencement and the ceremonies which are to take place.

You have all attained success in varying degrees—some in scholarship, some in sports, some in community service and some in just putting together the basic graduation requirements.

Whatever success you have come by, you have not done it all by yourself.

You own a debt of gratitude to your parents. They have given you life and love, have been behind you all the way and are now justly proud of you.

You owe a debt of gratitude to the school board and the school administration. They have set the school policy and have arranged the courses of study you have undertaken.

You owe a debt of gratitude to your teachers. They have made up the lesson plans, worked with you, motivated you to learn, and some of them will have permanent effects upon your entire lives.

And last but certainly not to be overlooked, you owe a debt of gratitude to the taxpayers of this community for they have financed your education.

The laws of this nation provide that a public education should be free, and it is free to you, but at significant and sometimes sacrifial cost to those of the community.

And so we hope that you will remember family, friends, a special counselor, a special teacher and the rest of the supportive community.

Remembering will help you to realize where your real anchors are, and this is the first step to becoming a real balanced person. After all isn't this what commencement is all about?

L.L. Wollenhaupt
Tecumseh, Mich.

To the Editor:

It is not often that I feel led to express myself, especially in print. However, I want to congratulate the Memorial Day Committee and those who were responsible and took part in the parade and the program that was presented at the cemetery.

First I think the Tecumseh High School band gave an excellent performance with the numbers they played at the event. I am not an expert on band music but I do know that the Star Spangled Banner is not the easiest number to play. The band did an exceptional job with that and also the first number they played was excellent.

I was especially impressed by the address given by the Rev. Max Bailey. I feel he really impressed on all of us the real meaning of our Memorial Day.

He gave us a sense of what a rich heritage we have and also the sacrifices in lives that made it possible.

He also expressed to those of us who are older that we should not be discouraged and lose faith in those who are younger and who are now responsible for solving the complex problems facing our nation in the present day.

A special thanks to all of the rest who had a part in the activities.

Shut Down South Well

BRITTON — Britton's south well is shut down due to methane gas. A sample of water from the village's south well turned out to contain 15 percent methane.

The sample was taken May 22 and officials immediately shut down the well, under advisement from the health department.

Mark Bishop of the state health department said the village will probably have to do one of two things: drill a new well or modify the second well to provide all the village's water.

Residents still have water from the village's second well, but excessive use of water is prohibited until further notice.

Lisa Cark Dominates Shot, Discus

Lisa Cark continued to dominate the shot put and discus in both the league and Lenawee County this week.

Cark set two new conference records with throws of 37' 10 3/4" in the shot and 116'7" in the discus May 23.

In the Adrian Telegram County Meet, she captured two more firsts in setting new records for the annual meet of all schools in Lenawee County.

Her throw of 38'6" in the shot put erased her own 1978 record of 37'8" and a toss of 121'9 1/2" in the discus erased the 1978 record set by Joy Schug of Adrian at 117'4".

Tuesday, May 29, Lisa will attempt to duplicate her Saturday performance as she takes on the best of all classes in the Ann Arbor News-Kiwanis Meet of Champions for Washtenaw County. June 2, Cark will compete in the State Class C Championships in Cassopolis.

Cark is currently rated by the Detroit News fourth in all classes in the state with her record of 41'5" and third in the discus with her toss of 126'5". Her most recent record of 135'10 1/2" was not compiled in their statistics. This record in the discus would place her top in the state for all girls.

On June 9, Lisa and Cindy Wolf, junior hurdles record holder, will compete in the Detroit Free Press Meet of Champions for all classes statewide.

Indians Beat Airport, 7-2

Scott Kline singled in a two-run third inning and Steve Palmer added a two bagger in a four-run fourth inning to help lift the Indians by Airport Wednesday 7-2.

Brian Banda joined right in the hitting attack with two singles. Indians had six hits in all.

Scott Schafer hurdled three hitless innings and was replaced by Dorman Fredrick in the fourth. The pair walked four and struck out two. Fredrick granted three Airport hits.

That win put the Indians at 5-8 in the league while raising their overall record to 8-13.

United Savings Bank is people.

Like Christine Fairbanks, Britton Office Teller.

Chris Fairbanks knows almost everyone who comes in the Britton Office of United Savings Bank. And no wonder. She and her husband, Douglas (no, he's not the swashbuckler of movie fame) have raised a family, lived and worked in Britton for over 30 years.

Chris is an energetic person. She served Britton Village as Treasurer for 7 years and was a columnist and news reporter for the Tecumseh Herald too. She is also a member of the Congregational-Christian Church where she is currently Assistant Treasurer.

When we opened our Britton Office of USB 6½ years ago, it seemed natural to have Chris join our staff.

Her experience with accounting procedures and knowledge of Britton area people has proved to be a valuable asset to both customers and bank alike.

If you haven't met Chris Fairbanks, introduce yourself the next time you're in our Britton Office. She probably already knows you and will make you feel very welcome. Chris is just one of the hard-working people at USB who cares about you.

Thru My Window

BY MARDA GENE DUNCAN

The scarlet tanager. To us he IS spring. If we see him once, the season is a success, a second sighting makes it a miracle. We begin to look for this breathtakingly beautiful bird when the white flowering trees on the creek bank are in bloom.

If we do not see him there we keep close track of the wild cherry tree in the east yard when it is full of long clusters of blossoms. Usually, if we are to see a tanager, it is one of those two places.

Again this year we were not disappointed. While enjoying glasses of iced tea Mom and I were looking up the creek and commenting on the beautiful, beautiful spring. (Lately we have done agreat deal of this.)

Suddenly in the top of the tree, just above the white blossoming tree, there he was. I have the bad habit of stuttering under such exciting conditions but fortunately people have learned to look in the direction I am looking when I begin stuttering and exclaiming. Mom saw him right away.

He was not in the midst of the white flowers which, of course, always makes an unforgetable picture. He had, however, selected an equally advantageous perch. Being in the top of the tree, he had clear blue sky for background and, since the tree was not yet leafed out, nothing blocked our view.

We were looking through an opening in the nearby maple tree whose leaves by the way, were large and green and they made a perfect frame for the picture. Bright sunshine 'illuminated' the tanager. Mom and I gasped in amazement.

He was absolutely — well, words fail me. The male scarlet tanager is perhaps the brightest, most brilliant, and most handsome of all the bright, brilliant, and handsome birds. His head and body are a fiery scarlet, his wings and tail are jet black. His bill is bone colored and his eyes black. It seems incredible that all this beauty is concentrated on only seven inches of bird.

Our '79 scarlet tanger had studied the books carefully and adorned himself with the best of colors. He was as near perfect as could be. And he was as obliging as he was beautiful.

When he left his tree top perch he flew down the creek and landed in a tree even closer to the house. Again it was a bare limb in the full sunlight. Mom and I are still remembering — what a thrill and how exciting.

The female scarlet tanager is a far different creature. As with so many birds she is so inconspicuous as to be seldom noticed. At this time of year she looks yellowish in front and greenish in back. Her wings are rather dark. How dull!

After the family raising season is over she begins to spruce up a bit. Her upper parts become brighter while her breast and stomach take on a yellow/orange hue.

At the same time her mate is undergoing a drastic change in appearance. His firey red feathers are gradually molted and his new suit closely resembles the female's greenish yellow. What a comedown.

Even his tail and wings are 'dulled' by green tingeing on the new black feathers. But most humiliating, in transition and courting garb to winter wear this beautiful bird is a mottled, ragged looking character with splotches of black, red, green and yellow. Wouldn't it be fun to see him this way.

Mistake Here Makes Headlines

The mistakes of local officials aren't the only ones that make headlines. The mistakes of newspaper editor-reporters appear in blaring headlines, like the headline and story last week about John Moody's Bicycle Repair Shop in Ridgeway.

The correct word is "pedal pushers", in reference to bicyclists. Apologies to our readers, the story subjects and a once proud elementary grade school English teacher.

Not one reader called the mistake to our attention. The error popped into mind at an unfortunate time—later that evening, May 23, after publication.

Petitions Out for Recall in Raisin

Recall petitions are being circulated in Raisin Township for Supervisor Robert D. Moore, Clerk Marjorie Comfort and Trustee Robert Murray, according to Claude Lane who said he is one of about a dozen petitioners.

"This is an act of the concerned citizens of Raisin Township," Lane stated.

Asked about the reasons for the recall, Lane stated that a meeting was scheduled for Wednesday to discuss the recall procedure with the county clerk's office before a statement is made to the media.

The county clerk's office confirmed that recall petitions have been taken out, but the names of those officials will not be known until the petitions are filed in the clerk's office.

Number of signatures necessary is 348 for each official being recalled. Lane said that the petitioners have "much more than that."

One resident of Raisin Township told the Herald she was asked to sign a recall petition for Robert D. Moore in triplicate. When she examined the petition, she said she realized that there were actually three recall petitions, one each for Moore, Comfort and Murray.

Absentee Ballots Still Available

Council: No Change in Electing Mayor

Though no vote was taken, Tecumseh City Council arrived at a concensus Monday night that it will not change the current method of election of the mayor. Any changes should be done by public petition for a vote on the changes, Council concurred.

Monday's opinion climaxed months of discussion by Council and several postponements on the question whether or not the mayor should be elected by popular vote.

Under the present city charter adopted 25 years ago, the mayor is elected by Council itself at the January organizational meeting following annual elections.

Councilmember Len DeMoss summarized the feelings of Council when he said, "It shows too much prejudice, a bias on our part" if Council were to make the changes in the election procedures.

A referendum petition was initiated last month by Tecumseh voters who stated they wanted to elect the mayor by popular vote. However the petitioners were short of 260 names.

Clerk Vera Gardner notified them that the deadline was June 6 at 5 p.m. But as of 10:30 a.m. Wednesday morning, no other signatures were received.

Councilmember James Palmer first raised the question. Councilmember Mary Bowers was also a strong proponent for the change. However, Monday night councilmember Palmer was excused due to illness.

Bush New Board Member, Replaces Elmer Eberhardt

Donald Bush of Britton was elected to the Lenawee Intermediate School District Board of Education at the bi-ennial election held this week.

Bush received eight of the 12 possible votes cast by local school districts.

Bush is currently president of the Britton-Macon School Board, and will serve a six year term.

Elmer Eberhardt, who chose not to run again, had held the seat for the past 32 years.

In other action, the board approved seeking bids for bus maintenance equipment and a bus service vehicle; adopted a resolution calling for a state task force to study distribution of vocational education funding; discussed, at length, a request for recertification of the Lenawee Intermediate Education Association to the Lenawee County Education Association; and heard a report on the instructional computer program from Instructional Data Processing manager Al McDaid. McDaid was aided with comments from Tecumseh instructor Gary Lovett and Jack Whelan.

START TRACK CONSTRUCTION — Work is underway for Tecumseh High School's new $135,000 all-weather metric track. It began Monday, day after THS's commencement was held at the Athletic field. Construction will also include relocating the football field and elimination of the wading pool for youngsters. Schools received a $75,000 gift for the track. (PHOTO BY DEANE ERTS)

Arrest Youth for Attacking Housewife

A Tecumseh housewife was sexually assaulted here early Monday afternoon by a 15-year-old youth from Boysville.

He is presently confined in the county's youth center and faces charges of first degree sexual conduct, according to the Tecumseh police.

Officers here state the youth was among several others from Boysville who were in town for a dental check up. Supervisor of the youths left and was downtown at the time of the incident.

The youth was apprehended by Tecumseh police shortly after the assault.

OK Contract at Peerless

Officials of Tecumseh Products Company have announced the settlement of a labor contract at their Peerless Gear and Machine Division located in Clinton.

The labor agreement is between the Company and Local 429 of the Allied Industrial Workers of America, AFL-CIO. The previous contract between the parties would have expired May 31, 1979. Negotiations were concluded on May 30, 1979.

The new contract was ratified by a three to one vote of the union membership at a meeting held on Thursday, May 31. The new contract is effective June 1, 1979 and is for a three-year period.

Approximately 600 employees are members of the Local 429.

Nears Purchase of Property

Sale of the Kennedy Property seems assured to Donald G. Sunderland Insurance Agency, Inc.

Monday night Sunderland told Council via letter that he plans a building with a minimum of 2,000 sq. ft., one of the city's big requirements. He earlier indicated a desire to build an 1,800 sq. ft. building.

Sunderland was the sole bidder for the property at $23,050. City set a minimum price at $21,000.

Construction will probably begin this summer and be completed by fall.

TIME TO REPAINT?

Only a thorough inspection of the home can answer that question.
The exteriors of most houses need repainting every five to six years. A thorough, annual inspection of the outside of your house is the best way to determine if it needs painting.
See how the paint is weathering. Start with areas where moisture collects and those subject to heavy wear. Sometimes spot painting is all your home needs.
While you are at it, check the condition of gutters, downspouts and caulk, too. Make repairs before you paint.
Come to R.S. Moore and Son Lumber for Olympic and Foy Johnston quality paints, caulking and lumber supplies for a job well done.

Last of VanValkenburgs Graduates

by Kathy Brown

"Pomp and Circumstance", the traditional graduation processional, is a familiar tune in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Raynor VanValkenburg, 7764 N. Adrian Hwy. They have proudly observed the graduation of each of their seven sons from college.

Latest college graduate in the family is their youngest son, James E. VanValkenburg. He received his bachelor of arts degree summa cum laude from Malone College in Canton, Ohio, May 26. James studies accounting, business administration and social sciences.

A 1975 Tecumseh graduate, James plans to enter the University of Michigan Law School this fall.

Of their seven sons, four are Malone alumni, three are Michigan State University alumni. Five of the sons are married, each to a college graduate.

Married 38 years, the Raynor VanValkenburgs also have three grandchildren.

The VanValkenburgs are not college graudates themselves. They were both ranked third in their graduating class, took college preparatory classes and always had dreams of going to college, but life had other things in store for them.

"We've always loved the learning process. It was just bred into them, I guess," said Mrs. VanValkenburg about her sons.

The VanValkenburgs operate a dairy farm. They own 70 acres themselves and rent 250 acres. The family tithes at church.

As most know, college expenses are high for one student. Multiply that seven times for the VanValkenburgs. "It's really amazing how the Lord's blessed them over the years," said Mrs. VanValkenburg. The men have received scholarships and worked part-time in addition to help from their parents.

"Our oldest son has always said if you can get through the first year of school and they see you're good material, the school will work with you."

David, the oldest, lives in Denver, Colo. He and his wife, Doris, have two children, Enid, 10 and Chad, 8. David is a Malone graduate and has a masters degree in business from Harvard Business School. He is a vice-president for American Television and Communications Corporation. He is a 1960 Tecumseh alumnus.

Dan received his bachelor of sience degree in agriculture from Michigan State University. He is a partner in farming with his father. Dan and his wife, nee Cheryl Records, have a daughter, Rachel, one-year-old. Dan is a 1963 Tecumseh graduate.

Atlanta, Ga. is the home for Stephen, a regional manager for Campus Crusade for Christ and his wife, Carolyn, daughter of a missionary family. Stephen received his degree in psychology from MSU. He is a 1967 Tecumseh graduate.

A masters degree in business administration is the next goal in Philip's career. He has a degree in public affairs management from MSU. He and his wife, Rebecca live in Boulder, Colo. where he attends the University of Colorado. Philip, a 1968 Tecumseh graduate, spent about five years working in Campus Crusade for Christ.

Joseph, A Malone alumnus, majored in Christian education and religion. He and his wife, Brenda, live in Kent, Ohio, where he is studying industrial arts at Kent State Unviersity. He is a 1971 Tecumseh graduate.

Paul has a degree in mathematics from Malone College and attended plans to return to school for graduate work. Single, he resides with his parents. He is a 1973 Tecumseh graduate.

Though each son has had a different major, they seem to gravitate toward business administration. "A farm background is good for that," commented Mrs. VanValkenburg. "It teaches you responsibility and how to manage."

JAMES VANVALKENBURG

Lisa Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Lee, 605 Orchard Lane, was awarded Female Athlete of the Year trophy at Siena Heights College, Adrian, during the recent college athletic awards banquet. She was a member of the softball and volleyball teams. She received an English degree May 13.

Ida Hartley Presides at OES Meeting

Ida Hartley, associate matron of Tecumseh Chapter No. 51, Order of the Eastern Star, presided at the May 3 meeting of the chapter, because of the illness of worthy matron Mary VanValkenburg.

The charter was draped by the associate patron Raymond Nichols, in memory of deceased members Marian Hunt, Frank McRae and Anne Scruton, an honorary member of the Grand Chapter of Michigan, Order of the Eastern Star.

Announcements included the 51st annual session for the International Order for Rainbow Girls to be held June 21-22-23 and 24 at the Pantlind Hotel in Grand Rapids.

Lucinda Hand was honored for her birthday.

Preceding the meeting, a memorial service was conducted for Edith Leighton at the Purse Funeral Home.

Model Wedding Gowns

"A Bridal Review of Precious Memories" was the theme for the mother-daughter banquet May 11 at Tecumseh Evangelical Friends Church.

After the invocation by Elizabeth Hayden, a ham dinner was served by the church men to 175 women and girls in the social rooms.

A yellow and white wedding cake with green water fountain was baked by Wilma Randolph and decorated and served by Krista Rieve.

Twenty-one wedding gowns were modeled. Shirley Chumney narrated the style review in the church sanctuary.

Carrie Chase wore the oldest gown modeled, worn 40 years ago by Eula Avery.

Flower girls chosen by the models were the attendants.

Award winners were Jennifer Couts, youngest flower girl, 18 months old; Shirley Bennett, married the longest, 69 years; Merry Vaughn, married the fewest years, 1 1/2 years; Terri TenCate, married the farthest away, New York State.

Some women shared anecdotes about their wedding day. Wedding picture albums were displayed in the church foyer as were additional gowns, including one worn in 1890.

Slices of past weddings at Friends Church dating back to 1961 were shown by Doris VanValkenburg.

Committee for the event included Mrs. Francis Campbell, Carolyn Comfort, Shirley Chumney, Wilma Randolph, Linda Richardson and Sally Ruff.

Library Plans Summer Reading Programs

Tecumseh Public Library will be a busy place this summer with activities for children of all ages. Some of the activities are annual events and some are brand new.

"Get on the Right Track This Summer — READ!" is the theme of the annual summer reading program, complete with trains, tickets, travel agents, passenger lists and hobos.

Beginning June 11 and ending Aug. 22, children will have 10 weeks in which to complete 10 books.

Any elementary or preschool-age child can take part in the program. Children who can't read by themselves yet can have someone read the books to them.

Children may begin the program any time on or after June 11 by picking up an information sheet at the library.

They record the titles of their books on the sheet, returning it to the library when all 10 books have been read.

A certificate and a ticket to put on the Mel Dewey Dynamo Express are the rewards for finishing the program. Children will also have their names added to the library's "Passenger List."

For each 10 books they compete before the program ends, they put a ticket on the Mel Dewey Dynamo Express.

Story time for preschoolers through second graders will be held Wednesdays from 1:30 to 2 p.m. The dates are July 11 to Aug. 22. Participants will enjoy stories, poems, and silly songs. They'll have lots of fun, too.

Story time will kick off with special Pajama Story Hour July 3, from 7 to 8 p.m. Children should come dressed in their pajamas. Mrs. Reasoner, children's librarian, will wear her pajamas, too.

Many of the favorite story time stories, poems and songs (and a movie, too) will be enjoyed that night.

Third through sixth graders can take part in a new activity designed just for them: B.R.A.T.S. What's that? It's the Book Review Action Team!

Kids write their own reviews of new library books and old favorites. They will meet every Thursday from July 5 until Aug. 16 from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. to share their reviews with each other and Mrs. Reasoner.

The reviews will be on display in the library for other kids to read, too.

The summer's activities conclude Wednesday, Aug. 22, with a hobo party. Anyone who has completed the reading program or participated in one of the other programs may attend.

For more information about any of these programs, contact the Tecumseh Public Library. The phone number is 423-2238. Library hours are Monday through Wednesday, 1-9 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, 9 a.m.-6 p.m.

Troupes Entertain on Capitol Lawn

The mime troupes from Sutton School Jim Kingan's sixth grade class and Tipton School Bob Pardee's fifth grade class will perform on the Capitol Building lawn in Lansing June 5.

The special invitation to perform was extended to the group via Rep. James Hadden and his co-members of the Special House Committee on Services for Young Children.

The group's visit is part of a day long Children's Festival, celebrating the Capitol's 100th anniversary and the International Year of the Child.

Principal Tom Sura said that the young entertainers will open their program by arriving on a mime bus. Individual poetry and group mimes, such as a tennis match and going to the movies, will be enacted. The students will apply their own traditional mime white face makeup.

Sura commented that the students are excited about the experience and also praised them for their concentration and ability to give a polished performance.

Other children from across the state will share their talent. In case of rain, the performances will be in the Capitol Rotunda, first floor.

The children will be treated to a giant birthday cake. Other activities will include art exhibits and a hands-on display by Impression 5, a local museum.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY LENDER

Questions and Answers from Candidates for Tecumseh School Board

1. What are your reasons for seeking office?

Beatty: The biggest problem facing our school system today is that of providing a quality education to our children in the face of inflation, which causes rising costs and expenses.

We, as taxpayers, cannot afford to continually pay more and more in taxes, yet we do want our children to have the best education possible.

With my background in business and finance, I feel I can help contribute to solving these problems.

Dotson: Because the majority of the public needs to be represented and I would be a representative of the average majority of our community with the public's interest at hand.

Heglin: As one who has a long interest in youth and education, being a member of the Board of Education represents an opportunity to serve and carry forward the wishes of the community and citizens while maintaining our fine school system and program.

Myers: My reasons for seeking office is hopefully to be beneficial in areas where there is poor communication and lack of action.

Tressler: Quality education is and always has been one of my main concerns. I have seen many changes in our School District these past four years. For example, rising costs of education and federally and state-mandated programs have created a real need for more efficient services and improved facilities.

These matters have required a great deal of study on the part of Board members and I think my understanding of "Where we are" and "How far we've come" would be most valuable in the future when important decisions have to be made.

I have also seen many good non-mandated programs started and would appreciate the opportunity to contribute to their continued development.

For example, the newly formed Lenawee Association of School Boards which would promote discussion on common issues and the Tecumseh School District ad hoc committee on community relations to promote greater unity among the board, employees and parents.

2. At this time, do you have any specific or general policy changes or improvements you feel should be implemented in the Tecumseh School District?

Dotson: I am concerned for the youth to receive the best possible program to further develop them intellectually, morally, physically and socially.

My greater concern is for the parents to feel that they are listened to regarding areas concerning their children and district.

To maintain this goal, I would recommend that we set up an advisory council that would work closely with members of the school board, faculty and administration.

This will help the school board understand the citizens values, issues and human needs.

Heglin: The recently completed U of M study outlines a broad list of directions which need the attention of the Board. With a clearer understanding of the future needs of our community and children, I feel that we can now move in these specific areas.

1. Resolution of the Junior High situation. 2. Review of Music and Art credit policy. 3. Review of long range elementary school needs and programs.

4. Upgrading the girls' athletic program. 5. Continuation of sound financial program. 6. Improve energy efficiency of existing buildings. 7. Improving communications between community, staff and students.

Myers: My interest is to maintain fair and equal treatment for students and concerns in the Tecumseh Public School District.

Tressler: For the past four years I have served on the Policy Committee and have come to realize that policy making is an important, ongoing process necessary to provide continually revised and updated policies. I am very proud of the progress we have made in this area.

I do favor a system of Alternative Education, to provide an alternative to suspension and expulsion of students. I have investigated other school districts where this form of education is highly successful.

Beatty: General policy changes and projects which I shall work to implement include: improving communications between the school administration and the teachers, prompt construction of the new civic auditorium, future construction of a new middle school, and the possible resumption of athletic competition between Adrian and Tecumseh.

3. Concerning closed meetings or executive sessions, a public body may obey the letter of the law and still disregard the spirit of the public's right to know what is going on in its own affairs. Please answer each question separately:

When do you feel a closed session is necessary?

Do you think that all closed sessions are legal? Cite examples.

How do you feel about closed sessions that violate the spirit of the law?

Should decisions be made in a closed session? Should those decisions and the reasons for the decision be made public?

Heglin: When the rights of a teacher, employee or student would be violated by a public review. Also, certain other times involving employee matters and real estate transfers.

Based upon careful review of the law and advice of the Michigan Association of School Boards, the following examples cited appear to be legal.

a. If a student is involved in a discipline situation, his parents or guardians have the right to request a closed review to protect the youngster.

b. An additional example would be a teacher involved in a matter related to professional conduct. The teacher would have the right to request a closed review.

c. Another situation would involve the Board in the real estate transfers when the public's best interest is served by closed session.

A closed session which violates the spirit of the law should not be held.

In cases other than those in which an individual's rights would be violated, the decisions and reasons for such decisions should be made public.

Myers: A closed session is necessary when it is in line with the general school laws under the Open Meetings Act 267, 1976, p. 1004 effective March 31, 1977 p. 18 Section 8 A through H. Only then do I feel closed sessions are necessary.

To properly answer the question on closed sessions, all being legal, I would have to investigate further. I feel that the people of the Tecumseh School District should be made knowledge to the people. The only exceptions being those in the general school laws. I feel that decisions should not be made in closed sessions. If they they must be, they should be made public knowledge.

Tressler: A closed session is necessary when:

a. Personal matters dealing with school personnel are on the agenda and those persons request a closed meeting.

b. When a student is disciplined by suspension or dismissal and the students parent or guardian requests a closed meeting.

c. Discussing negotiations of a collective bargaining agreement, when either party requests a closed meeting.

d. Considering the purchase or lease of real property, up to the time an option to purchase or lease the real property is obtained.

e. Consulting with an attorney on pending litigation, where an open meeting would have a detrimental or adverse financial effect on the School District or on the settlement position with regards to the pending litigation.

Closed sessions are necessary and legal if they comply with the Open Meetings Act. I feel that, among other things, they are intended to protect citizens from having personal matters discussed publicly and for this reason are intended to protect the privacy of individuals, not to violate the spirit of the law.

All decisions should be made in open meetings.

These decisions are a matter of public record.

Beatty: Concerning closed meetings on executive sessions:

I feel that executive sessions should be kept to a minimum. Closed sessions are necessary only when discussing persons, and personalities such as disciplinary actions, and personnel evaluation.

I do not approve of closed sessions that violate the spirit of the law. Only decisions regarding persons should be made in a closed session. Decisions made in a closed session regarding persons need not be made public. Any other decisions affecting our schools should be made public.

Dotson: According to Public Act 267 of 1976, it defines when the closed session is legal. This is the only time I feel that they should go into closed meetings. I don't think that all closed sessions are legal.

For example, in February 1978 after listening to several public concerns, the board stated it was going into a closed session (executive meeting). They failed to take a two-thirds vote and state the purpose or purposes for said closed meeting as stated in Public Act 267 of 1976.

This type of procedure if contipued intentionally is considered a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine of not more than $1,000.

To be able to further answer this question, I would have to be involved in the closed session or have access to the minutes of the closed session which are only attainable if required by a civil action filed under Section 10, 11 or 13.

If a closed session is in violation of the spirit of the law, then it becomes illegal, secretive, non-openess, and political. Instead of acting above board with the public's interest at hand.

Decisions may be made in a closed session if those decisions are not in viloation of the P.A. 267. Decisions and reasons for decisions should always be made public except in rare circumstances which are defined in P.A. 267.

4. What have you done to familiarize yourself with the operation of Tecumseh schools?

Myers: I have attended board of education meetings and have obtained information about school policies from the board of educat.on and qualified persons.

Tressler: In my years on the board, I have served on three separate committees, the Policy Committee, the Building and Grounds Committee and the Special Affairs (administration) Committee. I have gained a broad understanding of the organization and operation of the Tecumseh Public Schools from my involvement with these committees, together with regular Board of Education participation.

I have also taken time to study other school systems and compare them with our own, in order to better understand our strengths and weaknesses and to continually seek improvement.

Beatty: I have attended Board of Education meetings, met with the Teachers Executive Committee, talked with School Board Members, School Administrators, Teachers and Students.

Dotson: I have familiarized myself with the operations of the Tecumseh School Board by having communication with the residents of the community, visiting the school board, familiarizing myself with journals pertaining to state and national school boards.

Heglin: I have attended School Board meetings for the 13 years my children have been in public schools.

For the past three years I have served as a Trustee, Treasurer, and Chairman of the Building and Grounds Committee on your Tecumseh School Board.

As treasurer, I have carefully reviewed the expenditures and financial programs to assure careful use of tax dollars.

As Chairman of the Building and Grounds Committee, I have personally visited each of our school buildings and classrooms and worked to provide needed improvements in our physical plant.

I have attended seminars and meetings of the Michgian Association of School Boards to broaden my knowledge and understanding of school problems such as financing, discipline and planning.

Whenever possible, I have talked with staff members, parents and students to try to gain their feelings concerning the operation of our schools. I continually visit our schools while in session to observe first hand our present program.

5. How are you qualified to serve as a Tecumseh School Board member?

Tressler: I am a concerned, tax-paying parent with seven children who have all attended Tecumseh Public Schools. I am an incumbent board member with four years of experience.

I have taught for five years in public schools. I participate in many civic organizations which keep me in constant contact with fellow citizens. I have always been involved directly with students as an active parent at Patterson Elementary, Tecumseh Junior High and Tecumseh High School.

The past four years have been a tremendous learning experience for me. These years have prepared me to be more effective and productive in the future.

Being a board member requires a great deal of time, thought and effort and I am very willing to make such a commitment.

Beatty: As a businessman, I am faced every day with decisions such as those faced by the school. In the school system, our product is quality education and how to provide it. As a businessman I can make the right decisions for our schools.

As a C.P.A., for several years I audited several Michigan school districts. This experience gave me an understanding of the financial and budget problems faced by our school administrators. I know the terminology, where the funding comes from, where the money goes.

As a financially oriented board member, I would not be confused by the elaborate array of financial data or a million dollar budget, which should be understood before decisions are made.

As a taxpayer, I am tired of paying more and more taxes. I feel a quality education is obtainable without continual tax increases.

As a parent, I want to see my child receive the best education available. I am not obligated to any organization or pressure group, therefore, I can vote my conscience which is that of a parent concerned about my child's welfare.

Dotson: I qualify as a Tecumseh School Board member because I meet all the requirements of being a school board member as stated by Michigan "Ge... School Laws and Tecumseh School Board.

I also have been involved the past four years in human relationship services.

Heglin: I feel that the experience and knowledge I have gained over the past three years on the board will allow me to effectively serve the taxpayers of our com...

Ask Renewal of Library Millage

by Kathy Brown

Voters in the Tecumseh School District will be asked to approve a 0.7 mill on property taxes in the school district for operating millage for Tecumseh Public Library for the next three years.

Deborah Harris, library director emphasized that this is a renewal, not an increase in the operating millage for the library.

What will it cost the taxpayer?

For example, on a $40,000 house, state equalized valuation of $20,000, the tax would be $14.

"The rate of operational millage for the library hasn't been increased since 1969, despite a 43 percent rise in the average price of an adult book in the last five years," said Harris.

"Local taxes represent about 70 percent of the library budget," Harris explained. "For fiscal year ending July 1979, that amount is about $71,818, or slightly less than $6 per school district resident," Harris calculated.

The library is a community asset "that gives people a chance to see their tax dollars at work in their community," she said.

By maintaining a public collection of books, periodicals and information, the library saves the community money. Individuals would not be able to conveniently and efficiently amass and maintain such a collection of information.

The library maintains 35,000 volumes. It has a collection of over 100 newspapers and magazine subscriptions. "How to" books on auto and appliance repairs, remodeling, sewing, crafts, hobbies, etc. save avowed do-it-yourselfers money. Standard and Poor investors' service is also available at the Tecumseh Public Library.

In addition, the library participates in an interlibrary loan system for specific titles not currently in collection and specialized subject areas.

Other services include a pay typewriter, 16mm film projector rental and framed art and record check out.

Convenience is another aspect of the public library Harris emphasized. A telephone reference service is available at the Tecumseh Public Library.

TPL also offers a well preserved local history collection of books, pictures and a vertical file chock full of clippings, etc.

In addition to a well-rounded children's book department, the library continues to offer year around imaginative reading programs for children.

For example, there is a preschool story hour and summer reading club. Over 100 children completed it last year. And this year for older children, there is a Book Review Action Team, (BRATS), designed to encourage students to read and write book reviews to be displayed in the library.

The library meeting room is also used for special events such as the historical society meetings, recent historical photo display, etc. For those interested in learning more about the library, the staff is available to present programs on the library.

Any adult or child in the Tecumseh School District is eligible to a Tecumseh Public Library card. Circulation is 75,000 annually. There are over 4,000 card holders in the school district.

Pitcher Geg Langmeyer and the TJHS baseball squad finished their 11-4 season with a 3-0 shutout victory over Grosse Ile Tuesday.

Langmeyer struck out eight and allowed one hit. The Indians had only one error while playing an excellent game after being off 10 days.

The Indians gave Langmeyer plenty of hitting to compliment his pitching. They had seven hits and were aided with one error.

Mike Watters went three for four for the young Indians while Tim Eardley, Todd Palmer, Tony Forsthoefel and John Duncan each singled.

WATCHES IT FLY - Randy Halvin heads to first while watching his single fly Monday against Grosse Ile. Bob McFadden is advancing to third in the background.

THS Girls Are District Champions

Tecumseh's girls buckled down Saturday and left Milan with a district softball championship after beating Jackson Northwest in the finals, 16-9.

The Indians girls now advance to regional play Saturday at Oak Park.

The Indians got to the finals game against Jackson after they beat Saline 6-4. And that close score does not tell the true story.

The girls held a 6-0 lead going into the bottom of the seventh inning. Beckie Hamilton proved her worth at the plate, knocking in all six of the runs.

Then pitcher Sandy Humphries was relieved by Lori Burack in the seventh. Humphries had given up just two hits, walked four and struck out four.

Burack gave up four runs, but only one of those runs was earned as the Saline squad scored three times on costly Tecumseh errors.

Beckie Hamilton's first two RBI's came in the second inning when she hit a double to knock in Deb Hamilton and Sandy Humphries.

Hamilton then knocked in Karen Bunch and Deb Hamilton in the third, again with a double.

The final runs came in the fifth when Humphries singled and Hamilton followed with a home run.

The Indians had a bad second inning against Jackson in the final game when the Northwest team crossed the plate eight times. Tecumseh came back, however and crossed the plate four times to put the score a 9-8.

Starting pitcher Humphries then gained the composure she had started to lose and allowed only three hits the rest of the day.

With the score at 9-8 the Indians went after Jackson pitching in the third inning with a home run by Lisa Lapham. That brought home three runs and a tie ballgame.

Tecumseh took the lead for good in the fourth with a solo home run by Deb Hamilton and two singles by Humphries and Lapham. The local squad got two insurance runs in the fifth and sixth innings each to bring back the trophy.

Kim Adams led all Indian batters that second game. She went four for four. Lapham had two singles and a homer, as each Indian had a least one hit in the game.

The Indians also knocked off Grosse Ile Monday, putting them in an almost certain three way tie for first place. Some teams have games still scheduled, so the league title is uncertain.

The softballers scored five runs Monday against four for their host team. Sandy Humphries got the win, allowing three hits, five strikeouts and she walked two.

The Indians got four hits and five walks. They scored four runs in the first on singles from Kim Adams, Becky Hamilton and Humphries.

They scored their last run in the fifth on a triple from Karen Bunch and a sacrifice from Deb Hamilton.

THS Baseball Squad Wraps up Season

The Indians baseball squad finished out their season Monday with a 6-5 loss over Grosse Ile. That puts their record at 8-16, 5-9 in the league.

The Indians were in a hole in the fifth inning, down 6-2. But in what coach Bob Ondrovick calls the teams' "never say die attitude," the Indians kept coming back.

The team countered with three runs in the fifth, including a two run RBI triple from Dorman Frederick. The local squad had men on in the sixth and seventh innings, but just couldn't score them.

Joining Frederick with batting honors were Brian Banda, Scott Schafer and Craig Esterline, all with doubles. Singles came from Scott Kline, Randy Halvin and Bob McFadden.

Derek Nahabedian took the loss for the Indians.

Last Tuesday the team went up against Willow Run in their pre-district game and lost 7-2.

Scott Schafer took the loss after pitching two innings and giving up four runs in the second inning. Dorman Frederick relieved and completed the game.

The Indians had hot bats, getting 10 hits and at least one hit in each inning. Andy Geshwiler, Steve Palmer and Brian Banda each got two hits.

The Tecumseh squad had four errors. Willow got their seven runs on seven hits and they committed two errors.

Coach Ondrovick commented on the season as a whole, stating "'We' as a team accomplished many goals that we set out for in the season. We built a good baseball program with elements of teamwork, character and class."

He also explained that he has a fine group of juniors and sophomores to build with next year, but he certainly will miss his senior leadership. The seniors include John Lacny, Halvin, Banda, Kevin Bater, McFadden, Esterline, Ron Calzada and Frederick.

Coach Ondrovick also thanked the loyal fans and parents, especially the whole baseball staff, freshmen coach Jim Kingon, JV coach Ron Frenzen and varsity assistants Ron Rentschler and Jim Palmer.

The two THS teams finished second behind New Boston and Airport. The boys finished with 52½ points behind New Boston's 56 points. The THS girls posted 52¼ points behind Airports' 87½.

The individual standout for the Indians proved to be Martha Hans for the girls. She took first places in both hurdles and the 100 dash. She also ran a leg of the 440 relay that tied for first with St. Mary.

For the boys, D.J. Biscupski proved to be the thinclad spectators were watching. He suffered a groin injury in practice when he was testing the flexibility of a pole.

BHS Loses Semi-Finals

A young Britton softball team ended their season with a record of 13-5 Saturday when Morenci crushed the Tories' hopes of district final play

Morenci beat the Tories 12-4 in the semi-finals and again finished their next game with a bang. They beat Deerfield 15-2 for the Class D district championship.

The score was tied at 4-4 in the sixth inning when Morenci tallied for eight runs.

Pitcher Lisa Campbell allowed only two of those runs before she sat down two consecutive batters. Then a Morenci batter doubled a hit down the line and that brought in another run.

Coach Diane Matuszak relieved Campbell with Jodi Smith. Smith walked five, however, and hit a batter before the Morenci squad finished scoring in the sixth.

Sandy Judkins and Dawn Haas had the largest bats for the Britton squad, each getting two singles. Patty Armstrong and Haas collected RBI's. The local girls out hit Morenci 7-6.

Pittsford Beats Britton, 5-3

The Britton baseball squad fell short in district play Saturday against Pittsford, 5-3.

Pittsford's Bob Crosser proved to be the most trouble for the Tory squad as the pitcher struck out 11 batters. Many of those strike outs came in key positions as Britton left seven batters on base during the game.

Greg Fanslau took the loss for the Britton squad, but he allowed only two earned runs. Three Wildcat runs came on Britton errors.

Pittsford scored runs in the second and third innings before the Tories retaliated with two scores in the bottom of the third.

Fanslau walked and Chris Kimerer followed with a single in the third inning. John Montalvo attempted a sacrifice bunt, but Fanslau was forced at third.

Bailey then singled to load the bases and Kimerer scored when Greg Sear's ground hit to second was bobbled. Montalvo then scored on Jim Bluntschly's perfect bunt toward first.

Pittsford tallied twice in the sixth on an error and home run. Britton added one last run in the seventh, but left the tying run stranded at first.

JV's Are 14-0

The Tecumseh girls' JV softball team ended its season Monday when it beat Gross Ile 8-5. That win makes the young Indians the undisputed champions with a perfect 14-0 record.

The score was tied at 5-5 after seven innings when Lisa Hand hit a blast in the first extra inning that flew over the center fielder's head. With two on base, the Indians scored three runs to take the win at 8-5.

Hand had a total of four RBI's that game and shared top batting honors with Tracy Murphy. Murphy had a single and a triple. Sherry Lane and Penny Gordon got two singles each. The JV squad had 10 hits in all.

Gordon was the winning pitcher for the Indians. She struck out four, walked six and allowed six hits.

Coach Diane Matuszak introduced her girls' softball squad and honored her girls, who posted a 13-5 record.

Janene Schultz won the slugger award, Jodi Smith and Jill Smith the defense awared. Patty Armstrong was elected the most improved and the coach's award went to Dawn Haas.

FIELD DAY - Tim Langham joins the long jump competition. The Herrick Park youth even used his tongue for a few extra inches.

Traves Breaks Record

Clinton Boys Track Team had some fine performances at the State Class C Meet Saturday, but they did not place anyone in the top six to score points.

Lance Traves broke his school record in the 330 Yd. Low Hurdles, running 40.1 to finish an outstanding high school career. Matt Peters ran the two mile in 9:56. Also finishing his outstanding career.

Casey Thilo, Mike Karapas, Wes Fuller, Chris Douglas and Traves all participated in a combination of the 880, 440 and mile relays at the state meet. The Redskins ran fine times in all three relays but it was not enough to crack the top six.

Clinton will be losing six outstanding seniors to graduation: four year lettermen Lance Traves, Casey Thilo, Mike Karapas, Mark Prichard and three year lettermen Matt Peters and Devin Schindler.

CHS Edged Out

Erie Mason capitalized three times on three Clinton errors as the Redskins were edged out of district baseball competition Thursday.

The first frame proved to be the fatal one for the Redskins in their bid for the distict title as they could re-coup only one point of the three point edge gained by the Eagles in the top half.

That point came when Lee Russ drove Andy Hoag home from second. Hoag had stolen second with his 23rd theft of the season.

Erie Mason scored again in the third inning and coach Randy VanGasse decided it was time for a pitching change. Dave Porter came in for Dale Porterfield and gave up only two singles while walking three and striking out three more to spoil the Eagle's hopes of further points.

The Redskins closed the gap somewhat in the sixth with three singles off the bats of Hoag, Terry Carlton and Porter, loading the bases and a second RBI by Russ, bringing the score to the final 4-2 and ending the season for Clinton with a 7-13 standing.

Smith, Feldman, Hannibal Win

Thirty-one women took part in the low gross-low net tournament at Tecumseh Country Club, May 30.

EDITORIAL
Election Monday

If there was a vacancy on the board of education and no one chose to seek the position—wouldn't that be a matter of concern for everyone?

If the board of education did not ask for a millage renewal or an increase in millage, and instead, drastically cut present programs to meet a reduced budget, would that concern the voters?

Clinton School District is fortunate to have four highly qualified candidates for the relatively thankless position on the school board.

The millage proposition of a five mill renewal and a 1.6 mills additional, all for operations, will appear in a single proposal on the ballot at Monday's school election.

In light of the uncertainty of state action implementing the Headlee amendment, as it affects school funding, the process of determining needs for schools for tax millage has been even more complicated this year.

After much considered deliberation the present board has determined to ask for 6.6 mills to meet the budget needs.

Informed citizens in the district can demonstrate their interest in their schools by casting their votes on Monday.

No Reunion for Alumni

CLINTON — For the first time in over 100 years, there will not be a reunion of the Clinton High School Alumni Association this weekend.

If any separate class is planning a special reunion, announcement may be made by calling The Herald, 423-2174, or Maxine Calhoun, evenings 456-4512.

Clinton State Police issued a summons to Miss Heliste for driving too fast.

Explain Budget Need of 6.6 Mills

CLINTON — In explanation of the need for the 6.6 millage request by Clinton Board of Education, the following facts have been offered by the school administration.

Five mills is renewal of operational millage. Additional millage request is for 1.6 mills, all in one proposition on the June 11 ballot.

The total operating budget for the present (1978-79) school year is $2,028,094. This includes salaries, maintenance, utilities, books, paper, pencils, all educational supplies and transportation.

Figuring a 10% inflationary increase for next year (1979-80) requires additional dollars of: $203,000.

One additional mill with the proposed 1979-80 State Aid Formula will raise: $207,700.

The Headlee tax rollback will decrease millage by .68 mills or in dollars: $36,100.

The net gain in dollars from State Aid Formula with one additional mill will by only: $171,600.

Therefore, to offset Headlee rollback, the Board must levy additional millage of: 1.6 mills.

Because of the Headlee rollback, the board must levy 26.82 mills total to produce the needed extra money of: $207,700.

The millage levy last year was 25.22 mills for operation.

The budget for 1979-80 must be balanced with revenue equaling expenditure. The district does not have a cash balance to fall back on to allow "out-go" to exceed income.

Supt. Richard Wegner stated, "If the added 1.6 mills are approved and we levy 26.82 mills it will still be a difficult job to negotiate contracts, buy necessary supplies, educational materials, and meet unreasonably high gas, oil, and electricity costs with only 10% increase in dollars.

"From present information it seems likely that gas, oil, and electricity may increase by 15 to 20% next year. We have already been informed that health insurance will increase as of July 1, 1979 by 13.5%. The purchase price of one new bus, which we must have, has gone up $3,000 over 16%.

"With about 80% of the annual budget going for salaries and about 20% going for all other expenses, it is doubtful if the school will be able to keep pace with cost-of-living in salary increas for employees."

JC's Support Millage Vote

CLINTON — Clinton Area Jaycees, at the meeting Monday, voted to endorse the millage request by Clinton Community Schools at the annual school election June 11.

Superintendent Richard Wegner was present to explain the school's needs.

Warren Starks and Ron Coffelt were named co-chairmen for a chicken barbecue to be held July 15 at Memorial Park.

Jaycees postponed their Sand Box Day until June 9. Anyone wishing free sand for children's sand boxes may call Gary Young, 456-7767.

Approve 2 Farms for Tax Relief

CLINTON — Clinton Township Board approved a PA 116 agricultural property tax designation for Hickory Farms, on Pennington Rd., and for the Leroy and Margaret Brugger farm on Clinton-Macon Rd., at the meeting Monday.

A communication was read from the Clinton Community Schools, indicating that an advisory committee is being formed to discuss the completion of athletic facilities.

A gift of $50,000 has been received from an anonymous donor, several months ago, and the use of this money will be considered by the advisory committee.

Supervisor Frank Gignac appointed Harry Comstock and his wife, Norma, to serve on the committee.

Board determined that regular meetings of the Zoning Board will be held in April and September.

Clayton Cousino, Gordon Gove and Mary E. Witherell, owners of property on McNeal Rd., were present to discuss the need for grading and a culvert on that road.

The board will discuss what can be done with the County Road Commission.

Dick Gutow was also a guest at the meeting.

Building inspector Charles Wilson reported building permits totalling $13,600, which were approved.

Two out of town motorists compounded their problems with the Tecumseh police here the past week after they were stopped for drunk driving.

A passenger with him, Dennis A. Trowbridge, 21 of 9537 N. Adrian Hwy., was charged with having open intoxicants in a motor vehicle.

Other complaints investigated were:

You Are What You Eat

by Shirley Weekley

The International Dinner sponsored by the Tecumseh Band Boosters was deemed a great success. The 500 persons served sampled from a large array of tempting international dishes, including meats, salads and rich desserts.

The success was largely due to the hard work of the organizing committee. If you missed this affair, take heart; the dinner will be an annual event.

Britt Wann, from Bergen, Norway, now lives in Tecumseh with her husband and two daughters. Mrs. Wann was chairman of the desserts for this dinner. Here are some of her favorite Norwegian desserts.

ROSETT-BAKKELS (ROSETTES)

2 eggs
1 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cardamom
1 cup milk
1 1/2 cups all purpose flour vegetable oil

Beat eggs lightly and add sugar, salt, cardamom, milk and flour. Beat thoroughly. The batter should be of the consistency of thick cream.

Heat oil to 350 degrees. Heat rosette iron in the oil until iron is hot. Drain excess oil from iron on paper towels and dip iron into batter, being careful not to allow batter to cover top of iron.

Place in heated oil and cook until lightly browned. If rosettes, when baked does not leave iron, it can be released with a fork. Drain. Serve plain or sprinkle with confectioners sugar. Makes 40. (Rosette iron can be purchased at the new health food store in the Bidwell Building.)

VANNBAKKELS (CREAM PUFFS)

1 cup hot water
1/2 cup butter
1 tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup flour
4 eggs
Filling:
1 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons confectioners sugar
1 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract

Bring to boil the water, butter, sugar and salt. Add the flour all at once. Beat with a wooden spoon until mixture leaves sides of pan and forms a smooth ball. Remove from heat. Quickly beat in the eggs, one at a time.

Continue beating until mixture is thick and smooth. Drop by spoonfuls, 2 inches apart, onto a lightly greased baking sheet. Bake large puffs at 450 degrees for 15 minutes, lower temperature to 350 degrees and bake 15-20 minutes longer.

Bake small puffs at 450 degrees for 10 minutes and lower heat to 350 degrees and bake 5 minutes longer. Remove from pan and cool. Cut with scissors.

Beat whipping cream until it stands in peaks when beater is slowly lifted up. Fold in the confectioner sugar and vanilla. Fill puffs with cream and sprinkle to with more confectioner sugar.

KRUMKAKE

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup melted butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 whipping cream
2 cups flour
3 eggs

Beat eggs, add sugar, cream, vanilla, melted butter and flour.

For this recipe you need a Krumkake iron that can be purchased at large department stores in Ann Arbor, Detroit or Toledo, or write Nordic Ware Bundt, Minneapolis, Minn. 55416.

Bake small amounts of the batter in the Krumkake iron and fold quickly into a cone. This dessert can be made up before hand and stored in a airtight container for later use. To serve fill with whipped cream (no Cool Whip) and decorate with a strawerry. Can also be filled with ice cream. Makes 30.

Thru My Window

BY MARDA GENE DUNCAN

For several weeks the front yard was a battlefield. Two male robins simply could not decide whose territory it was. They were big, richly colored fellows. It was apparent that neither was used to playing a subordinate role. Neither was about to accept it either. And thus the stage was set for full scale war.

We could not tell the robins apart nor do we know which one staked the initial claim. Our first inkling that there was trouble came one afternoon as we were watching a robin hop across the front yard.

When another robin lit on the other side of the yard, the two eyed each other and started marching toward each other. From the beginning it was obvious that they were on a collision course.

There was no posturing or bluffing. When the birds met they jumped at each other, feet scratching and wings beating. It was a major battle.

The windows and doors were closed but I could well imagine that those open yellow bills were doing more than pecking. The birds must have been screaming at each other. Finally their battle became so furious that they actually became airborne. With claws locked together, the strenuous wing-beating lifted them right off the ground.

For days this went on. We could not spot a nest but obviously the birds were fighting for territorial rights. (There is a mud and grass nest in our neighbor's yard — well, actually it is in a large tree that is in the yard. However, there has been no evidence to link that nest with one of the battling robins.)

Other birds were tolerated in the yard. For several days a flicker, with his red back-of-the-head V and his black top-of-the-chest crescent, was a regular. He came faithfully to dig for ants. Neither robin seemed to mind him a bit.

Nor, unfortunately, did they mind the starlings. Yes that is in the plural. Four or five of these ugly birds would congregate on the front lawn and go unchallenged. Yellow bills, skinny bodies, stub tails. Why in the world did that poor misguided man ever bring these birds into this country. Imagine how glorious it would be to be starling-free.

Gradually one of the robins gained the upper hand. If the fights were less frequent it was only because the challenger did not come by so often.

As of this dictating a peace treaty has not been signed. The skirmishes are less frequent but occasionally the other robin can't resist trespassing.

The winner has really taken over the front yard. Not only is it an excellent parade ground but the dining facilities must also be top rated. We have all had good laughs while watching the bird brace himself and pull back with all of his might.

Sometimes worms must be difficult to pull out of the ground. At least our front yard robin works hard at it.

Then came the day Rose and Don were planting my flower garden by the bayberry bushes. You can believe that their every move was carefully watched and, more than once, caustically commented upon.

The robin was not a bit afraid. Sometimes he almost seemed to be under foot. A spade full of dirt was investigated when the shovel was laid on the ground for a minute. The placing of the bird bath was given extra attention — the bird sat on the fence post only a few feet away.

Then when the hose was watering in the new plants and filling the bath, the robin stayed on the fence post. A perfect shower.

Update: Two robins just lit on the front lawn but there is no fighting. One is our brightly colored male, the other has a much duller red breast so she must be the female. Perhaps we will see the kids.

Fourth Auto Near Boysville Is Stolen

Kinnel K. Allen, 17, a resident of Boysville, was lodged in Lenawee Jail and charged with larceny of an automobile.

He was unable to post bond of $2,500 and remains in custody.

Thomas Stemtky, an instructor at Boysville, who lives across the street from the school, at 8583 Clinton-Macon Rd., Clinton, told Clinton State Police he was home at about 11:30 p.m. May 24 when he heard his vehicle start up.

Stemtky obtained a van from Boysville and gave chase; following the subject until Allen apparently lost control at the corner of Bucholtz Hwy. and Brewer Rd., then abandoned the vehicle, which had a flat tire, and he fled into the field on foot.

Later the subject called Boysville from Toledo, Ohio, and was subsequently picked up and returned to the school.

He allegedly told offices of the Clinton State Police Post that he stole the vehicle because he was denied weekend pass from the school.

This is the fourth vehicle stolen near the school in the past month, and state police estimate more than 20 vehicles have been stolen by Boysville runaways in the past four years.

Police suggest that automobile owners keep vehicles locked and remove keys.

Action Tabled on 19-Bed Unit at Hospital

A recommendation on a proposed 19-bed acute psychiatric inpatient care unit for Herrick Hospital in Tecumseh was tabled until July 5 by the Project Review Committee of the Michigan Mid-South Health Systems Agency last week.

The committee did not take action, but the proposal reportedly was recommended for disapproval by the MMSHSA committee.

The staff cited areas in which Herrick Hospital has not compiled with its overall health systems plan.

William Groover, Hospital Administrator, elaborated that these so called deficiencies have nothing to do with the quality of health care service at Herrick Hospital nor do they relate to the hospital's proposal to convert a 19-bed wing, empty since Oct. 1978, into an inpatient acute psychiatric care unit.

Rather these are "procedural requirements and paperwork" required by MMHSA, said Groover.

For example, Groover explained that Herrick Hospital must provide a written transfer agreement with St. Joseph's and University Hospital. He said that patients have been transferred to

Tressler, Beatty Elected; Library Millage Approved

Pat Tressler and Al Beatty were elected to the School Board Monday in an election that attracted only 668 voters - or about eight percent of the 8,000 plus registered voters.

Electorate easily approved renewal of the 0.7 mill for the public library, 523 to 86.

Tressler, incumbent, received 460 votes followed by Beatty with 317.

Richard Heglin, present treasurer of the board, received 285 votes; Jeanette Dotson, 162, and J.C. Myers, 62.

The light vote cost the schools approximately $1,000, according to Supt. Robert Duhan.

School Board will hold its annual organizational meeting in early July. Both Tressler, currently serving her first term, and Beatty, president and owner of Meyers Industries, will be sworn into office at that time.

Petitions Filed To Recall 3 Raisin Officials

Petitions were filed June 8 in the Lenawee County Clerk's office calling for an election for the recall of three of five Raisin Township Board members, Township Supervisor Robert D. Moore, Clerk Marjorie Comfort and Trustee Robert Murray.

Each of the petitions surpasses by at least 100 the 348 signatures needed for filing, but they must be certified by the Lenawee County Clerk's office within 30 days of receipt.

Each of the officials was notified of the recall request by the county clerk's office by the mail.

Petitions allege in general terms that each official "has not acted in the best interests of Raisin Township."

All three officials were cited for "failure to be responsive to the needs of the people, mainly excessive spending." Each was cited for lacking "intestinal fortitude" and taking a "biased stand on township matters".

The petition for Moore states he is "rude to citizens", inaccessible and has "misled the public about his intentions to serve as supervisor and failure to carry out the full responsibilities of that position."

"I'm still studying it," Moore commented about the recall petition. "It's not certified yet. It's not any surprise. This affects the people of Raisin Township and I want to make sure that the decision I make is in the best interest of the people." Moore stated.

The petition against Comfort also states she "misled the public about her intentions to serve as clerk and failure to carry out the full responsibilities of that position.

The petition said she "can not and will not get along with others, has a very poor attitude toward her fellow man."

Clerk Comfort said she had no comment at this time on the recall petition. "I haven't read it yet. We had a board meeting (Monday night) and I felt that that was more important. I haven't any idea who the circulators of the petitions are."

A 17-year resident of Raisin Township, Comfort said this is the "only recall that I can remember." The recall election will cost the township $3,000 if petitions are certified, Comfort estimated.

She served three terms (six years) as township treasurer prior to her election as clerk in November 1978, six months ago.

It was almost a year ago that Raisin Township board was embroiled in another controversy among then supervisor Richard Gallaway, former clerk Shirley Roback and then treasurer Marjorie Comfort over Comfort's independent views on township office hours and related policies.

Trustee Murray, who voted with Comfort and Moore in adoption of the 1979 Raisin Township budget, is also accused in the recall petition of "excessive spending, over-prepared and over-spent budget against the citizens wishes."

Further, the petition says that Murray "uses his position as trustee to benefit himself and his friends."

Murray who has served as trustee for three years, was reelected in November 1978. He said he has not received his copy. He had no statement about it at present. "There is a lot of interest in township government and I think that's good," he added.

$4,178 Taken in B&E

For the second time in two weeks, a W. Chicago Blvd. gas station was broken into with considerable money taken from a floor safe.

Monday, police investigated a B&E at the Clark station where $4,178.51 was taken from a safe. Entry was gained by cutting through a fence behind the station and then chiseling out and removing three masonry blocks.

Inside, the party or parties chiseled open the top of a floor safe and removed the money. Cigarets also were taken.

Just two weeks ago, Cheker station had over $7,100 taken from a floor safe.

Still Critical, in Coma

David Guild, 8, son of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Guild, remains in a coma and critical condition at Motts Children's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

He and a friend, John R. Hernandez, 9, were bicycling on Red Mill Dr. Monday of last week, when they came out of a private drive and were struck by a vehicle driven by Michael Connors, 30, of 9800 Tecumseh-Clinton Rd.

Connors, who left the scene and was later enroute to the Tecumseh Police Department when he was stopped by Chief Merlin Mowery, was scheduled for examination Wednesday afternoon in District Court.

He has been charged with leaving the scene of a serious personal injury accident, according to Mowery, who said the charge is a felony.

Dr. and Mrs. Guild have expressed their appreciation and thanks to all in their prayers for "little David."

An Immunization Clinic for Tecumseh students will be held June 21 and 28, 3-7 p.m. both days at the Tecumseh High School Cafeteria, staffed by the Lenawee County Health Department.

U-M Survey Rates Tecumseh Junior High Building among Poorest in Michigan

★ ★ ★ Bureau Says It's the Least Satisfactory Observed in Past 20 Years ★ ★ ★

A comprehensive survey of the Tecumseh schools has been completed by the Bureau of School Services, University of Michigan, relative to buildings and sites, curriculum, and growth and enrollment projections.

The Bureau was both complimentary and critical in many areas with one main exception — Tecumseh's junior high facility, a school building dedicated in 1918 and one which received an addition in 1965.

Critical statements from the Bureau about JHS are:

"The Junior High School has the advantage of trained administrators who show ingenuity and resourcefulness in maximizing educational opportunities for students in what is, perhaps, one of the poorer junior high school facilities in the State of Michigan.

"The Tecumseh Junior High School facility ranks with the least satisfactory school buildings that the Bureau Study Team has observed during the past 20 years.

"This proud school district can ill afford to condemn their children, and the staff which serves them, to such an unsatisfactory and unhealthful (and possibly unsafe) environment."

The Bureau has recommended a new junior high building designed for 700 students on a portion of a 120-acre site owned by the schools at the southeast corner of E. Chicago Blvd. and Rogers Hwy.

As for the present junior high, the Bureau recomends that the old section be razed as it would be too costly to remodel because of health and safety codes. An example, cited by the Bureau was one that would be mandated and costly, would be an elevator for the handicapped.

U-M officials pointed out that the 1965 addition could be converted for use by the maintenance department and for storage of equipment and supplies. And, after razing the oldest unit, the site could be prepared for parking for the high school, public library, persons attending athletic and social events, and by employees assigned to the maintenance-warehouse unit.

Recommendations from the Bureau for all schools were based on a projected enrollment increase of nearly 300 students by the 1983-84 school year.

In reference to the THS facility, the Bureau recommended a number of additions plus considerable remodeling.

Additions would include a new auxiliary gymnasium with locker and shower rooms. Present facilities for female students were described as a "disgrace." Drafting and shop rooms, auditorium and swimming pool were other recommended additions.

The Bureau also recommended removing the bus garage and bus parking site from the present high school location to a fenced portion of the 120-acre site.

There were many recommendations for the six elementary school buildings. Some were rather picayunish, some idealistic, and many dealt with regular maintenance and upkeep.

Major recommendations were:

Tecumseh Acres — add four classrooms, one kindergarten room, art room, music room, two special ed rooms, and a large community room for use as a cafeteria and for group meetings or classes.

Patterson — add three classrooms, art room, music room, add library-media center, community room, two special ed rooms, and the office area.

Sutton — add 12 classrooms, add two special ed rooms, and add a community room.

The Bureau also recommended removing and selling the four temporary classroom buildings at Sutton and the six located at Herrick Park.

Supt. Robert Duhan says there is no timetable for any board action, and members are still reviewing the survey that was conducted here during the 1978-79 school year.

The census that was taken was probably the most thorough in many years, and the projected increase in enrollment surprised the officials. Much of the survey, including that pertaining to the junior high, was expected.

Officials are expected to evaluate the survey and its findings on a priority basis. It will be no surprise if the junior high does rate top priority, as it has been a prime target for improvement for over 15 years.

BOYS' STATE CANDIDATES - From left, John Prettyman, John Southard, Joe Royal, Jeff Betzoldt, Steve Pope and Dave Cubberly left for the Michigan State University campus Wednesday morning for the Wolverine Boys' State. The six, along with Greg Gadek, missing from the picture, will participate in a week-long practical experience in the problems of self government as is in the operation in Michigan.

the two hospitals before without a written agreement.

"MMHSA has some very hard and fast rules. Some people think they're too hard. But we recognize these requirements and we're going to try awfully hard to complete as much of the paperwork by July 5 as we can," said Groover.

He said he is optimistic that Tecumseh's request will gain support and be approved. He added that Tecumseh will be represented at the July 5 meeting.

One Health Study Draws to Close

One of the studies in an ongoing series at the Tecumseh Community Health Study is now drawing to a close. Clinical tests for participants in the study conducted by Dr. Millicent Higgins at the Health Study Clinic located at 9301 Tecumseh-Clinton Rd. will end June 30, it was announced this week.

Dr. Higgins hastened to point out that a related study of acute illness in the community will continue and that the clinic will remain open for that study.

"Persons who were participants during the 1962-65 series of examinations, but who have not yet been seen in the clinic since January 1978 should contact the study staff at 423-2181 to schedule an appointment," explained Dr. Higgings, study director.

"The clinic examinationss consists of tests of lung function, electrocardiograms, and measurements of blood pressure and height and weight.

Participants are also asked to fill out a questionnaire to provide additional information about their health, past and present," Dr. Higgins added.

A small smaple of 80 persons has been selected to visit the University Hospital in Ann Arbor for additional testing as part of this research.

Dr. Higgins' study is the latest in a series of studies that began in Tecumseh 20 years ago. In the current study major attention is being given to chronic bronchitis, emphysema, asthma and lung function as well as to coronary heart disease, high blood pressure and breast cancer.

"Examination of as many persons as possible who have previously taken part in the Tecumseh Study is essential for optimum use of all the health information that has been collected over the past 20 years," Dr. Higgings pointed out.

"All information obtained in this study is kept confidential and used for medical research only. However, if the participant gives permission his or her personal physician will be notified of the results of the tests," Dr. Higgins said.

The Tecumseh Community Health Study is conducted by the University of Michigan School of Public Health and is financed by grants from the National Institutes of Health.

The purpose of the study is to add to existing knowledge about causes of important health problems, included heart and lung disease, high blood pressure, diabetes, cancer and other conditions which are responsible for so much illness, disability and premature death in the United States.

Since 1959, over 11,000 persons have participated in the Tecumseh study.

About 350 families are participating in another ongoing study on acute illness. This study is directed by Dr. Arnold S. Monto. It is an investigation of the role of viruses and other pathogens in the spread of acute illnesses within the community and in families in the community.

Illnesses such as influenza and gastroenteric conditions including diarrhea are the focus of Dr. Monto's study.

Talking It Out

LESTER D. PROCTOR

How can I make known My funeral preferences?

Usually your preferences can best be made known by your pre-planning some or all of the funeral services with a funeral director.

If you feel reluctant to give "instructions" to your family, you might make a list of preferences and suggestions covering your wishes. We have simple forms which will help guide you as you fill them out.

After completing the forms which entail no obligation on your part, then advise your family about your preferences and where you will keep the Pre-Plan Form.

We find people have a greater ease of mind once this is done, just as after filing a will or setting up an insurance program. It takes a load off the family later on and it makes sure your preferences will be respected.

There are many choices and options in pre-planning. You would be well-advised to discuss them with your funeral direct or. We will be glad to explain your options in detail. To help you reach an informed decision, we can also give you some reading material for your study. Stop by or phone for your free copy.

MEN'S AND STUDENT'S APPAREL

DOWNTOWN TECUMSEH

Wed at St. Elizabeth's

St. Elizabeth Catholic Church was the candlelight setting for the marriage of Mary Beth Bigelow and Donald Charles DeJonghe, May 25.

Msgr. Vincent Howard of St. Elizabeth's Church and the Rev. Albert Raloff of the Macon United Methodist Church officiated the ecumenical ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bigelow of Macon and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle DeJonghe of Britton.

With the vocal strains of selections from Schumann's Frauenliebe Und Leben, Opus 42 sung by the bride's uncle Clayton Bigelow still echoing, flower girl Kayla Fore, cousin of the groom, dropped rose petals in the bride's path to the altar as she entered on the arm of her father.

Designed and made by her mother, the bride wore a white satin gown appliqued in Alencon lace on the train and capelet, accented by her grandmother's heirloom cameo in Victorian design.

The cathedral veil was gathered to a satin and lace cloche cap. She carried a bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and Vinca vine. Her pearl earrings were a gift from the groom.

Rebekah Bigelow of Oak Park was her sister's maid of honor, wearing a pink gown of fine knit, accented at the high waistline with a pink satin tailored bow. It was styled with elbow length puffed sleeves, deep round neckline and hemline ruffle.

She carried an open Bible topped with an arrangement of pink roses, stephanotis, baby's breath, ferns and white streamers. She wore a spray of the same flowers in her hair.

Bridesmaids were Julie DeJonghe, the groom's sister of Britton, Tammie Maschino of Britton and Karen Myers of Hastings. They were attired the same as the maid of honor and carried an open Bible with flowers.

Andrew DeJonghe, of Britton was best man. Groomsmen were William Bigelow of Somerset, Ky. and Robert Bigelow of Grosse Pointe Woods, brothers of the bride and Paul Wielfaert of Britton.

Brett Bigelow, the bride's nephew, was ring bearer. He carried the wedding bands in the green velvet jewelry box of the bride's great-grandmother.

Bradley Bigelow and Robert Charles Bigelow, nephews of the bride, were special ushers.

A reception was held at the United Products Workers Union Hall.

Decorations for the bride's table were pink tulle on white linen with pink roses and lighted tapers. The hall was decorated with live greens and the tables with hurricane arrangements of pink waxed flowers and baby's breath, designed by the bride's mother.

Marie Lowry, the bride's aunt and Linda Faust, the groom's aunt, poured refreshments. Nancy Winkler-Spalding of Washington, D.C. and Sara Harmon of Montague served the bride's cake. Donald Myers of Hastings served the groom's cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Fore, the groom's aunt and uncle, acted as hosts.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Peter Perry, Morris DeJonghe, great aunt Effie and Roy Crist, Elda Brown and the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Burkey and sons.

The new Mrs. DeJonghe is a senior at the University of Michigan. Mr. DeJonghe is self-employed in the farm drainage business. Both are 1976 Britton-Macon graduates.

After a week at the family summer home in Beulah, the couple will reside at 10711 Clinton-Macon Rd., Tecumseh.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Brass Lantern, Adrian.

Allen Recovering from Hip Surgery

Mrs. Robert (Wilma) Allen is reported recovering from hip replacement surgery in Piedmont Hospital, Atlanta, Ga., which she underwent May 29. She will be hospitalized for three more weeks.

Mrs. Allen has had to walk with a built up shoe for 56 years, since as a child of 10, she jumped off a load of hay and caused a green stick break in the hip joint, that was not immediately cared for.

Now she is able to lay flat on her back for the first time in her life, and her orthopedist tells her she will have one-half inch or less difference in the length of her legs.

The Allens reside at 10930 Wisner Hwy., and in Florida in the winter. They operated Allen's Trailer Park in Clinton for many years.

Her address is: Piedmont Hospital, Room 487, 1968 Peachtree Rd. N.W., Atlanta, Ga. 30309.

United Savings Bank is people.

Like Eloise Adams, Herrick Park Teller

Eloise Adams likes people. Which is a good thing because she has come into contact with thousands of people in the five years she has been a teller at our Herrick Park Office. She strongly believes that "the customer always comes first." And she proves it, every day by treating each individual like a person, not a number.

Eloise is an involved member of the Tecumseh Community too. She and her husband Bill (a local dentist) have raised three children and seen them all graduate from Tecumseh High School. She is a member of the Hospital Auxillary and the First United Presbyterian Church. She likes to keep busy . . . usually doing something for someone else.

So, the next time you stop at the Herrick Park Office, look for Eloise Adams. She almost always has a smile on her face because she believes a smile says a lot. So do we. Eloise is just one of the hard-working people at USB who cares about you.

The officer from whom the appeal is taken shall forthwith transmit to the board all the papers constituting the record upon which the action appealed from was taken.

SECTION 13.20 RESTRAINING ORDER

SECTION 13.30 HEARING, APPEAL TO CIRCUIT COURT

a. The township board of appeals shall fix a reasonable time for the hearing of the appeal, give due notice thereof to the parties, and decide the appeal within a reasonable time. At the hearing, a party may appear in person or by agent or by attorney. The board of appeals may reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or may modify the order, requirement, decision, or determination as in its opinion ought to be made in the premises, and to that end shall have all the powers of the officer or body from whom the appeal was taken and may issue or direct the issuance of a permit. Where there are practical difficulties or unnecessary hardship in the way of carrying out the strict letter of the zoning ordinance, the board of appeals in passing upon appeals may vary or modify any of its rules, or provisions so that the spirit of the ordinance is observed, public safety secured, and substantial justice done.

b. Reasonable conditions may be required with the approval of a conditional use, or other land uses of activities as permitted by discretionary decision. The conditions may include conditions necessary to insure that public services and facilities affected by a proposed land use or activity will be capable of accommodating increased service and facility loads caused by the land use or activity, to protect the natural environment and conserve natural resources and energy, to insure compatibility with adjacent uses of land, and to promote the use of land in a socially and economically desirable manner. Conditions imposed shall meet all of the following requirements.

The board of appeals shall maintain a record of conditions which are changed.

c. The decision of the board of appeals rendered pursuant to Sections 13.30.a and 13.30.b shall be final. However, a person having an interest affected by the zoning ordinance may appeal to the circuit court. Upon appeal, the circuit court shall review the record and decision of the board of appeals to insure that the decision:

1. Complies with the constitution and laws of the state.
2. Is based upon proper procedure.
3. Is supported by competent, material, and substantial evidence on the record.
4. Represents the reasonable exercise of discretion granted by law to the board of appeals.

d. If the court finds the record of the board of appeals inadequate to make the review required by this section, or that there is additional evidence which is material and with good reason was not presented to the board of appeals, the court shall order further proceedings before the board of appeals on conditions which the court considers proper. The board of appeals may modify its findings and decision as a result of the new proceedings, or may affirm its original decision. The supplementary record and decision shall be filed with the court.

e. As a result of the review required by this section, the court may affirm, reverse, or modify the decision of the board of appeals.

We've heard so much about the effects of insecurity on the life of a child! It seems urgent to find a picture of security . . . that elusive ideal that parents want to provide but can never be sure they have.

Notice the importance of the light in our picture. It doesn't really come from that fatherly hand. Someone else has provided the light which links father and son. The father merely stood in that light . . . and held his son's hand!

Sunday — Father's Day — in hundreds of thousands of churches, earnest fathers will stand in the Light. With their sons they'll worship God . . . experience again the spiritual understanding of life. See the brightness of that true security reflected in youthful eyes.

Thru My Window

BY MARDA GENE DUNCAN

The squirrel shinned up to the near-my-window feeders, settled herself in front of an ear of corn and ate. And ate. And ate. She was long and lean, unusually gray and obviously there were kids at home. Or at least until recently there had been a litter of little ones to look after. We could not get over how steadfastly she kept at the corn. This gal was hungry and nothing was going to interrupt her lunch.

Oops, something almost did disrupt her meal. After she had stripped almost one ear of corn she had company. I saw a small brown head peek over the rim of the food tray where the big squirrel was so busy.

With a mighty effort the newcomer struggled over the edge of the tray. What a sight. My call to Mom brought her quickly into the room and she shared in the fun and excitement.

There on the near-my-window feeders were a mother squirrel and her half grown youngster. My, oh my!

The adult squirrel sat hunched in front of the corn with her tail arched over her back. Immediately behind her was the youngster, in exactly the same position.

The only difference was that one was eating corn off the cob whereas the other was working on 'leftover' kernels from the food tray. What a marvelous sight.

Soon there was movement in the yews beneath the feeder. Another young squirrel. He came on to the trays much easier. Obviously this was the aggressive sibling, out on his own. He was not about to sit quietly and eat corn.

After eating a couple of kernels he was off to say hello to his mother and sister and explore the other tray. They sniffed, rubbed noses and suddenly both kids scampered down into the bushes.

The adult squirrel seemed rather unconcerned. She just kept on eating. When the first youngster tried to come back for the second course, she had great trouble.

She would come up the post and hit her head on the underside of the tray, in another place she could barely reach the edge with her short front legs.

Then came the final embarrassement of slipping off the tray completely and falling into the bushes. There was no harm done though and finally she remembered how she got up in the first place.

Both kids were as cute as could be. Their tails were long and bushy, their hind feet were shockingly large. Once when the adult squirrel and the little female were sitting side by each, I had a good look at their hind feet. They were about the same same size.

Their tails were amazing, too. In fact, when those tails were arched over their backs, had they straightened out the question marks and held them over their heads, they would probably have reached beyond their noses.

It was only their bodies and heads which were small. Only about half what their mother was. What a lot of growing they had to do.

They were certainly trying hard enough to grow up. Corn and sunflower seeds were on the bill-of-fare. Day after day the kids came to the feeders to eat. Sometimes together, sometimes by themselves; sometimes with their mother, sometimes without.

The little male was a trifle larger than his sister and much more aggressive. The little female was inclined to eat with her mother and, actually, the adult was much more tolerant with her than she was with the other one.

One day we chuckled as the youngster must have been tired. She sat next to her mother in front of the sunflower seeds and, the next thing we knew, she was leaning against her.

Another chuckle was the male getting a piece of corn caught between two teeth. At least from his actions we assumed that was the trouble.

This is our first experience with such young squirrels and, please believe me, each day is fun.

Five Awarded

The Arrow of Light was awarded to webelos scouts Bryan Kingston, Rick Dapprich, William Schuler, Gary and Barry Purse June 5, at cub scout pack 607 annual picnic at the scout cabin. Scoutmaster John Derning conducted the arrow of light ceremony followed by the induction into boy scouts.

The arrow of light is highest award a boy can receive in cub scouts, and the only one he can carry into Boy Scouts with him. Learning about first-aid, being a U.S. citizen, and camping outdoors overnight are a few of the required things the boys had to do.

They worked hard for the award and the pack is proud of them.

Pack 607 consists of 40 boys between the ages of 8-10. Most of them have worked hard to earn their Wolf and Bear badges. Some have worked extra hard to earn gold and silver arrows. They are Myka McKee, Marcus Francoeur, Brett Schaap and Don Dobroski Jr.

Highlights of this past year have been a visit from the Tecumseh fire department; a Halloween party, Christmas caroling at the hospital; adopting a Christmas family to share food and toys with; the pinewood derby races and the Blue and Gold Banquet with Ed Fuller's program on Indian culture.

Highlight also included a magic show by Stacy Christopher, a visit to Adrian College Planetarium, and a booth at Scout-o-Rama about conserving energy. The end of the year brings the annual picnic beginning with a super potluck and ending with a rocket launch.

During the evening certificates of application were awarded to scouting coordinator Joane Green, awards chairman Mary Dapprich, and den leaders Robert Wood, Mable Francoeur, William Hatchett, Linda Herrick, Barb Wotring, and Lynn Schuler.

Pack 607 needs leaders and boys for next year. If you or your boy would like to be a part of this organization please call cubmaster John Pelham at 423-6026, or watch for scout recruit night in mid September.

As a result, they have purchased and refurbished a building at 2920 Russel Road that provides more spacious showroom and warehousing facilities inside and, when the projected landscaping is completed, a "mini-park" setting on the outside. City Council Reviews Recreation Board Role

What should the role of the Tecumseh Recreation Board be?

This question will be reviewed by Tecumseh City Council within the next few weeks as the city reviews the design of other recreation ordinances for cities the size of Tecumseh.

Some of the Councilmembers raised questions about the recreation department advisory board at a budget meeting April 30 because they received questions about the board's influence and purpose.

The city first established the Tecumseh Recreation Commission in March 1961. A nine member board was appointed from the council, school board, community at large and community chest fund.

The commission had the authority to employ a director. An annual budget was submitted to Council and funds given to the commission to operate the program. The resolution was specific about the commission's role.

Less than a year later in January 1962, another resolution was passed which reduced the number of commissioners from nine to five, all to be appointed by the Mayor and Council.

In April 1970, Council adopted a resolution rescinding the original resolution that said only "The Tecumseh Recreation Commission shall meet only at the call of the chairman and shall act only as an advisory committee to city council.

Assistant City Manager Paul Preston said he contacted cities of size similar to Tecumseh and found either the city or a cooperative recreation program with the school districts.

In cases where the city provided the recreation program, all had a recreation board and in all cases, it served as an advisory board to city council.

At Council meeting June 4, Councilmembers Harold Easton questioned the need for a recreation commission saying that none of the other city departments has an advisory board.

Councilmembers Mary Bowers, Carlton Cook and Jay Tressler said the recreation board could be important to the city for public opinion on the recreation offerings.

"Looks to me like we've gone from one extreme to another," said Councilmember Tressler. He favored a review of the commission's role for a "better functioning program than the two extremes we have been operating under the past. I don't feel that one person can do that assessment as well as a board."

What we're talking about here is something that could and should have community input," for "more meaningful program" said Councilmember Carlton Cook.

Evans Chapter Meets at Every Residence

Fourteen members of the Abi Evans chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution and two guests met at the home of Mrs. Harold Every May 11.

Mrs. Neil Pearson reported on the cost of the Panama Canal to the American people. President Carter promised that no tax payer would have to help pay for the give away to Panama. It seems that approximately $200 million dollars will be necessary to be paid each year by the American government.

Mrs. Jesse Helms is trying to introduce a bill that would restore prayer to our schools. Congress does have the power to restore prayer to the school rooms.

The Rev. Allan Gray was introduced by Mrs. Jennings Frayer. Rev. Gray spoke on the Church of Revolutionary times. The Congregational and Presbyterian churches were the dominate ones.

At the outbreak of the revolution there were about 3,105 churches in the colonies. In most places it was necessary to be a church member in good standing in order to vote and hold property.

Many people resented this form of oppression. General Gage controlled much of the property around New York. The music in the churches was mostly English. At the end of the war, 30,000 people resented the oppression of the Church moved to Canada. They were welcomed with open arms and given huge tracts of land.

The June meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ellsworth Robison.

Attend Family Researchers

Wayne Carpenter of Fairfield discussed how he started in his geneology and about his progress. Carpenter has taught the Class on "Roots" at the Adrian College the last two years.

Other trips and a workship will be planned during July and August. The September meeting will be held in the Adrian Area and will be announced later.

Award Klingensmith, Escott with Pins

Helen Escott and Judy Klingensmith of Tecumseh were awarded appreciation pins at the annual meeting of the Irish Hills Girl scout Council May 16 in Jackson.

The appreciation pin is the second highest award for adults in Girl Scouting.

Mrs. Escott has served as leader, troop organizer, product sales chairman, and community chairman.

In their recommendation for the award, the Tecumseh leaders said, "Helen has done an outstanding job of guiding the Tecumseh community. She has always been ready and willing to help her leaders and she makes sure that all details are taken care of before moving on to the next project." Escott also received a 25-year pin.

Mrs. Klingensmith has been active as the Tecumseh troop organizer for six years. "No girl in Tecumseh lacks for a troop or leader if there's any possible way Judy can work it. Judy is always there when she's needed," leaders said.

In addition to organizing troops and recruiting leaders, Judy is known for her ability to boost everyone's morale.

The Tecumseh Public Library was recognized as a special friend of the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council. A large number of leader training sessions have taken place at the library.

The library staff was cited for being accomodating and flexible in working with Girl Scouts to provide space for the trainings. Their plaque was accepted by Judie Lange.

Carol Henning was honored as a graduating senior. She has been active since she was a Brownie. Miss Henning has been a counselor-in-training at Camp O' the Hills for the past two summers.

In other business, Robert J. Camburn and Walter D. Kidner of Tecumseh were among those elected to three-year terms as members at large of the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council board.

The Irish Hills Girl Scout Council is a United Way agency serving Lenawee, Hillsdale, and Jackson counties and the city of Albion.

Business as Usual Despite Filed Recall

Despite a recall filed for three of five Raisin Township Board members, it was business as usual at the regular board meeting Monday night that progressed smoothly and concluded after two hours.

Board gave final approval for a revised zoning ordinance that was developed over the past year by the Township Planning Commission in a page by page review with the advice and counsel of Region II Planners.

This updating included some 40 revisions. Last time an update was made was in 1967.

The changes include:

Increased minimum lot size from 17,000 sq. ft. to 22,000 sq. ft. (This complies with a recommendation from another township citizen-composed board, the pollution study committee, and is aimed to forestall future burden for sewer. It does not apply to lots on record.)

First detailed control over gravel pits, quarries and earth removal for ecological and health and safety reasons.

Revised duties of the board of appeals to conform with state law. (According to Region II planners the township is one of the first to progress with this change.)

Tightening industrial performance standards basically in noise and air pollution.

Frank Kerr is chairman of the planning commission. Current members are Raymond Potts, Lee Coffey, Lawrence Pate, John Costello, Glenn Forsyth, Eugene Vaughn, town board representative.

Proposed uses for $21,500 of Federal Revenue Sharing funds for fiscal year 1979 were heard at a public hearing Monday. Suggestions included roads, paying off the note on the fire truck, paying an assessor and park development.

Board approved the request of Lane Clear-span, a building corporation headquartered in Raisin Township, to tie into the existing sanitary sewer across the road in Adrian Township.

Township landfill will remain open through the end of the month. Meanwhile the township is preparing cards that will give residents access to Wibbeler Landfill beginning July 1.

Cards will be available during week of June 25. They will enable Raisin Township residents to use the landfill for ordinary household refuse without additional charge. Township will pay $400 per month for the service.

In other business, volunteers were recognized for straightening trees in the James A. Mitchell Township Park at Gady Rd. and Green Hwy. Planted last fall, the same trees were tilted and toppled by the spring ice storm.

A tour for township officials and other interested parties will be arranged in the near future to give the various board members an opportunity to observe how the township is developing including road conditions.

Stronger Buildings Carry Stronger Warranties

Quality materials and engineering allow Farm Bureau to offer the strongest building warranty in the business.

Some builders are willing to gamble on your building for 5 years — leaving you to deal with Mother Nature for the rest of the life of your building.

We at Farm Bureau Services are so confident in our building know-how that we can offer a 40 year guarantee on treated timbers, 20 year protection against aluminum roof corrosion, 10 year protection against collapse due to snow and wind, 10 years for color peeling, and 5 years for color fading and roof leaks.

The stronger your building — the better your warranty. When it's time for your new farm or commercial building, remember the Farm Bureau people.

REBUTAL STATEMENTS PENDING

Recall Petitions Certified for Three in Raisin Twp.

Petitions for recall of three officials in Raisin Township — Supervisor Robert D. Moore, Clerk Marjorie Comfort and Trustee Robert Murray — were declared sufficient Monday, said Lenawee County Clerk Pat Johnston.

The Lenawee County Special Election Committee has met and set Tuesday, Aug. 21 as the date for the recall election. It will be conducted in the township at the usual voting precincts.

Mrs. Johnston said that the Lenawee County Sheriff's Department was asked to serve notice of the election to the officials. They have 72 hours from the time of service to submit a rebutal statement for the recall election ballot.

Clerk Comfort and Supervisor Moore said they received notice Wednesday morning. Both plan to submit a rebutal. "It's going to be business as "usual at the town[illegible] could not be reached for comment.

Ballots will show a statement of the reasons for recall as they appeared on the recall petition, prepared by the petition circulators. The ballot will also carry the rebutal statements from the officials being recalled if provided in time.

Police Arrest 3 Youths in B&E of Home Here

Three youths have been arrested by Tecumseh police and charged with B&E of a residence in the south section of the city.

Apprehended are John C. Trottier, 23, of 510 Pawnee Heights; Timothy Lee Lapham, 19, of 902 Murray Dr., and Steven R. Downing, 17, of 9679 North[illegible] Tipton.

Local police were alerted shortly after midnight last Wednesday and arrived at the Marion Webb house, 106 Hiawatha, moments later. All three reportedly were in the house at the time, although two pretended later that they were on the rear porch, knocking for permission to use a phone.

A rear screen had been cut to gain entry.

Tecumseh's Clark station on W. Chicago Blvd. was again robbed, this time of approximately $168 in merchandise and cash. On June 11, the station sustained a loss of $4,178 from a floor safe after a hole was chiseled through the rear wall of the station.

On June 18th, the front door to the station was found wide open. No evidence of forced entry was found. A suspect is being questioned by the police.

Other complaints were:

June 14 - Tarina Sanders, 100 S. Division, stolen bicycle.

June 14 - Lynn R. Burch, 51, Clinton, drunk driving, blocking drive to Tecumseh Park off Adrian St.

June 15 - Paul W. Palmer, 25, of 2799 Munger Rd., driving on a suspended license, posted $100 bond.

Downtown Facade Study Presented to Council

Property owners in Tecumseh's downtown business district now have a practical guide on how to preserve the historic qualities of their buildings or blend in with that of their neighbors without drastic remodeling or spending a fortune.

The downtown facade study — a detailed drawing and study of the building fronts of the six downtown business blocks — was presented to Tecumseh City Council Monday night.

The study represents almost four months work by the city, Region II planners and the University of Michigan.

Though the extent of the remodeling suggestions depend on the individual building, the study shows most of the downtown buildings could achieve dramatic results with brick cleaning or matching paint, changes in signing and the addition of canopies or window boxes.

A portion of the study by Region II suggests how existing street lamps and tree planters could be made more attactive with redwood slits and the addition of street furniture such as redwood park benches.

The study cost the city of Tecumseh $300, a fraction of the $4,000 such a plan by a professional architect firm could run.

"When I first came to town, one of the concerns was that there was some activity in downtown

City, Restaurant Owners Dispute Contract Meaning

Questions about the city of Tecumseh's 1977 agreement with Tecumseh Big Boy Inc. for city sewer and water surfaced at Monday's city council meeting.

The restaurant was built in Tecumseh Township near the west limits of the city on M-50. When the township would not release the proposed restaurant site for annexation by the city, owners Gene Tuckey, Joe Mannino and Earl Baldwin appealed to the city council for an agreement to obtain city sewer and water.

At the Jan. 3, 1977 regular city council meeting, a motion was made by Councilmember Carlton Cook, seconded by Len DeMoss that the "City manager and city attorney be authorized to draw up an agreement that Tecumseh Big Boy, Inc. should pay in lieu of taxes an amount equal to city millage less two mills. Motion carried unanimously."

The bone of contention is the phrase "in lieu of taxes". The city contends that that agreement included all taxes—both real estate and personal property taxes. The restaurant owners said they understood that the agreement referred to real estate taxes only.

The difference in what the city would receieve is about $688 for the first year. Each member explained his or her understanding of the motion. Councilmembers Len DeMoss and Carlton Cook were absent.

Mayor Aden Mead and Councilmember Jay Tressler each said that he understood the agreement to include both real and personal taxes. Councilmembers James H. Palmer, Mary Bowers and Harold Easton said that they understood the agreement referred to real estate property only. Neither could all agree that they had seen a copy of the final agreement.

City Attorney Greg Forsthoefel advised council in view of their split that DeMoss and Cook be given an opportunity to each state his understanding of the motion at the next regular council meeting.

The city then has two courses of action, either take the matter to court and have the court decide or "ascede to Big Boy", said Forsthoefel.

City attorney Forsthoefel argued that the "agreement is silent on personal property taxes", that it was "an oversight" and that the agreement should have included both personal and real estate property taxes.

"It (the agreement) is very definite in what it states," said restaurant owner Gene Tuckey. "Looks to me like you're going to have to have city council write every contract. Otherwise you're paying a city attorney for writing this kind of contract," Tuckey told Council.

Forsthoefel replied that restaurant attorney "Henry Newlin had all kinds of input into this agreement."

Councilmember James Palmer warned that the difference of interpretation could "jeopardize the relationship between a fine business and a fine community. I think we're making a mountain out of a mole hill for $600."

Councilmember Harold Easton said, "I have to agree, especially since some we've extended the service to haven't paid for it."

City Manager Cal Zorn said that the city billed the restaurant owners last July for 1978 fiscal year, based on real and personal property, or about $1,988 which included $1,300 for real estate property and $688 for personal property.

The city received a check from the restaurant owners for $1,300 based on real estate property. The city returned the check.

Zorn said that the restaurant is billed for city sewer and water at the normal city resident rate, although the restaurant operates in Tecumseh Township. Tap in and lead fees for installing sewer and water were also paid by the restaurant.

Tecumseh township has a written agreement of its own with the restaurant. It mentions that Big Boy is to pay the equivalent of property taxes to the city less two mills for sewer and water and that the township would exempt the restaurant from sewer and water assessment if the township elected to put in the services someday.

BIG CHANGE COMING - For the past couple of weeks, the high school football has been a "mess" - stripped of sod, trenches dug for tile and other construction work related to moving the field slightly to the north. This "mess" will be something of the past in 10 days or so when new, green sod will be installed and work continues on a metric track around the field. (PHOTO BY DEANE ERTS) restoration but hopefully there could be some overall theme," said Assistant City Manager Paul Preston.

"We had to have a plan that was both reasonable and attainable in costs and goals. I think this is both. We don't need to wall in Chicago Blvd.," he said.

"Hopefully some (property owners) will be motivated to make changes now, however I think that the important thing about it is that it can be a long range thing.

"We can show them some suggestions on how to go about it not only today, but hopefully 10 to 15 years from now," Preston explained.

Preston plans to have "block meetings" to intorduce the study suggestions to downtown property owners.

The core of the study was a class project by Likhit Nakvachara, a Taiwanese student at the University of Michigan School of Architecture and Planning under the supervision of Professor Gerald Crane.

The study consists of a posters with posters with a block by block building by building analysis that includes a photograph of the existing streetscape and an architectural drawing underneath of each building to show how it could be maintained to give a unified historical appearance to the entire block.

Preston added that a similar study could be undertaken for the back of the building.

Water Power Turns Wheels

Water power of the Raisin River was one of the factors that convinced Musgrove Evans to settle in this area and consequently found the community of Tecumseh.

Water power may be the partial answer to the 20th century energy crutch.

Harry Snyder of Tecumseh encouraged city council Monday night to look into the possibility of federal money to harness the waterpower of the Standish and Globe dams to which the city holds water rights.

Snyder has heard of a similar program under construction in VanBuren Township, near Belleville. He said of over 600 dam sites available for hydro-electric power, 60 are currently being utilized.

Such a power plant did operate at the Globe Mill dam in Tecumseh. A June 1968 flood destroyed the dam, then owned by Perry Satterthwaite.

ROGER PROCTOR

When a Death Occurs Out of Town

If you're involved in making arrangements for a funeral service for someone who dies out of town, the assistance of an expert in these matters is often required, certainly desired.

You should contact us or another local funeral director who will then make arrangements with a highly qualified mortician wherever the death occured. (We have hundreds of personal contacts all over the country through our membership in National Selected Morticians. We will surely know some one personally in whom you can put your trust wherever you are.)

We will take the necessary steps to prepare the body for immediate transportation back home. We're experienced and equipped to handle the complicated details of transportation, air or rail.

We will confer at long distance with you or with other family members locally to plan for the local funeral services. It is important for you to remember, though, to [illegible] us or another local funeral home FIRST. Especially under these circumstances, you need to avoid unnecessary duplication of effort and fees. Your local mortician is more likely to serve you and save you in the way you would wish.

There may be situations wherein you would wish the body to be prepared for visitation services where the death occured and subsequently shipped back here for the funeral. Again it is important that the primary arrangements be made locally to insure the kind of services you wish without the risk of duplicate costs.

If you wish further details on out-of-town arrangements, please contact us.

Will County OK First Quarter Funds?

"I'm going to stay right where I'm at," Dick Payne, owner of EMT Ambulance Service, told the Tecumseh Herald Wednesday morning about rumors that he would sell his business and leave Lenawee County.

Last week there were reports that Payne would cease business because he could not afford to operate without the subsidy from all 13 Lenawee County communities that contracted for his service under a county subsidized plan.

While Tecumseh paid Payne $2,373 and the city of Adrian, Fairfield and Palmyra Townships paid for the first quarter, nine communities did not pay.

None of the local governments that contracted with Payne were able to get reimbursement from the county until Payne got insurance with the county listed as co-insured as per original plan.

Payne acquired the necessary insurance June 8 and presented it to the board of commissioners June 12 — after two deadlines for such compliance had lapsed.

But the last date for the first quarter reimbursement from the county to the local governments was May 15. The communities only qualify for the county subsidy on a prorated basis.

Question now is, will the county commissioners decide to reimburse the local governments for the first quarter. First the local communities must apparently act.

Nancy Nichols chairperson of the Lenawee County Board of Commissioners said that the communities could "request a waiver of resolution," that is send a letter to county board stating that the ambulance provider now complies with the insurance requirement and was paid for a service provided during the first quarter. The county board of commissioners could then act on the requests.

Because the original agreement is between the local units of government and the county, — not the county and the ambulance service — the local governments contract and pay for ambulance service and seek reimbursement from the county.

The one year plan was adopted by the Lenawee County Board of Commissioners in November 1978.

It provided that the county commission would provide $1 per capita to local units of government so that each individual unit of government could contract with either a public or private ambulance service of their choice to provide service for their residents.

The county required 1) the local unit of government cooperate with neighboring areas in emergency situations for ambulance coverage, 2) the ambulance be licensed by the State of Michigan and 3) that the ambulance company name the county as additional insured.

The city of Tecumseh asked Nichols why it was asked by the Human Services Committee March 5 to sign a "hold harmless" agreement with the county.

Nichols told city council Monday night "I cannot see how we can expect the local units of government to sign that because that was not in the original agreement." She said she would check into it further for the city.

She also stated that statements attributed to her in a June 14 story in a county daily newspaper and Associated Press stories were "erroneous".

Payne said Wednesday morning he was encouraged by support he had received from the county commissioners and residents of Lenawee County.

People called reassuring him that they would ask their county commissioners to pay the reimbursements for the first quarter, Payne said.

United Savings Bank is people.
Like Christine Fairbanks, Britton Office Teller.
Chris Fairbanks knows almost everyone who comes in the Britton office of United Savings Bank. And no wonder. She and her husband, Douglas (no, he's not the swashbuckler of movie fame) have raised a family, lived and worked in Britton for over 30 years.
Chris is an energetic person. She served Britton Village as Treasurer for 7 years and was a columnist and news reporter for the Tecumseh Herald too. She is also a member of the Congregational-Christian Church where she is currently Assistant Treasurer.
When we opened our Britton Office of USB 6½ years ago, it seemed natural to have Chris join our staff.
Her experience with accounting procedures and knowledge of Britton area people has proved to be a valuable asset to both customers and bank alike.
If you haven't met Chris Fairbanks, introduce yourself the next time you're in our Britton Office. She probably already knows you and will make you feel very welcome. Chris is just one of the hard-working people at USB who cares about you.

Thru My Window

BY MARDA GENE DUNCAN

We were trying to decide whether to go out on the porch or not. Our heads said 'no', our hearts 'yes'. It was a hot humid day, the temperature and the humidity were racing to see which could register the highest. It looked and felt like rain, and I am unreasonabie about being rained off the porch. It upsets me beyond all rhyme or reason. But porch living is fun and there are so few porch days in the whole year. We kept wondering —

Suddenly Mom and I both realized that we had been hearing something. Something loud and shrill. A tirelessly repeated song which immediately brought to mind Gladys Tabor' description,"...a throat stretching serenade."

The songster was a wren and he sounded so close that he should have been perched on the window sill. He wasn't, of course.

While looking for the little bird who would have to stretch to make four and three-quarter inches, we chuckled that such a noisy character could so easily hide. Oops, there he was — no, it wasn't either.

We were listening to one bird but watching another. As the afternoon wore on we occasionally saw the pair of wrens flitting through the trees; usually, however, it was hear one and see the other.

This was a classic example of wren life. She was working ever so hard to build the nest and he stayed nearby singing. His song was cheering her on and, at the same time, warning other wrens to stay away.

Somehow the division of labor seemed quite unequal but that is how it is with wrens.

We have a lovely wren house, built to exacting wren specifications. Often this year there have been lookers but no leases were signed. We have waited impatiently and our hopes have soared but nothing has happened.

Then came the day of our indecision. And suddenly this pair of wrens was through playing around, they were ready to settle down. What surprised us was when they settled down. The wren house was completely ignored and the wren started building in the bluebird house.

This white painted box is much too large for the tiny wren. The door is one-and-a-half inches in diameter and the distance from the door to the floor must be at least six inches. To see a tiny wren dart in and out was absolutely ridiculous.

It apparently made sense to the bird though. She worked her little head off carrying small twigs and sticks to the house. Trying to fill that 'cavernous' box would have seemed an endless job to us.

However, she worked tirelessly all afternoon and appeared not a bit discouraged. Perhaps his singing was a help after all.

The bluebird house is mounted on a fence post and the wren found the flat top of a post a perfect landing field. Often she would light there and have what we thought were incredibly long twigs in her bill.

Sometimes she 'rearranged' the load there, moving the twig until her bill had a better grasp. Again she would take it to the door of the house and run into trouble.

An oblong doorway would have been easier but she always managed to twist and turn enough so that somehow the long sticks were pushed inside. So interesting to watch.

So interesting in fact, that we completely dropped the idea of going out on the porch. And just how hard did the little wren work — well, early the next morning Mom carefully raised the roof of a bluebird box and saw that the wren had carpeted the floor with about two inches of slender twigs, weed stems and rootlets. What a lot of work those two inches represented.

Croswell Season Opens

The playbill for the 12th season of Croswell Summer Musical Theatre will highlight "Brigadoon", "Godspell" and "Funny Girl" when the season opens on June 27.

Acclaimed as one of the best musical plays of stage history, "Brigadoon" is a haunting musical fantasy by Lerner and Loewe, and will open the season running from June 27 through July 1, and July 4 through July 8. Alice Mott will direct the production, and Dr. Art Jones will be musical director.

"Godspell" will take over the boards on July 18-22 and July 25-29. The story of Jesus according to the Gospel of St. Matthew, a rock musical will be directed by Lennie DelDuca.

Eve Weiher will direct the third production "Funny Girl", a colorful, tuneful story of Fanny Brice, an ugly duckling who became the Ziegfield Follies greatest star. "Funny Girl" runs from Aug. 8-12, and Aug. 15-19. Musical director will be Dr. Art Jones.

Season tickets are now available at $9 for senior citizens and students and $13 for adults. One season ticket is good for three admissions which can be used in any combination.

Stockman Is Expect Panelist

MICROSCOPIST'S WORLD - Dr. Nydia Meyers of Tecumseh photographed this cross section of a kidney with a Scanning Electron Microscope, 2,000 magnification. In reality, this tissue is one-half of one millionth of a meter in size. It is part of the filtering system, a function of the kidney. (Courtesy of Dr. Nydia Meyers)

Science of Microscopy Is 'Growing Field'

by Kathy Brown,

Dr. Nydia Meyers of Tecumseh, research scientist in sickle cell anemia at the University of Michigan School of Medicine Dept. of Human Genetics, has returned from a five-day conference on microscopy at the Statler Hilton Hotel, New York City.

Sponsor for the conference was the New York Microscopical Society. Entitled "Dialogues in Microscopy '79", the conference featured workshops in the scanning electron microscope, research reports and commercial exhibits and an awards banquet with Dr. Albert V. Crew, inventor of the scanning transmission electron microscope, as an honoree and principal speaker.

During the conference, Dr. Meyers was chairperson for the section on teaching microscopy.

She arranged the program that included such leaders in microscopy education as Prof. Marion B. Rhodes, Dept. of Chemistry, University of Massachusetts; Prof. Theodore G. Rochow, North Carolina State University; Prof. George G. Cocks, Cornell University; Dr. Walter C. McCrone, McCrone Research Institute and Prof. Peter DeForest, John Jay College, New York, Professor of Forensics.

Each spoke on his or her speciality or concern about teaching microscopy.

Dr. Meyers, a member of the American Society of Testing Materials, has been elected to chair a national ad hoc committee for teaching microscopy in the United States. The ASTM works closely with the National Bureau of Standards.

The educators agreed that to fill the increasing demand for microscopists, quality education early in the learning process is necessary.

One example of how encouragement in microscopy paid off is the North Carolina State University department of microscopy, which is now recognized as one of the best in the United States.

About 10 years ago, the department was started by Prof. Rochow with a grant from the Meyers Foundation. One of his students Prof. Paul A. Tucker Jr. was also on the conference program as chairman of the session on acoustic microscopy.

Acoustic microscopy is one of the newest fields in microscopy. Instead of a light source, sound waves — a part of the energy spectrum — are used.

While the concept of acoustic microscopy was first proposed about 1949, an acoustic miscroscope was not actually built until about five years ago, explained Dr. Meyers.

One of the most important applications is that it allows examination of biological samples without injury or destruction. For example, it may be used to trace the development of the fetus in a small animal or study living insects, such as fruit flies and larvae, used frequently in research. The isolated animal heart may be studied in the profused state, as may other muscle tissue, and the heart pacer as well.

Other applications of acoustic microscopy include quality control in industry. For example, metal fatigue can be detected as in the case of the DC10 inspections.

Exhibits at the conference enabled microscopists to gain hands-on experience with the latest equipment, including a scanning electron microscope (SEM). Dr. Meyers took the accompanying photograph of a kidney cross section with a SEM at 2000 magnification.

Other topic areas included photomacrography, photomicrography, microscopy in the life sciences, electronics and computer technology in microscopy, microscopical staining techniques, and forensic miscroscopy, utilized in criminal investigations.

Students interested in pursuing a career in microscopy may write to Dr. Meyers, P.O. Box 100, Tecumseh, Mich. 49286 for suggestions on universities and colleges offering a course of study in microscopy.

Ruth Davis, chairman of the membership committee, was commended for her work in recruiting more new members than any other club in the Federation, and the club was given a certificate and $10 for the accomplishment.

The meeting was preceded by a cooperative luncheon hosted by the officers and members of the board.

Officers gave their annual reports.

President Mrs. James Chellman presented pink and white carnations, from the table centerpiece, to each of the officers and board who had served for the 1978-79 year.

She then turned over the gavel to the incoming president, Mrs. Daniel Goodman.

Next meeting will be Oct. 10 at the Community Center.

Sell 500 Dinners

Begin Memorial Fund for Park

When Beth Satterthwaite died Aug. 6, 1978, there were many who mourned her death. They felt Tecumseh was a better place because she lived here.

Beth served the United States in World War I as a nurse and in Tecumseh as a nurse at Herrick Memorial Hospital since its inception in 1938.

Friends have started a memorial fund for beautifying Satterthwaite Park at Globe Mill Pond, one of Beth's favorite viewing spots. Anyone wishing to contribute may deposit a donation directly at the special United Savings Bank account at any branch.

Bob Bonner, graduate landscape architect, designed the landscape plan which uses trees with fall color as well as flowering crab for spring color.

Bonner is associated with Plymouth Nursery. He donated the design to the city for the memorial in Beth's honor. Bob, a Tecumseh High School graduate, now resides in Ypsilanti.

Landscape plans were presented to Beth's brother and sister, Perry and Geneva Satterthwaite, by a friend of the family, Claudia Daugherty of 408 N. Union St.

A book with the names of all those who contributed will be presented to the family and city hall when the project is complete.

A new sign is being built for the park by Charles Gross. Landscaping will begin as much as funds make possible.

Notes of acknowledgement will be sent to all donors.

For more information, readers may call the committee for the memorial fund, Mrs. Jerry Daugherty, 423-5160, Mrs. Scott Adar, 423-3346 of Mrs. Carlton Cook, 423-4285.

Plan Walk-a-thon for Jerry's Kids

A walk-a-thon for Muscular Dystrophy will be held Wednesday, the Fourth of July. Event will start at 11 a.m. Walkers will leave the Tecumseh Community Center on a 10-mile walk.

Walkers will return to the center where they will be served free hot dogs, potato chips and pop for their efforts.

A first place prize of a stereo system will be awarded to the walker with the most pledges collected.

First, second and third place trophies will be awarded.

Pledge sheets are available at downtown merchants and area grocery stores.

"You don't have to be a kid to participate," said coordinator Bob Cunningham, "just be a person who is thankful that he or she has the simple ability to walk and hopefully will never face the struggle that a muscular dystrophy patient has every day of his life."

Those who cannot walk in the walk-a-thon can still participate through pledges.

Proceeds will be used on a community and national level. Muscular Dystrophy does not receive money through the United Fund.

The Jaycees are making a plea for readers to help them help Jerry Lewis' "kids" in the annual drive for musculary dystrophy.

For more information, readers may call 423-3339.

Memorium

IN loving memory of George Henry Jr. who passed away 8 years ago today June 24, 1971.
So many things have happened.
Since you were called away
So many things to share with you
Had you been left to stay
We cannot bring the old days back
Ways of the World are such
But we have many pleasant memories of the one we loved so much.
Sadly missed by family. 6-21p

Lacny Honored as Outstanding

Clarence Lacny, principal at Tecumseh High School, has been honored as a member of the IDEA Academy of Fellows.

Lacny has been chosen as one of about 125 outstanding educators to receive this honor and will participate in a week-long seminar to be held at Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., July 15-21.

The Institute for Development of Education Activities, Inc., is an educational affiliate of the Charles F. Kettering Foundation.

The purpose of the seminar is to keep educators abreast with changes in education.

Topic will be "Coping with issues and problems of education in the 1980's".

During the week, a faculty of nationally prominent educational leaders will address the fellows and meet with members in small groups for the purpose of coping with issues and problems in education in the '80s.

The Academy of Fellows is the oldest, continuing in-service program for school administrators in the nation. The Fellows Program has provided in-service training for over 6,000 participants from North America and overseas.

In addition, Lacny was also invited to speak at the annual curriculum conference of the American Association of School Administrators in Denver, Colo. on the topic "Teaching about the Free Enterprise System". But he declined the invitation in order to attend the Missouri seminar.
